Bortman captures school seat

Eli Bortman

By Stephen Olivieri
ASSISTANT EDITOR

The Winchester School Committee has a new look and perhaps a new direction with Eli Bortman defeating Chairman Mark Lombardi in the town election.

In a race separated by less than 100 votes, Bortman, the only challenger to the incumbent, topped Lombardi 2,050 to 1,953 at the March 30 election.

Reached at his home, Lombardi, who was running for re-election after one three-year term, said he is not sure why he lost. "More people voted for him than voted for me," Lombardi said.

"I'm glad it's over with," said Lombardi. "I'm just disappointed for the people who put in all the work for me."

The School Committee race had drawn the most interest over the last few months. The committee has dealt with several emotional issues over the past year while Lombardi was chairman: redistricting and discussions of school closings, the resignation and hiring of a superintendent, and continuous budget battles.

Lombardi said he didn't feel the superintendent selection, a roller coaster drama that was played out over the entire year, was a big factor in the race. "I didn't get much negative feedback at all" on the superintendent process, said Lombardi. He added he did not regret his vote to appoint Robert Fitzgerald superintendent.

Throughout the campaign, Bortman questioned Lombardi's leadership, saying that Lombardi was not a consensus builder and caused acrimony on his committee and among other town boards with his style.

Bortman keyed in on Lombardi's disagreement with the town manger and Board of Selectmen over the School Department's proposed Fiscal Year 1994 budget.

The School Committee should reach a compromise on the $500,000 difference between what the School Department wanted and what the town was offering, said Bortman, and then make the cuts necessary to the proposed budget to reach that compromise number.

Following the race, Bortman gave credit to his campaign staff for helping him keep focused on the issues and bring home the seat. "We ran a positive campaign on the issues. The differences between the two of us were very clear," said Bortman.

In accepting the challenge ahead of him Bortman said he first wants to repair the division on the committee.

"The first thing I will try to do is bridge the gap between the two blocks on the School Committee. There have been too many votes 3-2," he said.

"I don't simply want to replace Mark as the 3-2 split, because it doesn't matter which side the 3-2 split is on. We simply need to find some way to less acrimony on the School Committee," he added.

Bortman said he congratulated Lombardi for running a positive campaign on the issues when Lombardi came to his home. "These campaigns can sometimes get personal. I think it was to his credit that he focused on the issues," said Bortman.

Bortman will find himself in the middle of the action when he joins the School Committee at its April 6 meeting. "This will change the whole

Voter turnout is low

Only three contested races on the ballot translated into a lower than average turnout at the polls, with only 30 percent of registered voters casting ballots in Winchester's Town Election Tuesday.

According to Town Clerk Carolyn Ward, the 30 percent doesn't represent a record low for the town. "We had lower turnout in the 80's," said Ward. One particular race in 1984 drew only 24 percent of registered voters that year. She noted that not having an override question on the ballot can lower the turnout in the race overall.

Ward reported that the election was quieter than usual. "We didn't have the problems, we didn't have the questions we normally have, partially because of low turnout."

"I thought it went very smoothly, but it did seem quieter than usual," said Ward.

Overall the night was a success for many candidates, and for the staff at the Town Clerk's office. With tabulating complete before 11 o'clock Ward said there were no problems at the polling places.

"From our perspective, it's been a very good day," she said.

Mullin victorious in selectmen's race

By Stephen Olivieri and Deborah Trask

The Board of Selectmen will be welcoming a new colleague and its only woman member as Carol Mullin takes over the vacated spot with her March 30 victory.

In a contest to fill the one seat of the five-member board up for election, Mullin came out on top, defeating her challenger Ralph Johnson, 2,070 votes to 1,840.

The two candidates were battling for the seat previously held by Chairman Thomas Schmitt who did not choose to run after serving two terms.

In an interview with the Star, Johnson, a former chairman of the Finance Committee, said the poor turnout and the bad weather hurt his election chances. "We just didn't identify our voters and get enough of them out," said Johnson.

Both candidates had a tough time setting their candidacies apart having similar stances on key issues, such as tackling the budget deficit.

Following her victory Mullin could not be reached for comment, since she had to leave for a trip to Italy early on March 30. Her daughter, Caitlin, said that her mother had a charter flight to Italy scheduled for one day following the election, but that connecting flights were changed so she had to leave earlier. Former Selectman Judie Muggia said she was standing in for Mullin in her absence.

"I think she's looking forward to serving, she was really into the campaign," said Muggia.

Mullin, an attorney, is not scheduled to return until April 12 and Selectmen thank Schmitt for dedication, memories

By Deborah Trask
EDITOR

In what was, perhaps, a most fitting tribute to the outgoing chairman, selectmen gave Tom Schmitt a sendoff that was part spoof, part accolade.

At their March 29 meeting, Board of Selectmen chairman Thomas Schmitt said his last goodbyes to the board members. Schmitt decided not to seek reelection after two terms, but has said he plans to run for a state office. In parting he proposed a series of tongue-in-cheek recommendations and had some fun with the night's agenda.

After six years on the board, Schmitt says he will carry away some fond memories, and some friendships as well. Board members took turns recounting their experiences with Schmitt, and each said he would leave difficult shoes to fill.

Following the meeting, friends from different boards and committees filled the room in his honor.

Selectman Peter VanAken acknowledged a special tie with the outgoing chairman, noting Schmitt was the one who first introduced him to town politics.

"I'm sorry to see you leave the table. I have had a very enjoyable time working with you," said VanAken. "You have, I think, set a very high standard for us to follow."

That comment was echoed by every member of the board as they acknowledged Schmitt's contribution over the past six years.

As one member noted Schmitt's tenure has spanned through the expansion of Purity, the construction of the Arthur Griffin Center for

Committee calls for less capacity in plant

No waiver in sight

By Stephen Olivieri
ASSISTANT EDITOR

Water committee members say a filtration plant should be built, but differ from previous recommendations on plant capacity and construction material.

A town water committee has completed a draft report on the town's water system, in particular a proposed $6 million filtration plant. The Water System Review Committee put together an 18-page draft report of its recommendations for the town's water system, concentrating on the federally mandated filtration plant.

Formed at Fall Town Meeting, the 10-member committee has been on an accelerated course to complete a recommendation on the complex filtration system before the plant comes before Spring Town Meeting for appropriation.

The committee intends to rewrite parts of the proposal over the next couple of weeks before Town Meeting begins on April 26. The committee will present its draft proposals to the Board of Selectmen at the board's April 5 meeting and will hold a public hearing on April 14.

Most of the recommendations in the report completed by Weston & Sampson, are based on studies regarding the construction of a drinking water treatment plant. Weston and Sampson, an engineering firm, was hired by the selectmen to work on the project.

Winchester is one of just 12 communities in the northeast region of the country that needs to construct a water filtration plant. Under a 1986 amendment to the Safe Drinking Water Act, all communities that use surface water must have a filtration plant or obtain a waiver.

POLICE LOG

Monday, March 29

4:26 p.m.
A Salisbury Street youth called to report a larceny of a bicycle. The complaintant said someone stole her mountain bike, valued at $320, from a Main Street apartment complex.

5:33 p.m.
Sgt. Richard Fisher observed a minor motor vehicle accident on Skillings Road at Shore Road. As he investigated the incident, Sgt. Fisher witnessed an occupant of one of the vehicles throw a beer bottle out the window. Fisher discovered that the operator of that vehicle, a female Somerville youth, did not have a license, and he observed two bottles of beer in the vehicle. Sgt. Fisher asked another occupant of the vehicle who had a license, a female Woburn youth, to pull the vehicle over to the side of the road.

As Sgt. Fisher turned his vehicle around he witnessed the vehicle take off at a high rate of speed. Fisher followed the vehicle as it traveled south on Main Street. According to police, the vehicle being pursued was traveling 50 mph, passed several vehicles, and ran a stop sign.

The vehicle turned from Main onto Fairview Terrace, a dead end. Fisher approached the vehicle, which was parked in a driveway. Four occupants in the vehicle were arrested and transported to the Winchester station. The operator was charged with refusing to stop for police, allowing an improper person to operate the vehicle, illegal passing, stop sign violation, speeding, and minor in possession. The original operator was charged with operating without a license and minor in possession. The other two occupants, Woburn and Wilmington female youths, were charged with minors in possession.

Officer Steven Fields and dog Officer Jerry Smith were dispatched to a Wildwood residence for a report of a sick raccoon. After determining that the raccoon might have rabies, the officers removed the raccoon from the back porch and destroyed it.

7:25 p.m.
Police received a report of a motor vehicle larceny from a Wedgemere Ave woman. The woman told police that someone had stolen her vehicle some time that day from the parking lot at Wedgemere Station.

Officer William Wright was dispatched to Cambridge Street for a motor vehicle accident with personal injury. The operator of the first vehicle, a 40-year-old Woburn man, was traveling south on Cambridge Street when he took a left into a parking lot and collided with the second vehicle, which was traveling north on Cambridge, operated by a 24-year-old Lloyd Street woman.

The operator of the second vehicle complained of knee and head pain. The operator of the first vehicle had head lacerations. Both operators were taken by ambulance to Winchester Hospital.

Police reports said that the operators' visibility was limited by a pile of snow.

5:23 p.m.
Officer Peter Hersee was dispatched to Lowell Avenue for a motor vehicle accident with personal injury. The operator of the first vehicle, a 30-year-old New Hampshire man, was traveling north in a parking area when he collided with the second vehicle, operated by a 19-year-old New Hampshire female, which was traveling south.

The operator of the second vehicle complained of knee pain and was taken to Winchester Hospital by ambulance. The second vehicle sustained extensive damage to the fender, hood, and engine.

12:08 p.m.
Officer Philip Coss was dispatched to Bacon Street for a motor vehicle accident. The operator of the first vehicle, an 82-year-old Vine Street woman, was traveling south on Bacon Street when she struck the rear of the second vehicle, which was legally parked. The operator was cited for failure to use care and caution.

9:15 a.m.
Officer Arthur Houllahan was dispatched to Main Street for a motor vehicle accident. The operator of the first vehicle, a 23-year-old Russet Lane woman, was traveling north on Main when she slowed down to take a left. Her vehicle was then struck from behind by the second vehicle, operated by a 34-year-old Arlington man.

8:26 a.m.
Officer William O'Neil was dispatched to a Cambridge Street residence for a report of a larceny from a motor vehicle. Someone had entered the vehicle and taken out the radio, but then left the radio, valued at $200, on the roof of the vehicle.

Town faces round of calls on raccoons

By Stephen Olivieri
ASSISTANT EDITOR

With the positive testing of three raccoons for rabies in Winchester, the Police Department is finding its hands full with phone calls from citizens worried about the animals.

Dog Officer Jerry Smith said that "people are calling left and right" about bothersome raccoons. Since one tested positive on March 1, police have been forced to kill at least one raccoon a week that was suspected of being rabid.

Police procedure allows officers to euthanize a raccoon that appears to be rabid.

A couple of residents have taken matters into their own hands. Last month two residents shot at raccoons on their properties.

A Berkshire Street man shot a raccoon with a rifle, and a Myopia Road man used a 9mm pistol to shoot at a raccoon involved in a skirmish with his dog.

The Berkshire man killed the raccoon and then called Smith, telling him he had a dead raccoon on his property.

Police found out about the Myopia man when they received a call from a neighbor saying he had heard shots fired. The Myopia Street man wounded, but did not kill, the raccoon and it fled.

Police Lieutenant Kenneth Albertelli said the department "appreciates the concern people have about raccoons" but said residents who shot raccoons are violating a town ordinance prohibiting the discharging of a gun in Winchester. "We'd like them to call us," said Albertelli.

Both men had their guns and permits temporarily confiscated, but police are not going to press charges. Albertelli said that might change in future cases if the shooting of raccoons by residents continues.

The first detected case of raccoon rabies in the state was last September. The first confirmed rabid raccoon in Winchester was on March 1. Soon after, two other raccoons in Winchester also tested positive. Now that there are confirmed cases in Winchester, the state will no longer test raccoons here.

Rabies is a viral infection that attacks the nervous system. It is fatal if not treated.

Smith says that majority of the calls involve raccoons that are a nuisance but not ill. Smith tells the residents, often to their dissatisfaction, that there is nothing he can do. "We can't go around shooting well animals," said Smith.

Smith himself was injured trying to capture a rabid raccoon. Smith was notified of a rabid raccoon on Middlesex Street and arrived to find the raccoon acting unusual. "It was doing back-flips and jumping up and down," said Smith.

Smith tried to capture the animal with a pole-and-noose device. The animal lunged at Smith, and he slipped as he dodged the raccoon. When he fell, he broke his wrist and two ribs.

Incident with knife called isolated

By Stephen Olivieri
ASSISTANT EDITOR

Despite an incident involving a knife at the high school last week, Principal John Ritchie said he does not believe weapons are a major problem at the school.

In an interview with the Star, Ritchie said he does not think students carrying weapons is a major problem at the school. But he added that he is taking the incident in which a student brandished a knife in the cafeteria seriously.

"I'm deeply concerned that anyone would carry a knife to school," said Ritchie. "You don't ignore something like this."

Ritchie said he would remind students that carrying a weapon is unacceptable and said four students involved in the cafeteria incident were suspended for "coming remotely close to participating in an act of violence."

This is the second time this year a student was charged with using a weapon. In January a student sprayed another student with a Mace-like substance in the face.

Ritchie said up until the January incident, in his 3 1/2 years here, he had "never been aware of a weapon in school."

Several students interviewed at the high school concurred with Ritchie's assessment that weapons were not prevalent.

"It was an isolated incident," said junior Gary Pedulla. "It was the first instance I had seen."

"I've never known any other students to carry weapons," said sophomore Emily White. "To my knowledge, this was the first and only time."

SENIOR NEWS

FROM THE
JENKS CENTER

By Mary Kelly
SPECIAL TO THE STAR

Social security area rep. returns

Francine Kollias, Social Security Administration area representative, will return to the Jenks Senior Center on Friday, April 2, 10:30 a.m., to give Winchester seniors an update on Social Security programs. She will also be available to answer your questions. If you're newly retired, or are about to retire, come and learn about the system. Kollias has spoken to Winchester seniors many times in the past and her presentations have always been timely and enlightening. Everyone is welcome. There is no charge and no advance sign-up is necessary.

Tax assistance ends April 8

The Tax Assistance program which has been available without charge since Feb. 2 will end on Thursday, April 8. The last three dates on which this service will be available are April 1, 6 and 8.

If you wish to avail yourself of this assistance, come to the Jenks Senior Center on one of those dates and bring with you your 1991 reports, all forms needed for completing 1992 returns and all personal records and receipts required for completing the 1992 returns. Assistance is available for preparing both state and federal tax returns. No appointment is necessary, help is available on a walk-in basis.

Pictures, pictures, still more pictures needed

As time passes and we get closer to May 1, when "The Ageless Follies" will be presented at Town Hall, the committee asks Winchester seniors to "send us your romantic pictures." These pictures will be enlarged and serve as a backdrop for the performance. Put your name and telephone number on the photos and drop them off at Barbara Ciampa's office at the Jenks Center. All pictures will be returned. Don't wait, go now and get out those pictures with a romantic theme, taken when you were a few years younger or maybe they are more recent.

Young people and seniors will participate in the performance, and Brian Milauskas is directing the overall presentation. The Council on Aging and the Recreation Department are working to bring the generations together, with the purpose of better understanding of each age group and of raising money for the support of the Youth Center.

Housing counseling program underway

Brenda Pappas, recently assigned by the Council on Aging to the position of housing counselor, serving Winchester seniors out of the Jenks Senior Center, is now available at the center on Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., for information and housing counseling, either on an appointment basis or on Friday afternoons, on a "drop in" basis. This is a new pilot program sponsored by the COA and funded by a grant from the Executive Office of Elder Affairs and the Winchester Affordable Housing Fund.

Seniors are reminded that the housing counselor monitors the Handyman program. If you need small repairs made or tasks done, call the center, 721-7136, leave your name and number and the handyman will get back to you.

St. Patrick's day party great success

St. Patrick was well and truly feted on his day at the Jenks Senior Center. An overflow crowd attended and enjoyed the entertainment provided by the center's Glee Club and by Father Leo X. Lynch, pastor of St. Anthony's Church, Woburn, who brought with him some of the slides he has accumulated over the years on his 28 trips to the Old Country. Seniors participated in the sing-along and enjoyed the delicious refreshments.

Leonor Rich introduced the guests, who included Lynch, Father Francis J. Keaney, and Sen. Charles Shannon. This happy event was sponsored by the Winchester Seniors Association's Recreation Committee and Mark Lombardi was in charge of arrangements.

Anyone for horseshoes?

As reported last week, the Winchester Seniors Association plans to build a horseshoe pit but, before doing so, would like an indication of how many people, both men and women, would be interested in playing or forming teams before time and money are invested in the construction of such a pit.

This is a wonderful outdoor, three-season activity and, if enough people show interest, the WSA Executive Board will move ahead on making the pit. Please sign up with the desk receptionist and you will be kept advised as plans are formulated.

Do you play chess or checkers?

Every Wednesday, from 1 to 4 p.m., seniors in town, men and women, gather in the Jenks Center's downstairs lobby to play various card and board games, such as cribbage, cards, scrabble, chess and Rummikub. But more chess players are needed and more checker players, too.

If you play chess or checkers, or would like to learn to play chess or checkers, come to Games Day on Wednesday afternoons at the center. Socialization and friendly rivalry make these sessions most enjoyable.

Movie of the month returns

The April selection is the highly acclaimed comedy "Sister Act," starring Whoopie Goldberg. The showing will start at 12:30 p.m., Friday, April 16, in the Jenks Room at the center. The Eating Together diners are encouraged to stay for the show, which will last about one and a half hours. All other seniors are welcome to attend this showing. There is no charge and no advance sign-up is required.

Leader Mortgage puts emphasis on customers

If you're buying your first home upgrading, refinancing or simply want to learn more about the mortgage market, you may want to call (617) 648-7900.

That's the central phone line for Leader Mortgage Co. - an Arlington-based direct lender with satellite offices in Boston, Newton Centre and Wayland.

Founded in 1986 by Sushil K. Tuli, a Belmont resident, Leader Mortgage's initial goal was to help first generation Americans unskilled in English obtain home financing. Today, the firm provides and services loans for all kinds of customers, yet retains its caring tradition.

"Choosing the right mortgage plan is a big decision, and our first goal is to make sure our customers understand each program they're considering and how it will affect them," says Tuli.

"In this way, all our customers can select the loan which serves them best. We're able to come away with the satisfaction of knowing we helped them, and everybody wins."

Unlike mortgage brokers that must sell their loans on the secondary market, Leader is an FNMA-approved direct lender with qualified staff and knowledge to make loan approval decision in-house. "This gives us a lot more flexibility in the programs we offer and saves our customers the expense and inconvenience of using a broker," explains Peter Conrad, vice president of loan servicing. "It allows us to respond to market trends with more affordable loans and enables us to service our loans directly and locally so the customer always comes first."

Today, as interest rates continue their decline, Leader's programs feature a variety of affordable fixed- and adjustable-rate plans, including two-step programs where below-market fixed rates are adjusted after a pre-set period of time. The firm also offers an innovative zero-point, no closing cost program to consumers who want to refinance their mortgage at a lower rate with no cost.

With the average home in the firm's service area selling in the upper $200,000's and above, Leader Mortgage specializes in "jumbo" loans. Their personal advisors are ready to help sophisticated jumbo loan customers every step of the way, from understanding options, to customizing a mortgage to best suit the mortgage applicant's needs.

"The mortgage business to us is about helping people make one of the most important financial decisions of their life."
SUSHIL K. TULI
FOUNDER OF LEADER MORTGAGE CO.

"People need to consider several factors before they pick a program, including how long they expect to be in the house, and what they can afford long term," says Meredith Spence, the firm's vice president of loan origination. "That's why we spend a lot of time asking questions and listen very carefully to their answers before we make a recommendation."

Having trebled its business since moving to Arlington from Boston in 1991, Leader remains as civic-minded as ever. In addition to its seat on the Board of Governors of the Massachusetts Mortgage Bankers Association, the firm was cited by Governor William Weld for its "contributions to business and the community."

In 1992, Leader was appointed by FNMA and state treasurer Joe Malone to serve in the Middle American dream program for low-to-moderate income first-time home buyers. And today, the firm frequently offers seminars to first-time home buyers to educate them on how to finance their first home.

"The mortgage business to us is about helping people make one of the most important financial decisions of their life," says Sushil Tuli. "That's why putting customers first is more than a phrase. It's a sincere commitment we put into practice every day and the most important service we provide."

Town Meeting will be missing a familiar face this spring with Clarence Borggaard, a 47-year incumbent, losing his seat in the March 30 election.

"It's no use complaining about it," said Borggaard, a Town Meeting member from precinct 4 since 1945. "The world won't come to an end for them or for me."

The 93-year-old Borggaard has long been an active and outspoken member of community and lately has been working on reopening Wedge Pond Beach.

Borggaard, who place ninth in a race for eight seats, said he received a call on election night from Town Moderator John Sullivan, who won election for his 17th term as moderator. "He said, 'What am I going to do without you,'" said Borggaard.

Borggaard has traditionally made the motion to close Town Meeting for the night. "The meetings will go on forever," Borggaard said.

Borggaard, who compared himself to embattled Russian President Boris Yeltsin, said that the schools have become the main issue in town and without any connection to the schools, he couldn't win. "I didn't expect to win," he said.

Borggaard said he has no interest in running for Town Meeting next year. "Enough all ready," said Borggaard.

"I can go to bed now instead of going down there," he said.

Lodge of Elks host senior citizens

The Winchester Lodge of Elks dined and entertained 130 members of the Winchester Seniors Association at their annual Senior Citizens Day on Sunday afternoon, March 21. Carl Steiner and Leo Crowley cooked a delicious dinner with all the "fixings."

The program as presented by P.E.R., P.D.D. Creighton Horn, co-chairman, included a most interesting and informative talk by State Rep. Paul Casey and Sen. Charles Shannon on the good work that the Winchester Elks does for the seniors and students of Winchester. Ted Robinson, president-elect of the Winchester Seniors Association was introduced and thanked everyone.

The program was concluded by Casey with the winners of the many door prizes donated by the following: Brother Ed Goodwin, president Winchester Cooperative Bank; Scotti Insurance Company, Inc., Fells Hardware, Dairy Barn, Rick Farrell's Gas station, Winchester Drug, Purity Supreme, Mercurio Insurance Agency, McCord Winn-Textron, and Hernon Construction Company.

This annual event was a most enjoyable day for all the Committee thanks the dedicated brothers and their families who assisted and worked to make certain that everyone had a wonderful time. The Committee thanks the following members and volunteers: Joe Battisti, Art McLean, Brian McCormack, Bill Shepard, Bob Pierce, Don Kilpatrick, Bob Hernon, George Meady, Terry Sullivan, John Giuliani, John Steiner, Gordon Turgis, Kevin Gannon, Ryan Mawn, Tom Trump, Ann Marie Crowley, Mary Beth Crowley, Shannon Steiner, Ellen Horn, Irene Horn, Kevin Gannon, Dennis Stone, and Bob Johnson. Many thanks also to Al Karnilla and John Giuliani for issuing the tickets.

Council to hold fifth annual auction

The Council of Social Concern's fifth annual auction Saturday, April 3, will feature many items and services donated by Winchester residents and businesses.

"We appreciate the generosity and community spirit of people in Winchester who have been outstanding supporters of community services," said Jim Jones, Social Concern's board of directors treasurer.

The auction will feature a travel package to Puerto Rico; a spinet organ; computer equipment; artwork; antiques; autographed sports items; a fly fishing weekend in the Berkshires; oriental and area rugs; a large framed Arthur Griffin photograph; and hundreds of other items and professional services.

Everything to be auctioned has been donated to support community services, and all items and services will go home with the highest bidders on Saturday.

"In addition to supporting critical community services, the auction is also an evening of fun and excitement," said Jones, who will be the volunteer auctioneer during the evening.

All auction proceeds support Social Concern's multi-services, including emergency food assistance, day care for young children from low income families and families in crisis, parenting education, family social services, an outreach to the Hispanic community, activities for elderly men and women, and information and referral.

Auction admission is $5, which includes coffee and dessert. The auction will be held at the Veterans Memorial Senior Center, 144 School St. in Woburn. For more information, call 935-6495.

Walk for Stone Zoo month declared

April has been declared as "Walk For Stone Zoo Month." The zoo invites the public to join in the kick-off event Sunday, April 4 (which is also World Health Day), any time from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Stroll around Lake Quannapowitt in Wakefield with the live llamas, Pete and Larry, or the "costumed" animals. If you can't make it that day, walk any time during the month, anywhere, with friends, family, other zoo supporters, pets or kids in a stroller. Launch your spring exercise program and help StoneZoo at the same time. Walkers' efforts and the generosity of their sponsors can have an important impact on the ongoing zoo renovations.

Call for a pledge sheet or information. Friends of StoneZoo at 438-7459.

AROUND TOWN

Winchester trails

Cabin fever? Prepare to enjoy a variety of hiking trails right here in Winchester. The updated edition of the booklet "Guide to the Winchester Woodlands" is now available at Henderson's Stationery Shop, Bookends and the Town Engineer's Office at Town Hall.

Maps are included for a dozen town-owned natural areas, many with public paths for walking.

Families with small children will enjoy Davidson Park, maintained by the DPW. For a more natural setting, try the Conservation Lands: Smith Pond or Locke Farm, maintained in September and May by Winchester Trails for the third grade nature walks. A new page with map of the Vinson Owen Science Park has been included in the new edition, thanks to the efforts of Bert VerPlanck and Louise Ahearn.

Older children will enjoy the loop trail in the 28 acre Town Forest or a hike to Long Pond in the Middlesex Falls. Get ready for the White Mountains with a trip to the newest Conservation parcel, Mount Pisgah.

Winchester Trails hopes that citizens will appreciate the beauty of these quiet areas and that families will participate in teaching their children how to use and enjoy these open spaces.

Shannon announces recycling grant

Sen. Charles Shannon of the 2nd Middlesex District announced that the Town of Winchester has received a grant of $3,450 from the Department of Environmental Protection.

Daniel S. Greenbaum, the Commissioner of DEP, contacted Senator Shannon and said, "I am pleased to inform you that the Town of Winchester has been selected to receive a Recycling Equipment Grant Program award from the Department of Environmental Protection. Your program was selected because it clearly demonstrates both the commitment and the ability to enhance recycling in your community. To assist your program, DEP will provide your community with one roll-off container valued at $3,450."

Sen. Shannon said, "Winchester has always been committed to recycling and most of us recall how very successful the "Re-Cycle Michael" campaign was. I am sure that Winchester will be eligible for future grants from the DEP as they become available. I believe this modest stipend will be the first of many more to come in the future."

LIBRARY LINES

Wendy Frank, performer

Wendy Frank in concert

Songstress Wendy Frank offered some of her "Springtime Magic" to children ages 2 to 5 at the Winchester Public Library on Saturday, March 20, at 10:30 am.

Writer and illustrator Lydia Dabcovich showed slides and illustrated a book at a program for children ages 6 to 8 on Monday, March 22 at the library.

Frank, of humanNature, uses songs, guitar, puppets, and group participation to create a vibrant and playful performance. Her environmental awareness and self-esteem themes encourage children to think positively about themselves and their world. She can be seen throughout New England in solo concerts and with her duo and trio. Audiences have been involved in her upbeat performances at The Boston Children's Museum, The DeCordova Museum (Lincoln, Mass.), The Museum of Our National Heritage (Lexington, Mass.), The Cape Museum of Fine Arts (Dennis, Mass.), The Three Apple Storytelling Festival (Harvard, Mass.), pre-schools , elementary schools, churches, synagogues, festivals, and for a wide range of community groups.

'Libraries change lives' will be theme

The National Library Week theme for 1993 is "Libraries Change Lives," and the American Library Association (ALA) wants to know if you have a story about how the library changed your life. By entering the nationwide "Write For America's Libraries" promotion you can provide ALA with "success stories" that it can use as testimonials when it campaigns for better funding and support for libraries. If you have a story to submit, pick up an entry form at the reference desk or from the pamphlet rack near the circulation desk. Drop off your entry at the reference desk between April 18 and May 19. The three people who submit the most inspiring stories nationwide will be honored on June 26 at the opening session of ALA's annual conference in New Orleans, with travel expenses paid by Microsoft Corporation. The first-prize winner will receive a Microsoft Encarta Multimedia Encyclopedia and a personal computer with CD-ROM hardware. The two runners-up will receive the Encarta.

The library will select some of the submissions it collects to display in the library during the month of April.

Literacy group to recruit volunteers, students at the library

The National Library Week theme for 1993 is "Libraries Change Lives," and to celebrate this theme a representative from the Eastern Massachusetts Literacy Council (EMLC) will be coming to the library to recruit both volunteer tutors and interested students. Liz Sayre from the EMLC will be in the library lobby on Tuesdays and Saturdays during April from 9:30 a.m. to noon. If you are interested in becoming a volunteer literacy tutor, in receiving free tutoring, or in supporting the EMLC, stop by the library at those times, or call the reference desk at 721-7171.

The Eastern Massachusetts Literacy Council, founded in 1970, is a non-profit organization that provides workshops which certify adult volunteers to teach English as a second language and to teach reading and writing skills to English-speaking adults. It is affiliated with Laubach Literacy Volunteers.

Learn to select books for your child at the library

The Winchester Public Library's Children's Department will be offering a workshop to help parents of children ages 2 to 5 select books and other materials. "A Place to Start" will be a two-week series held on consecutive Wednesdays, April 7 and April 14, from 7 to 8:30 p.m. in the Children's Room. Not only will the parents learn tips and tools for selection, but they will leave the workshop with a personalized bibliography for their child. Due to limited enrollment, registration will be required. To register, call the Children's Room at 721-7140.

Mysterious bag of pennies appears in book drop

When the Winchester Public Library's custodians emptied the book-return drop on Monday, March 22, they found an unexpected surprise mixed in with the returned books. A large plastic bag, filled with 5 pounds of pennies, had been left in the drop over the weekend. The library staff has no idea what the purpose of this unexpected gift is. Is it a gesture of support, a unique way of paying for an old fine, or some sort of mistake? The library is holding on to the pennies to see if they are claimed, If not, they will go to the Friends of the Library.

You don't have to empty out your piggy bank to show your support for the library. Many people do this by joining the Friends of the Library. To find out more about the work of the Friends, come to their next board meeting on Tuesday, April 13, at 7:30 p.m. All are welcome.

An Important Message To All Boston Gas Customers

On March 28, our employees who belong to the Local 12007, United Steelworkers of America, rejected the Company's offer of a new contract.

We want to assure all of our customers serviced by Local 12007, that your gas supply will not be interrupted and we are working to minimize any inconveniences.

You should also know that one of the major issues in this labor dispute concerns health care. Currently, Boston Gas customers pay 100% of the cost of health coverage for employees represented by Local 12007. We feel that considering the cost of health care today, this represents an unreasonable burden on our customers. And we have requested that members of Local 12007 pay a small percentage of their own health care costs.

Emergency Service Will Continue

If you have a gas leak, please call us immediately at 523-1010.

Appliance Service

During the labor dispute, we will be unable to provide repair service for gas appliances. If you need gas appliance service, simply call your local heating contractor or an appliance service firm.

Paying Your Gas Bill

Bills may be paid at your neighborhood pay stations or by mail: Boston Gas, Boston, MA 02205-9025.

Our Commitment To You Will Continue

We regret any inconvenience this labor dispute may cause you. Boston Gas is committed to maintaining emergency services to all of our customers while working to end this dispute equitably.

The New Honesty

By Dan Chane
SPECIAL TO THE STAR

There is a recent trend in some areas of Winchester politics which suggests that the honesty of "letting it all hang out" approaches divine status.

In truth, the strident personal agenda has always been anathema to fair government and has merited no place on the Winchester political scene.

In years gone by an unwritten standard of deportment observed by those holding town office held that respect for the office, a humble desire to serve the town and good manners governed the conduct of all public meetings. It was also a paramount feature of any town election.

Issues, not personalities, were of primary importance and that one fact probably gave Winchester its sterling political reputation and its exceptional amenities. These days we seem to feed off the legacies of past generations without adding anything of much import to the pot.

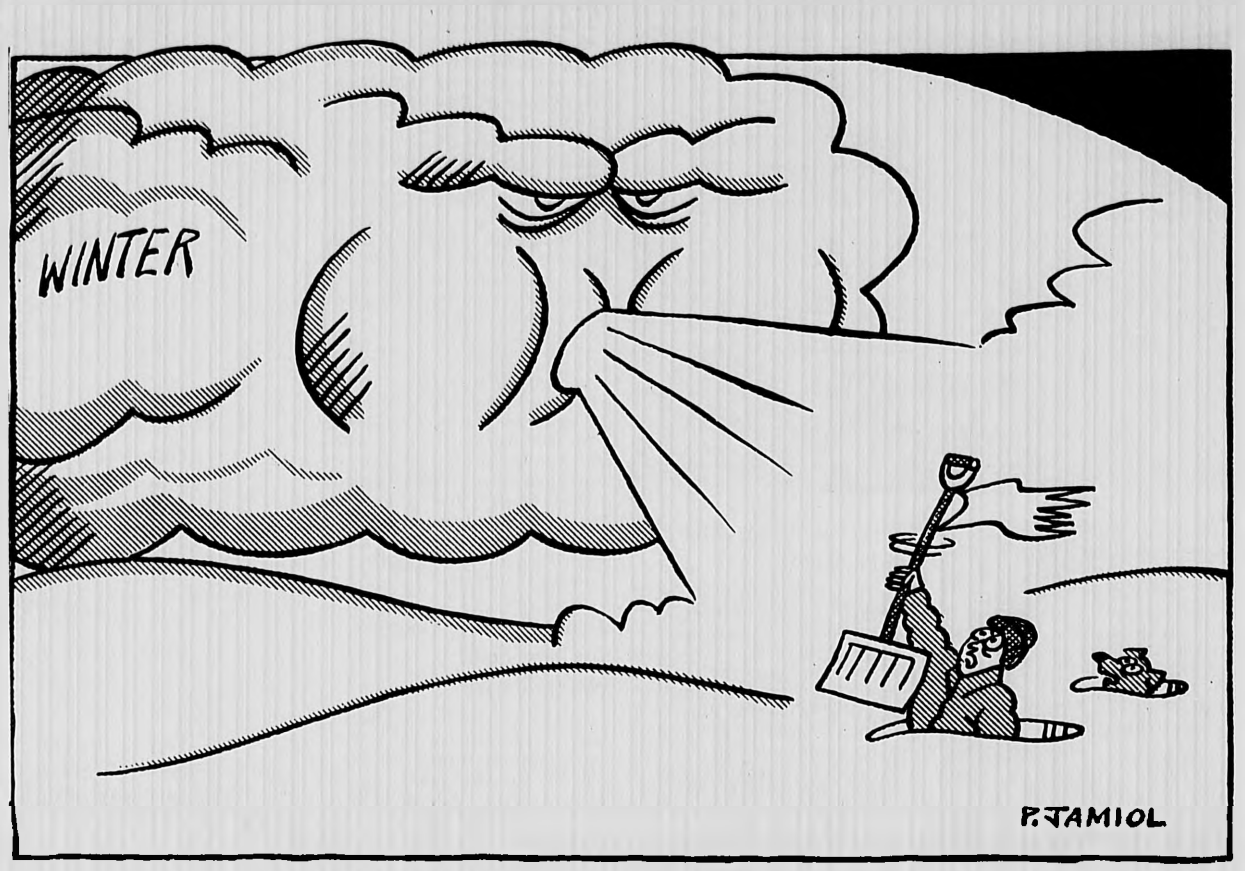
During this past election campaign it was mirthfully whispered throughout town that one candidate for School Committee, who was of Jewish persuasion, was determined to turn one of the elementary schools into a synagogue.

That heinous rumor was more appropriate of the predominantly snobbish, very Yankee and less intellectual Winchester of 1913 — or a present day group of very cruel schoolchildren congregating on their barren playground.

Presently too, the personal conduct of some elected town officials shows a lack of respect for the intelligence of those who voted them into their office.

It is to be hoped that the voters of Winchester will take only so much of the conduct before they once again make broadbased political issues more important than the strident personalities who espouse them.

In the meantime we all must endure this "New Honesty" until we ultimately realize that it is up to us — for our own well being — to refute it.



BEACON HILL ROLL CALL

Beacon Hill Roll Call
Volume 20 — Report No. 9
Massachusetts House
March 22-26, 1993

THE HOUSE. Beacon Hill Roll Call records local representatives' votes on two roll calls from the week of March 22-26. Both roll calls were on proposed amendments to the bill allowing employees who have been locked out of their workplaces because of a labor dispute to collect unemployment benefits. The bill itself was approved by the House and Senate on a voice vote and needs final enactment in each branch before it goes to Governor Weld.

Votes on all the amendments were almost strictly along party lines with Democratic sponsors of the bill opposing what they called "GOP-sponsored, anti-labor amendments." Republicans said the amendments were reasonable and designed to make the bill more balanced and insure the legislature does not send an anti-business message to companies.

DAMAGE TO PROPERTY (S 1523) — House 113-28, rejected an amendment denying unemployment benefits to locked-out employees if the employer can show that workers caused repeated and substantial damage to the employer's property. The amendment eliminates a provision in the bill that benefits be denied only if the damage was done with the approval of the union officers. Amendment supporters said it would be impossible to prove that officers approved such destructive actions and argued the mere commission of these acts should result in a denial of benefits. Opponents said the amendment would result in an entire union being denied benefits because one rogue member destroys property. (A "Yes" vote is for denying benefits regardless of whether union officials okayed the damage. A "No" vote is for denying benefits only if union officials okayed the damage.)

Rep. Paul Casey voted no.

SUBSTANTIAL DAMAGE (S 1523) — House 118-28, rejected an amendment denying unemployment benefits to locked-out employees if the employer can show that workers caused repeated damage to the employer's property with the approval of union officers. This amendment eliminates the requirement in the bill that the employer must show "substantial" damage was caused. Amendment supporters said requiring proof of "substantial" damage is too vague and allows employees to commit various acts of violence and vandalism and still collect benefits. Opponents said requiring proof of substantial damage is more reasonable. They warned that otherwise hundreds of people could be denied benefits if one vandal throws a rock through a window. (A "Yes" vote is for requiring proof of repeated damage only. A "No" vote is for requiring proof of repeated and substantial damage.)

Casey voted no.

THE SENATE. Beacon Hill Roll Call records local senators' votes on six roll calls from the week of March 22-26. All Senate roll calls are on proposed changes to the rules under which the Senate operates.

EIGHT-YEAR LIMIT — Senate 21-13, rejected an amendment prohibiting legislators from holding leadership positions for more than eight consecutive years. The GOP-sponsored proposal would have imposed the limit on the Senate president, floor leaders and committee chairs beginning this year. Amendment supporters said it is healthy to insure new leadership and prevent individuals from amassing excessive power. Opponents said arbitrary limits are undemocratic and noted voters have the ultimate power by electing their own senators who then elect a Senate president. (A "Yes" vote is for the eight-year limit. A "No" vote is against the limit.)

Sen. Charles Shannon voted yes.

TV COVERAGE — Senate 23-8, rejected an amendment allowing the Senate to authorize radio and TV coverage of any session. The amend-

The 'In Group' is definitely out

TERRY MAROTTA
COLUMNIST

Some small children were here with their two sets of parents.

The little girls, neither one 24 months yet, greeted each other by comparing outfits: that is, by grasping their jumpers and lifting them straight up, thus exposing two tiny pairs of white tights amply packed with sturdy legs and bunching diapers. Then they grinned in delight.

One mom, always ready with a quip, remarked "I'm careful how I talk, now, with a daughter: When she dresses up, I say, 'My, Ava! Don't you look smart and competent in that!'" Implying, only half in fun, that "Don't you look sweet and pretty," might reinforce in her the age-old cultural expectations that we gals are more important in our function as ornaments than in any other capacity.

Which most toys made for little girls, primp- and grooming-oriented as they are, would certainly suggest.

And these expectations run deep in the culture. Other friends, attempting to raise their kids free of them, gave their two girls a train set once. The elder, five, walked over to the ring of track, wrapped it round and round, picked the whole thing up and said, "Look Daddy! A wedding cake!"

But alas, it isn't enough anymore to be sweet and pretty and win yourself a cake. As someone said, these days a wife economy is as obsolete as an economy based on slavery. You'd best be able to make it on your own now. And the old privileges of race and gender just may not help.

A recent issue of Newsweek had a cover story called "White Male Paranoia" which dealt with how at bay so many American white guys are feeling. For a long time, power rested with them alone: no black man could vote 'til over halfway through the 19th century. No woman any color could vote 'til well into the 20th.

To have been born in the "in" group is lucky, and no one should hold it against you (unless, as someone said of George Bush, you were born on second base and think you hit a double). To have been born in an "out" group, though, may be luckier, at least in America: Historically, outsiders here are the hungry ones, the newcomers willing to work like hell and make it on their own. I hope my own kids aren't so much a part of any In Group that they never know how that feels.

I think of their schoolyard times. They have come home, over the years, saddened by the fact that they weren't in this or that popular group. Did these popular kids even know that others felt excluded? Who were they popular with, anyway? "Themselves, mostly," came the answer.

Well, it's not a bad thing to be popular with yourself. I met someone last fall who knew my husband back in high school because he was Class President. "What's your name?" I asked her. "Oh, he wouldn't have known me," she said. "He was one of the popular kids." What he remembers being, thanks to an early cancer death, was a poor kid and a fatherless one. Early on, he looked around, and thought, "Guess I have to do this on my own." If he was liked, maybe it was because those doing it that way sometimes radiate a kind of courage that others are drawn to.

We all want to be judged on the basis of who we are as individuals and not what group we belong to. White males passed over for jobs now feel a sting that women, say, or people of color, have felt for ages. But there's no need for acrimony in either direction.

This same issue of Newsweek reports a G.O.P. fund-raising dinner at which jokes were reportedly made about both gay people and African Americans. State Senator Warren Barry from Virginia derided what he called President Clinton's "fag-in-the-foxhole" proposal. The Boston Globe reports that at the same event Oliver North made a joke about adopting a lisp to get past the White House switchboard. When asked later if he knew the word "fag" was offensive to gay people, Barry said, no he didn't. "I don't hang around with that crowd." When North was questioned about his remark, he said, "If it angered some subset, that's their problem."

Now don't get me wrong here. Some of my best friends are white males. And man, can some of them add! But you know, a certain few give the others a bad name. Look at Little Warren and Big Ollie North, now: it'll take more than a great dress to make either of them look smart and competent.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dewald calls for new public hearing

To the editor:

Recently the Daily Times Chronicle (March 23 issue) reported the response of a Finance Committee member (who is also a member of the fields committee) when questioned about neighborhood concerns with respect to playfield expansion at the Lynch School. This particular member was reported to have said that the residents of the Lynch neighborhood were "very confused" because of "erroneous information." He was also reported to have said that giving "truthful information" to the neighborhood would be helpful.

At the March 23 meeting of the School Committee, a resident of Sylvester Avenue stated very clearly that the neighbors are NOT CONFUSED. We understand the issues clearly. Should the Town waste over $50,000 (including engineering and DPW time) on unneeded soccer field expansion into the Well Field as requested for phase I of a five-year project? Should the Town spend $74,000 for irrigation in the second year and $50,000 in each of the third and fourth years for parking at Lynch?

We feel that this money would be better spent on education, public safety, street improvement, etc. As I see it, the residents of the Lynch neighborhood can read, and we are very concerned about what we have read in the fields committee minutes. It appears to me that a little reading comprehension of their minutes by members of the fields committee would greatly reduce their state of confusion.

In the 1993 Town directory we note that the chairman of the fields committee is also listed as the president of the private Winchester Soccer Club. It is clear that the major benefactor of playfield expansion at Lynch will be the private soccer club. The above is not ERRONEOUS information.

Various members of the Lynch neighborhood have repeatedly asked the fields committee to hold a public hearing at the Lynch School, but the fields committee has repeatedly turned down this simple request. A public hearing would give the fields committee an excellent opportunity to explain the merits of their proposed soccer complex to the Lynch neighborhood. More importantly, such a public hearing would put an end to the notion of "erroneous information" since we, the neighbors, would get the information "directly from the horse's mouth" and not from reading the minutes of the fields committee.

On Feb. 25, the fields committee did hold a public hearing at Town Hall, but the Lynch neighborhood only received notice of this hearing on Feb. 24. More disturbingly, discussion of neighborhood concerns was severely curtailed due to the fact that a two-minute gag rule was imposed by the chairman of the fields committee.

During the report by the fields committee to the School Committee (March 23 meeting), I asked the chairman of the fields committee to comment on the fact that in 1984 Town Meeting voted to preserve the Well Field (Article 4). He responded that the 1984-voted article 4 is now INVALID.

Upon being asked "Why is it invalid?" he responded, "I don't know the answer to that but I recommend that you follow it up with the Town Clerk ... " In this particular incident, the chairman of the fields committee has clearly given out "erroneous information." I am asking him to come forward with a correction and

ON THE RECORD

The miserable weather in the month of March, topped off by a cold, rainy election day, should be a big boost for Town Meeting member Anthony Conte. Conte plans to offer a proposal at Spring Town Meeting to change the town's bylaws so that election day would be moved from the fourth Tuesday in March to the fourth Saturday in April.

Town Counsel Wade Welch is silent on his opinion on whether the School Committee members violated the Open Meeting Law and whether their subsequent decision to reaffirm the appointment of Robert Fitzgerald was legal. School Committee member Jerilyn Heinold said that Welch told her the committee should get a written legal opinion first, and she added that she was "advised by the town attorney not to take part in any conversations about this." Welch told the Star that he spoke with "a member of the School Committee" but added, "I never discuss with anyone the conversations I have which are privileged attorney-client, especially with the press."

Thomas Schmitt is not the only one to be given accolades at the end of his term. At the School Committee's March 23 meeting member Edward O'Connell offered a tribute (not to mention a free election plug) for School Committee Chairman Mark Lombardi. O'Connell praised Lombardi for his "tenacity", "good humor", and "good spirit". He added, "I believe you have served the town extremely well. The town of Winchester, the school system, and in particular the youngsters in our schools are better in their status because you have given so generously to your community."

Following the election, selectmen candidate Ralph Johnson couldn't resist a good-natured shot at the Star and the pitfalls of receiving its endorsement. Johnson said he had heard through the political grapevine the Star endorsement can automatically spell disaster for a campaign.

an apology to the citizens of the Town.

Again, now in a public letter, I am requesting that the fields committee hold a public hearing at the Lynch School.

Robert R. Dewald

Good result is no excuse, says one resident

To the editor:

Whenever something good comes out of a bad process, there's bound to be trouble, and the nomination of Bob Fitzgerald as school superintendent (very good) by a possibly illegal process (maybe bad, maybe really bad) will continue to cause bitter discussion.

Despite a letter last week saying that the School Committee is the process, it is not. The process is clearly established by law and every member of the committee has taken an oath to uphold the laws of the commonwealth. The Open Meeting law requires all discussion to be open and public and is one of the most serious of the laws governing public officials. It protects the democratic process for all residents. It is designed to avoid the letter writer's suggestion that to be in the loop, one must be on the committee.

Imagine something bad coming out of such a bad process — suppose that school committee members had called each other up, shown up at the meeting and voted to close an elementary school. The issue would be clear. Righteous indignation would arise from all quarters and no one would be saying, "Oh heck, they know what they're doing."

No, just because we finally have an admirable superintendent, does not let the school committee members off the hook. If anyone's going to break the law in this town (to paraphrase an old selectman's line from several years ago), let it be someone who doesn't know any better.

Wheaton Club thanks supporters

To the editor:

The Wheaton College Group wishes to thank all who supported and assisted with its annual Scholarship Benefit held March 24. The enthusiasm of those who participated made this, the twenty-fourth such event, especially successful. Proceeds from the event go directly to the Alumnae Scholarship Fund which helps defray college expenses for a number of deserving Wheaton students.

I extend a special thanks to those merchants who prominently displayed our signs in their windows. The entire Alumnae/i Group is particularly grateful to Mahoney's Rocky Ledge Farm for the use of its facilities again this year. It was our very own touch of spring amidst the dreary snows.

Knopf thanks other members of Mystic ReUse Committee

To the editor:

I read with interest your accurate and excellent account of the report of the Mystic School Reuse Committee to the Board of Selectmen on Monday, March 15.

I would like to add to the account, however, the names of the remaining members of the committee in addition to the three members present at the Selectmen's meeting. They are Dr. Donald McLean, Jenks Senior Assoc.; Vice chairman Carol Burdick, neighborhood rep; Donna D'Agostino, Planning Board; Edna Lawrence, neighborhood rep.; Archie McIntyre, Housing Authority; David Stirling, architect; Peter T. Van Aken, selectman Liaison.

Rebuttal on location of Symmes Grant line

To the editor:

It is a pleasure to learn that there are a few things that the editor of the Black Horse Bulletin and I can agree upon. For instance we do seem to be in agreement in regard to the commonly accepted assumed location of the Edward Converse house, in the area of Converse Place. It would seem to be the logical place for him to build as he had a mill nearby so that he could walk to work.

I predict that there will be other things that we can agree upon just as soon as she can learn to face the facts. (Just the facts, madame).

As I tried to tell her long ago, "facts are stubborn things." For instance, it is a fact that the old Black Horse Tavern stood behind the knee-high stone wall at the corner of Main and Prospect streets. It is also a fact that Mr. Luther Symmes said that the old Symmes line crossed Main Street at a point about 300 feet from the Tavern. There it is, in plain English. I will let her take it from there and see what she can do with it with the weight and prestige of the venerable Winchester Historical Society behind her. Good luck Ellen! I'll see you down at the Sharon House!

ment requires that the coverage not disrupt the Senate. Amendment supporters said this will allow stations to bring their equipment into the chamber and open up the proceedings to public scrutiny. They noted that the Senate has spent $1.4 million on broadcast equipment but has yet to find a channel to broadcast sessions. Some opponents said the camera crews will disrupt the decorum of the Senate. Others said stations can currently hook up to take a direct feed of the sessions from the building or receive a tape of a particular session. (A "Yes" vote is for allowing TV and radio coverage. A "No" vote is against allowing coverage.)

Shannon voted yes.

ETHICS — Senate 22-5, rejected an amendment providing that the Senate president and minority leader each appoint three members of the Ethics Committee. Under current rules, the Senate president appoints five members while the minority leader is entitled to make only one appointment. The current rule also requires that the Senate president give consideration to making the representation on the committee proportional to the makeup of the entire Senate. Amendment supporters said the Ethics Committee should be above politics and argued that this equal representation will insure its integrity. Opponents said there has never been a problem of partisanship on the committee and argued the change could create stalemates. (A "Yes" vote is for appointing three members each. A "No" vote is against appointing three members each.)

Shannon voted yes and was present.

MIDNIGHT — Senate 23-8, rejected an amendment requiring that debate and action on the state budget begin at 9 a.m. and conclude daily no later than midnight. Amendment supporters said this common sense proposal will prevent around-the-clock sessions when the budget comes up for debate. They argued it is irresponsible to vote on a multi-billion-dollar package at 2 a.m. Opponents offered no arguments. (A "Yes" vote is for the midnight rule. A "No" vote is against it.)

Shannon voted yes.

LIMIT SESSIONS — Senate 20-12, rejected an amendment requiring that the Senate end its sessions by Dec. 1 in odd years and by Nov. 1 in election years. The Senate had previously approved a joint House-Senate rules change requiring that both branches limit their session, but that change would also necessitate House approval to take effect. Amendment supporters said the House is unlikely to approve the joint limit. They argued the Senate can in effect limit the sessions of both branches simply by limiting its own since it takes both branches to act on legislation. Opponents offered no arguments. (A "Yes" vote is for limited sessions. A "No" vote is against limited sessions.)

Shannon voted yes.

EIGHT P.M. — Senate 25-8, rejected an amendment requiring a two-thirds vote, instead of a majority one, to allow the Senate to remain in session beyond 8 p.m. during the last week of an annual session. Amendment supporters said this change will prevent late-night action on controversial bills during the hectic rush to adjourn at the end of the year. Opponents offered no arguments. (A "Yes" vote is for requiring a two-thirds vote. A "No" vote is for requiring a majority vote.)

Shannon voted yes.

Selectmen thank Schmitt

Photographic Art, the birth of the Comprehensive Housing Affordability Strategy and the ongoing saga of the Woburn Loop.

Selectman Gerard Polcari said that although he served with Schmitt only one year, he wanted to add his voice to those thanking him. "Frankly Mr. Chairman you will be missed," said Polcari.

The camaraderie of the board was evident as Selectman William O'Leary chided VanAken and Polcari. "I don't see why they're both going to miss you so much, they both want to be chairman."

On a more serious note O'Leary thanked Schmitt for his efforts and commented on the work of the five members of the board as a whole. "Tom has always been a gentleman," said O'Leary.

He continued, "Our board has tried very hard to set an example for all the town boards and committees to work together. We put the interest of the town first over our own interests."

In accepting the praise of his colegues, Schmitt said he had learned a great deal over the six years, and that the years had flown by.

"I'd like to thank all the town employees for making us look good ... I think Chad knows how I feel about his office ... I think the service of the Department of Public Works (DPW) this past winter is just one example," said Schmitt. "I'd like to thank all my colleagues, each and everyone of the people I've served with I've throughly enjoyed."

complexity of the School Committee," Lombardi noted.

The School Committee will have its budget for Fiscal Year 1994 appropriated in approximately four weeks at Town Meeting. There will also likely be a need to do budget work to balance this year's budget as the year comes to an ends, including dealing with a $60,000 shortfall in special education.

Lombardi said he has no plans to run for office again but added, "Never say never."

Committee releases report

There is general consensus that any possible waiver of the filtration of surface water, which is mandated under the Surface Water Treatment Rule, is not practical.

"Weston & Sampson, the Board of Selectmen, and this Committee concur that a waiver should not be pursued at this time," the committee's report reads. "... it would be difficult to obtain a waiver, the conditions for ongoing compliance under a waiver would be difficult to meet, and there are sound public health reasons to provide filtration."

The report devotes three pages to the reasons for not seeking a waiver. The committee says it intends to face that question when they report to Town Meeting members this spring.

One aspect of the report that could be met with resistance from the selectmen is a suggestion that competitive proposals be sought for the design of the plant. The selectmen have been working with Weston & Sampson on this project since it first evolved.

The water committee will recommend that the plant be constructed of a slab on grade foundation with steel and concrete block walls, less expensive materials than Weston & Sampson has proposed.

"We do not agree with the Weston & Sampson proposal for masonry facing, since that type of construction is more expensive and since the plant would be in a remote location and not easily visible," the report says.

In its draft, the committee concurred with Weston & Sampson that the plant should be located in the southeast area of the South Reservoir.

The committee also agreed with Weston & Sampson's proposed package plant, but said the town should allow for flexibility in the plant for the possibility of additions.

"A package plant is acceptable technology, although the Committee has concerns over some gaps in the data about the plant's ability to comply with standards not yet in effect, but which are expected to be proposed in the future ... " the report says.

The water committee believes the plant should have a design life of at least 30 years.

The water committee is proposing the town look into saving money on personnel costs. The town should seek "DEP's permission to have the plant operate using automatic and alarmed systems which are manned periodically, rather than pursuant to DEP's current practice of requiring plants to be manned at all hours of operation," the report says.

The committee is suggesting that plant capacity be about half of the 3 million gallons a day that Weston & Sampson has proposed. The committee says Weston & Sampson originally wanted to used 1.5 mgd but switched to the higher number believing it would lower personnel, but the committee feels it can obtain the reduced personnel without the larger capacity.

"... the 3.0 mgd plant is not warranted, particularly since the capital and operating costs of a 3.0 mgd plant are significantly higher than for a 1.5 mgd plant," the report says.

REAL ESTATE UPDATE

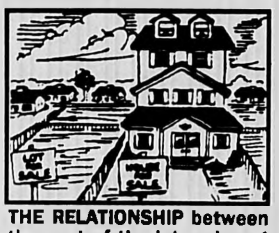
ANN BLACKHAM, CRB, CRS

HOUSE VALUE VS. LOT VALUE

QUESTION: What is the proper relationship between the cost of a lot and value of the house on it?

ANSWER: Old rules of thumb have lost much of their meaning. It used to be that land represented about one-sixth of the home's purchase price. Then it moved up to one-fourth. And it will change again as the cost of land continues to rise or fall.

Nevertheless, the land value versus house value ratio cannot be totally dismissed because it does, to some extent, affect the resale value of the property. It may not make much difference if you put an inexpensive house on an expensive lot, but it could be a mistake to have too much house for the land.



THE RELATIONSHIP between the cost of the lot and cost of the house is important.

"I believe your first visit to my practice is the most important time we will spend together...."

Louis A. Giorgio, M.D.

"Comprehensive, effective and compassionate health care is a result of trust, understanding and communication between the patient and the doctor. This is why, on your first visit to my practice, enough time is scheduled so that we may begin building this important foundation for future care and treatment. By listening to your personal, family and medical history, current health status, and the stresses and pressures you may be under as part of day to day living, I can best understand and respond to your individual needs in maintaining or, when necessary, restoring your health."

Dr. Giorgio is an internist providing comprehensive primary health care to adults. His goal is to work with each person in his practice to design a plan of preventive health care unique to the individual. Combined with regular check-ups, this helps ensure health-related problems are minimized or, when intervention is necessary it will occur early, when treatment will be most effective.

Prior to opening his practice in Medford, Dr. Giorgio was an associate in a group practice in Gloucester, MA. He is Board Eligible and, for your convenience, fluent in English and Italian.

WINCHESTER NEWS

ARTS UMBRELLA

Reception for John and Carol Collette

A reception will be held for John and Carol Collette, Winchester Art and Frame's "Artists of the Month," Thursday, April 1 from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the gallery and frame shop at 47 Church St. As "Artists of the Month," their work will be featured throughout the month of April. The public is cordially invited to the reception but for those who cannot make it, their work will remain on display throughout the month and all are invited to view it any time from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., Monday through Friday, and 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday.

John is a Boston native and studied art and music at Boston University. Carol was born in Toronto, Canada and graduated with honors from the Ontario College of Art.

While in college, John often visited Quebec City to sketch the French Canadian architecture of the historic Vielle Ville. It was here that he met Carol (Burge) who was working there as a fashion illustrator. A few months later they were married and moved to New York City. In 1969 they moved to New Orleans, where they each produced and sold enough art to travel to Europe. While there they were able to visit many galleries and museums and to study the techniques of many of the European masters. They both became fascinated with etching and decided to learn how to work in that medium. Returning home, they settled in New England, bought a press and some supplies, and began making etchings. From the beginning, they both hand-colored most of their etchings. As this made each print unique and therefore different from all other prints in the edition, their editions have always been classified as unique editions.

Eager to visit new places and to find new subjects, especially landscapes, John and Carol spent several years traveling throughout the United States. During these years, they did etchings of virtually every area of the country and established a national reputation from selling their work to galleries in the areas they visited. In this region, Carol is particularly known for her rural New England scenes and nauticals; John is known for his "Beacon Hill" type Boston cityscapes.

After living in Hawaii for several years, John, Carol, and their son Daniel, returned to the mainland and settled in Gardner, Massachusetts, where they currently have their studio. Carol is presently concentrating on landscapes and coastal images while John is working on lighthouses and city scenes.

John and Carol have both created a body of work that the art world recognizes as among the best of its kind. Their work is well-known in the United States and abroad and is found in many private, corporate and public collections.

Mullin victorious

will miss the first selectmen's meeting. She is the first woman to serve on the Board of Selectmen since Muggia.

Johnson said he would advise Mullin that being a selectman is "more than a Monday night job. It's going to take a big time commitment."

Johnson indicated he is not finished with politics in Winchester. "I would consider (running again). You're going to see me around," said Johnson.

Assessor's race

Susan Lippman will also be joining the ranks of elected woman with her victory over incumbent Mark A. Lombardi in the contest for the one open seat on the Board of Assessors.

Lippman, a consultant, beat Lombardi, the chairman and four-year incumbent, 2,104 to 1,764.

"The main thing with this loss is I feel I'm in good company," said Lombardi, a Johnson supporter and the father of the defeated School Committee candidate.

Lombardi said his opponent was well-organized and with the bad weather that made the difference.

Lombardi said he did not know if he would run for office again. Lombardi who did win re-election to Town Meeting in the election said, "I'll be there to put my two cents in."

Following the race Lippman spoke to the Star at the Town Hall and expressed her excitement over the win. "I think it's pretty clear that enough people voted who were ready for a change," said Lippman.

"From what I understand even in light of the low turnout, my win was decisive," she added.

As far as her opponent, she said he ran a clean campaign. "I'd like to thank him for being a gentleman."

And Lippman is preparing to embrace the challenge ahead of her in the months ahead. "I'd like to continue my goal of wanting to make the assessor's office more open and accessible to the public," she added. "I look forward to the opportunity to serve."

LETTERS POLICY

The Star invites readers to submit letters to the editor.

Free pH Test!
Here's how to check the pH level of your lawn.
Grass needs proper pH to be able to absorb existing and new fertilizer nutrients. Mahoney's will test your lawn's pH level for free. Just bring in a soil sample from your lawn, and we'll do the rest.
It's easy: Dig 3-5" into the soil (when your lawn is dry if possible). Take 4 or 5 soil samples of equal amounts from different areas of your lawn. Mix samples together and bring in 1 cup soil mix in a plastic bag.
Our professionals will tell you your exact pH level and offer an exact prescription for a perfect lawn.

Belmont Hill students participate in musical

Winchester residents, Andrew P.G. Fuller, son of Dr. Arlan F. Jr. and Alice Fuller, Mark E. Gallagher IV, son of mark E. III and Dian D. Gallagher, and Rahul Kakkar, son of Subash and Rita Kakkar, are competing in the Musicfest Orlando annual competition as members of the B-flats, a choral group from Belmont Hill School. Accompanied by music director, Steven Karidoyanes, the group will perform in the MGM Studios of Disney World and also have a free day to enjoy the park.

John Lukacz Jr., P.E. appointed director of marketing

GEI Consultants, Inc. (GEI), a Winchester-based geotechnical and environmental engineering firm, with offices in Concord, N.H.; Raleigh, N.C.; Englewood, Colo., and Carlsbad, Calif., announces that John Lukacz Jr., has been appointed director of geotechnical marketing for the firm. Lukacz is a registered professional engineer in several states and has more than 30 years of engineering and project management experience. Lukacz, specifically, has more than 21 years experience in providing engineering management and marketing for engineering and construction firms in the private and public sectors in the Boston and New England marketplace.

Residents receive academic honor at Newton school

At the first semester awards assembly, gold and silver distinction cards for academic achievement were given to the following Winchester residents.

Freshman Yumi Yasutake, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kazuyoshi Yasutake received a gold distinction card. Gold distinction cards are awarded to those with an average of A or A-, and no single grade below a B.

Eighth grader Fabiola Torchon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Serge Torchon received a silver distinction card. Silver distinction cards are awarded to those with an average of B, and no single grade below a B-.

Benton speaks at Columbia Scholastic

Ted Benton, faculty advisor for Winchester High School's school newspaper, the Red & Black, recently spoke at the Columbia Scholastic Press Association at Columbia University in New York City. The convention went from March 17 to the 19. Over 3,000 advisors and editors attended this national convention. Benton spoke "On How to Develop a Health Beat" in secondary school papers.

The Red & Black has been a national first place recipient for the last ten years. Benton has a BA from St. Edward's University in Austin, Texas, and a master's degree from Boston University. Benton is a member of the English department at Winchester High School.

Resident recognized for fifteen years of service

Winchester resident Sharon V. O'Connor (center), was recently recognized for her 25 years of service to Melrose-Wakefield Hospital. O'Connor is the vice president of Patient Services. In recognition of her milestone of services, she received a special award, a restaurant gift certificate and a dozen long-stemmed roses.

Camp Dresser McKee Inc. (CDM), the international environmental consulting engineering firm, announces that Bruce R. Conklin, P.E., has been promoted to vice president. Conklin, who joined CDM in 1972, is responsible for managing the planning and design of environmental remediation programs, waste water treatment facilities and collection systems, and water distribution systems.

Presently Conklin is deputy project director for CDM's role on the Central Artery/Third Harbor Tunnel project in Boston, which involves environmental remediation work along the right-of-way of this $5-billion transportation construction project.

A resident of Winchester, Conklin earned a bachelor's degree in civil engineering from Northeastern University and is a registered professional engineer in Massachusetts and New Hampshire. He is a member of the American Water Works Association and the Water Environment Federation.

Students attend conference

Seven students from Winchester High School attended the "Count Me In" Youth Leadership Conference at the Kennedy Library on March 16. Damian Allen, Anna Betcher, Tucker Bradford, Blair Evans, Nicole Levesque, Crystalle Lacouture and Chris Maddox along with students from 19 other high schools in the greater Boston area.

The meeting was organized by Susan Musinsky, associate director of the National Conference, along with student leaders from the participating schools. Small group workshops were held in the morning and the culminating activity brought each school group back together to make a banner for their school which would symbolize the themes of the day and remind the students of what they had learned.

Winchester students created a striking banner on which the word "unity" is spelled out in balloons held by hands of many different colors, signifying, they said, the unity of all races.

Tito Jackson from Brookline High School made the closing remarks of the conference saying that "people get along for one day, but all of us should be able to get along for a lifetime ... We need to realize our differences and enhance our differences." He quoted from a poem by Alice Walker: "No person is your friend who demands your silence and denies your right to grow."

Students to participate in arts program

Students at the Vinson-Owen School will participate in a unique educational performing arts program, Characters Educational Theatre, presented by Young Audiences of Massachusetts on Friday, April 2. Young Audiences is a nonprofit organization which brings live professional dance, theater and music education programs to schools.

The Vinson-Owen School program is entitled Molly Pitcher.

Programs are funded in part by the Massachusetts Cultural Council, a state agency. Interested parents, educators and arts program sponsors are invited to call Young Audiences at (617) 577-0570 for information about this and other programs.

High school students win art awards

Winchester High School students recently received numerous awards on the state level of the Boston Globe Scholastic Art Awards competition. This contest, which is held on both the state and national level, is considered by art educators to be this country's most prestigious art competition on the secondary level.

This year, individual art works submitted by Matt Ducharme, Taratip Jaikaeo, Jim Potter, Tim Russell and David Vacanti won silver key awards. Gold key award winners were Christina Fischer and Ned Schodek.

Portfolios of eight works each submitted by seniors Jim Potter, Matt Tavares and Adam Wangerin received gold key awards and were nominated to compete for scholarship awards on the national level. The art works by gold key winners Christina Fischer and Ned Schodek will also compete on the national level.

An acrylic painting by senior Adam Wangerin won the rare Hallmark Nominee Award which distinguishes his work as one of the State competition's five best art works.

This work, an unusual self-portrait entitled "Acceptance of November Pair," is also eligible for scholarship awards on the national level.

All of the award winners are currently enrolled in art courses at Winchester High School taught by David Ardito, Marguerite Maserian and Mary Ott.

Muraco second grade pigs out on books

The second grade classes of Ms. Guilfoile and Mrs. Lizotte at Muraco School recently completed a "Pig Out on Books Challenge." This was a four-week-long home reading incentive program in which the children were awarded prizes from local food establishments in return for their efforts.

The requirements were simple: read for twenty minutes each day. The grand prizes were awarded at a Valentine's Day party. Special thanks to the following establishments for their generosity: Lucia's Restaurant, Rick's Cafe, Brighams, Yankee Yogurt, Papa Gino's and My Brothers Pizza of Stoneham.

The problem with being on top is that there's nowhere to go but down.

Winchester High School's baseball team returns three Middlesex League first-team all-stars, including the league's second best hitter and one of the circuit's best pitchers, to this year's squad. But the Sachems, who finished 16-4 and captured the ML championship last year, will be hard-pressed to improve.

Last year's championship season, Winchester's first ML title since 1972, soured somewhat when the Sachems were bounced from the Division 2 North sectional playoffs with a 5-3, first-round loss to rival Belmont.

Leading Winchester is the all-star trio of pitcher Ed Russo and outfielders Scott Imperatore and Josh Carroll. Russo, one of Winchester's twin aces last season along with graduated senior E.J. Grant, put together an impressive 7-1 record with a 2.24 ERA and 56 strikeouts in 62 innings. However, between his heavy load in the spring and with Winchester's summer league team, the Summer Sachems, the right-hander developed pain in his throwing arm.

Russo has yet to air it out this spring, but has reported no problems throwing at 75 percent. Although a Sachem squad without a healthy Russo on the hill would still be competitive, Winchester's tournament hopes could depend on whether the team's ace is ready to pitch.

"We're being cautious right now," said Winchester coach Bill Chase. "Hopefully, everything will be OK."

Carroll and Imperatore, Winchester's top two hitters a year ago, will be counted on to provide much of the offensive punch for the '93 Sachems. Carroll hit a team-best .431, with 17 runs batted in (second on the team), eight stolen bases (also second on the team) and just five strikeouts in 76 plate appearances. He also led the team with six extra-base hits.

Imperatore, perhaps the Sachems' best all-around player last season, hit .364, led Winchester with nine stolen bases, knocked in nine runs, and led the team with 21 walks.

With Imperatore, a sure-handed center fielder, and Carroll, who patrols Winchester's sunny right field, Chase has the makings of an excellent defensive outfield.

"Josh has really come on," said Chase of Carroll. "He really blossomed for us last year. He surprises people. He surprised in football, too. Scott (Imperatore) is a complete ballplayer. He's got a tremendous work ethic and the attitude."

Fuller, Sachems league favorites

Hope to repeat '92 championship

The end came quite suddenly for last season's Winchester High boys tennis team. Undefeated entering the Division 1 state tournament, the Sachems had their minds set on bringing home a state championship.

The team never made it past the first round.

In a opening-round tourney matchup with Andover at Belmont High, the Golden Warriors stunned Winchester 4-1, leaving the team and coach Sean O'Loughlin wondering what had gone wrong.

This spring, with almost the entire starting lineup returning, Winchester hopes it learned from last year's experience.

"It was disappointing, but revealing," said O'Loughlin. "We realized we can't take anyone for granted."

The Sachems lost just one player, '92 graduate Steve Lucero, from last season's 13-1 squad. The rest of the team returns, including Matt Fuller, who went on to win the state individual title with a straight-set win over Barnstable's Felipe Velasquez at Holy Cross last June.

Fuller, now a senior, has been the team's No. 1 player each of his three varsity seasons. Currently ranked in the top five in New England for players 18 and under, Fuller agrees that the team learned a lesson last spring.

"It was all mental," said Fuller. "We knew we were as good as they were. Every match was close. At one point, we thought we were going to win 4-1, but it turned out the other way around. We're more experienced now, though, and that will help."

Only two positions are solid as the Sachems look to their April 12 opener against Middlesex League rival Burlington at the Packer Courts. Fuller will retain his No. 1 position, while senior Pete French will form half of Winchester's No. 1 doubles unit. After that, the lineup has been changing daily.

"It's going to be tough to get down to seven (starters), but that's a good problem to have," said O'Loughlin. "But when you have

Winchester girls turn out in force

Sachemettes mix quality, quantity

Winchester High School girls outdoor track coach Joe Cantillon says there are two keys to having a strong track program. First, a team must have talent. Second, a team needs depth.

Winchester has plenty of talented athletes this season. However, unlike the past few seasons, the Sachemettes appear to be developing depth. Over 30 freshmen came out for this year's team, giving the Sachemettes a total squad of over 60 girls.

"We've had a big spill-over from winter track," said Cantillon. "Unfortunately, since there has been so much snow on the ground, it's been difficult to see what kind of athletes some of the younger girls may be."

Winchester finished 3-5-1 in 1992, losing three matches by just a handful of points, a trend which has followed all of Winchester's track and cross country teams in recent years. This season, Cantillon hopes the team will find the extra few points necessary to win those close meets.

"For the past two years we've been almost there," said Cantillon. "I'm hoping that this will be a season where we go over the hump."

The Sachemettes have several talented runners returning to the program. Seniors Deirdre Murdock, Diana Grande, Colleen Campbell and Kathryn Wilson are each three-year letter-winners. Murdock, a distance specialist, is a returning Middlesex League All-Star in the 2-mile. She will compete in the 800-meter and mile events as well.

Grande can run the 200, 400 and both the 100 high hurdles and 300 low hurdles. An extremely versatile athlete, Grande will also compete in the high jump and triple jump, depending on where the team needs help.

Wilson and Campbell make up half of Winchester's outstanding mile relay team, which finished fourth in the State Class C meet last spring. Both will also compete in the 100 and 200. The rest of the relay team, which includes junior Allyson Livada and sophomore

Winchester Bantam skaters head to national tourney

Champions as PeeWees, local 15-16-year-olds' quest for another AHAUS title takes them to Grand Forks, N.D.

Winchester's Bantam hockey team will compete in the national tournament this weekend in Grand Forks, N.D.

They're baaack.

As was the case two years ago, a group of Winchester hockey players has captured a state championship and is on its way to the nationals.

The Winchester Bantam hockey team, which won the Amateur Hockey Association of the United States (AHAUS) national championship in 1991 as a PeeWee club, will be attempting to add a second national title when it travels to Grand Forks, N.D., this weekend to compete for the AHAUS Bantam championship.

The squad, coached by Doug Dalton and Mike Murray, is nearly identical to the team which took home the title in '91.

Winchester qualified for the nationals by winning the District 9 playoffs, then capturing the Division 1 state championship, which was held at Woburn's O'Brien Rink on March 17.

Winchester knocked off Triboro 4-3 in the final, boosted by a Steve Cucinatti hat trick and strong goaltending from John McDonough. A goal by Paul McGowan gave Winchester a 3-2 lead midway through the second period, and Cucinatti's third goal of the game gave Winchester a two-goal lead.

Triboro scored once in the third to make it 4-3, but the tenacious defense of blueliners Bobby Marrone, Matt Breuer and Billy Aufiero and excellent backchecking from the Winchester forwards allowed the team to hold on.

"The real key to our team is that the kids really work hard every game," said Dalton. "We've got a few really skilled hockey players, but most of the kids are the lunchpail, blue-collar types."

Winchester qualified for the final round by winning two games and tying one in a three-game round-robin tournament. In the first game, Winchester, which had had several days off since it last played, started slowly. The Bantams managed a 1-1 tie, however, thanks to a James Duval goal. Assists went to his brother, Jon Duval, and Cucinatti.

Winchester found its scoring touch in the second game, beating Danvers 5-2. Winchester scored four times in the first period, with Alan Riley picking up two goals and the Duval brothers adding one each. Breuer added an empty-net goal, while McDonough allowed just two pucks past.

Cucinatti had two goals as Winchester survived a tough game, 4-2, against the Mohawks (from Randolph, Stoughton and Avon). James Duval and Dan DiPietro also scored, with assists going to James Duval, Aufiero and Breuer. The game was in doubt until Winchester added an empty-netter late in the game.

Winchester's five points out of a possible six qualified them for the Junior high girls win titles

Seventh, eighth grade teams cap impressive seasons

The Winchester seventh grade girls traveling basketball team finished an outstanding season last month. Playing in the competitive River Valley League, the team finished with a record of 29-8. Highlights included beating Belmont and Wakefield to win the Woburn Shootout Tournament, and reaching the final round of the league's postseason tourney.

Winchester's eighth grade girls team also recently completed a fine season. Coached by Paul Kelly, Bill Corkery and Ed Hammond, the team compiled a 22-12 record, capping the season with a victory in the Woburn tournament. Like the seventh grade team, the eighth graders beat perennial powers Belmont and Wakefield to capture the title.

The eighth grade team members were: Elizabeth Borges, Morgan Brandt, Lauren Corkery, Susan DeYoung, Melinda Ellwood, Katie Hammond, Dana Imperatore, Alison Lindmark, Meghan Middleton, Jen Mosher and Michelle Russo.

Baseball/softball youth openings

The softball division of Sachem Youth Baseball/Softball still has a few roster openings in its spring recreation league for girls ages 7-15. The league runs from the end of April until mid-June, and games are played on week nights.

There is an April 1 deadline to order equipment and reserve fields, so contact Bob Callahan at 729-9247 as soon as possible for information and an application.

Sports Foundation golf tournament

The Winchester Sports Foundation hosts the fourth annual Sports Foundation Golf Tournament and Dinner to benefit Winchester High School athletics on May 17. The tournament and dinner will be held at the Winchester Country Club.

In 1989, a large group of Winchester citizens formed a nonprofit organization called the Winchester Sports Foundation. Due to the fiscal problem the town of Winchester faces, additional funds are necessary to support the high school athletic program. Otherwise, freshman athletics will be eliminated.

Within the school year, 65 percent of the Winchester High School student body participates in a high school sport. The Winchester Sports Foundations goal is to raise funds to allow all students who want to play the opportunity to do so. A total of 128 golfers participate in the golf tournament. The format for the tournament is a best-ball net foursome. Players are encouraged to set up their own foursome.

The dinner following the tournament is open to the public as well as for the golf participants. Jenna DeSimone and Brian Keefe, two outstanding student athletes, will be guest speakers.

An individual tournament entry fee will be $155, which includes green fee, door prize, motor cart and dinner. The cost for the dinner alone will be $37. For further information or to secure a spot iun the tournament, call Will Fuller at 729-9086.

The first-ever Newton/Johnny Kelley Heartbreak Hill International Youth Race, which includes a variety of races for runners ages 10-18, will be held Sunday, April 18, with start times from 1-4 p.m.

The mile-long race begins at the corner of Commonwealth and Lowell avenues, goes up and down Heartbreak Hill and finishes at Newton City Hall. The race is sanctioned by the New England Athletic Congress.

The registration fee is $8 and entry forms must be received by April 17. For more information, call 552-7130 or 527-8283.

Tracksters out in force

Laura Aleo along with alternate Emile Davis, a junior, also returns. Senior Rachel Gallery, a hurdler, and classmates Tracey Mabardy and Jennifer Pendergast, are the Sachemettes' other seniors.

If Winchester is to make a move towards the upper half of the league, the junior and sophomore classes will need to come up big. The talent seems to be in place, as several members of each class made big contributions to last year's club.

Junior Sara Bonnell, an ML All-Star as a freshman in the mile, appears to be healthy. Bonnell, who has been besieged by injury throughout her career, is one of the league's top distance runners. Livada, another returning all-star who broke the WHS school record in the 200 as a sophomore, will look to better her mark of 26.0 seconds.

The junior and sophomore classes will supply most of the talent for the field events. Christine Arian throws the discus, while Elodie Kayulu slings the javelin and shot put. Sophomores Melissa Lindmark and Sarah Stevens also toss the discus.

Other returning juniors include Liz Byrne (hurdles), Jenna DeSimone (high jump, triple jump), Atiyeh LeGault (hurdles) and Andrea Mulvaney (200). Returning sophomores include Aleo (400, relay), Davis (100, 200, relay) and Maile Bushnell (100, 200).

Like most of the other teams in the league, the Sachemettes have been drastically affected by the recent late-season storms. With so many freshmen, Cantillon and new assistant coach Eileen Conley-Cabrera have had a tough time figuring out how to best utilize their freshman talent.

"We've had to make the best of a difficult situation," said Cantillon, Winchester's outdoor track coach since 1974. "I don't think I've ever seen a spring with so much snow on the ground. We've had to utilize the gym and the streets whenever possible. I can't remember us ever not being on the track at the beginning of the spring season."

Winchester is scheduled to open the season at Burlington on April 13. Despite the tough weather conditions, Cantillon feels the team will be ready.

"Right now, we have pretty good talent up and down the lineup," said Cantillon. "Whether we have the depth is going to be the question. We have quality in all the events and depth in the short-distance events. If we can find depth in the distance events, we'll be all right."

depth, it really cranks things up. The players aren't just worried about their opponents, they're worried about who's behind them on the ladder. It makes for some pretty intense practices."

Seniors Tony Cella and Cliff Swap, along with juniors Dave Fiorentino and Tim Malcolm, are all returning ML All-Stars who figure to start. Cella, who O'Loughlin said has made "a massive improvement" since last season, has added a booming serve to his game. Fiorentino and Swap have also developed much more effective serves.

The seventh position, however, is wide open. Junior Jeff Rotondi has returned after missing his sophomore season due to injury. According to O'Loughlin, sophomore Matt Storeygard has improved his game "tremendously," while sophomore Jeff Lucero and freshman Davis LaCasia and Jay Wightman refuse to make the seventh spot an easy choice for the coach.

> "I think we match up pretty well with any team in the league. One challenge for this team will be for the players to develop and focus themselves for the states."
> Sean O'Loughlin
> WHS tennis coach

"The kids are playing really well," said O'Loughlin, "but because of the improvements some of them have made, it's made a mess of the lineup."

Winchester figures to have an excellent chance to repeat as league champs. Fuller has shown no signs of leveling off, as his game has continued to improve.

"It isn't just how good he is, but how hard he works," said O'Loughlin. "You can say 'Matt, you need to work on this,' and he responds to it. A lot of the top players rely just on their talent, but their talent eventually fails them. You have to keep working and improving. Matt does that."

Although Fuller appears to be the league's best player, Winchester will need to be strong throughout the lineup. The depth of this year's team will be a key.

"Certainly our depth helps us," said O'Loughlin. "I think we match up pretty well with any team in the league. One challenge for this team will be for the players to develop and focus themselves for the states."

Winchester will receive plenty of competition in league play. Burlington, Reading and Lexington all appear ready to challenge for the championship. But as his 55-10 five-year record as Winchester's head coach suggests, O'Loughlin will have his team ready.

Sachems stocked with pitchers

Winchester is well-stocked with pitchers. Although Russo is the only returning pitcher with considerable varsity experience, several other players got a lot of work with both the junior varsity and Summer Sachem teams last year.

Seniors Angelo Amico and Brian Mannett will likely be handed the ball often. Senior Tim Callahan, who has improved dramatically, will also see action, but needs to improve his control. Senior Andy Nolan, junior Sean Furey and possibly sophomore lefty Jamie Doto could be called on for spot duty.

Since the opening of the season is in danger of being pushed back due to the recent storms, teams may find themselves playing on consecutive days as the season wears on. And that will require more pitchers.

"Our strength should be our pitching," said Chase. "Other teams are really going to be surprised. When they see an Angelo or a Brian or a Timmy step up, they're really going to be surprised."

Although the pitching staff and the outfield appear to be set, Chase has holes to fill in several other areas. Chief among them are third base, first base and catcher.

The catching job is up for grabs between junior Joe Bartolucci and sophomore Mike McGreenery. Both have performed well in the preseason, but the lack of outside play has made it tough for the coaching staff to make a decision.

Third base is another problem area for Winchester. Bartolucci has the most experience, but may be a better catcher. Sophomores Bobby Marrone and Matt Elio have good defensive skills, but must show they can hit varsity pitching.

At first base, senior Mike Lacey is battling Callahan and Furey for time. Each brings a different strength to the field and, Chase says, "the guy with the hot bat will probably be in there."

Chase expects to have a rotating infield, with Russo playing second when he isn't on the mound, and Amico and Mannett switching between the hill and shortstop. Mannett was a backup for the varsity team last season, while Amico started for the junior varsity team.

"Both of those guys could have been starters for most teams in the league last year," said Chase. "It just happened that we had all two-year starters returning. Both of them really came on strong with the summer team."

The other outfield position will probably go to senior Shaun Oliver, Nolan, or junior Bill Bush. Oliver may have an inside track because of his tremendous speed, something the Sachems have lacked in the past.

For Winchester to make a run for the league title, or at least a tournament bid, it needs to play good defense and do "the little things," says Chase.

It also needs a healthy Ed Russo, who says there's no doubt he'll be ready to go come opening day, scheduled for April 12 against Lowell at Manchester Field.

"Don't worry, I'll be there," said Russo. "Just watch. I'll bet this team is going to surprise a lot of people this spring."

semifinal round, where the team got by Duxbury 3-1. Duxbury led 1-0 until late in the second period when Jon Duval converted a pass from his brother to tie the contest. One minute later, Marrone gave Winchester a 2-1 lead off a pass from Aufiero. Cucinatti's third-period goal paved the way to the state final.

The team, which finished fourth in the Middlesex League play which concluded before Thanksgiving, got back together in late February when the high school season ended. All told, the Bantams compiled a 26-6 record through the state tourney.

Dalton's "defense-first" style has carried the team, which skates just three defensemen — Marrone, Breuer and Aufiero — on regular shifts.

"Good defense will create good offense," said Dalton. "We're always outsized, but we can really skate. We play very good team defense."

The rest of the team members include Dan Notartomaso, Sparky Brooks, Matt Gillespie, Tom O'Neil and Mark Smith.

The players flew out of Logan Airport Wednesday and will be vying for the championship this weekend. Unlike 1991, when Winchester was a relative unknown on the state and national hockey scene, the Bantams know teams will be gunning for them.

Said Dalton, "Two years ago we surprised everybody. This year, people know who Winchester is."

COMING EVENTS

WHAT'S GOING ON IN YOUR AREA IN THE COMING WEEKS

Kids' Classics rescheduled for April 10

Kids' Classics, postponed last month because of the blizzard, is rescheduled for Saturday, April 10, at 3 p.m. at the Winchester Town Hall.

Presented by Children's Own School in celebration of its 50th anniversary, Kids' Classics will perform classical songs and instrumental music by such composers as Bartok, Mahler, Stravinsky, Ravel, Schumann, Prokofiev, Rossini, Brahms and more.

All works performed will be grouped in themes such as "Creatures Great and Small," "Clowns and All That Jazz," "Birds, Bears, and Bagpipes," "Naptime," "The Big Boot" and "Peter and the Wolf."

Hosted by Winchester resident Dennis Boyer of WBUR-FM's daytime classical music program, Kids' Classics will provide an opportunity to see performances by professional musicians Marion Dry, contralto, and Peter Cokkinias, conductor and clarinetist, both of Winchester.

Tickets, at $6 per person, are available at the door or by calling Gayle Merling at 729-1443.

Casey to hold office hours for constituents

Rep. Paul Casey (D-Winchester) will be holding office hours at Winchester Town Hall on the first and third Fridays of each month from 9 — 11 a.m.

Aids Action seeks volunteers for Buddy Program

The Buddy Program of the AIDS Action Committee is looking for volunteers to provide emotional and practical support to clients on a one-to-one basis. Interested persons older than 24 are invited to attend an orientation to learn about the Buddy Program and how to apply.

Orientations are held monthly at 7:30 p.m., on the fourth Tuesday of each month on the fourth floor of the AIDS Action offices at 131 Clarendon St. The date of upcoming orientation is Tuesday, Feb. 23, and March 23. For more information call 437-6200, Ext. 450.

Walking works

Winchester Recreation and Focus on Fitness instructors, Judy Whitney and Gail LaRocca, are offering the return of an old program — the walking class. The hour-long class begins with low-impact moves followed by a walking component which is done outdoors, weather permitting. If the class remains indoors, the walking pace is set to dynamic music: ragtime, swing, show tunes, current pop and rock. Strength and flexibility exercises and a relaxing cool-down round out the class time. The new 10-week session begins April 5, at the cost of $35. A free trial class will be offered Monday, 7:15 to 8:15 p.m., at Lynch School, beginning March 1. Participants should bring a towel and water.

For information, call Gail, 729-1537, or Judy, 729-1599.

Career transition

A career transition networking and support group meets every Thursday, except the second of each month, at St. Eulalia's Church, 50 Ridge St. The meetings are held 7 to 9 p.m. in the church's conference room and are open and free. For more information call 729-8220.

WHS Class of 1944 to hold reunion

Winchester High School Class of 1944 has begun plans for a 50th anniversary reunion to be held in the fall of 1994. Any member of the class, graduate or otherwise, who would like to be notified of final details but who may have reason to believe his or her current address is not on file with reunion organizers, is asked to send address information at this time to Joan Hanson Blake, 45 Pine Ridge Road, Reading, 01867.

Fourth Annual All-Night Graduation celebration

Plans for the Fourth Annual All-Night Graduation Celebration are well underway. This event provides the 1993 graduates of Winchester High School with a safe and enjoyable last night together.

This event will be held on graduation night, Sunday, June 6, from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., in the McCall Middle School gym and recreation areas. Some guidelines will be in place to ensure an enjoyable time for all. No alcohol will be allowed. Entrance time will be between 9:30 and 11 p.m. No one will be admitted after this time unless special permission has been arranged in advance. Any graduate who leaves the party will not be allowed to return and their parents will be notified before they are dismissed, regardless of the hour.

The All-Night Graduation Celebration Committee, under the direction of chairwomen Donna Desmond and Cathy Gatto, is hard at work planning for this multifaceted event. The night's activities will include nonstop food and dancing, live entertainment, games, contests, raffles, palm readers, tattoo artists, caricaturists, videos, and movies. All of these activities are available to the seniors for the $15 cost of admission.

A T-shirt contest is presently under way at the high school. Students submit their original design to a vote of their classmates. The winning design will be emblazoned on a T-shirt and given to each graduate.

The Winchester community has been a ready supporter of this event in the past years. The committee hopes to count on their continued support in providing safe alcohol-free events for Winchester's youth.

Kidstock spring and summer classes

Kidstock Youth Theater, directed by Brian Milauskas, is now registering for spring and summer 1993. All Kidstock programs are non-audition based with a limited first come registration. Spring programs for grades kindergarten through 12 run from April 12 to June 18. There will be an April vacation week musical production workshop. It will run Monday through Friday, April 19 through 23 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Summer session registration for grades one and two and grades three through eight is also available for four performance workshops during July and August. Each workshop involves drama, dance, art and music exploration and is weeks long, Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. For information and a brochure, call Kidstock at 729-5KID.

Foundation to hold annual telethon

The Winchester Scholarship Foundation (WSF) will hold its Seventh Annual Telethon on Tuesday, April 13, from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Winchester Town Hall. The event will also be broadcast on Winchester Cable Channel 19.

The WSF is a voluntary nonprofit organization whose goal is to help provide financial aid to Winchester High School graduates who are going on to further education. All contributions are tax deductible.

The Energy Connection offers free aerobic dancing classes

From now through April 8, The Energy Connection is offering new students the opportunity to start a spring shape-up program at no cost. The Energy Connection is a local fitness resource that conducts the nationally acclaimed original Jacki Sorensen Aerobic Dancing classes. These classes have been offered in Winchester for more than 15 years, and they have proven to be a popular way to exercise. In one hour, participants can burn as much as 500 calories as they combine simple dance moves with peppy music. The program is especially appealing to people who are looking for a low-impact yet well-rounded total workout.

The spring session begins this week, and music and routines will be new for both beginners and seasoned participants. Also, to encourage those who are hoping to get fit this spring, The Energy Connection will admit all new students free to Aerobic Dancing classes through April 8, and there is no limit to the number of free classes that may be attended.

Aerobic dancing is offered three times weekly at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church at 8:30 a.m. on Mondays, Tuesdays, and Thursdays on a drop-in basis. No pre-registration is necessary; newcomers may come anytime. For information or a complete listing of all the programs offered by The Energy Connection, call Marie Dacey 729-7268 or Linda Vacovec 729-3256.

Applications accepted in Early Childhood

The Winchester Public Schools Early Chilhood Programs is accepting applications for limited spaces in its Early Chilhood programs for the 1993-94 school year. For more information or eligibility and/or an application please call Cynthia Papoulias at the Early Childhood office at 721-7015

First Friday forum

How can children meet their responsibilities without ending up in an angry battle? What are some effective ways of dealing with sibling conflicts? Parent to Parent is offering a new program for parents interested in meeting with other parents to discuss questions like these. The First Friday Forum is a series of brown bag lunches being held on the first Friday of the month, from noon to 1:30 p.m. This series will provide an opportunity for people to network with other parents in the community and discuss issues of common interest. The topics under discussion each month will vary, depending upon the interests of the participants.

Dr. Hillary Turkewitz, who is a clinical psychologist and has been conducting parenting groups for Parent to Parent for three years, will be facilitating the discussions. The next meeting will take place Friday, April 2, from noon to 1:30 p.m. in the Public Safety Building. This series is offered free of charge; funding provided by the En Ka Society and the Parents' Associations.

Focus on fitness

The Winchester Recreation Department is offering a deal to men and women of all ages. For 10 weeks individuals are invited to participate in an unlimited number of fitness classes including Aerobics (A), Step Reebok conditioning (S), and Walking (W). Classes are taught by Gail LaRocca and Judy Whitney, certified fitness instructors. The cost for the 10 weeks is $84.

To register for the program which begins the week of April 5, call the Recreation Department at 721-7125.

Coffee and conversation

Winchester residents are invited to an informal evening of coffee and conversation with international members of our community on Thursday, April 15 between 7 and 9 p.m., at the home of Helene Ryan, 8 Grove St.

The evening is sponsored by the Multicultural Network and is part of an effort to create a welcoming atmosphere for individuals and families who have moved here from other countries. Ryan, who has lived abroad herself over the years, initiated a series of coffee evenings to provide an opportunity for people to get to know each other. As an English-as-a- second-language teacher in the schools, she knows that many parents feel isolated when they first move here. "Even a simple thing such as seeing a friendly face in the supermarket can mean a lot," she says.

Anyone is welcome to stop by on the 15th.

Parenting elementary school children

As the parent of an elementary school child, you are not the only one who second guesses yourself about limit setting and discipline issues. You are not alone in your struggle to have your children share in household responsibilities and chores. Whether the issue is how to handle anger, what to do about teasing, sibling conflicts, self esteem, or our own expectations for our children, we all work hard to come up with strategies that can truly have a positive impact on our children and our family life.

In Parent to Parent discussion groups people share day to day concerns and find support and reassurance in discussing common issues and challenges. Group discussions range from light-hearted sharing to in-depth discussions of developmental issues and appropriate interventions parents can consider.

The group leader is Hillary Turkewitz, a psychologist with more than 15 years of experience with families, who has been working with Parent to Parent for four years.

The next group for parents of elementary school children will begin Tuesday, April 27, from 8 to 9:30 p.m. Meetings are held in the Community Room of the Public Safety Building. The groups meet for six weeks. The fee is $30 for the six week program.

To register or obtain more information call Hillary Turkewitz at 729-7945.

Funding has been provided by the En Ka Society and the Parents' Associations of all five elementary schools.

Winchester Chamber of Commerce to hold Annual Meeting in April

The Winchester Chamber of Commerce will be holding its annual meeting at the Winchester Country Club on Tuesday, April 13, at 5:30 p.m. Our keynote speaker will be Mr. Stephen P. Tocco, Mass. Secretary of Economic Affairs, as well as Special Assistant to the Governor. Mr. Tocco's vast background in business and government make him a qualified and interesting speaker.

Catherine Jackson, President of the Winchester Chamber of Commerce, will update those attending on the Chamber activities and announce the winner of the prestigious Citizen of the Year Award. A dinner to honor this year's recipient will be held on Wednesday, May 19, at the Jenks Center.

We hope that anyone in the community who is interested in becoming a member of the Chamber will call the office at 729-8870 for reservations to attend this informative evening on April 13.

RECREATION NEWS

Special event for children

Bunnies on parade

Hop on down to the Muraco Elementary School on Saturday, April 3, from 2 to 3:30 p.m. Meet the Easter Bunny, enjoy a special children's musical performance and have some refreshments. This activity is geared to families with children ages 3 to 8, but all are invited. Children are encouraged to dress as bunnies. The Easter Bunny will be available for picture-taking with children following the musical performance. Bring a camera. A $3 donation per child is suggested.

Youth Center

Starshare coupons to benefit Youth Center

April 6 to 8 are the Starshare shopping days for the Youth Center, which provides not only an attractive drop-in space for adolescents but the necessary social support, thereby strengthening the community.

The original grant from the First Congregational Church will not see the Recreation Department through FY '94, which begins in July 1993. The department must raise an additional $15,000 to keep its youth program alive for another year. People can use their Starshare coupons in the Spring Recreation bulletin or McCall newsletter or pick one up at the Center. Call 721-7125 for information.

On target: archery for adults

Instructor: National Archery Association certified instructor. Get on target and learn the sport of archery. The Recreation Department supplies all the equipment; participants supply the accuracy and desire. This program is intended for the recreational archer who is interested in archery for the enjoyment of shooting the bow and arrow.

Each program is staffed by a NAA or ASTA instructor or certified coach. There are six sessions, 932-HF-10A, Beginning Monday, April 26, from 7 to 8:30 p.m., Lynch School gym. The fee is $69.

Walking class

Instructors: Gail LaRocca and Judy Whitney.

Feeling out of shape? Afraid to attend an aerobics class? Looking for something at a suitable pace? At last, a class for the novice or the participant who has not exercised in a while. Join up, the Recreation Department will give participants the confidence they need to begin a successful exercise program. The hour begins with low-impact moves followed by a walking component, which is done outdoors, weather permitting. If the class remains indoors, the walking pace is set to music: ragtime, swing, show tunes, current pop and rock. Strength and flexibility exercises and a relaxing cool-down complete the class. The walking class can be taken independently or as part of the Focus on Fitness Program. Ten sessions.

932-HF-05A, Monday, April 5, from 7:15 to 8:15 p.m., Lynch School gym. The fee is $38.

Discover scuba

Have you ever wondered if you would like to scuba dive? Now's the chance to find out. In this class participants will discover what it is like to be weightless, gliding through the water. They will see how easy it is to breathe using scuba gear. This introduction will permit participants to decide whether scuba diving is for them. A $10 equipment rental fee is payable to the instructor. Evening pool time will be determined when class minimum is met. One three-hour session.

932-HF-06A Beginning Thursday, April 8. 932-HF-06B beginning Thursday, May 6. Class is held at the Arlington Boys & Girls Club. The fee is $16.

Coed volleyball

Enjoy a game of volleyball while meeting new people. The participants will form teams. Groups meet when school is in session and through June 2.

932-HF-11A, Wednesday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m., Lynch School gym. Fee is $2 per night.

Focus on Fitness

Enjoy a new way to keep fit. Focus on Fitness allows participants the flexibility of choosing the programs that suit their fitness level and the time that suits their lifestyle. They may take any class or combination of classes listed below for just one price.

The instructors are certified by the Exer-Safety Association and are members of the IDEA Foundation. Wear sneakers and bring a mat or towel. There are classes running each night, Monday through Thursday and mornings on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday. Stop by the Recreation Department to pick up a brochure or call us at 721-7125 for more information.

The 10-week classes start the week of April 5. 932-HF-04A. Fee is $84 for unlimited classes.

LEGAL NOTICE
MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue and in execution of the POWER OF SALE contained in a certain mortgage given by JOHN DROUGAS and BERTHA DROUGAS, of 3856 Sunrise Lane, Tarpon Springs, Florida to MALDEN TRUST COMPANY dated December 30, 1986 and recorded with Middlesex County Registry of Deeds, Book 17750, Page 32; said Mortgage was assigned to PEOPLES SAVINGS BANK, a banking corporation duly organized under the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, with a usual place of business in Holyoke, Hampden County, Massachusetts, by Assignment dated March 12, 1987 and recorded as aforesaid in Book 18623, Page 535, of which mortgage the undersigned is the present holder, for breach of the conditions of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same will be sold at Public Auction at one o'clock P.M. on the 20th day of April, A.D. 1993, upon the mortgaged premises at 354 Cross Street, Winchester, Middlesex County, Massachusetts, all and singular the premises described in said mortgage.

To wit:

A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon situated on Cross Street, Winchester, said County of Middlesex, being shown as Lot B on plan entitled "Plan of Lots, Winchester, Mass., Surveyed for Heirs of Michael McGonigle" dated August 27, 1971, Frederick A. Edwell, Surveyor, recorded with Middlesex South District Registry of Deeds in Book 12220, Page 364, and being further bounded and described as follows:

NORTHERLY by Cross Street as shown on said plan, sixty-five (65) feet;

EASTERLY by Lot C as shown on said plan, one hundred thirty-six and 28/100 (136.28) feet;

SOUTHERLY in part by Lot E and by Lot F as shown on said plan, sixty-five and 8/100 (65.08) feet; and

WESTERLY by Lot A as shown on said plan, one hundred thirty-two and 68/100 (132.68) feet.

Contain 8,740 square feet of land according to said plan.

The above described premises are subject to a building line recorded in Book 5214, Page 32.

Being the same premises conveyed to John Drougas and Bertha Drougas by deed of Maplewood Construction Company, Inc. dated May 4, 1973 and recorded in Middlesex South District Registry of Deeds in Book 12426, Page 543.

The above premises shall be sold subject to and/or with the benefit of any and all restrictions, easements, improvements, covenants, outstanding tax titles, municipal or other public taxes, assessments, liens or claims in the nature of liens, and existing encumbrances of record superior to the mortgage, if any. The premises are also sold subject to the right of redemption of the United States of America or any of its subsidiaries or divisions, if any there be. In the event of any typographical error set forth herein in the legal description of the premises, the description set forth and contained in the mortgage shall take precedence.

TERMS OF THE SALE: Cash, certified check or bank cashier's check in the sum of $6,000.00 shall be paid as a deposit and must be shown at the time and place of the sale in order to qualify as a bidder; the high bidder shall sign a written Memorandum of Sale upon acceptance of the bid, the terms of which shall be announced prior to the bid; the balance of the purchase price to be paid in cash, certified check or bank cashier's check within twenty (20) days from the date of sale and thereafter to be deposited in escrow with the law firm of RESNIC, BEAUREGARD, WAITE AND DRISCOLL, 302 High Street, Holyoke, Massachusetts, pending recording of the deed which is to be delivered, accepted and recorded within ten (10) days thereafter, or at such other time as may be designated by Mortgagee.

Mortgagee reserves the right to postpone the sale to a later date by public proclamation at the time and date appointed for the sale, and to further postpone at any adjourned sale date by public proclamation at the time and date appointed for any such adjourned date.

In the event that the successful bidder at the foreclosure sale shall default in purchasing the within described property according to the terms of this Notice of Sale and/or the terms of the Memorandum of Sale executed at the time of foreclosure, the Mortgagee reserves the right to sell the property by foreclosure deed to the second highest bidder, providing that the second highest bidder shall execute a Memorandum of Sale and deposit with Mortgagee's Attorneys, RESNIC, BEAUREGARD, WAITE AND DRISCOLL, 302 High Street, Holyoke, Massachusetts, the amount of the required deposit as set forth herein within three (3) business days after written notice of the default of the previous highest bidder. The balance of the purchase price shall be paid by and title shall be conveyed to the second highest bidder within twenty (20) days of said written notice.

The successful purchaser will be responsible for any and all closing costs, state documentary stamps, and recording fees.

Other terms to be announced at the sale.

RELIGIOUS NEWS

Crawford Memorial Methodist joins in procession

On April 4, Passion/Palm Sunday, Crawford Memorial United Methodist Church will meet at 9:45 a.m. on the Winchester Town Common with the First Congregational, Second Congregational, Baptist and Episcopal churches for the blessing of the palms. There will then be a processional to the respective churches. All church bells will toll during the procession. The service at Crawford will start at 10:30 a.m. where palms may also be received. Church School will be suspended for that Sunday only.

In case of rain or snow, participants will gather on the front steps of the respective churches for the blessing of the palms and a brief processional into each respective church.

Unitarian Church to hold rummage sale

The spring rummage sale at the Unitarian Church will be held Friday, April 2, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m., and Saturday, April 3, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., in Metcalf Hall at the Unitarian Church, 478 Main St. (corner of Main Street and Mystic Valley Parkway).

There will be a large selection of housewares, and clothing for women, men, teenagers and children. There will also be toys, books, handbags, accessories, furniture, jewelry, and one-of-a-kind finds. A special rack of gowns from a well-known designer will be featured. Friday evening admission is 50 cents. Saturday morning admission is free, with dollar-bagging starting at 11 a.m.

For information, call 729-0094.

First Congregational hosts speaker from Community Loan Fund

Jeanne DuBois, director of capital development for the Boston Community Loan Fund will be a special guest speaker at First Congregational's Eleventh Hour program, Sunday, April 4, from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

The Boston Community Loan Fund is a nonprofit organization which provides below-market rate loans for affordable housing. Since its inception in 1985, BCLF has lent over $8 million for affordable housing projects in the Boston area. Funds are raised through low-interest loans from individuals and area churches.

Open to the general public, this informational meeting is an opportunity for concerned members of the Winchester community to learn how to help increase the availability of affordable housing and curtail the escalating rates of homelessness in the Boston area.

Second Congregational to celebrate anniversary

The Second Congregational Church will celebrate its anniversary with a dinner for members and friends at 6 p.m. on April 3. This meal in the church hall will be followed by a concert by the Winchester High School Octets in the sanctuary at 7:30 p.m. The concert is free and open to the community as the church celebrates this 87th birthday. The church is located at 485 Washington St. on the corner of Washington and Cross streets. Entrance to the sanctuary may be gained from the Washington St. entrance.

(This concert had been scheduled for March 13, but was postponed due to a blizzard.)

Jenks Center recorder ensemble to play Second Congregational

Sunday, April 4, at 10 a.m. the worship service for Palm Sunday will feature special music by the Jenks Center Recorder Ensemble and the choir of the Second Congregational Church. They will perform "Ave Verum" by Mozart. The community is invited to this service of worship at 10 a.m. There is infant care and church school for children during the worship service. The Second Congregational Church is located at 485 Washington St., on the corner of Washington and Cross streets.

Winchester Parish of the Epiphany rummage Sale

The Women of the Parish of the Epiphany at 70 Church St., will have their annual Spring Rummage Sale on Wednesday, April 14, from 6:30 to 9 p.m., and Thursday, April 15, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., at the church. Admission is free, and everyone is invited to come. Great bargains will be found in every department, with a good selection of all types of clothing for every member of the family. A special feature will be a fashion boutique room which will offer especially attractive clothes in very good condition. For the home, there will be household linens and home decorating items. The rummage sale is run by the Women of the Epiphany to support the wide variety of projects they are engaged in, not only for the church but also for the community at large.

Baptist Church shows special talents of dog for helping

The public is invited to meet Jordan, a very special dog, at the First Baptist Church social hall on Monday, April 12 at 1:45 p.m. Jordan has been trained by the New England Assistance Dog Service of West Boylston, to help physically handicapped people by picking up anything that is dropped, pulling a wheelchair, turning on light switches, carrying items and going for help if necessary. Other dogs are trained by this organization to assist the hearing impaired.

They respond to sounds such as smoke detectors, alarm clocks, door bells and crying babies. Some dogs learn to help people with multiple problems such as deafness and being confined to wheelchairs. Many of these animals were rescued from shelters and carefully trained for three to six months to aid and benefit the lives of their human partners at a cost of $4,000 for each dog. At the April 12 presentation Scott Maguire will put Jordan through his paces. The program is sponsored by The Fortnightly and is a special project of Mrs. Nicholas W. Macrina, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs of Massachusetts.

Sodality to meet in April at school

Saint Mary's Blessed Virgin Sodality will meet Tuesday evening, April 6 at 7:30 p.m. in the school hall. Rev. Paul G. Kelley will celebrate Mass. Guest speaker will be our own Sr. Patricia Burke SMSM, Pastoral Associate at St. Mary's Church. Sr. Patricia will inform us of her duties and contacts with parishioners. All women of the parish are cordially invited to attend. Light refeshments will follow.

Carlson honors Downs as top Realtor of the month

Carlson Real Estate recently honored its top Realtor-associates for the month of February.

An excellent listing record for the month earned Glenda Downs the listing-associate of the month award.

Glenda's 16 years of real estate experience has been a steady example of building trust through satisfied buyers and sellers.

For 30 years Glenda has been an active resident of Winchester, having served on the special needs committee for the Winchester schools and as a volunteer for the Winchester Hospital.

Sales manager Helen Babcock, cited Glenda's many years of real estate experience in Winchester and surrounding areas as a tremendous asset to buyers and sellers.

Glenda Downs

The Company's over 900 sales associates were invited to the breakfast and services fair. William E. Kiley Jr., president of Hunneman & Company-Coldwell Banker presented the awards.

Hunneman & Company-Coldwell Banker sold over $1.4 billion of real estate in 1992, exceeding all company sales records.

Devaux awarded bronze circle

Hunneman & Company-Coldwell Banker recently held their annual Awards Ceremony at the Vista Hotel in Waltham to honor sales associates for their achievement in residential sales in 1992. Maureen Devaux of the Winchester Office of Hunneman & Company-Coldwell Banker was awarded the Hunneman & Company-Coldwell Banker Bronze Circle for achievement in sales.

Brian appointed to professional committee

Linda Brian, CRS, a Winchester real estate broker, has been appointed by the board of directors of the Greater Boston Real Estate Board to serve on the Professional Standards Committee. Brian has been affiliated with The Bixby & Porter Company since 1980.

Acton Lincoln Mercury

Location: 196 Great Road, Route 2A, Acton

History: Owners Coleman Hoyt and David Abatsis met while employed by the Ford Motor Co. In 1990, they teamed up to purchase the then five-year-old Acton Lincoln Mercury dealership.

Since then, Hoyt and Abatsis have dramatically improved the dealership by concentrating on customer needs and expectations, and the quality and convenience of service. Both partners not only own the dealership, but also "run it as working managers and are fully accessible to customers," says Hoyt.

In the three years they have owned Acton Lincoln Mercury, Hoyt and Abatsis increased staff from 26 to 43 employees, and boosted sales from 50 vehicles per month to 90. In addition, they tripled sales of parts and labor. This increase in service patronage was the result of the dealership focusing on it, explains Hoyt.

"We try to fix cars first and (resolve) problems with cars that other dealers couldn't resolve." Hoyt and his colleagues believe a dealership should also service and maintain cars, rather than be simply a car lot.

Types of Cars Sold: New and used Lincoln and Mercury products and a variety of used cars.

Best Deal on the Lot: Lincoln Continental. According to Hoyt, this car has "extraordinarily generous lease terms from Ford Motor Co. and world class quality."

Specialties: Acton Lincoln Mercury's specialty is service. Having set quality service as a priority, the dealership recently reorganized its sales department around certain standards they believe will "enhance our customers' experience," says Hoyt. These goals are that Acton Lincoln Mercury will "give a customer an appointment for their car within one day of their calling, ...will begin the write-up process for a service customer within four minutes of their arrival, and if you call us to find out the status of your car while we're working on it, we'll answer your question within one minute of your calling. Lastly," explains Hoyt, "the customer's vehicle will always be ready at the agreed upon time."

Other Lincoln-Mercury products should also be noted.

Two all-new world-class products — the Lincoln Mark VIII personal luxury car and Mercury Villager minivan — lead Lincoln-Mercury Division into the 1993 model year and beyond.

For 1993, Lincoln-Mercury offers customers a wider choice than ever before by offering the division's first minivan — the aerodynamic, front-wheel-drive Villager.

Later in the model year, the new Mark VIII will lead the Lincoln line into the future with aerodynamic styling, a dramatic interior, and world-class ride and handling.

"Adding Villager to our lineup enables us to serve the needs of customers who want the flexibility of a minivan and the quality and comfort of a Mercury," says Lee R. Miskowski, Ford vice president and Lincoln-Mercury general manager. "Mark VIII is our flagship of the future — a car that will take on the luxury cars of the world."

Villager and Mark VIII are the sixth and seventh all-new vehicles — out of a total of 10 Lincoln-Mercury products — introduced in the past three years.

Addition of a standard passenger-side air bag supplemental restraint system (SRS) to the driver-side air bag system in the 1993 Mercury Sable and Mercury Grand Marquis solidifies the division's position as a leader in safety features.

Seven Lincoln-Mercury carlines, including Mercury Topaz and Mercury Capri, now offer a driver-side air bag SRS. And five of those seven — Lincoln Town Car, Lincoln Continental, Lincoln Mark VIII, Sable and Grand Marquis — offer both driver- and passenger-side air bags as standard equipment.

"In addition to the latest safety and technology features, we believe Lincoln-Mercury products offer customers outstanding value," Miskowski says. "And we have greatly simplified the buying process through our "One-Price" program for Mercury Tracer sedan and wagon, consolidation of the Mercury Topaz and Mercury Cougar carlines into a single high-value series for each, and our discounted special option packages."

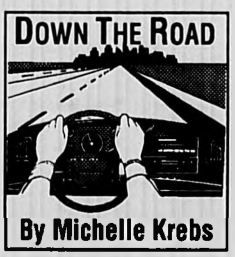
Truck market heats up with new models, ideas

DOWN THE ROAD



By Michelle Krebs

For years, trucks were trucks. They drove like trucks. They rode like trucks. They looked like trucks. A manufacturer stuck with the same design for its truck for years, sometimes decades.

But with renewed buyer interest in the truck market (Ford and Chevrolet now sell a truck for every car) that has changed. Trucks come in all shapes, sizes and price ranges with features associated only with cars. Recently, a flurry of new trucks have been introduced, and it's only the beginning.

The Ford Ranger, sporting a new look for 1993, is looking to repeat as the No. 1 best-selling compact truck this year. The truck went on sale in November. The Ranger features all new exterior sheet metal with a more contemporary design.

The two- and four-wheel-drive models were given different appearances. Ride, handling, steering and features are enhanced for 1993 to make the Ranger as rugged as a truck but as stylish and comfortable as a car.

New to the powertrain options for the four-wheel-drive version is Ford's 3.0-liter, 145-horsepower electronically fuel-injected V-6 engine. The Ranger is also available with a 2.3-liter, four-cylinder engine or a 4.0-liter, 160 horsepower V-6 engine.

While Ford tries to hold on to its No. 1 title, General Motors will go on the attack with the launch of a new line of compact trucks. The Chevrolet S-10 pickup and its sister, the GMC Truck Sonoma, are bound for dealer showrooms in the fall.

GM claims the truck is the first all-new compact truck from any manufacturer in the 1990s. The truck exterior has been completely redesigned to give them a sleeker, more contemporary look.

The Sonoma and Chevrolet S-10 also enjoy greater appearance distinction from each other.

Numerous improvements have been made to enhance comfort and convenience. The interior is roomier and quieter than its predecessor.

Under the hood, GM offers a full line of powertrains. Base models are equipped with a new four-cylinder engine. Other optional engines are existing engines that have been upgraded for the 1994 model. Models powered by a V-6 engine feature standard four-wheel anti-lock brakes.

Also in showrooms next fall will be Chrysler's newest truck, the 1994 Dodge Ram 1500. It sports a radical design for a truck. Its front-end is reminiscent of a heavy-duty trailer-hauling truck.

The Ram is a full-size truck available with a variety of combinations of body styles, engines, transmissions, payload and towing capabilities. It initially will be available as a regular cab, club cab and chassis cab with an extended cab version arriving a year later. Buyers have a choice of five engines, including a V-10 and the Cummins Turbo Diesel.

Dodge officials said they hope to sell 250,000 Rams annually, more than three times the sales total for the current Ram, now selling at a rate of 80,000 a year.

In the meantime, Toyota recently introduced its T100. The intermediate-size pickup truck is the first such truck offered by any Japanese manufacturer in the United States. Powered by a 3.0-liter, single overhead cam engine, the T100 features three-across seating, a cargo bed large enough to carry a 4X8-foot panel on the floor and a 1,550-pound standard payload capacity. The T100 is available in two-wheel drive and four-wheel drive with rear-wheel anti-lock brakes standard.

Toyota appears not to be meeting its sales target yet with the T100. There is some speculation that traditional American truck buyers won't buy a large truck from a Japanese manufacturer.

Others say the T100 was at a disadvantage from the get-go because of Toyota's failure to offer a V-8 engine. Still others say Toyota is intentionally keeping sales low so as not to incur any more wrath over trade issues as it goes after the U.S. dominated large truck market.

Toyota officials say it eventually will build the truck in the United States, and in fact, Toyota's U.S. officials wanted it to be built here from the start. Recent reports suggest Toyota is considering taking over an idle GM plant in Michigan for the T100. That way it can avoid the 25-percent tariff and reduce heated trade rhetoric by employing U.S. workers to build the truck.

If the truck market weren't heated enough with these new entries, some concepts being tried out on the auto show circuit suggest more big changes are planned for the truck market as the makers try to one up each other.

GMC Truck, for example, introduced the Santa Fe, a full-size truck that incorporates creature comforts normally reserved for luxury automobiles. Among those features are a hands-free cellular phone and a removable compact disc player with capacity for 10 CDs and remote control operation.

Chevrolet recently unveiled an unusual concept, the subcompact Highlander, which features an automatic weather roll top that operates like a roll-top desk. Ford has a special version of existing trucks, including one called the Ford Ranger Splash, a compact pickup with a flared box aimed at younger buyers.

1993 Toyota Land Cruiser

Big, powerful and ready for a challenge

If you want to have fun that begins where paved roads end, climb into the 1993 Toyota Land Cruiser. This sport utility vehicle can take you anywhere.

KEANE ON WHEELS

By Tom Keane

Emphasis on two words: climb and anywhere. The Land Cruiser is not the ordinary sport utility vehicle. The common use of most sport utility vehicles is to drive to the neighborhood shopping center. The Land Cruiser is not ordinary. It's more like a comfortable truck that requires a climb to get into it. Get in and out of it often enough and it becomes tiring.

There's a reason for the high chassis. When driving off-road, rocks, fallen timber and deep crevices can cause a problem. The higher the vehicle's ground clearance, the better your chances of getting through.

To me, the chances of getting through are what makes high-tech exploration of the wilderness exciting. The more difficult the road, the more interesting the challenge. That's what the Land Cruiser is all about — driving to places that other vehicles cannot reach.

Another reason the 1993 Land Cruiser is capable of traveling uncharted courses is the all-new, 4.5-liter, double overhead cam, 24-valve, electronically fuel injected, in-line six cylinder engine. Compared to last year's models, this engine is smoother, and it produces a lot more horsepower and torque. I would have no qualms about pulling a trailer, a weight of 5,000 pounds, behind this one.

I could use front or rear locking differentials — or both. The Toyota people explain that when a differential is locked, two opposing wheels connected by the differential receive equal power and torque, thus turning at the same rate of speed. They say it is the industry's first true four-wheel drive system.

This vehicle has an optional

1993 Eagle Vision TSi

Sedan leads way in Eagle's emphasis on change

Barely six-years-old itself, everything about the Eagle brand quite naturally is new — particularly its 1993 model lineup.

Every vehicle sold with an Eagle badge has been introduced since 1990 and three out of five — including the anxiously-waited Eagle Vision sedan—are completely new for 1993.

Also new are the 1993 Eagle Summit two-door coupe and four-door sedan, and the holdovers in the Eagle's "nest" aren't mature by any measure. The Eagle Summit Wagon was introduced in 1992 and the award-winning Eagle Talon sports coupe, introduced in 1990, was redesigned last model year.

Inescapably, the new-product focus for Eagle will be Vision. As one of Chrysler Corporation's new world-class sedans, the Vision benefits from a dramatic new architecture called "Cab-Forward", that provides class-leading interior space without increasing the overall length, according to Larry W. Baker, General Manager for the Jeep-Eagle Division.

Vision TSi will showcase Chrysler's first 3.5-liter, 24-valve single overhead cam (SOHC) V-6 engine, with an output of 214 horsepower, as a complement to Vision ESi's standard 3.3-liter V-6.

Other innovations available on Vision include standard dual driver- and front-passenger air bags; a new, fully-adaptive, electronic 4-speed automatic transaxle: four-wheel, anti-lock brakes; low-speed traction control; integrated child seat; air conditioning with automatic temperature control, and rear seat heat and air conditioning outlets.

The new Eagle Summit two-door coupe and the Summit four-door sedan are "contemporary, economical small cars with exceptional styling, quality and value," Baker said. "They are lighter and offer more power, especially in the four-door model."

The Summits' significant product features include a lighter, more aerodynamic body structure, and for the ES sedan, a standard 1.8-liter, 16-valve, overhead cam engine; fully independent rear suspension, and optional anti-lock brakes.

Eagle Talon, with few peers in the affordable, high-performance market segment, adds a lowerpriced, DL model in a bid to broaden its appeal to young entry-level buyers.

The versatile Eagle Summit Wagon, a 5-passenger transporter with a sliding side door, introduces a 16-valve, overhead cam 2.4-liter engine that produces 136 horsepower at 5,500 rpm. The Summit Wagon is available in either front-wheel or all-wheel drive.

A new convenience and safety feature is keyless entry for the LX and AWD models.

Toyota Land Cruiser attacks unchartered terrain

The more difficult the road, the more interesting the challenge. That's what the Land Cruiser is all about — driving to places other vehicles cannot reach.

anti-lock braking system and large disc brakes. It also has extra large tires on 16-inch wheels. The doors have super heavy beams to help protect against side impact, which is one of the reasons it weighs nearly 5,000 pounds. As a result the gas mileage is only 12 city and 15 highway.

Inside, it's another story. The power operated seats are very comfortable, and the leather-wrapped steering wheel gave me the feeling of luxury and wealth. Wealth is required to buy a Land Cruiser, too. Although the base price is $31,178, by the time you add the anti-lock brakes and aluminum alloy wheels, leather seats, premium sound, roof rack, rear seats, and a moon-roof, you're looking at a $39,640 total — close to the price of a Range Rover. To me it indicates where Toyota's competitive sight is focused.

This four-door vehicle seats five people, which is typical of other sport utility vehicles. However, the Land Cruiser offers the option of a third rear seat, which increases the seating capacity to eight people — at the sacrifice of storage capacity. With the center seat folded down, it has more of a storage area than I've seen on any vehicle of this type.

On the paved road, where most of the driving is done, the ride is moderately comfortable. In spite of what Toyota claims about their suspension and coil springs, this vehicle would not be my choice for a long highway journey. The large, thick-treaded tires that are helpful for off-road driving cause a bit too much harshness, which becomes tiring when driving a distance.

There are many thoughtful features built into the Land Cruiser that I haven't mentioned. If you are interested in buying a sport utility vehicle that will take you anywhere, this is worth a good look. Dollar for dollar, Toyota is offering a worthwhile investment.

SPARE PARTS

Encore, Encore: The Aurora V-8 engine is now under final development for the 1995 Aurora luxury sedan, the Oldsmobile flagship model that will debut in 1994. During Oldsmobile's 95-year history, it has used many V-8 engines; the first was introduced in 1915.

Crash test: The Insurance Institute for Highway Safety reports that General Motors makes about 450 to 500 full scale crash tests a year — more than four times the number required to meet federal safety standards. Saab conducts 80 to 100 full-scale crash tests each year, a lot considering it makes cars built on just two platforms.

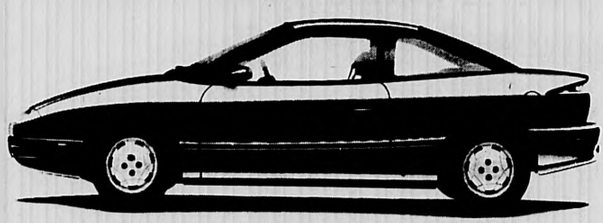
Buick book: The fourth edition of "The Buick: A Complete History" by Terry B. Dunham and Lawrence R. Gustin has been published by Automobile Quarterly. The 506-page book, compiled in conjunction with Buick's celebration of its 90th anniversary, contains 800 black and white and 110 color photographs. It is receiving many accolades including a top rating from Car Collector magazine which calls it "one of the best marque histories ever published."

Pace setter: Chevrolet's Camaro Z28 has been named the official pace car for the 77th running of the Indianapolis 500 to be held May 30.

WORDS OF (CAR) WISDOM:

Hard starting: A common form of car trouble. If the starter cranks the engine, the electrical system probably is OK. A starting sensor, choke mechanism or electronic component may be be the culprit.

When was the last time $11,510 bought a cool car?



And we're not just talking A/C here. We're talking aerodynamic styling. Tachometer. Standard driver-side airbag. 28 city MPG/37 highway MPG† (not normally considered a "cool" stat, but hey, let's break some rules here). And it's only prices at $11,510*. No kidding.

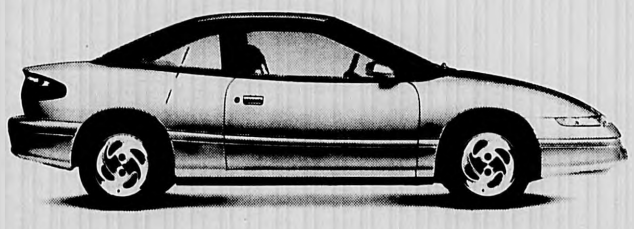
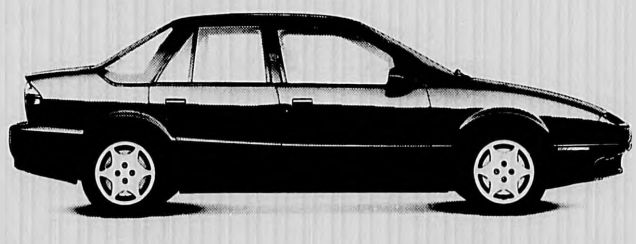
No hassle. No pressure. And now, no waiting.





As you may have heard, people get treated differently at a Saturn showroom. Well, so many people were coming in for that different experience that we ran out of cars! (Okay, not really. But it sure seemed like we did.) Anyway, the folks down in Spring Hill have been working overtime lately, and we now have a pretty wide selection of cars to show you. So try to come in today. That is, if it's not a hassle.

Hyundai Scoupe series

Significant improvements make these cars hotter than ever

Fountain Valley, Calif. — The 1993 Scoupe receives its first-ever Hyundai-designed 1.5 liter, 12 valve, multi-port fuel injected engine. The Alpha engine is capable of producing 92 horsepower at 5500 RPM. It provides impressive performance in both Naturally Aspirated (N/A) and Turbocharged (T/C) versions. This two-year old model is the first of the very popular low sporty coupe cars to receive a face lift, a quick response to the demands of this growing market segment. In addition, new sheet metal improves the already stylish front end.

The Alpha engine is a significant improvement over its predecessor, developing over 14 percent more horsepower and torque for the N/A engine and 42 percent more power in the upgrade T/C engine. With the Turbocharged engine, Hyundai adds a new model to the Scoupe line — Scoupe Turbo — which develops exhilarating performance compared to key low sporty coupe competitors.

Added to the 1993 Scoupe's step up in performance is more sporty appeal. Included are up-to-date exterior appointments and a refined interior environment. For 1993, Scoupe has a new hood and new front fender sheetmetal, new front bumper fascia with bodycolor air inlet and exterior sports/flush-mounted, compound parabolic reflector headlights. When all these components are combined the face of the Scoupe looks aggressive, contemporary and refined.

1993 Hyundai Scoupe Turbo

The rear view of the Scoupe is equally impressive with a new rear spoiler, re-designed combination tail lamps with low-profile, neutral density turn signal and back-up lens, a smooth, contoured rear bumper fascia and dual tail pipes with chrome finishers.

The side profile is accentuated by quality and simplicity with new bodyside molding, new bodycolor cladding and side molding (available on LS & Turbo), new attractive wheelcover designs and sporty alloy wheels. Interior appointments have been updated as well, such as re-styled gauges and switches, new steering wheel design, and new, fun, stylish, cloth for each trim level.

"Scoupe buyers are looking for fun, style and dependability in a sporty car — and the Scoupe gives it to them without breaking the budget," said Russ Reeder, director of Product Planning and Development.

Featuring aerodynamic styling, more power and the affordable pricing Hyundai is famous for, Scoupe is offered in three levels giving the buyer the option to select from the sporty base Scoupe, the Scoupe LS and the Scoupe Turbo. The Scoupe LS steps out in style and even offers a longer list of standard features than items on the base Scoupe, plus the equipment described below.

With the Scoupe Turbo, the definition of style goes far deeper than appearance. At the heart of this car is an exhilarating 1.5 liter Alpha Turbocharged engine. The power to weight ratio shifts the Scoupe into the high-end of performance cars in the low sporty coupe segment. Coupled with this powertrain is upgraded suspension components such as variable rate helical springs and a sport tuned suspension package that gives the Scoupe impressive performance ride and handling characteristics. To say the least, the Scoupe Turbo inspires driver confidence.

Winchester Public Library Director Lynda Wills (r) and Eastern Mass. Literacy Council member Liz Sayre discuss last minute details on the literacy campaign at the library.

Starting a new chapter

By Stephen Olivieri
ASSISTANT EDITOR

Proving that "libraries change lives", the motto of the 1993 National Library Week, representatives from the Eastern Massachusetts Literacy Council are recruiting tutors and students this month at the Winchester Library.

"Obviously, libraries change lives," said Liz Sayre, a Winchester resident and member of the Literacy Council. "It's a wonderful fit" with the theme of National Library Week, which starts April 18, she said.

The Literacy Council, a private non-profit voluntary agency founded in 1970, teaches reading and writing skills to adults who have difficulty with literacy, and member Sayre is mounting a drive to start a satellite chapter in Winchester. Winchester already has 15 people who are certified tutors. They work with students in Winchester and surrounding communities.

Although Winchester is a well-educated community, there are still some residents who need help with their reading and writing skills, says Sayre.

Library Director Lynda Wills says sometimes in a community like Winchester it is more difficult to come forward and admit you have difficulty reading or writing.

According to the Census Bureau's English Language Proficiency Study 500,000-600,000 Massachusetts adults have functional literacy skills below the School Choice: Will state plan work for town?

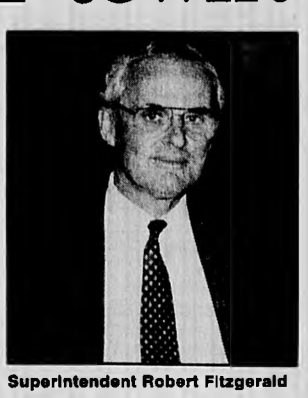
By Stephen Olivieri
ASSISTANT EDITOR



Superintendent Robert Fitzgerald

While crafting the 1994 Fiscal Year budget, the Finance Committee is looking into the effect a mandatory school choice plan would have on the Winchester school system.

Superintendent of Schools Robert Fitzgerald said he is uncertain of exactly how school choice would affect the system, but he said some scenarios look good, while others do not.

Fitzgerald said if the administration could accept some students to fill up selected underused classes, Winchester could get a financial windfall. Fitzgerald noted that the town would get $5,000 for each student and bringing in selected students would not necessarily drive the cost up at all.

"If a youngster just walked into the door tomorrow it would not cost $5,000 for that new kid," said Fitzgerald.

The per pupil cost in Winchester is $5,700, but the maximum a school could get under the plan is $5,000.

One problem for Winchester under the plan, however, could be the needs of students that are brought in. Fitzgerald said that while some students may mean no additional costs, others may cost beyond the $5,000, which the system would receive, and even beyond the $5,700 per-pupil cost.

"You could have a youngster who could take up a lot more of your time and energy. If you sat down and figured it all out, it would cost you a lot more than $5,700," said Fitzgerald.

Another problem the school choice plan could present to Winchester is the part the Department of Education may play. Fitzgerald said schools will submit the number of students it can accept, but the department can overrule the school if it feels it can take more.

New chairmen take their seats

By Deborah Trask
EDITOR

With a bang of the gavel, new chairmen took their seats following the town election and began the process of taking a fresh look at town business.

Chairman Peter VanAken took over as chairman of the Board of Selectmen. Selectman Stephen Powers will serve as vice chairman of the board. According to VanAken, a special meeting was called on Saturday, April 3 to give the board the opportunity to reorganize.

The meeting proved necessary since officially Carol Mullin has not taken over from Selectman Thomas Schmitt so the chairmanship could not be transferred, said VanAken. Mullin will return from abroad on April 12 and assume her seat.

"I had the honor and privilege of being named chairman by a unanimous vote," said VanAken, but he said official speeches would be postponed until Mullin's return.

VanAken takes over from outgoing Chairman Thomas Schmitt who served on the board for six years. Schmitt sat on the board through many major projects. During his tenure the board oversaw the expansion of Purity, the construction of the Arthur Griffin Center for Photographic Art, the battle over NEWSC arbitration, the Charles George settlement and lastly, the negotiations over the Woburn Loop.

Facing the new board are myriad budgetary issues: funding for a water filtration plant mandated by new federal regulations; a $500,000 gap in the school budget and a widening gap between annual revenue and the

Storeygard tops field in bee

By Stephen Olivieri
ASSISTANT EDITOR

Knowing that Antarctica was the only continent through which the international dateline passes, propelled McCall Middle School eighth-grader Adam Storeygard into the championship round of a national geography bee.

In a statewide contest held at Winchester High School, hometown favorite, Storeygard, bested 100 students from all over the state to advance to the national geography bee in Washington, D.C.

Storeygard, the only representative from the Winchester school system, was a finalist on the auditorium stage after preliminaries winnowed the pool from 100 to 10 students.

On the stage, contestants were eliminated after missing two questions. Storeygard missed one question early, but didn't miss another one, reaching the final two.

The two finalists, Storeygard and Peter Zwahlen from Plympton, were each given the same five questions to answer on a piece of paper. Zwahlen answered two of the five correctly. Storeygard answered four of them.

"I was excited and shocked. I had never come close to winning in either of the other years," Storeygard told the Star

Among some of the questions that Storeygard answered to win were:

The Nigeria River empties into a gulf which is part of which larger body of water? (answer: Atlantic Ocean).

English and Maori are the official languages of this island in the South Pacific. (answer: New Zealand).

North Korea, China, and what

Airline Rebates

Those who flew on nine commercial airlines between January 1, 1988 and June 30, 1992 can qualify to receive partial rebate coupons which can be used toward future flights.

■ To obtain a claim form call 1-800-854-7264. (The phone number is equipped to handle a high volume of calls, people are advised to keep trying.)
■ Claim Form A - One trip during above dates. No documentation needed. Simple form giving name and address, claimants will get pro-rated share of pool of coupons totalling $258.5 million.
■ Claim Form B - Five trips or more. Automatically assured value to 2,500 per claim. Most leisure travel is in this category. Claimants must certify trips under penalty of perjury. No documentation needed. Audits will be made so records should be kept.
■ Claim Form C - Individuals or businesses with claims exceeding $2,500. Most businesses in this category. Documentation needed. People who were reimbursed by their company are not eligible to file a claim pool.

Affected airlines are United, American, US Air, Northwest, TWA, Continental, Delta and the now-defunct Pan Am and Midway airlines.

Still time for airline claims

By Linda Saulnier
HARTE-HANKS STAFF

Last June when Jerry Aransky, an accountant and vice president of industry relations for Thomas Cook Travel, saw the original settlement from the class action law suit filed in U.S. District Court in Atlanta against nine major airlines charged with price-fixing, he declared the settlement unreasonable and took his objection to court. Aransky said the experience that followed was like a scene out of a television courtroom drama.

"Just picture a courtroom in Atlanta with the airlines' big-gun attorneys and me, the lone travel agent," Aransky said "I felt like Matlock."

But Aransky and attorneys hired by Thomas Cook Travel were successful in changing the formula by which claims can be filed, simplifying the procedure for individuals, and winning a particular victory for people with claims of more than $2,500.

According to the antitrust settlement, anyone who purchased a domestic airline ticket for travel on one of nine airlines leaving or passing through 34 hub airports (including Logan) is eligible to file a claim.

Aransky may not have been involved in the original lawsuit – a class action suit brought by consumers against the nine airlines – but he sure was integral in seeing to it that the claims process was simplified.

"Under the original settlement, claims had to be accompanied by 41/2 years of documentation, which was almost an impossible requirement," said Aransky.

Aransky, who spoke in court on behalf of Thomas Cook Travel and The Coalition of Concerned Travelers, an industry association formed specifically for the purpose of filing an objection to the settlement. He was granted permission by the judge to be on the settlement committee, which hammered out the new formula that became final on March 22. He figures the action taken by Thomas Cook Travel saved companies hundreds of millions of dollars.

"If you think about the number of companies out there that purchased airline tickets between Jan. 1, 1988, and June 30, 1992, we saved them a lot of money," Aransky said. "We made it simple for them to file a claim without very much expense."

Although the airlines denied any wrongdoing, they agreed to an out-of-court settlement of $458 million.

POLICE LOG

6:30 p.m.

Officer Thomas Groux was dispatched to a Cambridge Street residence for a report of an unwanted person. The owner of the residence told police that a 28-year-old Arlington woman was on his premises and refused to leave. There is documentation of this person trespassing on the property, according to police. A computer check showed the woman had a outstanding warrant for trespassing and was arrested by police.

Officer Arthur Houllahan was dispatched to a Cross Street business for a report of a larceny. The owner of a storage shed said that someone had broken the lock off the shed and stolen construction equipment. Missing from the shed were a jack hammer, valued at $800, a compactor, valued at $1,800, and a concrete power saw, valued at $800.

5 p.m.

Officer Thomas Groux was patrolling the lot at Winchester Country Club when he observed a motor vehicle with its passenger window broken. The owner, a 47-year-old Winchester man, said a box of strawberries and a briefcase filled with catalogs were taken from the vehicle. Arlington police recovered the briefcase in the same lot.

1:08 p.m.

Officer Arthur Houllahan was dispatched to the high school parking lot for a report of youths drinking alcohol. Houllahan observed four youths walking south on the railroad tracks carrying a keg of beer. Houllahan approached the youths as they were hiding behind a control box with a quarter keg half-full. The four Winchester youths were taken to their homes and told they would be summoned on charges of minors in possession of alcohol.

Officer Theodore Yeanacoplis was dispatched to a Washington Street business for a report of a motor vehicle larceny. An employee discovered his vehicle, a 1986 Oldsmobile, missing when he was leaving work.

Officer Stephen Roche was monitoring traffic at Arlington and Cambridge Streets when he observed a vehicle traveling at a greater speed than others. As he was following the vehicle, Officer Roche noticed that the registration sticker on the license plate was covered with tape. Officer Roche followed the vehicle as it turned abruptly onto Robinson Park. The operator of the vehicle then pulled over and turned on his hazard lights.

As Roche left his cruiser the operator, police reports said that a 32-year-old Cambridge man, exited the vehicle and acted belligerently. The man said there was no reason for his being stopped other than because he was black, and he refused to show his license. When told by police that he could be arrested for creating a disturbance and not producing his license, he calmed down. A check with dispatch showed the registration on the vehicle had been revoked and police towed the vehicle. The operator asked police to let him drive home. He said the police could follow him home.

The operator was cited for operating an unregistered motor vehicle without an inspection sticker.

5:45 p.m.

Officer was dispatched to a counseling center on Spruce Street for a complaint of a person causing a disturbance. Upon arrival, a counselor told police the person had just left intoxicated. The individual, a 32-year-old New Hampshire man, returned and talked to the counselor and police left.

After leaving, police ran a check and discovered the individual had his license revoked and a default warrant was out for his arrest from the North Reading Police Department. Police observed the man entering his vehicle after leaving the counselor center and placed him under arrest for the default warrant.

2:26 a.m.

Officer Philip Coss was dispatched to Cross Street by River Street for a motor vehicle accident with personal injury.

Upon arrival, Coss observed two males standing on the sidewalk, bleeding from their faces and arms. A motor vehicle with extensive front end damage was in the street. The operator of the vehicle, a 23-year-old Clark Street man, was speeding at a turn when he lost control of his vehicle, skidded 100 feet, jumped the curb, and struck a tree and a light pole. The vehicle came to rest in the street.

Both occupants were taken by ambulance to Winchester Hospital. The operator had no registration and no license. He was cited for speeding, operating without a license, and operating without a registration.

11:11 p.m.

A motor vehicle that had been stolen from the Wedgemere depot on March 24 was recovered in Bronx, N.Y.

9:47 p.m.

Officer James Covino was dispatched to the Winchester Country Club for a report of a larceny from a motor vehicle. An employee of the club said someone had popped the lock of his vehicle while he was working. A radar detector worth $100 was stolen.

1:49 p.m.

Officer Steven Fields was dispatched to Holten Street for a report of a larceny from a motor vehicle. The owner of the vehicle, a New Hampshire man, told police that sometime this day someone removed a diamond antenna mounted on his trunk. The antenna was valued at $120.

1 p.m.

Officer Theodore Yeanacopolis was dispatched to Main Street for a motor vehicle accident. A vehicle was parked on Main Street without being in gear. The vehicle rolled across the two lanes backward and struck a parked vehicle on the opposite side of the road.

BOH orders dry cleaner to control fumes immediately

By Stephen Ollvieri
ASSISTANT EDITOR

The Board of Health has cited a local dry cleaning establishment, after employees from an adjacent business put up a stink about migrating solvent odors.

After hearing employees from Video Horizon complain that fumes from Martinizing Cleaners were causing health problems, Board of Health members voted 3-0 at their April 1 meeting to order the dry cleaners to abate the fumes within seven days or face a criminal complaint.

Both businesses are located in a block of stores at 600 Main Street.

Video Horizon employees said the odor has caused upset stomachs, headaches, breathing difficulties, and dizziness. Video Horizon employee Sandra Papasedero said several customers have left the store because of the odor.

Papasedero also said the sink in the video store backs up with "sludge-type material", which she described as green in color. Tabbi, who had not know about the material before the meeting, told the Star on April 5 that he is investigating it, but added, "I don't think it is related to the odor."

In addition to testimony from Video Horizon and Winchester Wine and Spirits employees about the smell, the state Department of Labor and Industries and Health Director Joseph Tabbi both tested perchloroethylene above the acceptable limits in September and December of 1992 and March of 1993.

The maximum level of perchloroethylene allowed under state law is 25 parts per million. Tabbi tested levels as high as 100 ppm at the dry cleaners on March 9, leading to the citation.

Perchloroethylene is a heavy, colorless liquid with an odor similar to that of ether or chloroform. The National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health recommends that it be treated as a potential human carcinogen.

Joseph Tassone, president of Martinizing Cleaners, said on March 9, an employee, no longer with the business, had not turned on the air circulation system.

When testing by the state was first done last September showing excessive perchloroethylene, Tassone said it was caused by a faulty gasket on a machine, but fixing it did not solve the problem. In December tests were done again by the state showing excessive levels.

Joan Parker, who completed tests for the state, said that some tests done in September and December did show levels below the limit, depending on the location in the store where the tests were done, and added that she could only smell a slight odor when she first walked into the Video Horizon in September. However, she did say she believed that the fumes were a nuisance that needed to be corrected.

Tassone told the board that none of his employees has ever become ill because of the odor and employees from three other stores in the block have not complained.

"Our own people have not ... complained to me about headaches, nausea," said Tassone.

Board of Health member Randall Swartz said the board cannot suggest specific remedies but only demand that the problem be corrected.

Parks, who attended the meeting, said she believed the main cause of the problem was that the emissions drawn from the dry cleaning establishment by an exhaust fan were being sucked back into the building through the air intakes. She also said inadequate air circulation within the video store might be contributing to the problem.

Tassone can ask for an extension of four weeks if he provides the board with proof within the next seven days that he has begun efforts to abate the problem.

Fitzgerald awarded two-year contract

The School Committee has offered a contract to Robert Fitzgerald for his new position as superintendent of schools.

Fitzgerald will make $81,000 a year as superintendent, a 4 ½ percent increase over his salary as assistant superintendent. Last year, Fitzgerald made $75,000 plus $2,500 for travel expenses. The travel expense was factored into the salary in the new contract.

Fitzgerald's contract is for two years. The School Committee had received much criticism when it offered the previous superintendent, Charles Mitsakos, a five-year contract.

Fitzgerald told the Star he is satisfied with the terms of the contract.

The contract states that Fitzgerald is officialy the superintendent as of the March 23, the day he was appointed superintendent by a 3-0 vote with two abstentions by the School Committee. But the salary increase does not take effect until July 1.

Mitsakos, who resigned Sept. 4, will be paid by the school system through June.

The new contract was passed by a 3-0 vote, with School Committe members Mark Lombardi, Constance Makhoul, and Edward O'Connell approving the contract; members James Evans and Jerilyn Heinold abstained from voting.

SPECIAL TO THE STAR

'Grandpals '93' program underway at Jenks

The "Grandpals '93" program, a special intergenerational event matching students in the fourth and fifth grades of the Lynch School with seniors in town, is now underway. The young people have written their letters which should have been received by the seniors, and prompt replies are encouraged because the young people look forward to hearing about the life events of the seniors.

The Jenks Center's TV Production Committee will be taping the young people as they write their letters at the Lynch School, and this tape will become part of a program documenting this interesting intergenerational exchange.

Happy anniversary to Jenks Center

The 15th anniversary of the opening of the Jenks Senior Center will be celebrated on Sunday, April 18, at 2:30 p.m. Plans are underway simultaneously to honor Clarence Borggaard, who was instrumental in raising significant funds for the building of the center. The building was opened to the public on April 2, 1978, with an estimated attendance of some 2,000 spectators.

Speakers honoring Borggaard as "Outstanding Senior of the Decade," will include John Sullivan, town moderator, as master of ceremonies; Dr. Robert Smith, president of the WSA; Richard Norberg, chairman of the WSA Trust; Robert Ericson, chairman of the Council on Aging; Catherine Alexander, executive director of the Winchester Chamber of Commerce; and Richard Salter, president of the Winchester Rotary Club. Borggaard will also be expected to make a few comments.

Refreshments for this open house will be available, under the supervision of Helen Hodgdon, involving finger foods, such as brownies, cakes, cookies and dainty sandwiches. Winchester's cooks and bakers are asked to bake and donate goodies. In order that plans may be made in timely fashion, call the desk receptionist at the Jenks Center now, and give her your name and telephone number and tell her what you will bake for this festive and significant occasion.

It might be of interest to know that the Jenks Senior Center was erected in 1978 on a former skating rink, at the site of the old Skillings boathouse. If you stood on the steps of the Town Hall, when it was built in 1887, you would be looking at a wooded hill, at the top of which stood a spacious mansion owned by D. Nelson Skillings Jr. The estate included orchards, grape arbors, stables and a caretaker's cottage.

In 1943, the house was demolished; the sloping hill was leveled in 1957 when Skillings Road was opened.

Due to the success of senior activities and volunteerism, more space was needed and in 1987, a new wing of 11,000 square feet was added to Jenks Senior Center.

The center is named for the late James L. Jenks Jr. and his wife, Evelyn, through whose generous contributions the first foundation of the building was laid.

Seniors thank Elks Lodge

Warm thanks and appreciation are extended by Winchester seniors to the Winchester Lodge of Elks who dined and entertained 130 members of the Winchester Seniors Association on Sunday, March 21. The program presented by PER, PDD Creighton Horn, co-chairman, included interesting and informative talks by State Rep. Paul C. Casey and Sen. Charles Shannon on the good work that the Winchester Elks does for the seniors and students of Winchester.

The Winchester Seniors Association thanks all the dedicated men of the Lodge, and their families, who assisted and worked to make this affair such a happy and successful event.

Last call for those romantic pictures

For many weeks the committee planning for "The Ageless Follies," to be presented May 1, has been soliciting seniors in town to "lend us your romantic pictures." Many have been received, but more are still needed. Time is short, and this will be the last call. Your pictures will be enlarged and serve as a backdrop for the performance.

Put your name and telephone number on the photos and drop them off at Barbara Ciampa's office at the Jenks Center. All pictures will be returned.

Reminder: movie of the month returns

The April selection is the highly acclaimed comedy "Sister Act," starring Whoopi Goldberg. The showing will start at 12:30 p.m., Friday, April 16, in the Jenks Room at the center.

Dr. Peter J. Palcos Jr., podiatrist, is shown above (left) with Dr. Robert Smith, president of the Winchester Seniors Association, at a recent presentation at the Jenks Senior Center. Palcos discussed foot problems, their prevention and treatment, especially in the elderly. The program, sponsored by the WSA Health Committee, was enthusiastically received by a large audience.

The Eating Together diners are encouraged to stay for the show, which will last about 1½ hours. All other seniors are welcome to attend this showing. There is no charge, and no advance sign-up is required.

Housing counseling available at Jenks

Recently assigned by the Council on Aging to the position of housing counselor, serving Winchester seniors out of the Jenks Senior Center, Brenda Pappas is available for information and housing counseling, on Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., either on an appointment basis or, on Friday afternoons, on a "drop in" basis. This new pilot program, sponsored by the Council on Aging and funded by a grant from the Executive Office of Elder Affairs and the Winchester Housing Fund, assists seniors in examining their housing options to determine whether changes are necessary.

Handyman services

Seniors who need small repairs made or tasks done by the Handyman Committee are asked to call the Jenks Center, 721-7136, leave your name and number and the handyman will get back to you.

Seniors in town are finding this handyman service of great assistance. In order to provide continuity for handyman assistance during the summer months, the Council on Aging is putting out a call to senior men and women with repair skills who will be available to strengthen the present small committee of three persons that has been responding to senior requests. As summer approaches and vacations are scheduled, it is necessary to have senior volunteer people step in to handle some of these requests. If you can assist, call Arthur Duffy, chairman of the Handyman Committee, 729-5618.

Protection for elder consumers

Scott Harshbarger, attorney general of the Commonwealth, in cooperation with the Massachusetts Association of Older Americans, will present a Consumer Awareness Conference titled "Know Your Rights: Protection for Elder Consumers," on Friday, April 23, 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m., at Brandeis University, Levin Ballroom, Waltham. Admission to the conference is free and includes written materials, coffee, pastry and luncheon buffet.

All too often, the attorney general states, senior citizens are targeted for consumer scams or white collar crime. "It is simply unacceptable that older Americans who have worked hard to enjoy their retirement years are victimized by dishonest individuals or companies whose sole objective is to take their money."

The Consumer Protection Conference will help seniors: Make more informed buying decisions; identify telemarketing and mail order scams; make consumer complaints with the Massachusetts Consumer Complaint Hotline; and, in addition, members of the attorney general's staff will provide information on health care issues and medical costs.

Do you know an adult who cannot read?

Many adults want and need to improve their literacy skills. Over the past 15 years, Massachusetts has become home to more than 300,000 newcomers for whom English is not a native language. One out of four adults in Massachusetts has left school without a high school diploma. The Eastern Massachusetts Literacy Council, founded in 1970, is a non-profit organization providing workshops which certify adult volunteers to teach English as a second language and to teach reading and writing skills to English speaking adults. Workshops, offered monthly, cover communication skills, pronunciation, grammar, suggested reading materials, and survival skills for participating in American society.

Currently there are approximately 15 active Winchester tutors who have attended workshops and who have been placed with adult students both in Winchester and in surrounding communities. The council is seeking additional tutors to help the waiting adult learners who've expressed a desire to improve their English skills. Last year the council trained 276 individuals who helped to tutor 418 students.

During the month of April, Winchester members of the Eastern Massachusetts Literacy Council will be at the Winchester Public Library on Tuesday and Saturdays from 9:30 a.m. to noon. Individuals interested in becoming tutors, in receiving free tutoring, or in supporting the council are invited to drop by the library or to call the reference desk, 721-7171, for further information.

Tag those raincoats

This is the rainy season when we don our spring raincoats. Many of these garments look very much alike and it would, therefore, be helpful when you come down to the center if, beforehand, you would write your name and address on a slip of paper and leave it in the coat pocket. If there is any problem about leaving the center with another's raincoat, the ownership can easily be traced.

Seniors should check the coatracks at the center from time to time for clothing they may have lost or forgotten.

WINCHESTER NEWS

ASK MICHAEL RECYCLES

QUESTION: Are there any other waste bans being effected this year, besides the recyclable glass ban?

ANSWER: On April 1, 1993, the can ban will also be implemented. That means that in addition to separating your recyclable glass jars and bottles you must separate your steel and aluminum food and beverage cans and return them for deposit or place them in the proper bin at the transfer station. It's the law.

We haven't had much problem with contamination of the steel cans bin because its so easy to fish out the aluminum cans which seem to be the only problem. But why would you throw your aluminum cans away when they're worth so much money? Maybe you just don't recognize aluminum. Well, here's a tip. Every good kitchen has got a refrigerator with so many things stuck on it sometimes we can't even find the door handle. There's bound to be a refrigerator magnet on there somewhere. Just use a magnet to test your food can. If it sticks its steel; put it in the steel cans bin at the transfer station. If it doesn't stick, it's probably aluminum; save it and take it to the metals dealer for money.

The same cleanliness rules for recyclable glass that mentioned in my last column also apply to steel can recycling. The paper labels will burn off so don't worry about them. A quick rinse of the can will usually be sufficient to keep vermin out and keep odors to a minimum.

You may also be curious to know how the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) expects to enforce these new waste bans. Will there be DEP police ripping open our bags of trash and issuing tickets for non-compliance? Presently, Winchester has a DEP-approved municipal recycling program which exempts us from the more stringent forms of inspection for glass and cans. The reason we have this exemption is because of our demonstrated commitment to recycling. The town provides a drop-off program for glass and metal containers which has been running for a minimum of three years. Our facility is open during the same hours per week as the trash conveyor. We are also required to continue our public education efforts which includes mailings to all residents and providing clear and complete facility signs.

The DEP inspections are going to take place at the NESWC combustion facility at North Andover. At random, trash trucks will be pulled aside and ordered to dump on the floor. The trash will be inspected and recyclable glass and cans and yard waste will be identified within the load. If these banned materials exceed certain "de minimus" quantities, the load will be rejected. What this means to us is that additional labor costs may be incurred to clean up the mess.

If you have a private hauler, it's hard to say how the waste bans will be enforced. If they just haul it out of state or dump it in the woods somewhere, perhaps you won't have to worry. Maybe you should ask your hauler or your apartment manager where your trash and recyclables are going.

Editor's note: There is currently an attempt by the state legislature to postpone the new recycling regulations. The house voted on April 5 to delay the waste ban and closure of unlined landfills for two and a half years. The Star will outline some of the local issues surrounding recycling in an article next week.

Foundation to hold Telethon in April

The Winchester Scholarship Foundation will hold its 7th Annual Telethon from 7 to 9 p.m., on Tuesday, April 13, from the auditorium of Winchester Town Hall. This provides an opportunity for the whole community to express pride in the academic achievements of the students of Winchester High School by helping to close the gap between the increasing costs of higher education and students' ability to meet them. Because of contributions from individuals, organizations, the telethon, and memorial funds, the Scholarship Committee of the Foundation last year was able to award scholarships totaling $141,500 to 87 Winchester High School graduates.

Initial grants of $42,150 were awarded to 25 applicants and continuing grants of $99,350 were awarded to 42 applicants from earlier WHS classes. After Winchester students have been accepted to a college, university, or training school, and tapped all financial resources available from family contributions, private or public scholarship aid, loans, and their own ability to work, and determine that the need is still greater than the resources, they turn to the WSF for assistance. For each recipient of a grant-in-aid, the foundation really makes the enabling difference.

Tune in to the telethon and watch "Highlighting the Students," an interesting program prepared by foundation members Elizabeth Julian and David Peretti The dynamic duo of Allan Eyden and Allan MacDonald, Channel 19's crack anchormen, will perform the emcee duties and will be joined throughout the evening by loyal WSF supporters Marty Fuller and David Mortensen. Dare Officer Paul Austin will act as Town Crier to introduce some of the costumed elementary school children who participated in Colonial Day. This will be followed by some scenes from the Cooperative Theater's smash hit, "The Wizard of Oz." Representing the middle school will be an exhibition of their activities for United Nations Day. The high school is offering selections by the Jazz Band, and clips from films produced by its students by popular request, Principal John Ritchie has agreed to sing and strum. Highlights from "Ageless Follies" will be presented. "Follies" was, of course, an entertainment which involved kids of all ages.

The bank of telephones will be installed by WSF president Robert Crockett and will be manned by volunteers from the community. Police Chief Joseph Perritano will be joined again by Officer Kevin Mawn, Lt. James Pierce and High School principal John Ritchie. Representatives from all the local real estate agencies and banks and employees of Federal Heating Company will also be manning the phones. If you are not called or not at home, you may make your own call to 729-7500. President Crockett reminds everyone that a contribution is, of course, tax-deductible.

Make the difference. Invest in futures — our students.

Keep up to date on what's happening in your community.

Community Service Projects

The Winchester Interagency Council (WIC) is coordinating a new program to encourage community service by adults and young people. Active participation in service experiences can help increase understanding and recognition of the needs of others in the community. See graphic on page 2A.

Many of the organizations in town offer projects that benefit residents in a variety of ways whether it be direct services to people or community-wide services. Other organizations or schools are looking for projects to increase individual or group participation in community service. The WIC list of projects can help bring these groups or individuals together.

Beginning March 1, a list of community projects or events that need both adult and student volunteers is being compiled. This list will be updated monthly and distributed through the Winchester Star, and the WIC minutes.

Those interested in having an organization's events or projects listed, should contact the Department of Recreation, Attn. Winchester Interagency Organization, 154 Horn Pond Brook Road, Winchester, MA 01890

For information, call Sarah Swiger, 729-1407.

Include Stone zoo in Easter plans

Hop over to Stone Zoo on Sunday, April 11, for some Easter fun for the whole family. Kids can participate in any of the "egg-citing" activities planned from 1 to 3 p.m. There will be an Easter egg hunt for children 10 years old or younger with a prize for the child in each age group (up to 5 years old and 6 to 10 years old) who finds the golden egg.

Make sure to bring along your own basket or bag for collecting the eggs. Enter your family or team in the egg carrying contest, have fun making your own bunny ears, get your face painted like a bunny, listen to a fun story or watch a bunny video. Don't forget to wear your Easter bonnet or make a hat at home from recycled materials. End the day with a parade around the park led by the Easter Bunny and our "costumed" polar bear.

All activities are free with the Stone Zoo admission. For information, call Friends of Stone Zoo at 438-7459 or 279-4101.

REAL ESTATE UPDATE
ANN BLACKHAM, CRB, CRS
DON'T COUNT ON ORAL PROMISE
QUESTION: I am about to purchase a home. The builder promised that everything wrong will be taken care of and that a handshake will save a lot of paperwork. Should I trust him?
ANSWER: Many a business agreement has been made with a handshake and enforced by the courts. But when it comes to the never-never world of real estate, you cannot and should not rely on oral promises. In fact, the law in all states specifically requires that all agreements and conditions relative to the sale of real estate specifically be in writing to be enforceable. The way to put teeth into oral promises is to insist that everything significant be put in writing.
HANDSHAKES don't count in real estate. Put it in writing.

LIBRARY LINES

'Libraries Change Lives' will be theme for National Library Week

The National Library Week theme for 1993 is "Libraries Change Lives," and the American Library Association wants to know stories about how the library changed people's lives. By entering the nationwide "Write For America's Libraries" promotion, interested persons can provide ALA with "success stories" that it can use as testimonials when it campaigns for better funding and support for libraries.

Those who have stories to submit may pick up an entry form at the Reference Desk or from the pamphlet rack near the Circulation Desk.

Drop off entries at the Reference Desk between April 18 and May 19. The three people who submit the most inspiring stories nationwide will be honored on June 26 at the opening session of ALA's annual conference in New Orleans, with travel expenses paid by Microsoft Corporation. The first prize winner will receive a Microsoft Encarta Multimedia Encyclopedia and a personal computer with CD-ROM hardware. The two runners-up will receive the Encarta.

The library will select some of the submissions it collects to display in the library during the month of April.

Library has useful recorded and large-print materials

For those who have difficulty using printed library materials because of a vision problem, the Winchester Public Library has alternative materials that can provide customers with the pleasure of reading. The library's collection includes more than 200 unabridged books-on-tape. These provide the user with the complete text of a book in recorded format read by professional actors.

The library is working to improve and expand the books-on-tape collection. The Friends of the Winchester Public Library have provided $5,000 to purchase these materials and the library has applied for a federal grant for an additional $5,000.

During the month of April, the library will be taking a survey of what kind of books-on-tape its patrons use. The survey forms will be placed on the case of each book on the shelf. Library customers are asked to take a minute to respond to this form.

The library also has more than 700 large-type books in both fiction and non-fiction and a subscription to the large print Reader's Digest.

Those who need assistance in finding or selecting the books or tapes they need may ask a member of the library staff for assistance.

School vacation week in the children's room

The Winchester Public Library's Children's Department has scheduled two events for school age children during school vacation week. On Wednesday, April 21, at 2 p.m., the film "Jacob Two-Two Meets The Hooded Fang," will be shown in the library's Meeting Room.

The Children's Room will offer a "BYOG," ("Bring Your Own Games") program on Friday, April 23, at 2 p.m. Playing cards and suggestions for various card games will be offered, but children are encouraged to bring their own favorite indoor game to share.

Registration or tickets are not required for either activity.

Date of Friends meeting changed

The Friends of the Winchester Public Library Board meeting that was to be held on Tuesday, April 13, will not be held. The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, May 11, at 7:30 p.m.

Parkway to undergo facelift

By Deborah Trask
EDITOR

Despite several setbacks in construction, plans will move forward for the renovation of the Aberjona Bridge and Mystic Valley Parkway, say officials.

The Metropolitan District Commission will reconstruct the Mystic Valley Parkway from South Border Road to the Medford Town line. In all the project will cost $6 million and will begin in the Fall of 1993, according to Janice Parlon, MDC's Community Affairs representative. Parlon said the plans, initially proposed in 1988, were unveiled at a public hearing last fall, but were postponed when funds for the project were frozen.

The parkway project was explained in detail at a public hearing held March 31. Plans for the parkway include: resurfacing; upgrading of traffic signals and street lighting; installation of granite curbing, sidewalks and handicapped ramps; realignment of key intersections; extensive beautification and landscaping and upgrading of the entire drainage system. Parlon said the hearing was well attended and will be followed up by another hearing in May. According to Parlon, the MDC plan will be subject to the same scrutiny as any major project in Winchester when it comes before the Winchester Conservation Commission later this month. The commission will also schedule a public hearing on the project.

Reconstruction of the Aberjona bridge will begin in April and continue until September. According to Parlon, access to the bridge will be restricted during renovation. Extensive planning with Winchester and Medford officials yielded an alternate route that met with general approval, she said.

Route 38 (Winthrop Street) to Route 60 (High Street) to Route 16 (Mystic Valley Parkway, Medford) will be used by motorists during the renovation. The total cost of the bridge restoration will be $969,537, according to officials. Officials will be making modifications to replace the bridge while maintaining its unique structure.

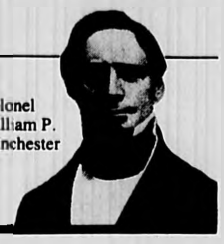
WINCHESTER KERNELS



Colonel William P. Winchester

Free choice

By DAN CHANE
SPECIAL TO THE STAR

It is usually the rule that some of the nastiest spring weather falls during the wrap-up of town elections.

Despite the bad weather on Election Day 1993, the areas outside Winchester polling places were brilliant with colored umbrellas and waving political signs.

Throngs of supporters were thick with veterans who had their own horror stories of weather during past elections, but all were united in their support of chosen candidates — and in their love of Winchester.

It has often been said that Enka Fair and Town Day best reflect the essence of Winchester.

When you combine those who endured eight to 10 hours in the cold to support their candidate — those like Senator Charlie Shannon and former selectman Judie Muggia who kept the troops supplied with hot coffee and doughnuts — and a town which enthusiastically seizes responsibility for its own political direction, Election Day rates right up there with Enka and Town Day.

This year all the ingredients were present — except that Winchester decided to stay home.

A 29 percent voter turnout is a townwide disgrace.

We endure the same tired excuses every year: "Turnout was lower six years ago", or "The weather kept everyone at home", or "There were no important political issues."

It seems incomprehensible that one can live in a community, enjoy its amenities, pay taxes to support those amenities — and yet ignore the political heart which swells vital arteries with direction.

Recently Tony Conte of Precinct 2 proposed a change which would move Election Day forward into a period when the weather is better.

Perhaps a languid, sunny day would bring more voters out — and admittedly the idea of lawn chairs and cool mint juleps for the sign holders is quite appealing.

But community responsibility is going to take more than nice weather and free rides to the polls to shake us out of our political torpor.

We deplore a lack of free choice in many parts of the world — as we traditionally sit home on Election Day and allow "a guy down the street" to decide our own future.

No way, Winchester.

BEACON HILL ROLL CALL

Beacon Hill Roll Call
Volume 20 — Report No. 10
Massachusetts House and Senate
March 29 through April 2

THE HOUSE AND SENATE. Beacon Hill Roll Call records local senators' votes on four roll calls from the week of March 29 through April 2. There were no roll calls in the House.

All Senate roll calls are on amendments to the Senate version of the bill overhauling the state's public education system. Approval of the bill itself was on a voice vote without a roll call. The Senate version differs in many areas from the House-passed bill. A conference committee has been appointed to work out the differences. A major source of contention will be the Senate provision for statewide mandatory school choice which is not included in the House draft.

FOREIGN LANGUAGES (S 1550) — Senate 24-15, rejected an amendment requiring the board of education to include "knowledge of a foreign language" on its list of core subjects in which students are expected to show competency.

The bill already requires that these academic standards include math, science, history and social science, English and the arts.

Amendment supporters said in today's global economy knowledge of at least one foreign language is a necessity. Opponents said that all students do not need to learn a foreign language and argued the amendment will open the door to further requirements.

A Yes vote is for requiring one foreign language. A No vote is against requiring one foreign language.

Shannon voted yes.

TEACHER CERTIFICATION (S 1550) — Senate 24-14, rejected an amendment providing that teachers not be required to pay for any state college courses they take in order to satisfy professional development requirements.

Amendment supporters said many teachers cannot afford the individual tuitions which could amount to thousands of dollars. Opponents said neither the state nor the colleges can afford to pay for millions of dollars in tuition-free courses.

A Yes vote is against requiring teachers to pay. A No vote is for requiring teachers to pay.

Shannon voted yes.

SCHOOL CHOICE (S 1550) — Senate 20-19, rejected an amendment to remove Senate President Bill Bulger's, D-South Boston, mandatory statewide school choice program from the education bill.

Under current law, the choice program is completely voluntary for communities which choose to participate. The Bulger proposal allows all 850,000 students in Massachusetts to attend any school in the state which has space available, as determined by the Secretary of Education.

The state would cover the extra cost for communities gaining students and would also pick up the tab for transporting poor students to contiguous communities.

Supporters of mandatory school choice said it will force communities to compete to retain students, improve academic performance and make good schools available to all students.

Opponents said mandatory choice is an intrusion into local control of education and will drain bright and highly motivated students from poorer communities. They argued that the money necessary to fund this program should be used to improve local schools.

A Yes vote is against mandatory school choice. A No vote is for mandatory school choice.

Shannon voted no.

News Item: POLICE SAY THEY'D PREFER TO BE CALLED RATHER THAN HAVE PEOPLE SHOOT AT RACCOONS

A close look at a wet ritual

TERRY MAROTTA
COLUMNIST

What do people do in the shower and in what order do they do it?

This may be the last patch of territory still innocent of the undainty tread of public discussion — ranking right up there with the classic question of which way you hang the toilet paper.

Why more isn't known about what people do in the shower is obvious: You're by yourself in there and have been for years, or even decades. Thus your regimen, over time, has grown so automatic you hardly think, never mind talk, about it. You have no idea if others shower the way you do: you could be squishing the day's clothes clean underfoot at the same time, like the main character in "The Accidental Tourist," and you wouldn't know it was even unusual.

So isn't it time we took a closer look? Time we wiped some of the steam from the old bathroom mirror, so to speak?

We polled random groups of people, leaving the question as open as possible, so as not to unwittingly shape their answers. Two clerks in a stationer's store, two hairdressers, an eight-year-old, a couple of engineers, a professor, an ambulance driver and a brace of teens were among our respondents.

"How do you shower?" we asked.

"Alone, generally," many began by sighing.

But then they warmed to the subject.

"Well I turn the water on first and then I get in," said a surprising number of people, as if this were a tactic both cunning and original.

Other questions covered in the course of people's answers follow, listed here in random order:

(1) "Where do you begin?" Most people feel you should begin at the top. "It's just logical. Why clean something below only to have dirty stuff from above sluice down over it?" People with any quantity of hair — women especially — shampoo first, to allow time for conditioners to work. More old-fashioned and/or short-haired men shampoo last. Many older women don't shampoo at all, having long since ceded control of their hair to hair-care professionals, and are in fact afraid of touching it at all between appointments.

(2) "Do you face into the stream of water or away?" Answers were evenly divided here. Some face the sort of curtain that has a map of the world on it and use the time to study, Madagascar, say or the gulf of Aqaba. "Are you kidding, I keep my eyes shut!" answered one man. "It's too scary otherwise. When I was younger it was different."

(3) "What do you cover?" This may seem like a silly question until you tease it apart into sections. When asked "Do you wash your feet?" many said no. "They're in there with water all around them. They wash themselves, I figure."

We asked our own little boy, a bath man, mostly, what he washed, as he streaked past us just now. He paused, thinking. "In the bath, I just wash my hair." "Really?! Is that enough, though?" "Sure! In the shower I only do my belly button," he called and spun out the door.

Many experience sudden flashes of insight in the shower, have actual "Aha!" experiences under that steady warm rain-on-the-roof. Many sing: Hymns, Barry Manilow tunes and the French National Anthem, we learned. Surprising numbers of people pipe music in, with portable radios just outside the curtain, or even speakers hooked up to serious sound systems in other rooms.

Many women shave their legs in the shower (largely the young and more limber.) Some men shave too.

One man shaves, brushes his teeth and even flosses in the shower, we were astounded to learn. A young woman hearing this said, "Sure. I brush mine too." "But where do you spit?" we asked her. "Hey it all goes down the drain," she replied matter-of-factly.

Length of showers range from three minutes (taken mostly by men with a background in the military) to a full 20 to 25. One member of this family has been known to tie up the shower for an entire half-hour, mornings, and we never knew why until now. "What do you do in there?" we asked her. "Well, I get tired part way through, so I sit on the floor." "And do what?!" we wondered. "Usually, I fall asleep."

Then we thought of the water bill and had an "Aha!" experience of our own, right here on dry land.

ON THE RECORD

Finance Committee members approved an unemployment compensation budget, which contains $23,000, by vote of 8-4. With no layoffs anticipated, the $23,000 goes toward paying unemployment compensation for crossing guards, which they collect when school is not in session. The debate at Spring Town Meeting over this line item is becoming a yearly tradition like Town Day and the EnKa Fair. Last year, there was a motion at Town Meeting by then-Finance Committee Chairman Ralph Johnson to transfer the crossing guards from the Police Department budget to the School Department so they would not collect unemployment. But at the recommendation of the Board of Selectmen, who promised a compromise would be reached on compensation in the ensuing months, the motion was rejected.

The Board of Health will be requesting $1,000 from the town's reserve fund to pay for another rabies clinic before the end of the fiscal year. At the last clinic in March, Health Director Joseph Tabbi reported that 274 animals were vaccinated.

Easton is not the only town searching for a roving cat. Tabbi reported that 44 dogs and 230 cats were vaccinated, but he added, "We're still looking for one cat that got away."

Saving the most exciting budget item for last, the Finance Committee has voted on all the budgets except the School Department. The School Committee will appear before the Finance Committee on April 15. With Chairman Mark Lombardi gone, it will be interesting to see if the other members will stick with the School Department's proposed budget, which is $500,000 higher than the one proposed by the town manager.

The Finance Committee will be holding a public hearing on April 20. Chairman Matthew Stone joked the meeting would be held at 11:30 p.m. in Vice-Chairman Robert Beattie's basement

Finance Committee member Lisa Ross has announced that she is resigning from her position on the committee. The town moderator, the chairman of the Board of Selectmen, and the chairman of the Finance Committee will be choosing the replacement. Recently another member of the committee resigned and was replaced by James Sanders of George Road.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Fields Committee sets record straight

To the editor:

The Winchester Fields Committee (WFC) was established by a vote of the Spring 1992 Town Meeting to review and evaluate the current physical state and usage of all Winchester playing fields. As voted by Town Meeting, the WFC consists of five members: three appointed by the Town Moderator (Jay L. Boylan, Christine McLaughlin, Peggy Schleicher), one appointee from the Board of Selectmen (Jerry Polcari), and one appointee from Finance Committee (Jim Johnson).

The WFC has been forthright and open from the beginning in the manner in which it has conducted its business. All meetings of the WFC have been properly posted, announced in the local newspapers, and been open to the public. Filed copies of meeting minutes are available in the Public Library

As required, the public hearing that was held by the WFC on Feb. 25, was advertised in the local papers a week in advance, and announced by the WFC at its regular meetings. It must be noted that the WFC accepted the offer by Robert Dewald to deliver our public hearing announcement to the Lynch School neighborhood. However, we learned that such generosity by Dewald was not what it appeared to be. Dewald purposely delayed distributing the WFC Public Hearing notice in the neighborhood in order to give himself enough time to change what was written by the WFC and to distribute HIS message to the public.

The WFC wants to set the record straight concerning its recommendations, in light of all that has been written by Robert Dewald in his Letters to the Editor.

What are the facts?

1. Winchester's playing fields receive heavy use from a wide variety of users including schools, interscholastic athletics, Recreation Department, youth and adult organized sports, organized community events, and general community use. Clearly there is great demand for playing field space in Winchester. WFC will be making recommendations as to how the town can best maintain it for the enjoyment of all its residents.

2. The WFC will be making a recommendation concerning development of the former wellfield site at the Lynch School.

This recommendation for limited field expansion at Lynch is to relieve some of the overuse that presently exists at Leonard, Skillings and Manchester Fields; to give the town the flexibility it needs to properly rotate and maintain existing field space; and to provide safe and necessary field space for the elementary school population at the Lynch School. Special attention has been given to designing this playing field to meet the needs of those children with physical challenges who are part of the Lynch School community.

Contrary to what has been stated in Letters to the editor in local papers, our recommendation includes only the former wellfield site and does not include any plans for development of adjacent land at the end of Sylvester Avenue.

Contrary to what has been stated in Letters to the editor in local papers, our recommendation is not for the creation of a "soccer complex" at Lynch.

Contrary to what has been stated in Letters to the editor in local papers, our recommendation does not include $74k for irrigation, $50K for parking, nor any plans for lighting or concessions.

3. The WFC will be making recommendations for replacement of four baseball backstops at Manchester, Skillings, MacDonald and Leonard

Fields. Three of the backstops have been approved by the Capital Planning Committee for installation this year

4. The WFC will be making recommendations for improvements to field conditions at both Skillings and Manchester Fields. Our recommendations will not include any plans for creating additional fields at either of these locations.

5. The WFC will be making recommendations for improved management of all town fields.

Finally, the WFC will be presenting its complete findings and recommendations at a public hearing to be scheduled by the town manager in April. We look forward to discussing our recommendations with the public at that time, and to working with the public to make Winchester's fields safe and available for the enjoyment of all residents.

Lambiase decries lack of turnout

To the editor:

Precinct 2 where were you? Election Day (March 30) has come and gone, and with it, some of you gave up your right to select the leaders of our town, who in turn will determine the future of Winchester.

Seventy-six percent of our precinct. 1,174 voters out of a possible 1,551 voters, for one reason or another, gave up their most valuable right, the opportunity to vote for the leaders of our community. The candidates and their workers debated the issues, braved extreme weather conditions, spent a great deal of money to solicit our vote. It must be discouraging to the candidates, their families and workers, who worked so hard, only to see that 24 percent of the voters are interested in their town.

As noted, 24 percent (377 voters) of Precinct Two did vote, which means, each one of us who voted, had the equivalency of four votes to your none. As you gave up your freedom of choice, may it be assumed that in the future you will give up your freedom of complaint? Hardly — this is one right we make time for.

Do I sound angry? You bet I am, but more so disappointed in the lack of civic responsibility expressed by the low voter turn out. Precinct Two came in last in voter participation; however, the average voter turn out townwide was 30 percent, which is no great shakes.

Congratulations to Precinct 3, the leader, with 34 percent turnout, followed by Precincts 1, 4 and 7, each with 33 percent.

Voters of Precinct 2 it's up to you. Don't hesitate, participate in the process, earn your right to complain, don't take it for granted. Vote in the future for your future and the future of Winchester.

Mullin thanks town for support

To the editor:

I would like to thank the people of the Town of Winchester for their confidence in my ability to serve as their Selectman. I look forward to working with the Board as we work together with our community to address the many complex issues before us.

would like to take this opportunity to thank all of the wonderful supporters who worked so tirelessly and cheerfully for me in this election race. I am honored by the people who supported me, some of whom I had not known until this year. It has been a pleasure to meet new friends throughout the town. Winchester is unique indeed in having so many talented residents who are willing to give so generously of their time.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank Ralph Johnson for the fine campaign he ran making the race memorable not only because it was the snowiest, but also because of the level at which it was run.

Resident questions towing practices in front of Salvy's

To the editor:

As a Winchester resident for more than ten years, I have always felt that it is important to support the town's local businesses whenever possible. This week when my daughter had and early release day, we decided to try the new Chinese restaurant on Main Street for lunch.

I parked my car in front of Salvy's Bakery to get take-out. After waiting for our lunch for about ten minutes in the Chinese restaurant, which is right across from Salvy's, I looked out the window and noticed that my car was gone. To my surprise, I was told by the woman behind the counter at Salvy's that my car had been towed and that I should call the police to find out where it was. When I inquired about who had authorized the towing of my car, the woman said that the towing was ordered by the property owner of Salvy's Bakery.

Apparently, signs had been posted a couple of weeks ago warning people that they could only park in the Salvy's Bakery lot if they were shopping in the White Hen Pantry, Dominos Pizza, or Salvy's Bakery. On this rainy cold day, as I parked to run in for a take-out lunch, I did not notice the new sign.

Fortunately, there was a very nice Winchester police officer in the area, who told me that my car had been towed to the Gulf Station on Swanton Street. He was also surprised that my car had been towed and gave my daughter and I a ride to the Gulf station to get my car. The towing fee was $35.

When I realized that my car had been towed I was very angry and disappointed. I have parked many, many times in front of Salvy's Bakery to buy something at the bakery, to buy something at the White Hen Pantry, or to run across the street to buy something at another business. It never occurred to me that I was doing anything to harm Salvy's Bakery business, since I have been a customer of his and many of the other businesses in Winchester for so many years. That was what was so disappointing about the towing.

Looking at this situation from a purely legal point-of-view, Salvy's Bakery may have had the legal right to have my car towed. However, I was left feeling like my many years as a customer of Salvy's and the other businesses in the area aren't worth very much. I wonder if this is the message that other businesses in Winchester want sent to residents.

I was not aware that parking was a problem for Salvy's Bakery and the other businesses in the area. In fact, on this Thursday afternoon more than half the lot was empty. Given the situation, if Salvy's Bakery had taken steps to make people aware of the problem, perhaps such a drastic step as towing residents' cars could have been avoided. For example, as a way of explaining the situation and as a warning, flyers could have been placed on the windshields of cars suspected of improperly parking. I think that most people would appreciate being informed of the problem and would respond appropriately. If this type of warning for a period of time did not work then perhaps towing would need to be considered.

I think that the owners of Salvy's Bakery should think very seriously about the message that I received, along with several other people who have recently been towed from the parking lot. I also question the wisdom of making it difficult for people to support any of the businesses in that general area of town. It would seem to me that the owners of Salvy's would want as many people buying things near their business as possible. I wonder if the owners of Salvy's Bakery have tried to include other nearby businesses in the cost and use of the parking lot.

Donna J. Baum

Editor's note: Salvy Addezio, the owner of Salvy's Bakery told the Star that the owner of the properties in that lot, Addezio Realty Trust, has a policy of towing the vehicle of any operator who parks his car in the lot but does not patronize Salvy's, Domino's Pizza and White Hen Pantry. Addezio said this policy was necessary because the customers of those businesses were unable to find parking spots. He added that there 10 signs on the lot warning customers about the towing policy.

Bargaining team questions tone of political advertising

To the editor:

Mark Lombardi, a candidate for re-election to the Winchester School Committee, placed an advertisement in support of his candidacy in the March 25, edition of the "Star." We are disturbed and disappointed with several statements and implications contained in this advertisement.

First, as members of the Winchester Education Association bargaining team which, along with the School Committee team (including Mr. Lombardi) spent many, many hours hammering out an agreement, we find the tone of the ad offensive. Gloating over a settlement ("the lowest contract in recent years") that was agreed upon by both sides through the bargaining process after careful consideration of existing situations and conditions as represented to us by the School Committee, is, at the very least, disturbing.

Second, the statements concerning negotiations, especially when placed in juxtaposition with statements such as "Classroom teachers are his first priority", fly in the face of the dedicated professionals in the Winchester Public Schools and the spirit of collective bargaining, to which the School Committee has as much responsibility as does the WEA.

Third, there was agreement at the conclusion of bargaining that the current settlement would not be used in a political context or forum, especially negatively. It seems that Mr. Lombardi deemed it appropriate to use it for his own political purposes. Having now been used once, it would appear that we have no assurance that the agreement,in some form, won't be used in a negative fashion such as during budget deliberations at Town Meeting.

COMMENT

Even though the outcome of the election would seem to make these points moot, our concern continues to be that statements of this nature adversely affect the relationship between the Winchester Education Association and the School Committee. While fully realizing for what purpose political advertisements are utilized, we remain discouraged that these facts and ambiguities were used to appeal to and influence voters. This was a mockery of the collective bargaining process, does little if anything for the betterment of the school system and certainly does nothing for the morale of the school system's employees.

Bortman thanks voters and town

To the editor:

I would like to thank all the voters in Winchester who showed their confidence in me in last week's election. One of my campaign pledges, which I hope to begin to fulfill immediately, is to bridge the gap between two blocs that so often divided the School Committee on crucial votes. I will work to find common ground wherever possible, so that we can more often enjoy consensus on important issues.

This was my first run for town-wide office, and my first involvement in an election campaign. I had no idea that we'd have such a large organization with so many people working on so many efforts. I want to thank everyone — the senior staff, the precinct captains, the flier droppers, the postcard writers, the sign holders, the telephone callers, the envelope stuffers — who cheerfully devoted so much time and energy to getting me elected.

I want to thank Mark Lombardi for running the type of campaign he did. We both managed to keep our campaigns positive and on the issues, and we avoided the negative devices that make campaigns unpleasant. We gave the voters a chance to see each of us in the best light, and we can face each other after the election. Mark was also gracious enough to come to my home Tuesday night, to congratulate me on my victory, a magnificent gesture that I'll always remember.

Morgan resigns as member of Town Meeting

To the editor:

Through this column, I would like to let the voters in Precinct 8 know that, for personal reasons, I cannot complete my term as Town Meeting member which expires next year. I also want to thank the people in Precinct 8 who voted for me 2 years ago.

Trustees thank engineers for work on renovation project

To the editor:

The Trustees of the Winchester Public Library would like to take this opportunity to publicly thank the architectural firm of Thomson, French, and Matsumoto, Inc., and in particular Winchester resident Jon French, for the outstanding efforts he and his colleague put into the schematic design and cost estimates for the renovation of our building.

The architects were given a very tight time frame and a very limited budget for the project. They worked closely with the staff, director and trustees throughout the process. We are very pleased and excited with the results.

Ellen B. Browning, Chair

Lippman thanks supporters for vote and help

To the editor:

I want to take this opportunity to convey my thanks to the people of Winchester for supporting my candidacy and electing me to the Board of Assessors. I would also like to thank the many people who helped me along the way. I could not have done it without the support of my family and friends.

I welcome the opportunity to serve my community. I would also like to thank Mr. Lombardi for his service in the past and for the fine campaign he ran.

I look forward to the next three years of service.

Susan Lippman

Tribute to nine years of dedication

To the editor:

Maryann McCall-Taylor started out nine years ago,

Discussing plans for "The Village" condo.

The west side saw Edward and Pepper Hill Drive,

Activity on Main went from 600 to 955.

Past the Ledges, through the Willows, into Winchester Woods,

Expanding Purity so it can sell more goods.

From Gables to Griffin to Oak Knoll,

This Planning Board member was on a roll.

Articles to Town Meeting totaled 74,

Much time was spent on the auditorium floor.

ZBA cases are too numerous to mention.

Hospital signage is still a bone of contention.

After so many projects it can be attested,

Maryann McCall-Taylor was not one who rested.

The list goes on, but the term expires,

We wish Maryann every happiness she desires.

HEALTH NOTES

Care of the newborn

The first few days and weeks at home after the birth of a baby are exhilarating. But they may also raise many questions.

"Care of The Newborn," offered by Winchester Hospital, is a workshop which gives parents the latest information about the physical and psychological needs of the newborn. Topics for discussion include newborn appearance and reflexes, choosing a pediatrician, safety issues, feeding and more.

Care of the Newborn is held from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. for two consecutive Mondays every month. Call Winchester Hospital 756-2220.

Step into shape

Step aerobics is a low impact, high intensity aerobic dance exercise. To the beat of exhilarating music, participants follow the instructor's moves by stepping up and down on special step aerobic boards.

Step aerobics is held every Monday, Tuesday and Thursday from 6 to 7 p.m. and Sunday, from 6 to 7 p.m. at the Winchester Hospital Family Medical Center. For more information, call Winchester Hospital at 756-2220.

Growing up female in the '90s

A young, adolescent girl faces many new changes with her body, emotions and relationships. "Growing Up Female," is a program recommended for girls ages 10 to 13. The program presents information on adolescent growth and development, very physical and emotional changes, anatomy and physiology, health habits, exercise and the importance of hygiene and nutritional habits.

The program is offered from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on April 21 at the Winchester Hospital Health Promotion Center. The fee is $10.

Pre-registration is required, and enrollment is limited. For registration and price information, contact Winchester Hospital at 756-2220.

Unique one-day childbirth program offered at hospital

Expecting a baby is a special and joyous time. However, questions and concerns about preparing for childbirth and caring for the newborn can make this a time of uncertainty as well.

Winchester Hospital is offering a unique, one-day childbirth program to assist parents during this time of adjustment. This program will teach the breathing techniques necessary for birth. Topics will include the phases of labor, various roles of the coach, anesthesia and medications, relaxation techniques and coping mechanisms.

This program will be held from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on April 17 at the Winchester Hospital Health Promotion Center.

For price and further information, call Winchester Hospital's Education Department at 756-2220.

Learn how to save a child's life

Don't find yourself wondering what to do when a child is choking or suffocating. Appropriate pediatric and infant CPR techniques differ from those used on adults — knowing these techniques can mean the difference between life and death.

Winchester Hospital offers Infant and Child CPR Course in a two part class from 6 to 10 p.m. on April 8 at the Woburn YMCA and 6 to 10 p.m. on April 12 and 14 at the Winchester Hospital Health Promotion Center in Woburn.

Upon successful completion of the program, participants will receive a one-year certificate from the American Heart Association.

For price information and to register call Winchester Hospital's Education Department at 756-2220.

Household hazards pose threat of poisoning

JENNIFER WHITE
COLUMNIST

The bottle of pain reliever tablets was left sitting on the edge of the sink. It was only for a moment. But when the parent returns, the bottle is laying half empty on the bathroom tile — pills scattered everywhere. Hands in her mouth, a troubled toddler is sitting on the floor. Frantically, the parent wonders how many pills were in the bottle to begin with? How many did the toddler ingest? Could the dosage be harmful? Could it be fatal?

This scenario is all too familiar to poison control centers and hospital emergency departments. According to recent figures from the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, in 1989, 55 children under age 5 died from accidental poisoning with medicines or household chemicals. And nearly one million consumers called poison control centers about actual or "near-miss" poisonings. About two out of every three calls to poison control centers involve children under the age of 6.

Though child-resistant packaging for oral medicines have helped considerably since the requirements went into effect in the early 1970s, it has not eliminated the country's poisoning problem.

Gregory Weisz, M.D., a staff emergency physician at Winchester Hospital says "We see a lot of children under 5- years-old who get into things they shouldn't have. Half of them have swallowed drugs — prescription or non-prescription medications — the other half have ingested household cleaning products, plants, coins or other small objects."

Weisz notes that small children tend to gravitate toward products that look or smell even somewhat edible; for example sweet-smelling shampoos and colognes, colored tablets or milky liquids. Still, children between the ages of 1 and 2 will eat almost anything regardless of how it smells, looks or even tastes.

"The most important thing any parent with small children can do, is to make medicines and household products completely inaccessible," says Weisz. "Parents should also be aware of some of the more hazardous products such as drain and oven cleaners and furniture polish. Dry gas and antifreeze are especially dangerous — even ingesting as little as a teaspoon can be fatal."

Weisz offers some precautions parents can take to poison-proof their home. "Foremost," he emphasizes, "post the phone number of the local poison control center next to all the phones. (That number is 232-2120.) Again, keep all medications out of reach and lock up all dangerous household products — that also goes for products like paint thinners, pesticides and gasoline that can be found in the basement or garage."

Another important tip: keep all medications in their original containers and do not change the containers of household products. Mistaken identity, the result of switching containers, is the cause of many accidental poisonings.

What do you do if your child ingests something? "If the child has symptoms, such as choking, call an ambulance. If symptoms are not apparent, but it's suspected or known that the child has swallowed something potentially harmful, call the poison control center immediately," says Weisz.

Weisz notes that parents should never try to induce vomiting unless instructed to do so by trained medical professionals from either a poison control center or emergency room. (Although keeping a bottle of ipecac — a syrup which induces vomiting — on hand at home is important.)

Though knowing what to do, acting quickly and staying calm are important in a crises situation, the best way to keep little ones safe at home is to reduce the risk of accidental poisoning by heeding these important precautions and poison-proofing your home.

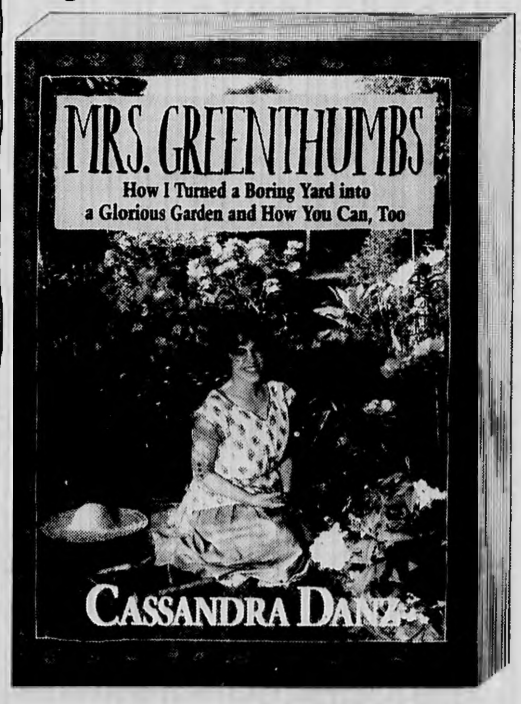
Gardening made easy by the Dr. Ruth of flowers.



To some she is merely Cassandra Danz. But to those in need of advice to the gardenlorn she is MRS. GREENTHUMBS, teacher, lecturer, radio host and font of earthly knowledge.

Transforming your neglected plot into a botanical showpiece is a joy with the witty and engaging gardening first aid Danz offers, based on personal experience you won't find in the fancy reference books. Arranged by month, MRS. GREENTHUMBS covers everything from late winter pruning to growing annuals that aren't marigolds, botany's erotic aspects to avoiding the August doldrums.

Witty, wise, and anecdote-filled, this engaging guide is just like the perfect garden: a place you return to again and again.

Storeygard tops field

country are working to make their common border a free trade area?" (answer: Russia)

Storeygard said he studied for the competition using test questions from the previous years and two quiz books he had on geography.

The contest, sponsored by National Geographic World and Amtrak and moderated by WHDH-TV news anchor R.D. Sahl, drew over 300 people. The participants were students from grades four through eight.

Storeygard will compete along with 57 students in the nationals in Washington on May 25 and 26, which will be moderated by "Jeopardy!" host Alex Trebek. The final rounds will be shown on PBS on May 26. The winner of the nationals will get a $25,000 college scholarship.

Storeygard seemed unfazed about competing in the national championship. "I don't know exactly how I will feel at the nationals, but the whole prospect is exciting," said Storeygard.

For the time in its five years, the winners of the national competition will go to Europe for a worldwide competition this summer.

In addition to a trip to Washington for himself and his teacher James Maconochie, Storeygard also won $100 and an Atlas for placing first on the state level. Storeygard's parents will also be making the trip to Washington. McCall Middle School received $200 worth of geography supplies for having the winning contestant.

Storeygard will also be competing in a national math contest in Washington on April 29, after placing third in a statewide "Math Counts" contest in Amherst on March 20.

Still time for claims

Claims can be submitted through June 1, 1993. They are divided into three categories.

Claim A is for passengers who took one trip during the specified time period. No documentation has to be submitted with their claim. People will receive their prorated share of coupons from a pool that totals $268,984,000.

As of March 26, 3.2 million claims had been filed in this category, according to Aransky. So, as it stands now coupons won't exceed $100. Between 15 to 18 million claims are expected to be filed by the June 1 deadline.

Claim B is for airline passengers who flew five trips or more. An automatic value of $2,500 will be assigned to any Claim B form. Most leisure travel falls in this category, said Aransky.

Documentation is not needed when the claim is filed, but forms are signed under the penalty of perjury. Aransky said about 1 1/2 percent of the total claims in A and B categories will be audited, so people should be prepared to produce documentation if needed. Since travel agents are not required to keep records for more than two years, it is best to check credit card companies and other sources of payment for documentation.

Claim C is for individuals or businesses that did more than $2,500 worth of air travel during the specified time period. As originally proposed, claims in this category required documentation for every trip taken from Jan. 1, 1988, to June 30, 1992, which Aransky said was unreasonable. Under the final settlement a formula has been devised that allows companies to qualify their airline travel by doing a detailed study for any six-month period within the 4 1/2-year period and back it up with documentation from the same period.

The pool of money for claims in this category C will be based on the total dollar amount for all claims in categories B and C, which is expected to be about $35 billion. Aransky estimates that Thomas Cook's clients' claims alone will be in the $3 billion range. But the pool of money for this category totals $127,516,000 — about one third the size of the pool for category A — so each claim will be based on its ratio to total dollar value of all claims in categories B and C.

Airlines involved in the suit are United Airlines, American Airlines, USAir, Northwest Airlines, TWA, Continental, Delta, Pan Am and Midway. Although Pan Am and Midway are no longer in existence, passengers who purchased tickets on those airlines during the designated 4 1/2 year period are eligible to file a claim, according to Aransky.

The suit pertains to domestic airlines. Notification that claims have been received will be given after June 1. Coupons will not be mailed out until June 1994. They will be valid for transportation for three years.

Coupons must be applied toward round-trip tickets and can be used for airline tickets purchased either through a travel agent or airline. For every $250 incremental cost of a ticket, $25 worth of coupons can be applied.

"The average discount will range between 10 percent going down to 5 percent, depending on the value of the ticket," Aransky said. He added, "No one has to worry about redeeming coupons because they have become a marketing ploy. Even airlines that weren't involved in the lawsuit have asked to be allowed to accept the coupons," he said. "And the judge has said yes."

People who wish to file a claim may call 1-800-854-7264 or, if phone lines are busy, write to Airlines Antitrust Litigation, P.O. Box 209, Philadelphia, Penn. 19107.

5th grade level.

Also, there are many people in Winchester f . whom English is a second language, who use the program.

Over the past 15 years, Massachusetts has become home to more than 300,000 immigrants, refugees, and newcomers for whom English is not a native language.

The Winchester chapter will also be a central drawing area for people from surrounding communities.

The recruiting, which take place Tuesdays and Saturdays in April from 9:30 a.m. – 12:00 at the library, is for both teachers and students. Those who wish to teach are certified by taking classes.

Tutors are required to take approximately 12-15 hours of training from the Literacy Council's monthly workshops in order to be certified. They will also be provided with on-going training and support. Once a pair is matched up, they usually meet once a week. The teacher and student decide on a location to work, but much of the tutoring will take place at the library.

Sayre said that on the first day of the recruiting, she signed up people who were interested in being tutors as well as several students.

Last year the council trained 276 students who tutored 418 students.

Anyone interested can stop by at the times noted above or call the reference desk at 721-7171.

School choice questioned

"We would determine the number of seats available, but if the commissioner felt it was an inaccurate number, he could dictate what the number is," said Fitzgerald. "That could have significant implications."

Fitzgerald said the possibility exists that the state could force the system to take up to the maximum teacher-pupil limit stated in the teachers contract, which is a 25:1 ratio. The pupil-teacher ratio across the system is 19:1.

At the high school, the state might even ask Winchester to fill the available physical space with classes, which would mean hiring additional teachers. Fitzgerald said he doesn't think the state would force the high school to reach its maximum student capacity of 1,400 students, but it may make it take in the average over the last five years, which is 1,000. Currently 800 students attend the high school.

The only thing that is certain is that Winchester would draw considerable interest from other communities if school choice became mandatory, said Fitzgerald. Although there is no school choice now, Fitzgerald said his office receives a lot of calls about it.

Fitzgerald said that because of public transportation access, the Winchester school system could be attractive to students looking to flee the substandard city schools.

Fitzgerald said he would not expect a mass exodus from the Winchester system if the plan were implemented, so he is not overly concerned about what is causing problems with other school systems, the direct loss of state aid.

Currently Winchester has $4,800 taken from its Cherry Sheet under the school choice program for a student who attends school in Ipswich.

Under the education bill passed by the House, the school choice plan would be studied by a commission, but in the Senate bill, school choice would be mandatory statewide. The two bills are now before a six-member conference committee to iron out a new compromise bill.

Currently, school choice is voluntary in Massachusetts, with 50 schools participating. Winchester does not have school choice.

Educational experts are uncertain about the exact implications the plan would have, leading to opposing opinions on whether the plan would be the scourge or the savior of the public school system.

The school choice has become such a heated issue that some top lawmakers have said an inability to come to a compromise on the issue may doom the entire education reform bill.

operating budget for the town.

Board of Health

Dorothea Sopper, in the third year of her term, was elected to head the Board of Health. Sopper takes over the spot from Randall Swartz, Phd., who was just re-elected to the board. The third member of the board is C. Donald Chipman, M.D.

During his tenure as chairman, Swartz dominated the agenda at Fall Town Meeting, addressing what he said was a major threat to public health at the South Reservoir due to inadequate chlorine contact for disinfection. Subsequently several valves were closed and contact time was increased.

Also as a result of his warrant article, a 10-member committee was formed, of which he is a member, to study the town's water supply, and, in particular, the proposed filtration plant.

The Board of Health faces a serious threat this year as a statewide rabies epidemic recently reached the town. This board will have to keep pace with the area's burgeoning population of raccoons and continue to immunize domestic animals through clinics to minimize the threat to residents.

Winchester Public Library

At the organizational meeting of the Library Board of Trustees held on April 1, A. Deborah Pavelle was elected as chairman. Other members of the board are: Anne Nevins, vice chairman; Ellen Browning; Lane McGovern and Ernest Phillips, Jr.

The library squares off on its biggest challenge with the upcoming article to fund a major renovation of the library coming up at Spring Town Meeting. Estimates for the renovation hover around $2 million.

Cambridgeport Bank	5% APR Prime minus 1%	7% APR
BayBank	6% APR	7.5% APR
Shawmut	6% APR	7.5% APR
Fleet	5.99% APR	7.5% APR

Competitive rate survey effective 3/1/93.

The Cambridgeport Home Equity Line is Prime minus 1%.

No other bank in town can beat the rate on our Home Equity Line of Credit. We're offering Prime minus 1% (currently 5% APR) for the first twelve months of your loan when you apply by May 28, 1993. It doesn't matter months, our regular low rate of when you close. After twelve Prime plus 1% (currently 7% APR) goes into effect. So, you still save. That's a claim other banks only wish they could make.

No Annual Fees

What's more, if you transfer a balance of $25,000 or more, you won't have to pay legal fees. Use your line to pay school tuition, consolidate debts, or improve your home. You can convert all or part of your line to a fixed rate at any time, which will be very important if interest rates begin to rise.

So, don't settle for Prime. Call 617-354-1791 or visit the nearest Cambridgeport Bank to apply today.

ARTS UMBRELLA

Kidstock presents workshop performances

Kidstock Youth Theater, directed by Brian Milauskas, recently presented several open-house performances highlighting the work of their students over the winter session. Kidstock offers students a non-audition creative theater experience in a limited class size to guarantee a quality hands-on education. All of the design elements, such as scenery and costumes, are created by the students. The script and songs are written by the group through exercises in improvisational acting and creative problem solving.

"Whodidit?," an original murder mystery was created and performed by Carrie Tully (tour guide), Michael Marotta (M. Phillippe), Laura Vitale (detective), Eric Doob (assistant detective), Emily Fiumara (Gertrude), Ashley Boylan (Nicole), Teddy Lamson (reporter), Aga Siemiginowska (Erica), Nicolle Pirello (curator), Luke McCaul (tourist father), Valery Scharf (tourist mother), Kim Wright (tourist child), Marinna Fador (cafe manager), Ted Wallenstein (Chef Sven), Collin King (Mike Sky) and Alaina Gianci (Melissa Smith).

"Handsome Bill and Beastella," a gender-reversed version of "Beauty and the Beast," was created and performed by Kevin Anglin (Handsome Bill), Matt Massery (Bookson and Wizard), Elisa Donnely (Gastovia), Sarah Ladd (Lafolia), Katie Molloy (Lucia), Amanda Kraemer (mother), Emma Roszko (Beastella), Kate Cosgrove (Mrs. Pan), Jessica Davis (Sally Salt), Nick Iuliano (Peter Pepper), Mike Shields (Art), Rachel Malikow (Viola), Jillian Christopher (Suds), Caitlin Welliver (Rosa), Megan Leary (Daysy), and Michelle Cassino (Mirror).

"The Enchanted Journey to Fairy Forest" was created and performed by Nicole Morrison (Meg), Emily Leathers (Pal), Alice Neels (Elaine), Jessica Hodge (Spooky), Kristin McHugh (Princess), Brendan Butler (Goalie), Alexis Cervasio (Isabelle), Jackie Nolan (Magic), Isabelle Chester (Violet), Jackie Reissman (Snowflake), Rebecca Scott (Felicity), Brittany Vitello (Morgan), Caroline Doctor (Spotty), Danny Berman (Gannon), Michael O'Brien (Zilla) and James Tully (Spike).

"We go Together," a musical revue, was performed by the ensemble of Kelly Barnes, Jennifer Brooks, Meryl Christopher, Brigid Ducey, Emily Gerrein, Liz Houghton, Lauren Huston, Tara McNeely, Diane Soboski, Meredith Tully and Yoni Zmiri.

"Rumpel and Stiltskin: Double Trouble!" was created and performed by Krystle Cassino (Rumpel), Joe Gerrein (Stiltskin), Josh Turkewitz (King Bing), Virginia Wise (Queen Extraordinaire), Jordan Serpone (Prince Fantastic), Caitlin O'Brien (Bad), Kristen Olsson (Luck), Lydia McCarthy (Ursula), Morgan Ebeling (Cruella), Amanda Kelleher (Drucilla), Katy Weisman (Cindy) and Jennifer Orlin (Sparkles). The Theater Arts Class of Erin Reissman, Paul Welliver, Dan Hayes, Elizabeth Bolles, Robbie Grenzeback and Caitlin Petrucci produced the costumes, scenery and props for the performance.

Also, the Kindergarten Creative Arts Class made masks, clay sculptures, puppets and a movie during this session. Participating were Jared Turkewitz, Rebecca Turkewitz, Karel Olsson, Kate Alper, Rebecca Carter, Shelley Zmiri and Elyse Clifford.

Kidstock Youth Theater is now registering on a first-come basis for its spring workshops which start April 12. A summer schedule of activities, performances and workshops for grades 1 through 12 is also available and tuition fees are reduced by 10 percent if students register by April 30. Summer Workshops run every two weeks starting June 28. For information or to register call Brian at Kidstock at 617-729-5-KID.

Artist and Realtor exhibits watercolors

Winchester Cambridgeport Bank presents paintings by Betty Vallee, for the month of April. After a busy career in theatre and real estate, Vallee resumed her art work in 1980.

She is still active in the performing arts, making the occasional television commercial. A realtor for 30 years, Vallee is now associated with Hunneman Coldwell Banker Real Estate Company in Winchester.

Statement of the trustees of Winchester Community Music School

Winchester Community Music School, a nonprofit organization now in its 12th year, has 300 students and plays a significant role in the musical life of Winchester — particularly with respect to many of its school-age citizens. One of the goals of WCMS is to support the public school music program. There have always been valid, strong reasons for such a program. Recently, however, there has been a dramatic expansion of the importance of music education, as scientific research has suggested a strong link between music education and academic learning and performance. In this connection, the trustees of WCMS offer this statement in support of the public school music program.

People who have studied music (or whose children have) have been able to observe and appreciate many benefits, such as:

•developing responsibility and self-discipline through consistent practice

•developing self-esteem and self-confidence by discovering one's own potential to create and perform music

•in ensembles, developing a sense of noncompetitive team success

•developing brain/muscle coordination

•developing creativity

•experiencing the joy of a particularly rewarding kind of self-expression

•enhancing memory and retention.

These remarkable elements of personal growth resulting from music study are easily observable. There are three other benefits of major value:

•Music education promotes appreciation of an art which has played a major role in every culture since antiquity.

•Music education in early years has enabled many people to develop skills which bring lifelong satisfaction and enjoyment.

•In our constantly shrinking world, in which an understanding of other cultures, nationalities and races is essential, music provides a powerful tool for achieving that understanding.

All these are accepted by many as important reasons to encourage music education. Unfortunately, there are still many who hold the view that music education is only an enrichment for the talented few — a frill in public education, and therefore not essential.

We believe there is evidence that arts education is central to the learning process. There has long been underway a shift from the singular focus on education as knowledge, or the accumulation of information, to a broader definition of education as learning how to learn, or how to apply knowledge, as well as acquiring it.

The world students are entering will require ability to pursue long-term objectives, the ability to draw together different points of view and to develop one's own viewpoint, and the ability to deal constructively with ambiguity and complexity. Learning how to learn — that is, how to organize and apply information in thoughtful ways, having a vision in mind of the finished work — is the central domain of the arts. What transfers from the arts to academics is the heart of the learning process itself.

The linkage between arts education and enhanced performance in traditional academic subjects is beginning to be supported by science; research shows that both hemispheres of the brain are actively and separately involved in the task of reading music. The discovery that music activates its own neural network distinct from verbal language has broad implications for the way the mind works and for strategies to enhance mental performance and creativity.

Some leading cognitive psychologists believe that the linkage is due in part to the fact that music is a separate aspect of intelligence which develops not only learning skills but also expressive skills which enhance a student's ability to improve performance in traditional subjects. On a more demonstrable level, there are increasing numbers of schools in the country, both public and private, which have adopted arts education as part of the core curriculum, devoting as much as 30 percent of their instructional effort to the arts, with impressive results throughout the curriculum.

To the many reasons thoughtful people have long valued music education can now be added the increasingly compelling case that music education can help students learn more effectively in other fields, moving the public school music program from an importance resting mainly on personal development and cultural factors to an importance which is central educationally.

Easter is a lovely reason to see what's blooming
this week at Mahoney's.

"For many families, Mahoney's is an Easter tradition."

Like Easter, a trip to Mahoney's signals the start of spring. Come in and let Mahoney's outfit you for Easter — with traditional Easter lilies, hydrangea, potted spring bulbs and a beautiful array of fresh, long-lasting cut flowers.

We'll also outfit you for the entire gardening season ahead — with New England's largest selection of top-quality trees, shrubs, plants and lawn-care items.

And if you have any questions about your lawn, trees, shrubs, house plants, whatever — all you have to do is ask. With thirty-three years in the garden center business, we've got a lot of experience to share.

So visit Mahoney's Garden Centers this Easter and take a little springtime home with you!"

— Susan Mahoney-Cosmo

Easter Lilies and More!

If you're impatient for spring, you'll love walking through New England's largest, healthiest selection of traditional Easter lilies and potted spring bulbs. You'll also love our hydrangea, tulips and daffodils. They have more blooms per plant and are longer-lasting than any supermarket plant, too.

Mahoney's Florist

Visit Mahoney's florist shop before you visit friends and family. Select your favorite cut flowers and Mahoney's will hand-tie them. With festive ribbon, too. Many of our cut flowers are imported direct from Holland, and all are exceptionally fresh and long-lasting. If you're looking for something extra-special, just ask. We'd love to arrange something just for you.

Forsythia Special 4 – 5 Ft. only $11.50

Tennis still class of Middlesex

Girls blend youth, experience

By Jim McKenzie
SPORTS WRITER

It isn't often that a tennis team can survive the loss of its top two singles players and its best doubles team to graduation and still manage to be one of the favorites to win the league. But that's the case for the Winchester High girls team this year, as the Sachemettes will be aiming for their 15th Middlesex League championship in 16 years.

The perennial league powers finished 13-0 in the regular season last year, but lost in the first round to a powerful Brookline squad. The team then lost No. 1 player Carrie Tozza, No. 2 Leanne Intravaia and the first doubles team of Shauna Colozzi and Heather Hughes to the college ranks.

But several key players return from that squad, and an influx of outstanding young talent has coach Mary Whelan looking for her fourth ML championship in her five seasons at the helm.

"There's a few freshman and sophomores on this team who are going to get better and better as the year rolls along," said Whelan, who has compiled a sparkling 48-3 record as coach. "I feel that looking at the other teams and who they lost and how our junior varsity did last year, we should be in very good shape again."

This year's team is led by co-captains Catherine Doherty and Cheri Frost, two seniors who have spent the offseason working together and with other players at improving their games.

Doherty, the No. 3 player as a junior, moves up to the top slot this season. A very versatile athlete, Doherty's biggest improvement has been in her serve.

Junior Kelley Smith and freshman Kim Bergin are locked in a battle for the second and third spots. Smith is making the transition from the No. 2 doubles position she held last season with Natalie Ciulla. According to Whelan, Smith doesn't take very well to losing.

> "I feel very confident that we can win the league again. We may not be winning as many 4-1 and 5-0 matches; we'll probably see a lot more 3-2 nailbiters."
> Mary Whelan
> WHS girls tennis coach

"She's an aggressive player who's extremely mentally tough," Whelan said of Smith. Never was this more evident than in last year's Winchester-Wakefield matchup, when Smith and Ciulla battled back from a 5-2, third-set deficit to win 7-5 and secure the match for Winchester.

In Bergin, Winchester may have found its star of the future. Just a freshman, Bergin has shown a surprising amount of technique and

Pitching key for WHS softball

Six returning players give Sachemettes hope for improvement

By Jim McKenzie
SPORTS WRITER

Improvement. That word best represents the hopes of Winchester High softball coach Linda Silvestri.

Last season's club finished 1-17. The biggest problem, according to Silvestri, was a lack of pitching. This year's Sachemette squad promises to be stronger on the mound, stronger in the field, and potentially stronger at the plate.

Six players return to the Winchester lineup, led by the senior quartet of Rose McCaul, Andrea DeStefano, Diane Aufiero and Jenn Russo. Junior Erica Quigley and sophomore Julie Russo (no relation to Jenn) add strength to the lineup.

Winchester is faced with the same problem the other Middlesex League teams have. With the late-season snow covering the fields, the team wasn't able to get outside until early this week. With limited space and time in the gym, Silvestri has had a tough time evaluating players.

A few positions are set, however. Julie Russo, who started at shortstop and was the team's leadoff hitter and top run-scorer as a freshman, will top the lineup again. An excellent athlete with speed, a strong arm and a good glove, Russo should be a solid anchor in the middle of the infield.

Russo's double-play partner will be DeStefano, who makes the switch from behind the plate to second base. DeStefano was the team's leading hitter — in terms of both average and power — last season. The cleanup hitter figures to be an even stronger hitter this year, based on the hours of batting practice she put in over the winter.

> "Pitching has been our flaw in the past, but it could be our hope this year."
> Linda Silvestri
> WHS softball coach

Jenn Russo, formerly the starting center fielder, will be the new third baseman and a potential No. 3 hitter. With Quigley at first, Winchester will have an experienced infield. Last season, the Sachemettes made several errors due to a combination of inexperience of the infielders and poor pitching.

"I see the infield being very strong," said Silvestri. "Hopefully with more consistent pitching, the infield will be more mentally alert. Last season there were a lot of times when the infielders sort of lost their focus because our pitchers had trouble getting the ball over the plate. Some of the errors were from not being prepared."

Aufiero will play left field and bat second. As the lone experienced outfielder, Aufiero will be counted on to steady a couple of newcomers. Sophomore Mary Keefe looks like a legitimate varsity player and a center field candidate.

"Everything the other coaches (junior varsity coach Jan Keefe and freshman coach Michele Cahill) say about her is terrific," said Silvestri. "It sounds like she could be a very exciting player for us. She's extremely fast. I just need to get the team on the field to make better judgements."

Junior Teresa Cella will be the new catcher, taking over for DeStefano. Junior Esme Baker returns after taking a year off to rest an injured back. She will battle along with classmate Katie Gillian for time at first base. Erin Rogers and Kathryn Hamilton are backup infielders, while Anna Betcher and Zareen Poonen will see time in the outfield.

The pitching, long a problem for Winchester, appears to be getting stronger. The Winchester Youth Softball program has been sending players to the high school teams for the past few years, and with the arrival of freshmen Bonnie Benson and Kristen McKinley, Silvestri has the beginnings of a strong staff.

McKinley and Benson will each be issued three uniforms. They will play on all three teams (varsity, junior varsity and freshman) at different times, depending on the schedule. Sophomore Jeannine Allen will see her share of time on the hill, but the bulk of the work will fall on the shoulders of McCaul.

Top athletes lead boys track squad

Kayulu chasing school decathlon mark

By Jim McKenzie
SPORTS WRITER

If versatility wins track meets, then the 1993 Winchester High boys outdoor track team should stand a good chance of winning quite a few meets.

The Sachems return a dozen athletes capable of competing in at least three events. Although the team has lost several fine athletes to the lacrosse and baseball teams, it has picked up other all-around participants from the soccer, football and basketball clubs.

"We definitely have a solid group of all-around athletes," said Winchester coach Tom Kline. "We should be competitive in just about every event. I know I've got runners, I just don't know who I'll put where."

The Sachem tri-captains are seniors Henry Kayulu, Ray Regan and Brian Lindmark. Kline, who has coached at WHS for 27 years, said he thinks this year's group is one of the best he's ever known.

"It's no disrespect to other captains we've had," said Kline, "but these captains really motivate the other guys and work extremely hard."

Kayulu is one of the finest all-around tracksters in recent years. Last season, he came very close to breaking the school's record in the decathlon, which was set by Jim McGeehan in 1991 when McGeehan finished first, John Szczepanski second and David Kean sixth in the Division 2 state meet. During the regular season, Kayulu will compete in the 300-meter low hurdles, the 800, the triple jump and possibly the 100 high hurdles and 4x400 relay.

Lindmark can compete in the 100, 200, 400, long jump, pole vault and 4x400 relay. Regan, a distance specialist, should be one of the Middlesex League's top mile and 2-mile threats.

Kline said he feels the Sachems are strong in the middle and short distance events, but not as deep at the distance events. But as usual, the team is loaded with quality athletes.

Among the seniors who should pile up the points are Carter Browning, Justin Simeone, Jeff Tahnk and Matt Tavares. Some of the best juniors include Alain Toussaint, Ben Simeone, Rolando Oyola, Darin Byrne and Andrew Ratner. Sophomores like Ron Hall, Mike Marino and Mike Wallwork will add depth to the team.

Depth is always important in the relay events, and Winchester has the ability to place six top-notch runners in each relay.

Winchester has faced the same problems as the rest of the league's teams in finding practice time and space. Even though the weather finally broke this week, the Sachems' practice field is essentially a mud pit. It has been nearly impossible for the team to practice events such as the pole vault, high jump and triple jump.

Kline, however, said he thinks the team has handled the situation

Lacrosse team takes aim at North crown

Sachems attempt to regain winning form

By Jim McKenzie
SPORTS WRITER

To most observers, an 8-8 season wouldn't seem too bad. But when the Winchester High School lacrosse team compiled that mark last year, on the heels of consecutive 15-4 campaigns, lacrosse aficionados took note.

What had happened in Winchester? What had happened to the team which had advanced to the EMass semifinals two straight seasons? Weren't the Sachems annually one of the strongest teams in Eastern Mass.?

According to fourth-year Winchester coach John Pirani, however, there was no need to worry. An 8-8 season was the product of a few things: bad luck, a little less skill than usual and a killer schedule.

Pirani said lacrosse officials told him at the conclusion of last season that if tournament rankings had been determined by a computer which figured in strength of schedule along with wins and losses, Winchester would have been seeded 11th in EMass.

"Last year was disappointing in a lot of ways," said Pirani. "It was disappointing in that we went 8-8 after consecutive 15-4 seasons, but it was encouraging in that we got a lot of young kids a lot of time. I think they learned a lot and I know I learned a lot. It really forced me to coach."

This year's team will be led by tri-captains Brian Bernazzani, Paul Albiani and Mike Szczepanski. All are seniors, with Bernazzani leading the attack, Albiani in charge of the defense and Szczepanski controlling the midfield.

Winchester appears to be strong throughout its lineup, but particularly in the midfield, where Pirani has long concentrated on building his team's strength. Senior Mike Collins, a second team North League all-star last year, is a returning long-stick (defensive oriented) middie, while seniors Jon Arsenault, John Rauseo and Bob Donlon also return in the midfield.

Mite AA skaters win league crown

Winchester finishes with 43-1-0 mark

The Winchester Youth Hockey Mite AA's took a lesson from their older brothers, the Bantam AA's, and won the Middlesex Youth Hockey League. Their record of 43-1-0 was the best record that a Winchester Youth Hockey team has posted in over 15 years.

The Mites, who compiled a 21-0-0 league record, are also the first youth hockey team to win a league title in over 10 years. The team scored a phenomenal 160 goals, nearly eight per game. Along the way the Mites won the Arlington Christmas Tourney, the Belmont Christmas Classic and the Quincy Kiwanis International Tourney.

Led by the high-scoring line of Rugo Santini, Andrew Clavette and Kent Harrington, the Mites were very rarely threatened. The line of speedy David Notartomaso centering Michael Russo and Tim Armstrong scored many important goals while always working hard on defense.

Hustling Charlie McLeman centered wings Brad Harvey and John Lynch. These three often had the difficult job of keeping the other team's top line in check.

The defense was led by three-year veteran Danny Spang with rookie Adam Delaney-Winn and two-year starters Bobby Norberg and Anthony Martignetti. This group of young men took pride in team defense, allowing just 30 goals in league competition.

As the old saying goes "Behind every great team is a great goalie." In Winchester's case it was Billy Notartomaso, who came through time and again with great saves. Notartomaso yielded an average of only 1.43 goals per game.

Coaches Paul Notartomaso, Ron Martignetti and Skip Clavette did a tremendous job of molding these boys into the best in the Middlesex League and quite possibly the best in the state.

son as a junior. She was the losing pitcher in most of the Winchester games, as she was forced to throw complete games despite the score, due to the lack of depth on the staff. Her reward, however, was that she got the opportunity to pitch consistently. A strong summer season last year and a lot of off-season work for McCaul has Silvestri hoping her ace will demonstrate a dramatic difference this year.

"She's improved 100 percent since last season," said Silvestri. "Pitching has been our flaw in the past, but it could be our hope this year."

Although Winchester had trouble finding wins last season, with its lone victory being a 15-14 triumph over Watertown, the Sachemettes did score a lot of runs. The team lost 12-11 to Watertown, 14-10 (twice) to Burlington and 15-12 to Belmont.

Winchester will attempt to build off a tremendous showing in the last game of the 1992 season. After losing 18-4 in the first go-round with rival Woburn, Winchester dropped a 5-4 extra-inning affair to close the season.

"The girls came out very strong and I think they proved to themselves that they are capable of playing with very good teams like Woburn and Lexington," said Silvestri. "Most of the girls are back this year. With a little more consistency, we could go .500."

from the attack position along with Bernazzani, while on defense, the Sachems return "a very impressive group" led by juniors Mark Andriesse, Gary Pedulla, Brian Johnson and Joe Vaccari.

If there's a question mark in the Sachem lineup, it's in goal. Winchester has no incumbent, so Pirani decided to convert one of his better attack players into a goalie. Although he's never played lacrosse goalie, this player is no stranger to life between the pipes. According to Pirani, the new netminder brings a great sense of angles and outstanding vision and athletic ability to the position.

His name is Andrew Brown, whom Sachem fans will remember as a Middlesex League all-star goalie for the Sachem hockey team in the winter.

"Andrew has all the qualities to make an excellent lacrosse goalie," said Pirani. "The biggest thing he has to learn is to be more verbal, but with such a strong group of defensemen, we'll be OK in the early going until he adapts."

The Sachems received a big boost with the return of Szczepanski, who suffered a bisected patella in his left knee during a WHS football game in Watertown in the fall. Many doubted whether Szczepanski would be ready for the lacrosse season, but those who know him aren't at all surprised.

"He plays with a slight limp and a slight lack of his usual quickness, and I know he plays in pain every day," said Pirani. "I can't imagine a guy who has ever had more of my admiration."

Prior to this week, the team had been practicing almost exclusively indoors due to the soggy field conditions caused by the late-season winter storms. Winchester was supposed to have played seven times in either non-league games or scrimmages before its scheduled league opener with Lexington on April 7, which was also postponed.

Pirani said the biggest problem the team must overcome early in the season will be in perfecting its transition game. The offensive and defensive players have been able to fine tune their individual skills in the gym, but the confined space has made running the transition game impossible.

As in the past, Winchester faces a vicious schedule, with state powers such as Weymouth, Newton North, Beverly, Peabody, Ipswich and Hingham all on the agenda. In the North League, Winchester's biggest challenge should come from Lexington and Billerica.

"We feel we have a lot of kids who are excellent athletes and are a little bit older, and it should separate us from (Lexington)," said Pirani. "As for Billerica, they're fielding a senior group. They're going to have a lot of good athletes up there. So in the North League, I think it's pretty much going to come down to Billerica and us."

Pirani says Newton North, Weymouth, Lincoln-Sudbury and Concord-Carlisle figure to be the best the rest of Eastern Mass. has to show, while several other clubs will knock on the door.

"I believe we're going to be a good lacrosse team," said Pirani. "But I don't believe we're going to be a good lacrosse team because we've won a lot of games against bad lacrosse teams. We're going to be a good lacrosse team because we've won a lot of games against good lacrosse teams."

Pirani continued, "We're going to win and we're going to lose along the way, but let's see where we are in June."

skill which should make her a strong varsity player.

"Kim has all the shots, all the finesse and all the technique of a well-seasoned player," said Whelan. "She's really a very good player."

At doubles, Ciulla will move up to the top team along with another freshman, Megan Hurley. This will be one of the youngest doubles team in the league, as Ciulla is still only a sophomore. These two need to get outside on the courts in order to work together as a team. Tuesday marked the Sachemettes' first outdoor practice of the season.

The second doubles team has not yet been decided, although junior Jessica Livada figures to make up half of the duo. Sophomores Stephanie Powers and Katie Hood will each get a chance to be Livada's partner. Senior Jennifer Deering has the experience to fill the position as well.

Over 40 girls came out for the varsity and junior varsity teams, and after initial cuts, 23 players remained in camp as of this week. Although it will be difficult for Whelan to slice the team down to the seven players who will start on varsity in the season opener, she says it's a good problem to have.

"It's incredible how many quality players we end up cutting each year," said Whelan. "But that's one of the reasons we've been so successful."

If the Packer Courts are ready in time, Winchester will open its season on April 14 against Reading, one of the contenders for the league title. Whelan said the team will be ready.

"I feel very confident that we can win the league again," said Whelan. "We may not be winning as many 4-1 and 5-0 matches; we'll probably see a lot more 3-2 nailbiters."

well. He said his athletes are not just competing to stay in shape for another sport.

Said Kline, "Every one of these guys has been running and practicing hard, regardless off the track and field conditions. I've always figured that if you're going to go and run, you might as well run to win."

The team's first meet, scheduled for Tuesday, April 13, against Burlington, has been postponed. Instead, the Sachems get to make their debut in Reading on April 20 against the Rockets, who are expected to field yet another juggernaut.

RECREATION NEWS

General news from the Recreation Dept.

How to register for programs/events

There are four ways to register for classes or events sponsored by the Winchester Recreation Department. Registration can be taken over the phone using Visa or MasterCard 24 hours a day by calling the registration line at 721-7126.

Interested people can also send a check made payable to the "Town of Winchester" to Winchester Recreation, 154 Horn Pond Brook Road. Include the participant's name, address, phone, date of birth, course number and name of course with the check.

The Recreation Department's fax line is 721-7129. Those registering may fax a registration using Visa/MasterCard and including the information requested above.

The Recreation Department office is located at Room 28 in the ground level of the Lynch School. For those who wish to register in person, office hours are Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Call 721-7125 for more information regarding registration procedures.

The Recreation Department welcomes comments and suggestions regarding current, past and possible future programming.

Fall 1993 program is in the works

The Recreation Department is in the process of planning activities and events for fall 1993. Those who have a particular expertise they would like to share with other people may call the department. Classes can range from one to 10 sessions and occur at night or during the day.

Contact the department before June 1 to discuss possible fall classes. Call the Recreation Department at 721-7125 to get involved. For all adult classes, ask for Mary Johnson. For all children's classes, ask for Jack Monteith

Financial aid forms for camperships

Financial aid forms are now available for camperships to the Recreation Department Day Camps. They may be obtained at the Recreation Office. All requests must be received in the Recreation Office by Friday, April 16. Call 721-7125 for further information.

Spring programs: for elementary students

T-ball

Instructor Kelley Collins will teach 6-year-olds the beginning skills of baseball in the Recreation Department's T-ball program. The class will include warm-ups and drills in batting, catching, throwing and running bases. Games will be used to enhance skill development. During each session, the emphasis will be on fun. Participants will receive a baseball shirt and hat but must supply their own glove.

There are two meeting times for this course; course number 923-ES-05A from 4 to 5 p.m., or course number 923-ES-05B from 5 to 6 p.m. Each class meets for six sessions at Leonard Field beginning Wednesday, April 28. Fee is $34.

Kindergarten lunch club

Instructor Annette Kennedy will lead a group of kindergartners in a two-hour lunch time session of crafts, drama and music, and science. Students must bring a brown-bag lunch.

This course meets for four weeks beginning May 12. Classes will be held on Wednesdays from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. in the Recreation preschool room at Winchester High School. The course number for this program is 932-ES-02A

Fabric wreath

In this one-session class, held by instructor Linda Casino, children will make their own fabric wreath. By taking cut fabric swatches and inserting them into a straw wreath, they will create a wreath to give as a present or keep for themselves.

Course fee is $9 and an additional $6 materials fee, which is payable to the instructor. The class is for children in grades 1 and 2 and will be held at Ambrose School on Wednesday, April 14, from 3 to 4:30 p.m. The number for this course is 932-ES-06A.

Author, author

This special April vacation program for students in grades 3 through 5 will have participants creating their own book from start to finish. Children will write stories with the help of instructor Christine Ulacco. The outside of the book will be covered with a cloth cover. The inside will include the story typed and illustrated by the child with an "about the author" page with the child's picture.

The class will be held Tuesday, April 20, through Friday, April 23, from 10 a.m. to noon at the Lynch School. Course fee is $28 with a $3 materials fee to be paid to the instructor at the first class. The number for this course is 932-ES-18A.

Make a wooden stepping stool

Students in grades 3 through 5 will sand, decorate and personalize stepping/sitting stools that they can keep or give as gifts.

The class will be held by Linda Cassino at Ambrose School on Wednesday, May 19, from 3 to 5 p.m. Course fee is $10 with a materials fee of $11, payable to the instructor. The number for this course is 932-ES-07A.

Edible science

With the guidance of instructor Christine Ulacco, students in grades 4 and 5 will learn about science experiments they can do with ordinary items found in the kitchen. Participants will experiment with food to find out about nature and learn how to prepare food at the same time. Some experiments that will be performed will include making rock candy to show the formation of crystals and a striped celery snack to show how water moves up a stem. All experiments are designed to show change.

The class will start on Wednesday, April 28, from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. in the Home Ec. Room at Winchester High School and will run for four weeks Course fee is $18 with a $5 materials fee to be paid to the instructor at the first class. The number for this course is 932-ES-17A.

Programs for adults

New York 'eggstravaganza' day trip

Back by popular demand is a one-day New York trip. Participants will have the option to purchase tickets to the Radio City Music Hall's Easter Extravaganza, visit a museum, shop, or get their own tickets to a different theater performance.

Participants will leave Winchester at 6 a.m., Tuesday, April 13, and be in New York by 11 a.m. Individuals may then select a lunch spot, do some shopping and those who have purchased the ticket will attend the show at 2:30 p.m. Others can continue to enjoy the city. The Recreation Department has reserved 25 tickets for the performance. The group will stop for dinner on the way home and arrive back in Winchester at approximately 10:30 p.m. As the winter trip was sold out, those interested are asked to register early to avoid disappointment.

Call the Recreation Department at 721-7125 for more information. The fee for the trip with a ticket to Radio City Music Hall, course number 932-SA-01A, is $64; without ticket, course number 932-SA-01B, is $34.

Montreal spectacular weekend

The Recreation Department is sponsoring a trip to Montreal, Canada, for three days and two nights of accommodations at the Queen Elizabeth Hotel. The trip includes a dinner in Montreal, a city tour, round-trip motorcoach transportation and a trip escort. The group will depart Winchester at 7 a.m. on Friday, May 21, and return Sunday, May 23, around 7 p.m.

The fee for the trip, course number 932-SA-02A, is $164, double occupancy.

News from the Youth Center

CAITS invade youth center

A Center Aid in Training (CAIT) is an eighth grade student attending the Discover Youth Group who wants to do more community service and would like to be a center aid. Active participation in service experiences can increase understanding and recognition of the needs of others in the community.

The CAITs lead volunteer service projects (the hospital walk-a-thon, the ABC bottle drive), work in the center, which has become increasingly crowded, and promote the center through their actions. The first group of CAITs includes: Rickey Bevington, Luke Corby, Joey Jabre, Anne Marotta, Shirley Mills, John Murphy and Meg Sobkowicz.

Call Ashley Rooney, youth center coordinator, at 721-0840 for more information on the CAIT program.

Traveling on a budget

In this one-session class, instructor Arnold Clickstein will show how to travel inexpensively and safely. Topics covered include: planning the trip, shopping for bargain air fares, traveling inexpensively within Europe, staying safe and healthy while traveling, selecting what to bring, packing and using hostels and other budget accommodations.

The course fee is $14, with a materials fee of $26 per individual or $36 per family or $16 per senior citizen, payable to the instructor. It includes cost of printed materials, a copy of "Hostelling North America," a membership card and related materials and six issues of a travel newsletter. The class will meet at Winchester High School two times: course number 932-PD-07A, Thursday, April 15, from 7:30 to 9 p.m.; course number 932-PD-07B, Wednesday, May 5, 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Meals in minutes

Instructor Mary Franklin will show students nutritious alternative to "fast foods" in this course offered to people with difficult work and home schedules. This "hands on" cooking class concentrates on quickly prepared entrees, vegetables and desserts. Participants will need a minimum amount of food preparation experience. Menus are planned emphasizing texture, eye appeal and nutrition.

The course fee is $42, with a $35 food fee payable to the instructor at the first class. The class will meet for four sessions beginning Tuesday, April 27, from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m., at Winchester High School. The course number is 932-HG-02A.

COMING EVENTS

WHAT'S GOING ON IN YOUR AREA IN THE COMING WEEKS

Host families needed for German students:

Host families are needed for 35 German students who will be visiting Massachusetts, for the first time, in July 1993. The students are sponsored by International Education Forum, a nonprofit organization based in the United States. The students are between the ages of 14 and 18 and will take part in a homestay immersion program, staying with a host family for four to five weeks. The students are visiting Massachusetts in order to participate in American family life and to improve their English language skills.

If you are interested in hosting a German student, call Carol Henderson at 729-1971 as soon as possible.

Alzheimer's support group at church

An Alzheimer's peer support group will meet the second and fourth Tuesday of every month at St. Eulalia's Church beginning Feb. 9. The meeting provides peer support to families, friends, and caregivers. The April 13 meeting will be held in the church's conference room at 50 Ridge Street on "Caring for the Caregivers" with a discussion to follow. For further information call Roberta at 983-6844 or Valerie at (508) 897-7455.

Casey to hold office hours for constituents

Rep. Paul Casey (D-Winchester) will be holding office hours at Winchester Town Hall on the first and third Fridays of each month from 9 — 11 a.m.

Aids Action seeks volunteers for Buddy Program

The Buddy Program of the AIDS Action Committee is looking for volunteers to provide emotional and practical support to clients on a one-to-one basis. Interested persons older than 24 are invited to attend an orientation to learn about the Buddy Program and how to apply.

Orientations are held monthly at 7:30 p.m., on the fourth Tuesday of each month on the fourth floor of the AIDS Action offices at 131 Clarendon St. For more information call 437-6200, Ext. 450.

Career transition

A career transition networking and support group meets every Thursday, except the second of each month, at St. Eulalia's Church, 50 Ridge St. The meetings are held 7 to 9 p.m. in the church's conference room and are open and free. For more information call 729-8220.

WHS Class of 1944 to hold reunion

Winchester High School Class of 1944 has begun plans for a 50th anniversary reunion to be held in the fall of 1994. Any member of the class, graduate or otherwise, who would like to be notified of final details but who may have reason to believe his or her current address is not on file with reunion organizers, is asked to send address information at this time to Joan Hanson Blake, 45 Pine Ridge Road, Reading, 01867.

Fourth Annual All-Night Graduation celebration

Plans for the Fourth Annual All-Night Graduation Celebration are well underway. This event provides the 1993 graduates of Winchester High School with a safe and enjoyable last night together.

This event will be held on graduation night, Sunday, June 6, from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., in the McCall Middle School gym and recreation areas. Some guidelines will be in place to ensure an enjoyable time for all. No alcohol will be allowed. Entrance time will be between 9:30 and 11 p.m. No one will be admitted after this time unless special permission has been arranged in advance. Any graduate who leaves the party will not be allowed to return and their parents will be notified before they are dismissed, regardless of the hour.

The All-Night Graduation Celebration Committee, under the direction of chairwomen Donna Desmond and Cathy Gatto, is hard at work planning for this multifaceted event. The night's activities will include nonstop food and dancing, live entertainment, games, contests, raffles, palm readers, tattoo artists, caricaturists, videos, and movies. All of these activities are available to the seniors for the $15 cost of admission.

A T-shirt contest is presently under way at the high school. Students submit their original design to a vote of their classmates. The winning design will be emblazoned on a T-shirt and given to each graduate.

The Winchester community has been a ready supporter of this event in the past years. The committee hopes to count on their continued support in providing safe alcohol-free events for Winchester's youth.

Kidstock spring and summer classes

Kidstock Youth Theater, directed by Brian Milauskas, is now registering for spring and summer 1993. All Kidstock programs are non-audition based with a limited first come registration. Spring programs for grades kindergarten through 12 run from April 12 to June 18. There will be an April vacation week musical production workshop. It will run Monday through Friday, April 19 through 23 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Summer session registration for grades one and two and grades three through eight is also available for four performance workshops during July and August. Each workshop involves drama, dance, art and music exploration and is weeks long, Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. For information and a brochure, call Kidstock at 729-5KID.

Foundation to hold annual telethon

The Winchester Scholarship Foundation (WSF) will hold its Seventh Annual Telethon on Tuesday, April 13, from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Winchester Town Hall. The event will also be broadcast on Winchester Cable Channel 19.

The WSF is a voluntary nonprofit organization whose goal is to help provide financial aid to Winchester High School graduates who are going on to further education. All contributions are tax deductible.

The Energy Connection offers free aerobic dancing classes

From now through April 8, The Energy Connection is offering new students the opportunity to start a spring shape-up program at no cost. The Energy Connection is a local fitness resource that conducts the nationally acclaimed original Jacki Sorensen Aerobic Dancing classes. These classes have been offered in Winchester for more than 15 years, and they have proven to be a popular way to exercise. In one hour, participants can burn as much as 500 calories as they combine simple dance moves with peppy music. The program is especially appealing to people who are looking for a low-impact yet well-rounded total workout.

The spring session begins this week, and music and routines will be new for both beginners and seasoned participants. Also, to encourage those who are hoping to get fit this spring, The Energy Connection will admit all new students free to Aerobic Dancing classes through April 8, and there is no limit to the number of free classes that may be attended.

Aerobic dancing is offered three times weekly at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church at 8:30 a.m. on Mondays, Tuesdays, and Thursdays on a drop-in basis. No pre-registration is necessary; newcomers may come anytime. For information or a complete listing of all the programs offered by The Energy Connection, call Marie Dacey 729-7268 or Linda Vacovec 729-3256.

Applications accepted in Early Childhood

The Winchester Public Schools Early Chilhood Programs is accepting applications for limited spaces in its Early Childhood programs for the 1993-94 school year. For more information or eligibility and/or an application please call Cynthia Papoulias at the Early Childhood office at 721-7015

Coffee and conversation

Winchester residents are invited to an informal evening of coffee and conversation with international members of our community on Thursday, April 15 between 7 and 9 p.m., at the home of Helene Ryan, 8 Grove St.

The evening is sponsored by the Multicultural Network and is part of an effort to create a welcoming atmosphere for individuals and families who have moved here from other countries. Ryan, who has lived abroad herself over the years, initiated a series of coffee evenings to provide an opportunity for people to get to know each other. As an English-as-a- second-language teacher in the schools, she knows that many parents feel isolated when they first move here. "Even a simple thing such as seeing a friendly face in the supermarket can mean a lot," she says.

Anyone is welcome to stop by on the 15th.

Parenting elementary school children

As the parent of an elementary school child, you are not the only one who second guesses yourself about limit setting and discipline issues. You are not alone in your struggle to have your children share in household responsibilities and chores. Whether the issue is how to handle anger, what to do about teasing, sibling conflicts, self esteem, or our own expectations for our children, we all work hard to come up with strategies that can truly have a positive impact on our children and our family life.

In Parent to Parent discussion groups people share day to day concerns and find support and reassurance in discussing common issues and challenges. Group discussions range from light-hearted sharing to in-depth discussions of developmental issues and appropriate interventions parents can consider.

The group leader is Hillary Turkewitz, a psychologist with more than 15 years of experience with families, who has been working with Parent to Parent for four years.

The next group for parents of elementary school children will begin Tuesday, April 27, from 8 to 9:30 p.m. Meetings are held in the Community Room of the Public Safety Building. The groups meet for six weeks. The fee is $30 for the six week program.

To register or obtain more information call Hillary Turkewitz at 729-7945.

Winchester Chamber of Commerce to hold Annual Meeting in April

The Winchester Chamber of Commerce will be holding its annual meeting at the Winchester Country Club on Tuesday, April 13, at 5:30 p.m. Our keynote speaker will be Mr. Stephen P. Tocco, Mass. Secretary of Economic Affairs, as well as Special Assistant to the Governor. Mr. Tocco's vast background in business and government make him a qualified and interesting speaker.

Catherine Jackson, President of the Winchester Chamber of Commerce, will update those attending on the Chamber activities and announce the winner of the prestigious Citizen of the Year Award. A dinner to honor this year's recipient will be held on Wednesday, May 19, at the Jenks Center.

We hope that anyone in the community who is interested in becoming a member of the Chamber will call the office at 729-8870 for reservations to attend this informative evening on April 13.

'The Ageless Follies'

On May 1 the Winchester Town Hall will be the scene of the mingling together of talent from the intergenerational groups who are presenting their second annual vaudeville performance. The theme for this year's show is "Romance and Love" that will stir memories and nostalgia for the days of the past half century. The variety mix of drama, music and comedy offers something for everyone.

The Council on Aging and the Winchester Recreation Department share the sponsorship of this unique program. Tickets go on sale next week at the Jenks Center as well as at stores downtown, details on the posters.

The Winchester Youth Center will benefit from the proceeds, donations and contributions in any amount are tax-free and provide support for this worthy project targeted for the young people of Winchester.

Public invited to Ensemble Night at WCMS

The Winchester Community Music School will present its annual Ensemble Night on Monday, April 12, at 7:15 p.m. in the Lincoln School Auditorium.

Students from elementary to high school age will perform-duets, trios and quartets for guitar, flute, clarinet, oboe and English horn, trumpet, saxophone and voice. The public is cordially invited to come and enjoy the variety of instruments and styles of music.

The program will last about an hour and be followed by refreshments.

ABC spring concert

The Winchester Committee for "A Better Chance" is pleased to announce the annual spring benefit concert to be held Saturday, May 8, at 8:30 p.m. in the Lincoln School Auditorium.

This year's featured performers will be Boston City Lights Street Dancer. Boston City Lights, a nonprofit performing arts group, consists of Boston born dance and theater professionals. The dancers are taken off Boston's streets and range in age from 9 to 20. Their melting pot production ranging from hip hop to rap; Broadway show style, and a cappella gospel songs has earned them international acclaim.

Tickets for the concert are available by calling Barbara Hyde at 729-0513, or by mailing your check ciations of all five elementary schools.

Kids' Classics rescheduled for April 10

Kids' Classics, postponed last month because of the blizzard, is rescheduled for Saturday, April 10, at 3 p.m. at the Winchester Town Hall.

Presented by Children's Own School in celebration of its 50th anniversary, Kids' Classics will perform classical songs and instrumental music by such composers as Bartok, Mahler, Stravinsky, Ravel, Schumann, Prokofiev, Rossini, Brahms and more.

All works performed will be grouped in themes such as "Creatures Great and Small," "Clowns and All That Jazz," "Birds, Bears, and Bagpipes," "Naptime," "The Big Boot" and "Peter and the Wolf."

Hosted by Winchester resident Dennis Boyer of WBUR-FM's daytime classical music program, Kids' Classics will provide an opportunity to see performances by professional musicians Marion Dry, contralto, and Peter Cokkinias, conductor and clarinetist, both of Winchester.

Tickets, at $6 per person, are available at the door or by calling Gayle Merling at 729-1443.
with a self addressed stamped envelope to ABC tickets, 27 Canterbury Road, Winchester 01890. Tickets are $20 per person, $10 for students/senior citizens. Historical society holds design lecture

The design of Winchester's First Congregational Church and its architect will be the subject of a lecture, sponsored by the Winchester Historical Society, on Thursday, April 29, 7:30 p.m., at the church.

The lecture is entitled, "Neat, Convenient and Tastefully Designed: The First Congregational Church of Winchester and Its Architect, Alexander R. Esty."

The lecture will be given by Stephen Jerome, who recently identified Esty as the church's architect. Jerome is an architectural historian and curator of a historic house for the Brookline Historical Society.

In a slide presentation, Jerome will discuss the original church design. He also will relate the church to other buildings by Esty, who was a noted Boston architect in the 19th century.

The lecture is free and open to the public.

Shannon announces office hours

Senator Charles Shannon recently announced his district office hours for the town of Winchester. Sen. Shannon will be at the Winchester Town Hall from noon to 2 p.m. on Friday, April 30. Sen. Shannon extends an invitation to all his constituents to stop by and discuss any issue of concern.

Chamber hosts Easter activities

The Winchester Chamber of Commerce will feature several Easter Sunday activities for area children. Come down and join in the fun and have your child's picture taken with the Easter Bunny on Saturday, April 10 at noon until 2 p.m. at the corner of Thompson and Main Streets (Simms Jeweler's). In the event of rain, picture-taking will be moved to La Patisserie at 30 Church Street. On Sunday, Bayberry Shoe proprietor Cathy Jackson will hop over to the hospital and distribute daffodils and candy to patients, stuck in the hospital over the holiday. (The daffodils were donated by Keans Florists and the candy by Winchester Drug.)

ARTS UMBRELLA

Local photographs to be shown internationally

Seven local photographers have recently been acceptedto have their work exhibited in St. Germain-en-Laye, France our sister city. The subject of the selected pieces, according to rules agreed upon in France, must reflect some aspect of Winchester life such as scenery, architecture and social commentary. The works submitted include black and white as well as color photos all of which express something distinctly reflective of Winchester. The idea of the photography contest was conceived in France and all entries are from the five sister cities of St. Germain-en-Laye. The idea is to communicate to residents of St. Germain, the essence of their sister cities via pictorial commentary. All the photos from Winchester were selected from a large pool of photographic work contributed by local residents.

Richard Mack's work includes a shot of the Aberjona River as it meanders through the Brookside Park at Cross Street. Another portrays the classic Whitney Mill Pond with many geese against a Winchester Center back drop.

Glynnis Gordon's photograph is a shot of Mt. Vernon Street under the icy setting of a winter snow storm as it highlights the graceful row of black gas pole lanterns.

Aileen Weissblum's Aberjona River shot captures the autumn colors reflected in the water in the warm, late afternoon light.

Kris Rodammer chose a classic scene of the center from Waterfield Street called "Twin Bridges." It reflects the town hall in its classic architecture as well as the arch bridges that proudly date the old New England town's historic atmosphere.

Dr. Al Falcione chose a shot of the tallest and oldest church in town. His night shot of the First Congregational Church from the lighted common is a striking view of the cool silhouette of the tall, white church and grandiose steeple basking in romantic red Christmas lights. Another of his photos shows Wedge Pond under a blanket of fresh snow, bathed in the cool, blue hues of reflected winter sun.

Also included among the entrants is renowned photo-journalist, Joe Brown. His work will be greatly appreciated because he captures, in his highly sensitive genre, people at work and play; the thrill of skateboarding, the concentration of a town employee at work.

Collectively, these seven photographers have given the residents of St. Germain-en-Laye a little insight into the warmth of a proud New England community. The show will be on display for the months of April and May and will be judged at the end of that time.

COMING EVENTS

WHAT'S GOING ON IN YOUR AREA IN THE COMING WEEKS

Host families needed for German students:

Host families are needed for 35 German students who will be visiting Massachusetts, for the first time, in July 1993. The students are sponsored by International Education Forum, a nonprofit organization based in the United States. The students are between the ages of 14 and 18 and will take part in a homestay immersion program, staying with a host family for four to five weeks. The students are visiting Massachusetts in order to participate in American family life and to improve their English language skills.

If you are interested in hosting a German student, call Carol Henderson at 729-1971 as soon as possible.

Alzheimer's support group at church

An Alzheimer's peer support group will meet the second and fourth Tuesday of every month at St. Eulalia's Church beginning Feb. 9. The meeting provides peer support to families, friends, and caregivers. The April 13 meeting will be held in the church's conference room at 50 Ridge Street on "Caring for the Caregivers" with a discussion to follow. For further information call Roberta at 983-6844 or Valerie at (508) 897-7455.

Casey to hold office hours for constituents

Rep. Paul Casey (D-Winchester) will be holding office hours at Winchester Town Hall on the first and third Fridays of each month from 9 — 11 a.m.

Aids Action seeks volunteers for Buddy Program

The Buddy Program of the AIDS Action Committee is looking for volunteers to provide emotional and practical support to clients on a one-to-one basis. Interested persons older than 24 are invited to attend an orientation to learn about the Buddy Program and how to apply.

Orientations are held monthly at 7:30 p.m., on the fourth Tuesday of each month on the fourth floor of the AIDS Action offices at 131 Clarendon St. For more information call 437-6200, Ext. 450.

Career transition

A career transition networking and support group meets every Thursday, except the second of each month, at St. Eulalia's Church, 50 Ridge St. The meetings are held 7 to 9 p.m. in the church's conference room and are open and free. For more information call 729-8220.

WHS Class of 1944 to hold reunion

Winchester High School Class of 1944 has begun plans for a 50th anniversary reunion to be held in the fall of 1994. Any member of the class, graduate or otherwise, who would like to be notified of final details but who may have reason to believe his or her current address is not on file with reunion organizers, is asked to send address information at this time to Joan Hanson Blake, 45 Pine Ridge Road, Reading, 01867.

Fourth Annual All-Night Graduation celebration

Plans for the Fourth Annual All-Night Graduation Celebration are well underway. This event provides the 1993 graduates of Winchester High School with a safe and enjoyable last night together.

This event will be held on graduation night, Sunday, June 6, from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., in the McCall Middle School gym and recreation areas. Some guidelines will be in place to ensure an enjoyable time for all. No alcohol will be allowed. Entrance time will be between 9:30 and 11 p.m. No one will be admitted after this time unless special permission has been arranged in advance. Any graduate who leaves the party will not be allowed to return and their parents will be notified before they are dismissed, regardless of the hour.

The All-Night Graduation Celebration Committee, under the direction of chairwomen Donna Desmond and Cathy Gatto, is hard at work planning for this multifaceted event. The night's activities will include nonstop food and dancing, live entertainment, games, contests, raffles, palm readers, tattoo artists, caricaturists, videos, and movies. All of these activities are available to the seniors for the $15 cost of admission.

A T-shirt contest is presently under way at the high school. Students submit their original design to a vote of their classmates. The winning design will be emblazoned on a T-shirt and given to each graduate.

The Winchester community has been a ready supporter of this event in the past years. The committee hopes to count on their continued support in providing safe alcohol-free events for Winchester's youth.

Kidstock spring and summer classes

Kidstock Youth Theater, directed by Brian Milauskas, is now registering for spring and summer 1993. All Kidstock programs are non-audition based with a limited first come registration. Spring programs for grades kindergarten through 12 run from April 12 to June 18. There will be an April vacation week musical production workshop. It will run Monday through Friday, April 19 through 23 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Summer session registration for grades one and two and grades three through eight is also available for four performance workshops during July and August. Each workshop involves drama, dance, art and music exploration and is weeks long, Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. For information and a brochure, call Kidstock at 729-5KID.

Foundation to hold annual telethon

The Winchester Scholarship Foundation (WSF) will hold its Seventh Annual Telethon on Tuesday, April 13, from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Winchester Town Hall. The event will also be broadcast on Winchester Cable Channel 19.

The WSF is a voluntary nonprofit organization whose goal is to help provide financial aid to Winchester High School graduates who are going on to further education. All contributions are tax deductible.

The Energy Connection offers free aerobic dancing classes

From now through April 8, The Energy Connection is offering new students the opportunity to start a spring shape-up program at no cost. The Energy Connection is a local fitness resource that conducts the nationally acclaimed original Jacki Sorensen Aerobic Dancing classes. These classes have been offered in Winchester for more than 15 years, and they have proven to be a popular way to exercise. In one hour, participants can burn as much as 500 calories as they combine simple dance moves with peppy music. The program is especially appealing to people who are looking for a low-impact yet well-rounded total workout.

The spring session begins this week, and music and routines will be new for both beginners and seasoned participants. Also, to encourage those who are hoping to get fit this spring, The Energy Connection will admit all new students free to Aerobic Dancing classes through April 8, and there is no limit to the number of free classes that may be attended.

Aerobic dancing is offered three times weekly at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church at 8:30 a.m. on Mondays, Tuesdays, and Thursdays on a drop-in basis. No pre-registration is necessary; newcomers may come anytime. For information or a complete listing of all the programs offered by The Energy Connection, call Marie Dacey 729-7268 or Linda Vacovec 729-3256.

Applications accepted in Early Childhood

The Winchester Public Schools Early Chilhood Programs is accepting applications for limited spaces in its Early Childhood programs for the 1993-94 school year. For more information or eligibility and/or an application please call Cynthia Papoulias at the Early Childhood office at 721-7015

Coffee and conversation

Winchester residents are invited to an informal evening of coffee and conversation with international members of our community on Thursday, April 15 between 7 and 9 p.m., at the home of Helene Ryan, 8 Grove St.

The evening is sponsored by the Multicultural Network and is part of an effort to create a welcoming atmosphere for individuals and families who have moved here from other countries. Ryan, who has lived abroad herself over the years, initiated a series of coffee evenings to provide an opportunity for people to get to know each other. As an English-as-a- second-language teacher in the schools, she knows that many parents feel isolated when they first move here. "Even a simple thing such as seeing a friendly face in the supermarket can mean a lot," she says.

Anyone is welcome to stop by on the 15th.

Parenting elementary school children

As the parent of an elementary school child, you are not the only one who second guesses yourself about limit setting and discipline issues. You are not alone in your struggle to have your children share in household responsibilities and chores. Whether the issue is how to handle anger, what to do about teasing, sibling conflicts, self esteem, or our own expectations for our children, we all work hard to come up with strategies that can truly have a positive impact on our children and our family life.

In Parent to Parent discussion groups people share day to day concerns and find support and reassurance in discussing common issues and challenges. Group discussions range from light-hearted sharing to in-depth discussions of developmental issues and appropriate interventions parents can consider.

The group leader is Hillary Turkewitz, a psychologist with more than 15 years of experience with families, who has been working with Parent to Parent for four years.

The next group for parents of elementary school children will begin Tuesday, April 27, from 8 to 9:30 p.m. Meetings are held in the Community Room of the Public Safety Building. The groups meet for six weeks. The fee is $30 for the six week program.

To register or obtain more information call Hillary Turkewitz at 729-7945.

Winchester Chamber of Commerce to hold Annual Meeting in April

The Winchester Chamber of Commerce will be holding its annual meeting at the Winchester Country Club on Tuesday, April 13, at 5:30 p.m. Our keynote speaker will be Mr. Stephen P. Tocco, Mass. Secretary of Economic Affairs, as well as Special Assistant to the Governor. Mr. Tocco's vast background in business and government make him a qualified and interesting speaker.

Catherine Jackson, President of the Winchester Chamber of Commerce, will update those attending on the Chamber activities and announce the winner of the prestigious Citizen of the Year Award. A dinner to honor this year's recipient will be held on Wednesday, May 19, at the Jenks Center.

We hope that anyone in the community who is interested in becoming a member of the Chamber will call the office at 729-8870 for reservations to attend this informative evening on April 13.

'The Ageless Follies'

On May 1 the Winchester Town Hall will be the scene of the mingling together of talent from the intergenerational groups who are presenting their second annual vaudeville performance. The theme for this year's show is "Romance and Love" that will stir memories and nostalgia for the days of the past half century. The variety mix of drama, music and comedy offers something for everyone.

The Council on Aging and the Winchester Recreation Department share the sponsorship of this unique program. Tickets go on sale next week at the Jenks Center as well as at stores downtown, details on the posters.

The Winchester Youth Center will benefit from the proceeds, donations and contributions in any amount are tax-free and provide support for this worthy project targeted for the young people of Winchester.

Public invited to Ensemble Night at WCMS

The Winchester Community Music School will present its annual Ensemble Night on Monday, April 12, at 7:15 p.m. in the Lincoln School Auditorium.

Students from elementary to high school age will perform duets, trios and quartets for guitar, flute, clarinet, oboe and English horn, trumpet, saxophone and voice. The public is cordially invited to come and enjoy the variety of instruments and styles of music.

The program will last about an hour and be followed by refreshments.

ABC spring concert

The Winchester Committee for "A Better Chance" is pleased to announce the annual spring benefit concert to be held Saturday, May 8, at 8:30 p.m. in the Lincoln School Auditorium.

This year's featured performers will be Boston City Lights Street Dancer. Boston City Lights, a nonprofit performing arts group, consists of Boston born dance and theater professionals. The dancers are taken off Boston's streets and range in age from 9 to 20. Their melting pot production ranging from hip hop to rap; Broadway show style, and a cappella gospel songs has earned them international acclaim.

Tickets for the concert are available by calling Barbara Hyde at 729-0513, or by mailing your check ciations of all five elementary schools.

Kids' Classics rescheduled for April 10

Kids' Classics, postponed last month because of the blizzard, is rescheduled for Saturday, April 10, at 3 p.m. at the Winchester Town Hall.

Presented by Children's Own School in celebration of its 50th anniversary, Kids' Classics will perform classical songs and instrumental music by such composers as Bartok, Mahler, Stravinsky, Ravel, Schumann, Prokofiev, Rossini, Brahms and more.

All works performed will be grouped in themes such as "Creatures Great and Small," "Clowns and All That Jazz," "Birds, Bears, and Bagpipes," "Naptime," "The Big Boot" and "Peter and the Wolf."

Hosted by Winchester resident Dennis Boyer of WBUR-FM's daytime classical music program, Kids' Classics will provide an opportunity to see performances by professional musicians Marion Dry, contralto, and Peter Cokkinias, conductor and clarinetist, both of Winchester.

Tickets, at $6 per person, are available at the door or by calling Gayle Merling at 729-1443.
with a self addressed stamped envelope to ABC tickets, 27 Canterbury Road, Winchester 01890. Tickets are $20 per person, $10 for students/senior citizens. Or become a patron for $90 which includes: 2 tickets to the performance; your name listed in the evening's program; dessert at Rick's Cafe following the performance.

Fortnightly Ladies shows special talents of dog for helping

The public is invited to meet Jordan, a very special dog, at the First Baptist Church social hall on Monday, April 12 at 1:45 p.m. Jordan has been trained by the New England Assistance Dog Service of West Boylston, to help physically handicapped people by picking up anything that is dropped, pulling a wheelchair, turning on light switches, carrying items and going for help if necessary. Other dogs are trained by this organization to assist the hearing impaired.

They respond to sounds such as smoke detectors, alarm clocks, door bells and crying babies. Some dogs learn to help people with multiple problems such as deafness and being confined to wheelchairs. Many of these animals were rescued from shelters and carefully trained for three to six months to aid and benefit the lives of their human partners at a cost of $4,000 for each dog. At the April 12 presentation Scott Maguire will put Jordan through his paces. The program is sponsored by The Fortnightly and is a special project of Mrs. Nicholas W. Macrina, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs of Massachusetts.

Linda Barlow

Barlow releases new novel

"Her Sister's Keeper" is the latest novel by Linda Barlow, award winning author.

Born to a British mother and an American father, Linda Barlow is a former freelance editor and lecturer in English literature at Boston College. The author of eleven novels, she began her professional writing career in 1984 with the publication of several contemporary romances and in 1986 she received Romantic Times award as the best new historical novelist of the year for "Fires of Destiny."

Highly respected and admired by other writers, she was elected in 1993 to serve on the Authors Guild Council. She was the 1992 president of Novelists Inc. and in 1989 Romance Writers of America awarded her the Golden Medallion Award for "Leaves of Fortune."

Linda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Robert Barlow of Winchester. Linda now lives in Acton but went to schools in Winchester. "Her Sister's Keeper" is now available in bookstores in Winchester.

Wells receives letter of congratulation

Professor John C. Wells of Winchester received a congratulatory letter on his seventy-fifth birthday recently from Neil L. Rudenstine, President of Harvard University. Professor Wells is a member of the Harvard Class of 1940; he also received his Ph.D. in Germanic languages and literatures from Harvard. The letter recognizes a "longtime association" of the Wells family with Harvard. In fact, five generations of the Wells family have been linked closely with Harvard - Thomas G. Wells (1804-1873) and his direct descendants. From around 1833 to 1842 Thomas G. Wells operated the University Press in Cambridge. Later, during the Gold Rush, Thomas G. Wells was a pioneer banker in San Francisco. This was even before the founding of the famous Wells Fargo Bank by Henry Wells, who also started the American Express Company.

Henry Wells and Thomas G. Wells had a common ancestor in Thomas Wells who came from England around 1636. Today Thomas G. Wells is accorded a prominent place in the Wells Fargo historical records and exhibits. Following Thomas G., members of three of the next four generations received bachelor of arts degrees (in 1877, 1940 and 1970) as well as doctoral degrees from Harvard: Thomas' youngest child, Benjamin W., his great grandson, John C. Wells, and his great-great grandson, Peter S. Wells.

In addition to this, Thomas' grandson, Frederic Lyman Wells (father of John C. Wells) and Peter S. Wells (son of John C. Wells) served on the Harvard Faculty in their respective fields of psychology and anthropology. And Frederic Lyman Wells played a significant role as psychologist on the staff of the Harvard Health Services from 1938 to 1950.

The recognition given with President Rudenstine's letter marks a distinct highlight in the history of the Wells family.

Pedulla enters University of Rochester

Laurie Lynne Pedulla, a junior at the University of Rochester, is majoring in a health and society concentration. Health and society is an interdisciplinary area of study drawing upon a wide range of fields and intended for students considering careers in health care administration, health policy and planning, or the social services. Students take related courses in such disciplines as economics, philosophy, anthropology, psychology, history, and sociology. The student, a graduate of Winchester High School, lives in Winchester.

Yardley named health services director

Wentworth Institute of Technology, one of America's leading coeducational institutions of design, engineering and technology, recently named Sharon Yardley to the position of health services director.

Yardley, a native of Winchester, comes to Wentworth from Nashville, Tenn. There she was employed by Corrections Corporation of America, for which she created a health services department for a new, medium security men's prison. As health services supervisor she hired, organized, and directed staff, coordinated dental, psychiatric, and medical services in addition to performing exams and responding to medical emergencies.

Yardley is a registered nurse and holds a master of science degree in nursing from Vanderbilt University in Tennessee. She also received her master of science in criminal justice from Northeastern University in Boston.

Yardley is a family nurse practitioner and will manage the health services department with direct patient care at Wentworth.

Boettcher named director of guidance for Watertown

Diane Boettcher, of Grayson Road, has been appointed Director of Guidance and Testing for the Watertown Public Schools and began her new position on March 8. Boettcher has worked in public education for 25 years in Winchester, North Andover, Marblehead, Topsfield and Gardner. Boettcher received her doctorate in the field of Educational Leadership from Boston College and is currently the vice president for Guidance Administrators for the Mass School Counselor's Association. LEGAL NOTICE
MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue and in execution of the POWER OF SALE contained in a certain mortgage given by JOHN DROUGAS and BERTHA DROUGAS, of 3856 Sunrise Lane, Tarpon Springs, Florida to MALDEN TRUST COMPANY dated December 30, 1988 and recorded with Middlesex County Registry of Deeds, Book 17750, Page 32, said Mortgage was assigned to PEOPLES SAVINGS BANK, a banking corporation duly organized under the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, with a usual place of business in Holyoke, Hampden County, Massachusetts, by Assignment dated March 12, 1987 and recorded as aforesaid in Book 18623, Page 535, of which mortgage the undersigned is the present holder, for breach of the conditions of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same will be sold at Public Auction at one o'clock P.M. on the 20th day of April, A.D. 1993, upon the mortgaged premises at 354 Cross Street, Winchester, Middlesex County, Massachusetts, all and singular the premises described in said mortgage.

To wit:

A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon situated on Cross Street, Winchester, said County of Middlesex, being shown as Lot B on plan entitled "Plan of Lots, Winchester, Mass., Surveyed for Heirs of Michael McGonigle" dated August 27, 1971, Frederick A. Edwell, Surveyor, recorded with Middlesex South District Registry of Deeds in Book 12220, Page 364, and being further bounded and described as follows:

NORTHERLY by Cross Street as shown on said plan, sixty-five (65) feet;

EASTERLY by Lot C as shown on said plan, one hundred thirty-six and 28/100 (136.28) feet;

SOUTHERLY in part by Lot E and by Lot F as shown on said plan, sixty-five and 8/100 (65.08) feet; and

WESTERLY by Lot A as shown on said plan, one hundred thirty-two and 68/100 (132.68) feet.

Contain 8,740 square feet of land according to said plan.

The above described premises are subject to a building line recorded in Book 5214, Page 32.

Being the same premises conveyed to John Drougas and Bertha Drougas by deed of Maplewood Construction Company, Inc. dated May 4, 1973 and recorded in Middlesex South District Registry of Deeds in Book 12426, Page 543.

The above premises shall be sold subject to and/or with the benefit of any and all restrictions, easements, improvements, covenants, outstanding tax titles, municipal or other public taxes, assessments, liens or claims in the nature of liens, and existing encumbrances of record superior to the mortgage, if any. The premises are also sold subject to the right of redemption of the United States of America or any of its subsidiaries or divisions, if any there be. In the event of any typographical error set forth herein in the legal description of the premises, the description set forth and contained in the mortgage shall take precedence.

TERMS OF THE SALE: Cash, certified check or bank cashier's check in the sum of $6,000.00 shall be paid as a deposit and must be shown at the time and place of the sale in order to qualify as a bidder; the high bidder shall sign a written Memorandum of Sale upon acceptance of the bid, the terms of which shall be announced prior to the bid; the balance of the purchase price to be paid in cash, certified check or bank cashier's check within twenty (20) days from the date of sale and thereafter to be deposited in escrow with the law firm of RESNIC, BEAUREGARD, WAITE AND DRISCOLL, 302 High Street, Holyoke, Massachusetts, pending recording of the deed which is to be delivered, accepted and recorded within ten (10) days thereafter, or at such other time as may be designated by Mortgagee.

Mortgagee reserves the right to postpone the sale to a later date by public proclamation at the time and date appointed for the sale, and to further postpone at any adjourned sale date by public proclamation at the time and date appointed for any such adjourned date.

In the event that the successful bidder at the foreclosure sale shall default in purchasing the within described property according to the terms of this Notice of Sale and/or the terms of the Memorandum of Sale executed at the time of foreclosure, the Mortgagee reserves the right to sell the property by foreclosure deed to the second highest bidder, providing that the second highest bidder shall execute a Memorandum of Sale and deposit with Mortgagee's Attorneys, RESNIC, BEAUREGARD, WAITE AND DRISCOLL, 302 High Street, Holyoke, Massachusetts, the amount of the required deposit as set forth herein within three (3) business days after written notice of the default of the previous highest bidder. The balance of the purchase price shall be paid by and title shall be conveyed to the second highest bidder within twenty (20) days of said written notice.

The successful purchaser will be responsible for any and all closing costs, state documentary stamps, and recording fees.

Other terms to be announced at the sale.

SCHOOL NEWS

Be my Valentine — Throughout the day seventh graders toured the building delivering musical messages from secret admirers. Here McCall students croon a Valentine tune to Mr. Prior.

McCall Future Problem solving teams, grades 6-8.

NCNS three-year-olds learned about good dental hygiene from "Dr. Bob" Terezian this week; the children were given a full tour of Dr. Terezian's dental office at 955 Main Street and a starter toothcare-kit to take home with them.

Each year at this time, Vinson Owen Elementary School chooses a country for the whole school to research. This year they chose Germany. Each grade level spent a month delving into the geography and an aspect of the culture such as famous citizens, history, and cultural differences and similarities. The month culminated in a schoolwide German banquet and presentations from each grade.

PJ Day at NCNS: All clad in pajamas, teacher Betsy Brickley leads her three-year-olds in a wish and the children wave magic wands with the power to make people smile.

The future problem solving program at McCall

Five Future Problem Solving Teams, two intermediate and three Junior teams, from McCall Middle School in Winchester competed Saturday, March 6, in the Regional Bowl at Brandeis University. About ten towns were represented by a total of 60 teams of juniors, intermediates, and seniors.

Each team was given two hours to complete a written booklet using the FPS process. Booklets from the three Regional Bowls will be evaluated on March 27. The best booklets will determine which teams will qualify for the State Bowl Competition, May 1, at MIT in Cambridge.

On March 6 the teams were given an opportunity to dramatize their best solution (as described in step 6 in their booklet) in a solution selling skit. Two junior teams placed first and second respectively in this competition. These teams are Grace Bloodwell, Turner Kniffen, Kristyn Newhall, Eric Schrock, and alternate Guy Danella on one team; Eric Marian, Christina Buchter, Tomas Zeman on another. A third junior team has Kara Alesi, Meredith Gilbert, Caitlin Clavette, Serena Scappini and Vanessa Traniello, alternate. Intermediate teams are Courtney Allen, Erica Worthington, Jamie Baldwin and Marashiro Ueno, Rob Goeke, Michael Gilbert, Rich Donohue Jr. and Mike Hayes.

The Future Problem Solving Program is being used with the Whitney-Galatis team in Grade 6 and is offered as an after-school program for all McCall students. This is a program designed for students to be trained to think critically and creatively using current issues and concerns in a futuristic setting. The students are presented with a scenario about a given topic. They are then asked to proceed with the six-step process which requires a student team of four to brainstorm for problems they determine may be found in the scenario. Once they have identified their underlying problem they move on to brainstorm for solutions, develop five criteria, and use these to find their best solution. Their creativity is challenged as they broaden the scope of their brainstorming by thinking in terms of different categories (education, basic needs, technology, arts and aesthetics, law and justice, and so on).

This year the students worked on student stress and world hunger in their two practice problems and the Regional Bowl topic was oceans.

Student delights in recent production

I really enjoyed the play "The Secret Garden" which The Actors Theatre of Maine put on. I have seen many of their plays and loved them all, but this one was my favorite. I decided to write this poem about it. This is my way of thanking them for their wonderful play.

A spring day, a sunbeam passes.
The warmth upon my face is sweet.
The lovely crocuses stretch the field to make a path to all the yield.
The purple heather upon the moor, makes a lore to all who pass.
The Robin that sings so sweetly, sits upon the garden well.
Alas, I cannot find the doorway, to join him in his garden sweet.
Alas, I cannot find the doorway, to join him in his garden sweet.

Engineering program at Ambrose School

Recently, the Boston Society of Civil Engineers Younger Member Committee brought its Outreach Program to Ambrose School. Coordinated by Alice Madio, the visit gave students a chance to learn about the civil engineering profession.

With the decline in civil engineering college enrollment and the nation's increasing dependence upon engineering, the need to encourage students to enter the field of civil engineering has been magnified many times. The Younger Member Committee of BSCES has developed a multifaceted outreach program to address this need.

The YMC has produced a program illustrating the various fields within civil engineering. Their presentations typically consist of a slide show, discussions of available career options and student handouts. The presentations can be tailored for almost any size group: from a classroom situation, which allows for more student interaction, to a larger auditorium setting at which more students can be present. Each visit is usually conducted by a practicing engineer, as well as a current student in engineering, and the slides depict current local civil engineering projects.

Students at Ambrose School were visited by Trisha Maletesta and Stephanie Bartley, engineers with Faye Spofford & Thorndike of Lexington. They are two engineers volunteering their time for this program.

VO visits DeCordova Museum

The fourth and fifth graders at the Vinson-Owen Elementary School recently went to the DeCordova Museum for a field trip organized by Barbara Gagel, art instructor. The classroom teachers had previously attended a workshop and reviewed the exhibit at the museum.

The children viewed installations by Allen Wexler and "Kinetic" sculptures by Arthur Ganson. "Kinetic" means moving, and the artist, Ganson, who the children met at the museum, incorporates humor with movement.

In the art room, after their visit, the students used various materials to create their own versions of a kinetic sculpture. Science concepts such as simple machines and the use of magnets helped many ideas. Imagination and humor were incorporated.

Metaphors and writing exercises helped describe their visual forms. The individual results were extremely varied and imaginative.

Narconon brings anti-drug message to students at McCall

A well-known drug prevention specialist spoke to approximately 220 students at the McCall Middle School about the effects of alcohol and other drugs on the person, mind and the body.

Bob Wiggins, who works with the drug prevention and rehabilitation program, Narconon, has "been there" himself. He began using drugs at age 13 and continued using them for 13 years until he entered the Narconon program. Once rehabilitated, he trained on the drug rehabilitation methods of American author, L. Ron Hubbard, which are the basis of Narconon's success.

Wiggins has done drug counseling at Narconon for 12 years and has been working in drug prevention the past eight years. The prevention program includes presentations, peer leader training and educator training as well.

"We're giving kids, parents, teachers and law enforcement people the facts about drugs," explained Wiggins. Often, false information and scare tactics are used and the true data about drugs gets lost. This only confuses the kids and the parents about what to do."

Over the past several years, Narconon has lectured to some 200,000 parents, teachers and students throughout New England.

"Our actual objective overall," states Wiggins, "is to rid society of the damaging effects of drugs. Hubbard himself, through his researches in 1979, discovered drugs to be the single most destructive element in society today."

Wiggins went on to say, "Drug abuse knows no boundaries. It hits the rich and poor, black and white, the young and old. Through our drug education project we are preventing drug abuse before it starts."

ART

Boston — through June 6. New work by Arlington artist Lei-Sanne Doo is featured in RECYCLE Gallery of Industrail Art at The Children's Museum, 300 Congress St. The gallery provides a forum for local artists who incorporate materials found in the museum's RECYCLE shop into their work. Call 426-8855 for hours and information.

Newton — through April 29. A retrospective exhibition of landscape oil paintings by Cheryl L. Wilcox, includes work from 1983 to 1993. Opening reception is 7:30 to 9 p.m. April 8. The exhibit is presented at the Newton Free Library, 330 Homer St. For gallery hours and information call 552-7145.

Boston — April 14 - 15. Boston University School for the Arts presents two visiting lecturers. Sculptor Harold Tovish speaks at 4 p.m. Wednesday and painter Yvonne Jacquette speaks at 1 p.m. Thursday. Both talks are in room 306, 855 Commonwealth Ave., and are free and open to the public.

Boston — through April 16. "3 Sticks, Paintings and Lithographs," an exhibition of works by Sloat Shaw, is presented in Trustman Art Gallery, Simmons College, 300 The Fenway. Prior to her career as an artist, Shaw studied anthropology with Margaret Mead. She began drawing sticks from an old Indian waterway in Quincy. Prayer to the Blessed Virgin (never known to fail). O most beautiful flower of Mount Carmel, fruitful vine, splendor of God, Immaculate Virgin, assist me in my necessity. O star of the Sea, help me & show me here you are my Mother, O Holy Mary, Mother of God, Queen of Heaven and Earth, I humbly beseech you from the bottom of my heart to secure me in my necessity. (Make request) There are none that can withstand your power. O Mary conceived without sin pray for us, who have recourse to thee (3 times). Say this prayer for 3 consecutive days and then you must publish and it will be granted to you. C.A.P.

Thank You, St. Jude and St. Martha. P.C.

Thank You St. Jude for prayers answered. A.R.

RELAXING CHAISE
We could all use a couch to lie down on and relax on. If you can trace a pattern onto wood and saw it out, you can easily make this durable chaise. Features include an adjustable back, wheels for mobility and a sturdy frame for long lasting wear. With the back down flat, it's perfect for sunbathing; inclined, it is great for reading. Use a standard 22" x 72" pad available at most home centers.

KNOWLEDGE CREATES RESULTS
As a homeowner searches for a real estate agent to represent them, one can't help but be confused. Of all the questions to ask, the most important is, what is the extent of your knowledge in the business? I have been marketing real estate for ten years and would be glad to share with you the extent of my knowledge.

Belmont Volkswagen

Location: 270 Trapelo Road, Belmont

Number of Employees: approximately 40

History: Owner Clark Kendall began his career in the auto industry selling various make cars, then opened Belmont Volkswagen in the '50s, when Volkswagen was new to the United States.

Of Volkswagen's growth, his daughter, Sales Manager Jane Kendall, says "Volkswagen has come a long way since then. At that time, all they offered was the Beetle." According to Jane, Belmont Volkswagen carries "a wide range of cars," including sports cars, sedans and convertibles.

Types of Cars Sold: New and used Volkswagens

Hottest Sellers: Passat GLX

Best Deal on the Lot: The Volkswagen Passat GLX is now available at a special lease rate of $289/month. Lessors enjoy many amenities, including air conditioning, power moon roof, anti-lock brakes, traction control and BBS wheels.

Specialties: "We've been in business longer than any other Volkswagen dealer in the area, and we sell and service only Volkswagens, so we know our product better and are better able to serve our customers," explains Kendall.

Service: Belmont Volkswagen's service manager brings to his customers 35 years experience with the company. In addition to experience and professionalism, this service department offers the lowest Volkswagen labor rate in the area, says Kendall. Service hours are Monday through Friday, 7:45 a.m. to 5:15 p.m.

Incentives: Special lease programs on the Passat and Eurovan are now available, as are specials on the Fox and Cabriolet Classic.

Volkswagen Passat

GLX features award-winning VR engine

With the intent of taking dead aim at some of the world's best V-6 powered mid-size sedans, Volkswagen has unleashed its second high-powered, six-cylinder offering in the U.S. — the 1993 Passat GLX.

The Passat GLX, which follows on the heels of the highly acclaimed Corrado SLC, is the latest Volkswagen model to come equipped with the German automaker's award-winning VR engine. Last year, Volkswagen received a Popular Science magazine "Best of What's New" award for the development of the VR6 engine, in recognition of its revolutionary design breakthrough that allows a six-cylinder to fit into virtually the same space as a standard four-cylinder.

The Passat GLX, which follows on the heels of the highly acclaimed Corrado SLC, is the latest Volkswagen model to come equipped with the German automaker's award-winning VR engine.

"The Passat GLX is our flagship vehicle and as such represents everything Volkswagen stands for in the marketplace: quality, innovative design, advanced engineering, spirited European driving performance, safety and superior value," said Bill Young, president and CEO, Volkswagen of America.

The Passat GLX's new 2.8-liter VR6 engine produces 172 horsepower and, unlike standard V-6 engines where cylinder banks are 60 or 90 degrees apart, is set in a zigzag fashion at 15 degrees under one cylinder head. This new-found power is mated with a five-speed manual or electronically controlled four-speed automatic transmission designed for smoother shifting and a quieter ride.

The GLX becomes the fastest sedan ever offered by Volkswagen with an electronically limited top-speed of 130 mph and 0-to-60 acceleration performance of just 7.9 seconds. Later this fall, Volkswagen will also offer the Passat GLX in a wagon configuration.

Because of its innovative use of space, development of the Passat's VR6 engine took Volkswagen nearly a decade of research, design and engineering. The result was more power in less space, a feature that allows the GLX to maintain every cubic inch of the Passat's renowned interior spaciousness. With 97 cubic feet of passenger space, the Passat GLX has more room than any Volvo, BMW 5 series or Mercedes 300 series.

"Our intent with the Passat model line-up has always been the same — to show consumers that a true European performance sedan doesn't have to come with a stylish price tag," Young said. The GLX, a family-sized sedan that will stir the heart of any true driver enthusiast, makes this statement even more profoundly."

Young said that by offering consumers the look and feel of a German sports sedan, the GLX fills the void between Asian entries like the Maxima SE and Toyota Camry LE V6 and less affordable European models.

"For the driving enthusiast with sedan needs, the GLX is the only alternative to offer genuine Autobahn driving capabilities with exceptional room and advanced ergonomics at a realistic price," he said.

A fully refined version of the Passat theme, the GLX's sporty performance is also enhanced by a modified "Plus Axle" suspension system, an innovation designed to accommodate the VR6's powertrain and significantly reduce torque steer.

This new suspension system, which is also used on the Corrado SLC, additionally helps soften the GLX's ride for more comfort.

The GLX becomes the fastest sedan ever offered by Volkswagen with an electronically limited top-speed of 130 mph and 0-to-60 acceleration performance of just 7.9 seconds.

No, we're not trying to throw you a curve. We just want to point out that a Saturn with traction control* can make you a lot more sure-footed in rain, sleet or snow. Scientifically speaking, it maximizes whatever traction you've got to help keep you in control. See, now you can feel a lot better when you take a road test in a Saturn.

Ford Probe GT: Car of the Year

Motor Trend Magazine, the world's automotive authority, recently announced that the Ford Probe GT was selected as the 1993 Car of the Year. According to Ross Roberts, a Ford vice president and general manager, Ford Division, "The Probe was chosen from a field of 10 nominated cars, which competed in the magazine's 41st annual competition."

Motor Trend's Car of the Year, initiated in 1949, is the premier award in the automotive industry. The competition is conducted to identify the most significantly improved new domestic car of each year.

The Probe was completely redesigned for 1993 and represents the second generation of this compact sport coupe. The GT is the upline version and has been praised for its torquey 2.5-liter V-6 engine, responsive handling and steering, and clean, contemporary styling.

In winning the competition, the Probe GT was highly rated by all seven Motor Trend judges. Amid a field of closely competitive vehicles, the Probe GT was rated as one of the top three vehicles in all six subjective categories, including styling & design, quality control, occupant comfort & convenience, ride & drive, chassis dynamics, and dollar value/market significance, as well as handling, which is rated according to objective measures.

All nominees for the competition were judged in six subjective and two objective categories. In addition to these categories, scores were tallied in the objective category of performance. Scores were tabulated by the accounting firm of Ernst & Young.

EVENTS

■ Coffee and conversation

Winchester residents are invited to an informal evening of coffee and conversation with international members of our community on Thursday, April 15 between 7 and 9 p.m., at the home of Helene Ryan, 8 Grove St.

The evening is sponsored by the Multicultural Network and is part of an effort to create a welcoming atmosphere for individuals and families who have moved here from other countries. Ryan, who has lived abroad herself over the years, initiated a series of coffee evenings to provide an opportunity for people to get to know each other.

■ Cooperative Theatre

No Auditions! No experience needed! Do you like to act, dance and sing?? Are you entering grades three through eight? If you think you would like to try some aspect of theatre, then this is the perfect program for you. Catherine Alexander, director of the Cooperative Theatre, which just produced the Wizard of Oz is looking for children for summer drama camp. The camp will offer workshops that are designed to meet each student's ability. Every week, friends and families will be invited to Lincoln School auditorium to observe the various skits and monologues. In addition, the entire group will work on a musical production with Lori Lerman, which will be performed at the end of the session. The program will begin on June 28 and end on July 30.

Fields plan complete

Opposition to Lynch expansion

By Deborah Trask
EDITOR

With the result of a yearlong study of the Winchester fields complete, selectmen asked committee members to consider holding a public hearing on the Lynch field expansion prior to bringing the report to Spring Town Meeting.

At the April 12 meeting, the Board of Selectmen reviewed a series of 14 recommendations from the Winchester Field Committee (WFC), which covers some revamping of every field in town. Included in the recommendations are short and long-term plans to upgrade the fields.

The charge of the committee created by Town Meeting in 1992, said WFC Chairman Jay Boylan, was to take a comprehensive look at the shape of the fields and make some suggestions on how to proceed in the future, given the town's fiscal constraints.

Plans call for a town-wide maintenance program, which topped the list. Also included was the removal and replacement of goal posts and backstops at many of the fields; correcting drainage and grading at Skillings Field; revamping Mullen Field and changing the placement of the driveway opening; examining the usage of Muraco Field; revamping Leonard Field by reconfiguring the softball field; removing a tot area and installing an irrigation system and finally the development of a multi-purpose playfield area at the Lynch Elementary School.

"This was a very ambitious task, I think you've made a good start on the road," said Selectman William O'Leary. O'Leary said a "very specific response to each recommendation would be made" within the next two weeks from board members. O'Leary

Winchester Players to present 'Three Sisters'

The actor John Gielgud once called Anton Chekhov the second greatest playwright in history. Perhaps. What is certain is that the "Three Sisters" is a play that can touch everyone.

The play is not often done in the community theater circuit, but the Winchester Players will present the romantic family drama on April 30, May 1, 2, 7, 8.

The play is about the lives and loves of the Prozorov family in Russia. Set against the backdrop of the military presence in a small town, the three sisters long for love to enter their lives. For one of them, Masha, love does arrive, in the presence of Vershinin, the unhappily married lieutenant in the army

Their love affair is one of the many moving relationships in "Three Sisters". Indeed, part of the remarkable beauty of "Three Sisters" is the epic sweep of the piece. Throughout the evening we are treated to a wonderfully diverse cast of characters, comic and tragic, from a retired army doctor, a tender elderly nanny, a comically pompous school teacher, to an ex-soldier who falls hopelessly in love with the youngest sister Irina.

"Three Sisters," which is directed by Ken Harvey and produced by Carolynn Frueh and Ann Guiderson, had been in the planning stages for more than a

Cat tests negative for rabies virus

By Deborah Trask
EDITOR

A 3-year-old Winchester resident received the first part of a post rabies series by the time state officials determined the cat that bit her was not rabid, say health officials.

According to Winchester Board of Health Director Joseph Tabbi, the child was playing in her yard last week when a stray cat scratched or bit her. After the mother contacted health officials, the animal was successfully captured and tested.

In an interview at the Board of Health, Tabbi said the stray cat might not have been so easily located, but health officials got lucky and after capturing the cat rushed it to the state laboratory where it tested negative for the virus.

"This is an example of why people need to be cautious of stray animals," said Tabbi. "With a stray animal, the probability of it being immunized is practically nil," he added.

Six raccoons and two cats in Winchester have thus far been tested at the state labs and half of them tested positive for the virus, says Tabbi.

In a separate incident, a dog was bitten by a raccoon over the Easter weekend and officials were unable to locate the raccoon.

"Lucky for the owner, the dog had received his rabies vaccination," said Tabbi. The dog will receive a booster shot which he termed a "good procedure in this case," and will be quarantined for three months in its home.

Animals that are suspected of being exposed without the appropriate vaccines will be quarantined for

Cuts to school budget studied

By Stephen Ollivieri
ASSISTANT EDITOR

The Winchester School Committee will have to take a hard look at the School Department budget after a Finance subcommittee recommended it make $710,000 in cuts.

The School Committee had proposed a $14.94 million budget for Fiscal Year 1994 in January. The committee had been at odds for the last couple of months with the town manager who budgeted the $14.4 million for the School Department. Now the Finance Committee's Education Subcommittee has recommended the School Department be appropriated just $14.23 million at Spring Town Meeting.

The Education Subcommittee presented a list to the School Committee of $710,000 in proposed cuts to reach the $14.23 million number.

Some of the proposed cuts include: extracurricular activities, $54,000; new hires, $156,600; athletics, $54,000; textbooks $25,000; professional services, $44,000; and sabbaticals, $35,000.

The Education Subcommittee noted that the School Department could stand to gain $434,000 next fiscal year from a state education reform bill now before a state Legislature conference committee. That amount is based on a formula in both the House and Senate bills that provides school communities with $150 per student.

The Education Subcommittee recommended that if an education bill is not passed and the state money not forthcoming, the School Committee seek the $434,000 from the town's free cash. The subcommittee said the School Committee could get that money by filing a warrant article at Fall Town Meeting.

Member James Evans said he was not supportive of this financial safety measure, saying that November, Winchester accountants worked overtime this week, as residents came to them in a last second rush to beat the tax man.

Area accountants seemed to face a particularly busy April this year, with most telling the Star that many people were waiting right up to the April 15 deadline to file their tax returns.

"People are definitely late in getting information in," said Winchester CPA Harold Richardson. "I'm pushed much later than I usually am."

Ann Nadeau, a Winchester CPA, said that the late filing of taxes is due to more people owing money and, as a result, waiting longer to pay than if they were collecting.

Nadeau said former President Bush's decision to change the tax tables last year has resulted in many people being surprised to discover they owe taxes this year when they never had before. During the '94 election, Bush changed the tax withholding rates so that the government would take less money each week from the income. However, as people got more money, it means they would get less, or even owe, at the end of the year.

"The president changed the rules to stimulate the economy, I guess,"

POLICE LOG

8:43 p.m.

A Main Street man reported a larceny from his motor vehicle to police. The owner of the motor vehicle said someone had stolen several credit cards in a wallet. He also reported that three cassette tapes were taken from the vehicle, which was parked in front of his residence.

2:44 p.m.

A Woburn male reported to police that someone had struck his motor vehicle while it was parked in an alley way on Church Street. The owner said he discovered that the vehicle was damaged on the left driver's side.

7:31 a.m.

Officer Carl Fuller was dispatched to a motor vehicle accident with personal injury on Washington Street. The operator of the first vehicle, a 34-year-old Burlington woman, was traveling north on Washington Street when she signaled to take a left turn onto Marion Street. The operator of the second vehicle, a 58-year-old Dartmouth Street man, was traveling west on Cross and thought the first vehicle was taking a left onto Cross. The operator of the second vehicle tried to cross Washington Street to Kenwin Road in front of the first vehicle.

The first vehicle, a special needs van, swerved to the right to avoid the second vehicle. It jumped a curb and struck a wood fence. One of the five passengers in the first vehicle, a 29-year-old Edwards Drive man, complained of back pain and was taken to the hospital by ambulance. The vehicle sustained damage to the right side directional.

2:33 p.m.

A Swan Road man reported to police that he had been awakened by someone trying to enter his house the previous night. Police discovered that someone had broken a window in the rear of the house, while trying to enter. No entry was made. Police believe the resident had scared the intruder away.

Friday, April 9

9:30 p.m.

Officer Stephen Roche was dispatched to Charles Road for a report of harassing phone calls and a death threat made to an 8-year-old resident.

A Charles Road woman told police that a woman with whom she had had a prior legal conflict with was making harassing calls to her house and had made a threat about her 8-year-old daughter while driving by her house.

Members of Students Against Driving Drunk (SADD) held their annual Wrecked Car Day, placing a totaled vehicle in front of the high school to remind students of the dangers of drinking and driving. April, the season of proms, is National Awareness Month for the SADD.

Winchester High School's SADD advisor Paula Charron said that every 24 minutes, someone is killed by in a alcohol-related accident. To remind the student body of that statistic, every 24 minutes a student went out to the wrecked car and placed a stake in the ground to represent someone who had been killed in an alcohol-related accident. Also, every 24 minutes a student would dress in black, to represent a victim of an accident, and not communicate without anyone for the rest of the day.

Charron said the vehicle at the high school had been involved in an alcohol-related accident.

SADD, a nationwide organization, was formed in 1982 at Wayland High School and now has approximately 6 million members. The Winchester High School chapter has 40 members.

Town looks at new policies

By Stephen Olivieri
ASSISTANT EDITOR

Several leading town officials are meeting to formulate policy and procedure to deal with an increasingly diverse population in town.

Town Manager W. Chadwick Maurer, Police Chief Joseph Perritano, Superintendent Robert Fitzgerald, and high school Principal John Ritchie have formed a committee to set in writing ways to deal with and approach any racial difficulties that might arise.

The committee is in its starting phase and has not set forth any concrete proposals or changes to town policy.

Fitzgerald said he will look into implementing "curriculum that represents the multi-cultural environment in which we live" into the school system. He said he will also review the schools hiring policies relating to "people of cross cultures."

Ritchie said the high school already contains a harrassment policy in its handbook that deals with students who promote, witness, or are victims of harrassment. Ritchie said he may change the handbook to highlight the policy.

Fitzgerald said the committee may eventually expand to include other community members. Fitzgerald said the meetings are not open to the public but will likely involve public forums.

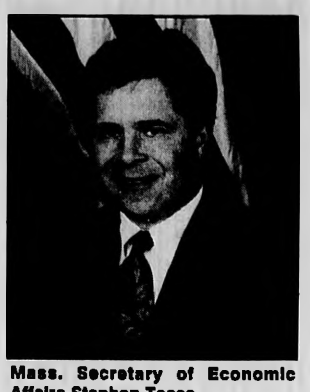
Broadhurst selected Citizen of the Year

By Stephen Olivieri
ASSISTANT EDITOR

The Winchester Chamber of Commerce has named Austin Broadhurst its 1993 Citizen of the Year.

Broadhurst has been an active member of the community since he first moved to Winchester in the early 1950's. Some of his activities include Town Meeting member, Finance Committee member, School Committee member, Library Board of Trustees member, trustee of the Winchester Savings Bank, and a director of the Winchester Hospital.

The announcement was made at the Chamber's 14th annual meeting held at the Winchester Country Club. Broadhurst, who was in attendance and unaware of the honor until it was announced, was surprised and almost speechless.



Mass. Secretary of Economic Affairs Stephen Tocco

"This is overwhelming to me. This is really a terrific community," said Broadhurst.

Chamber President Cathy Jackson said that the Chamber received 94 letters nominating Broadhurst. He will be awarded the Citizen of the Year award on May 19.

Last year's winner was former selectman Judie Muggia.

Gov. William Weld's Economic Affairs Secretary Stephen Tocco was the keynote speaker at the annual Chamber meeting.

Tocco discussed Weld's economic philosophy, what it had accomplished and where he hoped it would take the state in the rest of the decade.

Tocco first stressed the improvements that the Weld administrations has made since it took office in 1990, at which point the state was in "chaos", according to Tocco.

Tocco noted that Weld balanced a budget that had a gap of $850 million, cut taxes and approved the state's bond rating. "We brought fiscal stability back to Massachusetts," said Tocco.

Tocco, using the state's new "The Venture Capital" slogan, stressed that Massachusetts needs to become part of the international market to stay competitive.

Tocco defended the trade missions taken by Weld to foreign countries, which have received some flak from the media, saying they were important meetings needed to build international interest in Massachusetts businesses.

Among the things Tocco said would bring foreign markets to the state would be attractive economic policy at home -- low taxes and minimal government intrusion.

He said Massachusetts has some natural advantages -- its geography, health care facilities, education institutions, and culture -- that brings worldwide attention. "Everyone knows where Massachusetts is," said Tocco.

President Clinton, then governor of Arkansas, once told Weld he was fortunate to be from Massachusetts. "The first thing I have to do (when going abroad) is pull a map out and show where we are," Tocco said Clinton told Weld.

Town moves to educate public on glass recycling

By Stephen Olivieri
ASSISTANT EDITOR

Winchester's glass recycling program is back on track after suffering a setback due to residents placing non-recyclable glass with the recyclable glass.

Winchester shipped off a load of glass to be recycled last week under a new contract with Vining in Charlestown. But going back to October 1992 the town has not been able to recycle its glass.

After sending an average of 12 tons of glass a month since December 1989 to be recycled, Winchester's contract with Clean Environment was terminated because of problems with shipments containing contaminated glass.

Jonathan Douglas, a scale operator at the transfer station on McKay Avenue, said that contaminated glass has been an on-gong problem in Winchester.

As a result of the problems with contaminated glass, during the period between the termination of the contract in October and the settling of a new one with Vining this month, the glass that was collected at the transfer station for November, December, January, and February was not recycled.

After separating their glass at home, many residents were told when they got to the transfer station to place their glass on the conveyer belt with the regular trash.

Department of Public Works Director Anthony Celli said that the vendors want pure product and will reject glass that is contaminated.

"Residents need to follow the recycling rules," said Celli.

The only glass that should be put in the glass recycling bin is bottles and jars. Sharon Mastenbrook, chairman of the Solid Waste Study Committee, said the objects most often thrown in with the glass include bottle caps, light bulbs, windows, ceramics, window glass, drinking glasses, and china. Labels, which burn off in the recycling process, do not have to be removed before recycling.

Tom Hayden, a member of the Solid Waste Committee, said although his committee and other organizations have made strides to educate the residents about glass recycling, there is still more and continuous education is needed.

Douglas said the town has not yet received the tonnage from the load taken last week, but he said it was approximately 11 tons.

"We've had some problems with contaminants. People can make this program successful," said Hayden.

Why pay more on your home equity line of credit?

If you are thinking of establishing a new home equity line of credit, or if you have an equity line with a balance of $10,000 or more, you should take advantage of our very special home equity line of credit. We will set your rate at prime minus one percent during the first year of your loan. The prime rate at the end of March was 6.0%, which would have made your rate 5.0% during April.

Except for the discounted terms during the first year, this is a variable rate loan which fluctuates at 1.25% above the prime rate as quoted in the Wall Street Journal as of the last business day of the preceding month. This determines your rate for the following month.

This offer is available to residents in our lending area. Nominal closing costs and appraisal fees may apply. For details, please call Consumer Lending at (617) 729-2130.

SENIOR NEWS

FROM THE JENKS CENTER

By Mary Kelly
SPECIAL TO THE STAR

Francine Kollias, area social security field representative, answered questions from new retirees about federal government benefit programs at a recent workshop held at the Jenks Senior Center. She is pictured above (left) with Winchester resident Florence Karon. Kollias will return to the center in September for another workshop. Anyone having any questions about social security can contact the Davis Square office at 1-800-234-5772.

Jenks Center honors Borggaard, observes anniversary

Winchester seniors are cordially invited to attend an open house celebration and the 15th anniversary of the opening of the Jenks Senior Center, to be held on Sunday, April 18, 2:30 p.m., at the center. Simultaneously, Clarence Borggaard will be honored as "Outstanding Senior of the Decade." Speakers will include John Sullivan, town moderator, as master of ceremonies; Dr. Robert Smith, president of the WSA; Richard Norberg, chairman of the WSA Trust; Robert Ericson, chairman of the Council on Aging; Catherine Alexander, executive director of the Winchester Chamber of Commerce; and Richard Salter, president of the Winchester Rotary Club. Borggaard will also be expected to make a few comments.

A very entertaining afternoon is planned. Refreshments will be available, under the supervision of Helen Hodgdon, including finger foods, such as brownies, cakes, cookies and dainty sandwiches. Winchester's cooks and bakers are asked to participate in this event by baking and donating goodies to the open house. Won't you please call the desk receptionist at the Jenks Center now, and give your name and telephone number and tell what you will bake for this festive occasion.

There is no charge for admission to the open house but, in order that adequate provisions be made for refreshments, please sign up with the receptionist if you plan to attend.

'Ageless Follies' at Town Hall May 1

All systems are go for the "Ageless Follies" to be presented on Saturday, May 1, at 7:30 p.m., in the Town Hall auditorium. Performers are rehearsing, routines polished and anticipation runs high, all in preparation for this intergenerational effort to raise funds for the Winchester Youth Center.

Tickets for this second annual "no talent show" are available at many locations in town, including Book Ends, Cradock Apothecary, Henderson Stationers and at the Jenks Senior Center. Tickets for seats at tables on the floor of the auditorium are $6 each and in the balcony. Ticket sales are possible, as space allows, on the night of the performance.

A fun-filled event is in store for those attending. There will be talented young people as well as seniors on stage, creative commercials for local businesses will be part of the performance and romantic pictures of seniors in their younger days will be flashed on the wide screen. Refreshments will be available.

Last year this event was a sellout. So, be prepared, get your tickets early.

Seniors reminded to 'tag those raincoats'

Last week mention was made in this column that the rainy season each year brings problems because so many raincoats look alike. Remember therefore, to write your name and address on a piece of paper and put it in your coat pocket. Ownership can then be easily traced if there is any problem about leaving the center with another's raincoat.

WINCHESTER NEWS

In 1861, the "Congregational Quarterly" published this illustration of Winchester's First Congregational Church, identifying the architect as Alexander R. Esty. His role in designing the church, long overlooked in Winchester publications, was recently noted by Stephen Jerome, an architectural historian who will be lecturing on April 29.

Historian to lecture on church architect

by Maureen Meister
SPECIAL TO THE STAR

For more than a century, Winchester's First Congregational Church has presided over the town center. It represents an early and elegant example of Romanesque Revival architecture.

Who designed it and what did it originally look like?

Stephen Jerome will answer these questions when he delivers a slide presentation, sponsored by the Winchester Historical Society, on Thursday, April 29, at 7:30 p.m., at the church.

The title of his lecture is "Neat, Convenient and Tastefully Designed: The First Congregational Church of Winchester and Its Architect, Alexander R. Esty." The lecture is free and open to the public.

Jerome is an architectural historian and curator of a historic house for the Brookline Historical Society. Recently he identified Esty as the church architect.

For a number of years, Jerome has been studying the career of Richard Bond, an architect who was active in Boston during the first half of the 19th century. Jerome has written about Bond for the Maine Historic Preservation Commission and early this year he lectured on Bond at Mount Auburn Cemetery in Cambridge.

Bond designed Lewis Wharf in Boston, 1834-38, and Gore Hall at Harvard College, 1836-38, which has been demolished. He also trained young architects, including Esty.

In a Congregational Church publication, dating from 1861, Jerome found an illustration of a new church, designed by Esty early in his career. It was Winchester's First Congregational Church. The new building was both illustrated and described at length in "The Congregational Quarterly," volume three, number four, pages 337-340.

When this information was presented to Ann Russell, a lifelong Winchester resident and member of the church, she confirmed that the article was not in the church archives. She has researched and written about the church's stained glass windows.

Jerome's new information prompted Russell to reexamine the church's early records. In the "Parish Book of Woburn South Congregational Parish," a handwritten journal, she found that the Building Committee had been in contact with "Mr. Bond, the architect" (April 11, 1853). A year later, payment of $100 was made to "Mr. Esty" (Oct. 2, 1854).

The church also possesses a pew plan, which is signed by Esty.

What Bond's role may have been in planning the church is open to conjecture, but clearly Esty both received payment and took credit for the final design.

Esty was born in Framingham in 1826 and lived until 1881. Through his career, he designed a number of houses in Framingham. He designed churches throughout eastern Massachusetts, including the Prospect Congregational Church in Cambridge, dating from 1851, and Emmanuel Church on Newbury Street, Boston, from 1861-62. He designed many campus buildings, including Anderson Hall, University of Rochester, 1859-61.

LIBRARY LINES

By Richard Welton
SPECIAL TO THE STAR

Books that change lives on display in reference room

The National Library Week theme for 1993 is "Libraries Change Lives," and to illustrate that assertion, the reference department is displaying examples of 'books that change lives' during the month of April. Books on fitness, physical and mental health, self-discovery, career decisions and family issues will be included.

Patriot's Day subject of April display

Stop by the glass display case in the library lobby and you will see an display of materials related to the battle at the North Bridge that started the Revolutionary War, and that we Massachusetts residents celebrate on Patriots' Day. The display was contributed by Darlene Wigton of Winchester, who is a member of His Majesty's 10th Regiment of Foot in America, a living history group that recreates the British regiment that confronted the American Minute Men in this famous battle. Wigton is also an interpreter at the Minute Man National Historic Park. The display includes a schedule of the re-enactment activities that will be held in Lexington on Patriots' Day this year.

Consumer Reports car issue available

Each year, the April issue of Consumer Reports is devoted to automobiles and the April 1993 issue is now available at the Winchester Public Library. Each make and model of car is rated on the basis of style, convenience, performance, and reliability. A comparison table evaluates various optional equipment. Another feature is a series of charts that depict the frequency-of-repair records for each model. Consumer Reports can be found on the consumer table in the reference room.

Activities planned for school vacation week

The Winchester Public Library's Children's Department has scheduled two events for school age children during school vacation week. On Wednesday, April 21, at 2 p.m., the feature film, Jacob Two-Two Meets The Hooded Fang, will be shown in the library's Meeting Room. On Friday, April 23, at 2 p.m., the Children's Room will offer a "B.Y.O.G". ("Bring Your Own Games") program.

No registration or tickets are required for either activity. For information call 721-7140.

Storyteller Wangh coming to library

Master Storyteller Jo-Ann Wangh will bring a collection of medieval tales to school age children at the Winchester Public Library on Tuesday, April 27, at 3:30 p.m. It will be held in the children's department's newly refurbished Storytelling Room.

Wangh was named 'One Of The Most Exciting Names And Faces Of 1993' by Boston Magazine, and has performed extensively in New England, Israel and Greece. She is a master storyteller for Young Audiences of Massachusetts, was featured at the Three Apples Storytelling Festival in Harvard, Mass., and will be featured at the New England Modern Storytelling Festival in Portland, Maine.

No registration or tickets are required. For information call 721-7140.

Book discussion postponed

The discussion of The Lyre Of Orpheus, by Robertson Davies, that was scheduled for Tuesday, April 20, has been postponed until Tuesday, April 27.

EnKa Society "Field of Dreams" Fair Chairmen Judy King and Jane D'Entremont. The fair will be held Friday evening and all day and evening, May 14 and May 15.

Spring En Ka meeting held in Parish of Epiphany

The Spring En Ka Society luncheon meeting was recently held at the Parish of The Epiphany, the hall was decorated in honor of the upcoming "Field of Dreams" fair. President Nancy Clarke conducted the business meeting. Danice O'Neil, gifts chairman, named the following recipients of the En Ka grants this spring, they include Multicultural Network, Lynch School ESL Program, German Exchange Program, Special Needs PAC, Recreation Department, African Resources Institute and Winchester Scholarship Foundation.

Since the January meeting, two members have passed away. Kay Connor spoke in memory of Mabel Chilcott and Alice Smith. Terri Stevens, En Ka exchange chairman, presented Clarke with a check and reported on the recent sales activity. En Ka "Field of Dreams" Fair Chairman Jane d'Entremont and Judy King reported plans are well underway for the fair to be held on May 14 and 15. Donations are being accepted for Bargain Box by Louise O'Donnell and her committee. This year's quilt is nearly completed and the design is "The Fanciful Star Quilt." d'Entremont and King concluded the meeting with a dialogue for everyone.

Fire fighter exam to be given

Rep. Paul Casey announces the upcoming civil service test for municipal fire fighters. Applications to take the exam must be received or postmarked by April 16 in order to be eligible to take the exam scheduled May 22.

Applicants must be between the ages of 19 and 32 although candidates over 32 may be appointed by municipalities who are sure the candidate can meet certain medical and fitness standards. All applicants must be nonsmokers and some municipalities may require a driver's license and passage of job-related medical and/or psychological examinations.

A visit to the Massachusetts Department of Personnel Administration on the second floor of One Ashburton Place in Boston is strongly advised by Casey in order to gain further information on testing, fees, and fee waivers and claims for hiring preference because of the closeness of the deadline. Applicants can also call Casey's office at 722-2692 for additional help.

Volunteers sought at Winchester Hospital

The volunteer office at Winchester Hospital is now interviewing for summer positions in the Junior Volunteer Program. Young people who are interested should be 14 years or older.

Junior volunteers serve in many areas of the hospital: as messengers running errands and transporting patients, in the coffee shop, on nursing units and in several departments as clerical aides. Juniors work one or two half days a week, and schedules can be arranged to meet summer vacations or other obligations. Training is provided for all assignments.

Volunteering in a large, complex hospital such as Winchester, affords young people the opportunity to be of service while learning. Interested teens should call the volunteer office at 756-2626 for information and an interview. The summer program begins on June 26.

WINCHESTER NEWS

Gas company union, officials at impasse

By ALIN KOCHARIANS
HARTE—HANKS STAFF

The news that Boston Gas and a local union have yet to come to terms on a new contract will affect the type of service the company can provide its customers, say officials.

The members of the United Steel Workers of America Local 12007, the Boston Gas Company union that services Winchester and surrounding communities, have not accepted their new contract. As a result, Boston Gas will only respond to emergency calls.

The local's contract ended on March 28. Members will go to the negotiating table with Boston Gas officials on Thursday.

The two sides cannot even agree on what to call this standoff. The unionists call it a "lock-out," while Boston Gas officials refer to it as a "strike."

Frank Leydon, chief spokesperson for local 12007, said on Tuesday that the 200 members of the Malden-based union are "unable to come to an agreement with Boston Gas." He added that company officials walked away from the negotiating table after a "20-hour marathon negotiation session. They said no short-term solution was forthcoming and they said 'no contract, no work.' "

Said Leydon, "We as union members are inconvenienced by this lockout also. We are standing up for our rights. What we want is to go back to work and we want a fair contract. We want free choice and accessiblity of health care. We want a good retirement package and job security."

He added, "Some of the issues that we have are the free choice of quality health care and retirees' take away" health benefits. In addition, he said, Boston Gas management wants to take away all the benefits of new employees starting in 1997.

"With this union, there has been no negotiation yet," said Frank Arricale of Boston Gas. "Their demand is (for us) not to change their health care. They are the same issues as the local in Boston."

The Boston union, United Steelworkers local 12003, are still not back at work after over 11 weeks. Aside from Boston, that union services several western suburbs for Boston Gas.

Arricale said that Winchester residents have little to worry about, as the company officials have been able to "respond to all emergencies and do some service work as well.

"For the most part, the only thing we can't do, is to respond to all requests for routine appliance repair," he said. "We are advising people, when they want that service, to call their plumber or heating contractor." For additional names, residents can contact Boston Gas.

Leydon disagreed, saying that the people are seriously affected by the lack of skilled employees doing the work.

"They have inexperienced managment people doing our job," he said. "They're doing jobs that they're not qualified to be doing."

Executive Secretary Mel Kleckner said that Boston Gas is not doing some routine work, such as hookups. Instead, he said, they only respond to emergencies. "There is no serious impact at this point."

Union members are more optimistic about the end of the impasse than Boston Gas officials.

"We certainly are optimistic," Leydon said. "We're hoping it is not (so long) as the other" union's deadlock. "We are certainly optimistic they can hammer something out."

Said Arricale, "I have no feel whatsoever about what could possibly happen. We have been negotiating on a regular basis with 12003 for 11 weeks. There has been no change."

About 50 members of Local 12007 demonstrated last Wednesday morning on Selwyn Road, in front of the home of Chester Messer II, the president of the Boston Gas Company.

"What we try to do is to demonstrate in a peaceful and orderly fashion, especially if we have job sites," Leydon said. "Our priority is to have no violence. We have instructed each and every one of our members. In no way do we condone violence whatsoever."

Arricale concurred with Leydon, saying that there has not been any vandalism or violence by the union members. He added the Boston Gas operation in Malden is picketed daily.

Heinold takes over as chair

By Emily Doherty
SPECIAL TO THE STAR

It took only seconds for all five members of the School Committee to choose member Jerilyn Heinold as their new chairman.

Heinold was nominated by member James Evans at the April 7 meeting, a nomination which was seconded by member Edward O'Connell.

Heinold takes over the position formerly held by Mark Lombardi, who was defeated by Eli Bortman on March 30 in the town election.

Appearing comfortable in her new role, Heinold told the committee members and audience, "I am very happy to be sitting here tonight. And the first thing I'd like to do is welcome Mr. Bortman to the table. I look forward to working with you."

Evans was appointed vice-chairman in a unanimous vote by the committee. Bortman made the nomination and O'Connell seconded it.

In one of her first actions as chairman, Heinold moved the approval of Dr. Linda Warren to conduct an evaluation of the special education program.

Warren was interviewed and reviewed by Heinold, Frank Bianco, special education director, and School Committee member Constance Makhoul. Makhoul gave a positive recommendation of Warren to the committee and approval was voted by the committee.

Open Meeting

Tackling a less popular issue, Heinold brought forth a reply from complaints filed with the District Attorney's Office. Committee members received a packet to fill out stating their knowledge and involvement of the School Committee meeting on March 2, a meeting at which Lombardi was accused by Heinold of setting up a majority vote to appoint Robert Fitzgerald as the new superintendent of schools.

"It is my opinion that we should make our own statements and forward them to the District Attorney's Office," proposed Heinold. When asked if the School Committee's attorney should be consulted prior to responding, O'Connell and Evans opposed having their responses filtered. Committee members agreed to fill out and send in the packets individually.

O'Connell said, "I will give my personal response and that is a matter of my conscience." The committee members responses will be reviewed by the District Attorney's Office and a ruling will be issued whether or not the committee violated Open Meeting Law.

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

Battling the epidemic

We often write editorials that sound the alarm on various town issues ranging from public policy decisions to School Committee debates.

Our arguments, often lofty, defend our positions on the issues and may sound at times as though we knew more than the mere mortals who read this paper weekly.

Well, we will, no pun intended, stray from that course and admit to a human frailty or two.

One night around 6 p.m. this past week we were conducting our normal family evening business: cooking dinner; drawing baths for the kids and reading stories, when a glance out the window confirmed that the family cat, Kadi, was frolicking with a very large raccoon in the driveway.

We'd like to say our response was to call the proper authorities and have the raccoon hauled away, after first inspecting the animal and determining if it seemed ill or not.

Our response was quite the opposite. We grabbed brooms and a shovel and immediately responded to the aid of our favorite feline, who seemed not to be bothered by the presence of the hairy stranger in broad daylight.

While we chased the cat to get her out of the range of the nonplussed raccoon, the two animals tried their best to stay out of our way. Kadi playfully dodged us and the raccoon continued to meander slowly through the yard without giving us so much as a glance.

The news this week that one child was started on a series of shots, after being scratched or bitten by a stray cat has struck much the same fear we felt in our driveway, into the hearts of local residents. The Health Department reports that thankfully, the cat proved not to be infected with the virus. But, the fear remains and is something with which we must all deal.

We who have penned many a story on "The spreading epidemic of raccoon rabies" chose merely to ignore the best advice of the experts and instead did what came most naturally.

Fortunately for us, the raccoon in question was responding to a higher need for food and was apparently not infected.

And officials tell us, there is really no cause for alarm. Through the consistent effort of our local agency, the Board of Health, education of the public on controlling their exposure as the number of rabid animals rises, is really the chief concern.

The board is being inundated with calls about raccoons spotted in broad daylight, who are merely going about the business of collecting their food. Director Joseph Tabbi says increased public education in the schools and in the media about the obvious signs of rabies infection is really the key.

Protecting the family from accidental infection to the rabies virus takes a good dose of common sense and listening to those same officials. (By the way, Kadi returned safely inside soon after we opened a can of tuna in front of her.)

We need to support the article coming up at Spring Town Meeting which calls for the creation of a revolving fund for the Health Department. These funds will provide necessary resources for the board to continue its inoculation of the town's domestic animal population. Protecting the cats and dogs we love is the first line of defense.

BEACON HILL ROLL CALL

Beacon Hill Roll Call
Volume 20 — Report No. 11
Massachusetts House and Senate
April 5 to 9

THE HOUSE. Beacon Hill Roll Call records local representatives' votes on one roll call from the week of April 5 to 9.

LOCKOUTS (S 1523) — House, 124-28, gave final approval to the bill giving unemployment benefits to workers locked out by employers during a labor dispute. Supporters said this bill will give some security to workers and their families during lockouts. They pointed to the current Boston Gas Company lockout and noted that present law allows the Department of Employment and Training to decide on a case by case basis whether jobless benefits are paid. Opponents said the bill tilts the balance too far in favor of unions and sends yet another anti-business message from the State House. The bill was approved by the Senate on a voice vote and sent to Governor Weld.

A Yes vote is for giving unemployment benefits to locked out workers. A No vote is against giving benefits.

THE SENATE. Beacon Hill Roll Call records local senators' votes on four roll calls from recent votes on amendments to the public education reform bill and the rules under which the Senate operates. There were no roll calls in the Senate last week.

What a difference a generation makes

TERRY MAROTTA
COLUMNIST

The scene takes place a few years ago, during choir practice in a church that serves up a Sunday brunch of music so sublime it makes your facial hair stand on end. Some months before, a young woman, 14, was admitted to this choir, the youngest member by two decades. As she sits, between a soprano psychologist and an alto chemist, a phrase in bright blue ink is clearly visible on the thigh of her blue jeans. "THIS SUCKS", it says in three-inch capitals.

Squirming minutely nearby sits another woman, attempting by her general demeanor to look both sober and removed, like someone who would never say such words herself, much less inscribe them on her own leg, but who is at the same time mellow and self-actualized enough to tolerate such means of expression in others.

The one minutely squirming was me; the one wearing the personal bumper sticker, my daughter.

Kids today sure are different.

Back in our day, before entering any part of a church, we girls swaddled ourselves like beekeepers in skirts and hats and even gloves. And we dropped to our knees the minute we hit the door. The young don't do much of that today, in church or anywhere.

They have a certain boldness that thumbs its nose at convention. When she was confirmed that same spring, this daughter made it clear she would not be buying a new floral dress for the event ("I'm not wearing wallpaper.") Instead she came in a simple hippie-style frock, and over it, against the morning chill, a leather jacket that once belonged to an old student of mine, a merry sardonic lad, routinely threatened and even popped in the nose once or twice for injudicious mouthings off. On the jacket's arm is what looks like a human bite mark.

Back in our day, by contrast, girls dressed the way the magazines said to. We wore our boyfriends' letter sweaters and deferred to their opinions. We let them drive — even in our own cars — and praised their parallel parking skills. We broke up with one only to begin with another. The steps were both grave and dramatic; the text like something from the Late Show.

I myself was bold by those days' standards; yet I let myself be owned by a boy, played into the myth that I was some ineffable prize, which he would fight for if it came to that. And it did, too, in 8th grade, when I began a frank flirtation with his best friend. I remember how I led the Flirtation into the woods up behind the track at the playground; pouted prettily so he would kiss me — then acted surprised and offended when he tried to — all to provoke a fistfight in my "honor."

This scene came to mind at the end of a more recent holiday, when, disappointed in love, our daughter wept, curled in a ball on the kitchen floor. Her friend Samantha comforted her a while, then sprang to her feet. "Chocolate's the only answer here!" she declared, hoisting our girl in one hand and a sheetcake the size of a coffee table in the other, and proceeding to the front porch to ritually devour it. A second, male, visitor tripped along at their heels. "Can I come too?" he asked. Sam shook her head no. "It's a girl thing." "But I've always wanted to be a woman!," replied the boy, cheerily trotting alongside. "I'd love to bear children!" We've come a long way from the Late Show, was all I could think.

When we were young, touching and hugging were highly sexualized; you didn't touch anyone without romantic intent. As a result, outside the occasional steamy clinch, you didn't get touched. Today, by contrast, kids touch and hug and rub one another's backs. It seems pretty healthy to me.

But much has transpired since THIS SUCKS went to church with us. Our daughter's heart mended in time, though she did go to that year's prom in a tux, with a girl for an escort. She got a lady rat for a pet, who used to descend her bare back and stroll around inside her sweater. Samantha, meanwhile, got a rat and a tarantula and a boa constrictor, all of which, I believe, she still has. Both girls drive now, and praise each other's parking skills. And I am proud of the young women they have become.

A boy named Alden borrowed the Human Bite Mark about six months ago, though, and my daughter does want it back. Don't tell her I said so, Alden, but as far as I'm concerned, the thing is yours.

ON THE RECORD

Superintendent of Schools Robert Fitzgerald announced at the School Committee's April 13 meeting that, barring anymore snow days, the last day of the school year would be Friday, June 25. That would bring the number of school days to 180.

Winchester resident Joseph Mozzicato testified before the Senate Government Regulations Committee on April 14 on behalf of his recycling lottery bill . The bill, Senate 433, proposes to give special lottery tickets to people who return a certain amount of returnables. Mozzicato said using a lottery system would make recycling more enjoyable and would cause people to return recyclables. Mozzicato expected Rep. Paul Casey, Sen. Charles Shannon to testify on behalf of his bill at the hearing, which had not ended by the Star deadline. Mozzicato will bring with him the 25,000 signatures he has obtained in support of the bill.

Selectman Carol Mullin joined the Board of Selectmen after a week abroad. Selectmen Chairman Peter VanAken sought to calm the newest addition to the board. "We certainly have not been able to solve all the problems in your absence," said VanAken. "I am honored by the confidence that the town has shown by voting for me," said Mullin in accepting her new role.

Before losing his seat, School Committee Chairman Mark Lombardi warned members Jerilyn Heinold and James Evans, when they complained about a lack of communication among committee members, that they would some day find out how difficult it is to be chairman. Newly-elected Chairwoman Heinold may have learned that lesson already. Heinold tried to form subcommittees to study different parts of the budget within the next week for possible reductions, but the committee members had trouble finding times they could get together. Heinold suggested the committee partake in "some intense phone conversations", which immediately brought a reminder from member Edward O'Connell of what happened the last time committee members partook in phone conversations.

The School Committee has endorsed the reinstatement of the position of assistant superintendent of curriculum and instruction. A curriculum director had been in the School Department's proposed Fiscal Year 1994 budget, but now the committee wants it to be an assistant superintendent position.

Colonel William P. Winchester

Cultural benchmarks

By DAN CHANE
Special to the Star

In 1987 our historic Town Hall was an empty Godforsaken shell and public meetings were held anywhere there was room in town.

Since October 1987, the 350th Anniversary Committee had been meeting at the public safety building planning for the events of the upcoming commemorative year.

At this exciting juncture of affairs — on a cold December evening — Dr. Lynne Rahmeier, director of the Winchester High School music department, presented the 350th Committee with a plan to privately raise $30,000 for a new town piano.

As Lynne put it, "During a performance of a jazz ensemble to benefit ABC House, in 1986, the piano suddenly went out of tune. The estimate to repair it was close to $15,000. The next year it was found that the piano at Lincoln School needed $2,000 worth of repairs to make it serviceable for a benefit concert to be given by Richard and Lucy Stoltzman."

Ultimately, as the ancient Town Hall piano was junked during renovations, it was noted that there was no longer even one serviceable piano of concert hall quality in the public domain.

In June of 1988, Dr. Rahmeier presented a new Steinway piano to Bob Deering, chairman of the Board of Selectmen, at a gala "Black and White" reception at Jenks Center.

By late 1988 the Winchester Room at Town Hall had been completed and the final and keynote event of the 350th celebration was held there on Dec. 11. That concert featured many artists prominent on the local music scene, Cellist Yo-Yo Ma and the new Steinway.

That historic event was amplified in April of 1989 at the rededication of Town Hall when a sacred Masonic ceremony was punctuated by a "chorale for brass, chorus and percussion" written by local composer, Stephen Andre.

Andre, impressed with the unique qualities of Town Hall Auditorium, went on, with others, to found the now popular Winchester Concert Series.

Winchester Concert Series has just completed its fourth season at Town Hall.

On April 4, with great panache, it mounted a full symphony orchestra — The New England Philharmonic — in that spacious auditorium.

Interestingly enough, professional symphonic music has not been heard in Town Hall since shortly after World War I.

This entire chain of events was triggered by the dedication of the new Town Piano on June 1, 1988.

Happy 5th birthday to our Town Piano.

COMMENT

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Mark Lombardi thanks supporters

To the editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the many volunteers who helped in my recent bid for a second term on your School Committee. This year was a particularly difficult one for campaigning due to the terrible weather, and I was once again amazed at the dedication and sacrifice shown by the many people who helped. I have enjoyed my three-year tenure on the board and will continue to stay involved while my children progress through our excellent school system. I look forward to working with you all in the future and know that our collective commitment to education will only grow stronger as the challenges become greater.

Mark S. Lombardi

Validity of statement in letter questioned

To the editor:

In recent weeks there has been much printed concerning the School Committee and the Open-Meeting Law, the most recent by Joyce Westner in your April 1 edition.

It would appear to the casual reader that the School Committee has indeed committed some grave error in violating the tenet of the Law when in fact all that exists is a difference in description among the members of the committee as to what conversations may or may not have taken place and what their content may have been.

At the School Committee meeting of March 2, Mrs. Heinold described what she thought she heard chairman Lombardi say to her on the telephone earlier in the day. Lombardi then described what he thought he said to her. The descriptions were different but there was no judgment by anyone on who was accurate and who was not.

Some people who heard the two descriptions and chose, for whatever reasons, to believe Mrs. Heinold, decided to file a complaint with the District Attorney's office. There is nothing incriminating about this process — it is simply a consumer complaint and may or may not be justified, but it has no intrinsic judgmental value.

Those people who chose to believe Lombardi did nothing, because there was nothing further to do beyond respecting the word of an honest man and public official.

It is therefore quite appalling to see that people who would consider themselves to be thoughtful, responsible citizens of a country whose judicial system is built on the principal of "innocent until proven guilty" have already tried and found guilty the School Committee in the absence of any evidence whatsoever.

Yes, Ms. Westner, something good did come from a legal and proper process. Think about it, making unsubstantial judgments on your part does not make you correct.

Donald K. Verrecchia

Lombardi responds to WEA team

To the editor:

One of the advantages of not being reelected to serve on the School Committee is that I will not hesitate to respond to public statements and letters to the editor by those who wish to rewrite history and misinform the general public. I made it my policy not to respond to "letters to the editor" while I served as a School Committee member.

The letter that appeared in last week's Winchester Star from the Winchester Education Association bargaining unit criticizing my campaign ads not only twists the truth but demonstrates a degree of cowardice and back-stabbing that amazes even me, one who has been backstabbed by the best.

First, to draw the conclusion from my political statement, "Negotiated the lowest contract in recent years with the teachers' union, (0 percent, 4½ percent, 4½ percent over three years)," that I was in fact "gloating" shows insecurity and immaturity on the part of the WEA. That statement in my political ad is indeed the truth. All bargaining team members said they were pleased with the settlement and in fact all bargaining team members were happy enough with the settlement to convince the general membership to endorse it.

Second, to question my statement that "classroom teachers are my first priority," ignores the fact that I fought to hire additional classroom teachers while hundreds of thousands of dollars were being cut from past School Department budgets. Could the WEA bargaining team give me the names of those who have been "layed-off" from our school system over the past three years because I can show you those who have been hired.

Third, to state that I was using the above two quotations in a "negative political forum," is an out and out lie. I did have some accomplishments over the past three years, and for me to state them as being in the best interest of the citizens of Winchester is neither negative nor political.

And lastly, on the issue of cowardice. Wasn't it only a few weeks ago that we were all shaking hands, smiling and congratulating each other on a good and fair contract agreement? Why do I have this feeling that if I were still a member of the School Committee that the smiles and hand shakes would still be there?

Why not release your letter before you knew the outcome of the election? Bill O'Connor, didn't you express your sentiments to me that this contract agreement was reasonable and fair? Clarence Olson, even though your stated concern was over how far your paycheck would go toward your grocery bill, weren't you in fact pleased with the agreement? If not, why did you sell it to the general membership?

Stephen Gorrie, Sheryl Norris, Susan Smith and Michael Marino, you collectively said more in your short letter to the editor than you did during the many, many hours we spent hammering out the teachers contract, so would one of you please pull that knife out of my back as I leave the table?

Reader questions use of well field

To the editor:

This writer enters the controversy over the use of the Well Field adjacent to the Lynch School property for a playground.

1. I do not believe the Fields Committee, nor the town manager, nor the school officials' statements, innuendos or data, on the above.

In the first place whereas back in 1960, the Town's Spot Pond pumping station was put into operation, thus releasing the Well Field as an emergency water supply. That is understandable and doubtless was done in good judgment at the time — but, did they recently test the water in the Well Field to determine if it is fit for drinking? If not, why?

It is now 1993, and good drinking water has become a number one plus commodity, health-wise and money-wise. With the Town facing a $6,500,000 water filtration bombshell, would it not be sensible, feasible, and logical to preserve our Well Field to find good water for our own use and savings?

The city of Woburn presently has a number of gravel-packed wells about 1500 yards from our Well Field. From these wells, Woburn pumps approximately half of the water needs for a city of 60,000 people; Winchester has only 22,000 people.

Winchester prides itself in being so much smarter and wiser than most towns, with an overspending of tax money for school costs, it is about time the town woke up and looked at more important things.

Priorities in this money payout should be to the people most important to this town. Police and Fire Departments must be supported, including our marvelous EMTS, who respond instantly at all hours of the day and night to all emergencies. These two departments and their personnel are our first and only defense in the war against crime, and safety to us and your children that we have. You see it every day and night. Think about it!

2. Our highway safety and public works departments which keep us mobile and the town looking decent, out in all kinds of weather, spring, summer, fall, winter, rain, snow, sleet, hurricane, whatever, without whom the schools and the rest of us could not function need our support.

3. Then, the School Department with its insatiable appetite for more programs, necessary or not, perks and extras, not merited.

Promotion should be from within the town system and not from the outside. We must take pride in the home-grown and educated personnel. They know your children and teachers and thus sort out the opportunists whose main goal is not your good, but his or her own good and financial gain and reputation.

I have lived in this town since 1949 and worked in it since 1940 and don't like the way it is going, hence this letter.

I thank Robert Dewald for bringing much of this to my attention.

I hope all town meeting members will take time to read this letter and think about it patiently, clearly and honestly, and vote the way they believe is best for the town.

Johnson thanks voters for support

To the editor:

To serve on any board in town requires many hours away from your family, and I want to publicly thank my wife, Mary, and children, Meredith and Brian, for their encouragement and support of my candidacy for selectman.

I also thank the many citizens who voted for me on March 30.

A campaign requires the time and energy of many people, and words can't express my feelings of gratitude towards the people that came forward to work and contribute to my campaign. I won't begin naming individuals, but you all know who you are, and my heartfelt thanks go to you. I have enjoyed the past ten years of volunteer service to Winchester and plan to continue serving in the future.

I congratulate Selectman Carol Mullin for running a successful campaign and wish her well in her position as selectman.

Ralph Johnson

Taxpayers' Association argues for balanced budget

To the editor:

With spring Town Meeting only a few weeks away, it is certainly time for our elected officials to agree on a balanced budget for FY '94. The superintendent's school budget came in at a 9.6 percent over the previous year's budget. Such increases are totally inconsistent with today's economic reality. Such an increase must be firmly rejected by the taxpayers. Even the Town Manager's balanced budget option allows education an enormous 6.8 percent. Containment of unnecessary overspending must not be confused with budget cutting. It is simply not possible to have run-away budget increases and keep our Winchester homes affordable and our tax rates within Proposition 2½.

The Taxpayers' Association must warn the electorate about the possibility of this town's spring Town Meeting passing an unbalanced budget. Such an irresponsible act would force the Town to raise additional money by a special override election. This tactic separates candidates from the real issues in our annual town elections. Hence, it undermines the credibility of our elected officials and the democratic process itself.

The ultimate decision to stop unnecessary spending in Winchester will be made by the electorate when another attempt to override Proposition 2½ is defeated for the fifth time. It should be remembered that a consensus by Town Meeting does not always represent the views of the electorate. This fact has been confirmed by the overwhelming defeat of all previous override attempts in Winchester.

Lawrence DeCicco
Chairman, Winchester
Taxpayers' Association

Election results revisited by resident

To the editor:

The winning candidates for the Board of Selectmen and School Committee in last week's town election received 50.8 percent and 50.3 percent respectively of the total votes cast. In both cases a majority of the voters made their decision in a closely contested election. — In the words of Ross Perot — "case closed" — Let's move on.

But, wait, let's take a closer look. Elections are declared landslides when the winners gain more than 60 percent of the votes. And there were landslides in this election. The percentage of votes received by the winners and losers in Precinct 3, 4, 5, and 7 were very different than those in Precincts 1, 2, 6, and 8.

Precinct 3, 4, 5, 7: In the Selectman race 62.9 percent voted for the winner and 33.6 percent for the loser. In the School Committee race 62.4 percent voted for the winner and 36.2 percent for the loser.

Precinct 1, 2, 6, 8: In the Selectman race 35.3 percent voted for the winner and 60.0 percent for the loser. In the School Committee race 34.8 percent voted for the winner and 63.0 percent for the loser.

These numbers are in all cases of landslide size. They are not the votes of a closely contested campaign by four competent candidates who took like positions on their budgets and professed support for the current professional managers of the town.

They seem more like — my side of town versus your side of town. There were 23 percent more voters in Precincts 3, 4, 5, and 7 than in the others. Let's not go through another year of — "I'll get my votes out next year and watch out." Let us talk to each other. Let's develop town-wide candidates. Who will be the first to extend the hand of compromise.

An idea — How quickly can we amend the Town Charter to provide that 40-year continuous members of Town Meeting will become permanent members and not be required to stand for election?

John Twomey

A look back at Election '93

By Judie Muggia
SPECIAL TO THE STAR

GUEST COLUMNIST

On the rainy Monday morning before town elections, I found myself at the C&G Restaurant having coffee with friends and strangers alike, all discussing the election and assessing, yet again, the dynamics of the various campaigns and chances of the candidates.

"Did any of you receive this letter?" asked one person. I had not personally received the letter in question, sent on behalf of the School Committee incumbent by a Precinct 8 activist. It urged people to vote primarily because, "the Winchester we have come to know and love and the one we raised our children in is threatened by a very liberal group of individuals whose point of view could change Winchester forever."

The author is absolutely entitled to his opinion; it was the reaction of the recipient that interested me. She wanted to know why a "point of view" was a threat and did the letter mean the candidate had not and would not listen to various points of view?

Another discussion centered on a sign holder for Carol Mullin's campaign who suggested that questioning her candidate's Town Meeting record was a "dirty tactic." She asked if those present thought voters would decide how to vote based on that kind of campaign effort, rather than comparing the candidates' civic and educational backgrounds.

That evening I found in my mailbox a letter sent by a Town Meeting member from Precinct 5 to "Friends of the Vinson Owen School." This letter raised again the specter of Vinson Owen school closing and stated, "Remember, it is a political fact that the candidates running for School Committee draw their support from very different political camps. One camp has consistently supported five elementary schools, while the alternate camp has been in favor of school closing."

There were three scribbled questions on the letter: "Is a school closing an issue this year?" "Are either of these people listeners?" "Does (Eli) Bortman's quote in Northwest Weekly mean he can't?"(Listen, presumably).

This year, the local process seemed to include much urging of voters to identify with "camps" rather than the background, policy attitudes, and reasoning methods the candidates brought to the discussion of the issues before us.

Election day came and the majority of the 30 percent who took time to vote, chose new people to represent them in the three contested, town-wide offices. Newly configured boards are in place. Already the Board of Selectmen has put the election behind it with its organizational meeting. New leadership is in place on the School Committee.

Let's hope that board members and citizens alike, will take time to stop, assess their political baggage, lay it down and, unburdened by the weight of grievance, bias or prejudice, move into the future free to tackle the issues strictly on their merits.

FREE "LIVING TRUST" SEMINAR
Find Out How To
Transfer Your Estate to Your Family Quickly - Without Probate Fees
ATTEND ONE OF THESE FREE SEMINARS
Needham Sheraton, Mon. April 26 - 10 a.m. or 7 p.m.
(Route 128, Exit 19A, Highland Avenue)
OR
Waltham Guest Quarters, Tue. April 27 - 10 a.m. or 7 p.m.
(Route 128, Exit 27B, Winter Street)
Attend one of these seminars and receive a FREE, one-hour, private consultation to answer any questions you have about setting up your personal Living Trust ($175 value) and FREE Health Care Proxy (Living Will) with any Estate Plan
Why You Should Have a Living Trust...
• Your estate will transfer quickly to your family upon your death.
• There will be no probate court fees and no probate attorney fees for your family to pay.
• If you're married and your estate is worth less than $1.2 million, there will be no federal estate taxes to pay.
• You'll avoid conservatorship if you become incapacitated.
Without a Living Trust, This is What Will Happen... Even If You Have a Will...
• Your estate will go through probate to prove ownership and transfer title, which takes an average of 18 months, and probate fees could exceed $45,000.
• If your estate is worth more than $15,000, there will be court costs for your family to pay.
• If your estate is worth more than $600,000 net, your family may owe federal taxes of 37%-55%.
• Your family will have to pay attorney and executor fees, which each total 2-4% of the gross value of your estate before deducting debts and mortgages.
This Free Seminar is Sponsored By:

BE WARY OF NET LISTING
QUESTION: I told my real estate agent that I wanted $120,000 for my house. He offered to sell it if he could keep anything OVER that amount as his comission. What do you think?
ANSWER: If an agent proposes to guarantee you a certain sum from the sale of your home in return for th echance to keep anything OVER that amount, you have been offered a "net listing". This arrangement is open to so much abuse that it is illegal in about half the states.
Any number of complications can arise. The AGENT'S interests are now paramount although the law requires that you, the client, must come first.

BEWARE of selling your home with a net listing. It is open to much abuse and is often illegal.

Winchester Women's Club Jrs. get ready for spring fashion show

The Winchester Women's Club Jrs. are getting ready for the Annual Fashion Show to be held Wednesday, May 12, at the Burlington Marriott Hotel. This year the show will feature spring fashions by Avallon.

Winchester Women's Club Jrs. Annual Fashion Show funds many worthwhile community projects and charitable works, such as the drug and alcohol program at Winchester High School, the Winchester Scholarship Foundation, the Jenks Newsletter, Winchester Sports Foundation, ABC House, Hospice, Winchester Hospital Pediatric Unit and many other deserving groups in our Town.

There will be cocktails and boutiques at 11 a.m., followed by a luncheon at noon. Tickets may'be purchased by calling 729-6885. The ticket deadline is April 25.

Fortnightly Club to be represented at Women's Club

Close to five hundred members of the General Federation of Women's Clubs of Massachusetts are expected to attend the organization's annual convention at the Sea Crest Hotel and Convention Center in North Falmouth, from May 11-13. These members represent over two hundred local women's clubs from the Commonwealth, and this convention is the culmination of the year's events featuring speakers on many subjects as well as club awards, individual achievement awards and scholarship presentations. President Tina Macrina from Brockton will be presiding.

Over $25,000 in scholarships will be presented to undergraduate and graduate students at the convention. Ten $2,000 awards will be presented for graduate study in the fields of astronomy, journalism and medical research/cancer. Additional scholarships will be presented for study in music, art, education, and international study to Massachusetts students who have been endorsed by their local women's clubs.

Speakers at the convention will include Beverly Beckham, columnist for the "Boston Herald"; Dr. Leslie Lewis, from the National Forum; Marge Piercy, novelist/feminist; Ann Richardson from Reading is Fundamental (RIF); Jeanne Bakelar from Responsible Environmental Action Program (RAP) and George Newman, a Revolutionary War expert.

Some members will be representing the Winchester Fortnightly Club at the Convention.

Winchester Home and Garden Club

The Winchester Home and Garden Club will meet at the Crawford Memorial United Methodist Church on Wednesday, April 21. From 10 a.m. to noon, a workshop on spring arrangements will be conducted by Lucille Grassi and Norma Zettler. Participants are being asked to bring their own containers, flowers and greens.

The regular meeting will begin with refreshments at 12:15 p.m., followed by a business meeting presided over by Florence Gosselin. The program for the meeting will be "Planning Your Backyard Garden," by Hugh Wiberg. Wiberg is associated with Mahoneys, and is also an author. His latest book will be on display at the meeting.

For Arbor Day, on April 30, the Winchester Home and Garden Club will be adding to the plantings on the Winchester Common. Enriching the plantings in several of Winchester's public spaces is a long term project of the club.

Mrs. Ralph Seferian (right) and Greta Hawley (left) of the Winchester Garden Club, attended an orientation meeting in March at the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston to plan for the annual "Art in Bloom" festival at the Museum celebrating flower arranging as an art form. Arrangements by 70 New England garden clubs interpret masterpieces throughout the Museum's world famous collections. "Art in Bloom," May 4 — 6, includes guided tours, lectures, and floral arranging demonstrations. It opens on May 3, with a Gala Evening Benefit and Preview party. For the best choice in Equity Creditline rates, stop here...

Everywhere you look, banks are touting low Home Equity Creditline rates. But unlike those ordinary banks, Andover Bank offers a choice of three low rate programs. And as far as we know, only Andover Bank offers you low rates, a choice of three programs, and charges no closing costs and no annoying annual fees!

Apply for an Andover Bank Equity Creditline by June 30, 1993, and you can choose a program that's exactly right for you.

Choice 1: Andover PrimeNow – If your needs are immediate, look to our PrimeNow Equity Creditline. Pay only the prime rate until 6/30/94. Then your rate becomes only 1 1/2% above the prime.

Andover PrimeNow
6.0% Rate 7.5% APR
7.0% Rate 7.0% APR
Andover Prime+One

Choice 2: Andover Prime+One – For long-term thinkers, our Prime+One Equity Creditline guarantees that rate for the life of your loan – a rate so low it could save you thousands in interest.

Choice 3: Andover PrimeLife – For homeowners who have no first mortgage or who are looking to pay off their first mortgage, our PrimeLife Equity Creditline guarantees the prime rate for the entire life of the loan.

To learn more about our Equity Creditline limited time offer, mail this coupon or call our Consumer Loan Department without delay. With your choice of three low rate programs and no fees, we're sure you'll agree that at Andover Bank, you're the most important customer we'll ever have.

Prime Rate (as published in the Wall Street Journal) adjusted monthly on the last business day of the month, with an 18% lifetime cap. Credit advances are available for ten years. Current Andover Bank customers must qualify for an additional $20,000 to existing Creditline to qualify for these rate programs.

Subcommittee says cut

when Fall Town Meeting takes place, is too late in the year to wait for that much money.

Finance Committee members at the School Committee's April 13 meeting told the committee it needs to pare down its budget.

"I want to redirect your focus on efficiency and not on how much can we get out of the town this year," said Finance Committee Vice-Chairman Robert Beattie.

Finance Committee member Helen Philliou told the School Committee that the Finance Committee's recommended cuts did not decrease any line item below last year's line items.

"This is not an attempt to glean your budget down to the bone. There is no way this budget is down to the bone," said Philliou.

The School Committee will be reviewing its $14.9 million budget and has asked Superintendent Robert Fitzgerald to prioritize the budget items, to see if there are any possible reductions that can be made.

Fitzgerald and some members of the committee said they could cut some money from their proposed $14.9 million budget to get it down around $14.8 million.

"There are a couple of items that ought to come off the top right away," said committee member Eli Bortman.

But most members said they felt that cutting down to a $14.6 million budget would be too much of a reduction.

Fitzgerald said a cut of that magnitude would have "some pain attached to it."

The Educational Subcommittee presented its $14.2 million budget proposal at the Finance Committee's April 12 meeting. The Finance Committee postponed a vote on the budget.

six months and will be allowed out only on a leash. Dog Officer Jerry Smith and Tabbi will conduct periodic checks to make sure that the quarantines are being observed.

The state will no longer test animals from communities that have been determined to have an established rabies problem in ground animals except when the incident involves animal to human exposure.

These cases will be "fast-tracked", says Tabbi, and the state gets test results within 48 hours following the exposure. Tabbi addressed the issue at a recent Finance Committee meeting in order to deal with the financial end of the rabies problem. "Under state law if an insurance company won't pay (for a treatment) the cities and towns must," said Tabbi. A complete treatment to prevent the spread of the virus to the human brain costs $900.

"People should not panic just because they see a raccoon during the day," said Tabbi. Raccoons are continually foraging for food. "The best thing to do is to frighten the animal away," said Tabbi, if it is merely wandering the property.

"Very often people need to take a closer look around their home and eliminate any food sources for the animals. Don't overlook the fact that feeding a pet outside will attract any raccoons nearby," he added.

Tabbi urges residents to call and report any raccoons, or even foxes or skunks, who act extremely aggressive or are noticeably unsteady in their gait.

In order to limit the exposure the family pet can represent, Tabbi urges special care if the pet becomes injured.

For example, a good precaution with an open wound would be to use rubber gloves when cleaning the animal and consult a veterinarian immediately.

"Even if the pet is vaccinated, don't assume you're safe from the virus, avoid direct contact with the wound," said Tabbi.

A one-half hour call-in program will air on Continental Cablevision for residents who have concerns about the spread of raccoon rabies. Health officials also plan to blanket the schools with information.

"One plus is we don't have municipal rubbish collection, we don't have rubbish being stored outside," said Tabbi. He recommended that no trash be stored outside, not even in sealed containers.

With a projected 70 to 80 raccoons per square mile, Winchester residents need to know what to do should they spot an animal acting strangely. Call the dog officer and report it, don't try to take care of it alone.

More than 270 animals were vaccinated at a recent rabies clinic held by the Board of Health which represents a record for the town.

said members should reconsider holding another public hearing, "so that we can have a Town Meeting that's focused on the merits of the proposal and not on political gyrations," he added.

Selectmen Chairman Peter VanAken concurred, "There have been charges of misinformation flying around," he said referring to exchanges in the letters columns between the committee and resident Robert Dewald regarding lack of notice for the public hearing held in February. The committee has steadfastly denied each of Dewald's charges.

"I suggest you have a public hearing as close to home as you can to do that," said VanAken.

Other recommendations from the committee centered on continuing the fields committee for another year to complete its investigations and the creation of a Playfield Maintenance Gift Fund to supplement funding. Finally, the last called for the creation of a field manager, "to help improve as well as augment many of these suggestions," said Boylan.

Committee members have been under particular scrutiny since receiving approval from the Capital Planning Committee to expand a field in a former wellfield site adjacent to the Lynch Elementary School.

In his presentation, Boylan said the plan to expand the Lynch field will relieve some of the heavy use that presently exists at Skillings, Leonard, and Manchester Fields and provide much needed space for the elementary school children at Lynch.

Opponents of the plan say the committee plans to build a "soccer complex" at Lynch and question whether traffic, parking and lights have been adequately addressed.

Since the meeting was not a public hearing, Dewald made a short comment before the report was heard.

"The Lynch neighborhood is very concerned. I have repeatedly asked the Winchester Field Commitee to hold a public hearing," said Dewald. Winchester Taxpayer's Association representative Lawrence DeCicco read a prepared statement to the board asking the selectmen to take another look at the Lynch playfield plans. "The Winchester Taxpayer's Association strongly opposes wasting money on unnecessary playfield expansion," said DeCicco.

According to Boylan, a walkaround of the site will take place on April 27 at 6:30 p.m.

Town Manager W. Chadwick Maurer said a public hearing on all warrant articles will be held on April 20.

Committee member Peggy Schleicher said that the Lynch Parent's Association expressed support for the plans. Schleicher said meetings were held with many boards around town.

Selectman Gerard Polcari said, "It would be in your best interest, (I would say) as a personal recommendation, to move directly to meet with some areas in town," said Polcari.

Selectman Stephen Powers questioned the $26,000 figure given as the cost estimate for the Lynch expansion in the report, in lieu of an figure of $54,000, which he said he had heard. Schleicher said the earlier figure was based on an estimate of the expansion using DPW employees instead of outside contractors.

said Nadeau. "People now owe what they used to get refunded."

Nadeau said that another group hit hard during the tax season are those out of a job who have to pay taxes on unemployment compensation they have collected.

"Many didn't even know they had to pay taxes," said Nadeau.

In anticipation of being unable to get their tax returns filed, the IRS is providing, for the first time, an extension of time to file for those who owe money. Taxpayers who fill out Form 4868 will have an automatic four month extension, until August 15.

Accountants note that the extension is no great bargain for taxpayers. The penalties and interest, seven percent interest and five percent failure-to-pay penalty per month, are the same as for people who don't bother to file.

"Installment is not a good deal," said Richardson. "Basically taxes are due the fifteenth. They'll still charge you penalties and interest. It's not like all of a sudden the IRS are nice guys."

If you can't pay your taxes by the August 15 extension deadline, there is always Form 9465, the Installment Agreement Request. This allows taxpayers to request a monthly payment plan and specify the amounts they are able to pay each month.

Electronic filing is another aspect that accountants said was more of a gimmick than it was useful. Richardson said electronic filing was a scam used by accountants to have tax payers loan money from them. Accountants do the taxes and then offer to give the taxpayer the refund due immediately, for a fee.

Even after the tax season is over, accountants will not have time to relax. Nadeau notes that her attention will turn to Clinton's economic package to see what type of taxes may come out of the plan.

year when the Players decided to produce it last spring. It is a physically beautiful work as well, with turn-of-the-century costumes by Brigitte Tournier and a striking lace set by Millie Cook.

Other Winchester natives include Wendy Klug, who will play the part of Irina, and Hugh Thompson, the lighting designer. All in all, with a cast of fifteen and a crew of twice that many, "Three Sisters" is a remarkable ensemble piece.

The play will be presented in Metcalf Hall of the Unitarian Church, 478 Main St. Friday and Saturday shows start at 8 p.m.; Sunday performance begins at 7 p.m. Tickets are $9, $7 for students and seniors. Reservations can be made at 721-1814.

SCHOOL NEWS

While a number of McCall eighth graders were knee-deep in Washington D.C. snow, more than 100 students were whooping it up back at McCall. On Thursday, March 11, the students and staff set off for a day at the Tsongas Industrial History Center in Lowell. Friday was designated "Art Cycle Day" and students circulated between art, music, home economics, technology and physical education.Chef Matt Cura carefully removes whoopie pies from the oven.

A group of fourth and fifth graders at Vinson-Owen School recently had a Literary Luncheon to discuss the book "Maniac Magee" by Jerry Spinelli. In order to participate you chose one of five activities: bring a lunch that a character would like, dressed like a character in the book, made up a jump-rope rhyme, or wrote "What is a Home?" For dessert, students had a Mars Bar which is the name of one of the characters in the book. From left are: Allison Scheer, Anne Damassa, Valery Scharf, Lauren Auflero, Susan Anderson, Kara DiSarcina, Lauren Torlone, Kristina Baratta, Andrew Chin, Sudip Verma, Abdullah Khaliqi, Henry Kevong, Phillip Frattaroli, Jonathan Bram. MATHCOUNT competition

On Saturday, Feb. 27, McCall Middle School sent a team of five "mathletes" to compete in a regional MATHCOUNTS competition held at the Park School in Brookline. The team qualified for the state competition held on March 20 in Amherst at the Amherst Regional Junior High School. Following this round, an all-star team was chosen to represent Massachusetts in the national competition on April 30 in Washington, D.C.

The McCall team placed fifth overall in the state but placed one of its members, Adam Storeygard, on the state team. Storeygard will receive a four-day, all expense paid trip to Washington. In addition, he received a trophy for being among the top three individual scorers.

The McCall team included Storeygard, Ryan Keenan, Samuel Richardson, Eric Carty-Fickes and Eric Schrock. Jane Sughrue, McCall seventh grade math teacher, was the coach. MATHCOUNTS competitions are sponsored by the National Society of Engineers.

Student winners in MWRA contest

Two Winchester students, enrolled as sixth graders at McCall Middle School, have won distinction as award winners in the annual "Water Conservation" Poster Contest sponsored by the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority.

In the middle category (grades 4 to 6) Molly Christian won the first place honor which included a $200 savings bond. Brenda Daum won the third place honor which included a $50 savings bond.

These works will be a part of a public display in Boston through the month of May. Both Christian and Daum, and their art teacher Laurie Schmidt, attended an awards presentation at the MWRA on Tuesday, March 4. The theme of the contest was the importance of water and ways people can conserve it.

If you want a lawn your neighbors will envy, you'll want to know what's happening
this week at Mahoney's.
Free pH Test!
Here's how to check the pH level of your lawn.
Grass needs proper pH to be able to absorb existing and new fertilizer nutrients. Mahoney's will test your lawn's pH level for free. Just bring in a soil sample from your lawn, and we'll do the rest.
It's easy: Dig 3-5" into the soil (when your lawn is dry if possible). Take 4 or 5 soil samples of equal amounts from different areas of your lawn. Mix samples together and bring in 1 cup soil mix in a plastic bag.
Our professionals will tell you your exact pH level and offer an exact prescription for a perfect lawn.
Jonathan Green 4-Step Lawn Program
Get thicker, greener, weed-free lawns with the highest quality fertilizer you can buy.
STEP 1: Spring Green-Up / crabgrass preventer
STEP 2: Weed & Feed
STEP 3: Summer Survival or Super Green-Up
STEP 4: Winter Survival.

Gerry DeGeorge, Carlson Real Estate, Winchester office, received the President's Club Award at the annual awards breakfast. This award recognizes the top 10 associates in the company based on closed transaction volume for 1992.

Presenting the award to DeGeorge is CEO Richard Carlson. Carlson Real Estate has 21 offices and more than 475 sales associates. All recipients of this award are multi-million dollar producers.

Carlson celebrates 25th anniversary

Carlson Real Estate, celebrating its 25th year in the real estate business, recently held its annual awards banquet at the Burlington Marriott, to recognize achievement in residential sales for 1992.

Mary Ann O'Callaghan, Gerry DeGeorge, Dorothy O'Malley, Nannette Shanahan, Linda Sharpe, Marion Crandall, Susan Bodurtha, Mary Cogavin, and Glenda Downs of the Winchester office were awarded membership in The Multi-million Dollar Club which recognizes achieving listing and sales volume of $2,000,000 or more in closed transactions during 1992.

Shanahan named winner in contest

Carlson Real Estate, celebrating its 25th year in the real estate business, recently held its annual awards banquet at the Burlington Marriott, to recognize achievement in residential sales for 1992.

At the banquet, Carlson Real Estate announced the winners of its annual sign contest. The top associate from each office has won a trip for two to Daffodil Festival Weekend on Nantucket Island, which will be held from April 23 to 25. Nannette Shanahan was the winner from the Winchester office. Over 20 sales associates along with their spouse or guest will take part in the weekend's events.

Locals ready to run Boston

By Jim McKenzie
SPORTS WRITER

The logical first question is always, "Why?"

To a group of Winchester residents set to compete in Monday's Boston Marathon, the reasons for competing are as diverse as the group itself.

Fourteen Winchester residents will attempt to complete the 26.2-mile, Hopkinton-to Boston course when the 97th running of the world's most famous marathon kicks off at noon on Hopkinton Green. Among the Winchester participants are a doctor, a husband-wife team, a mother of three and a maitre d' at a Boston restaurant.

The reasons for running the grueling race range from personal challenges, to "just because," to a birthday celebration.

The oldest competitor from Winchester is Walter Swap, who decided to run another marathon to celebrate his 50th birthday. Swap started running 13 years ago, and ran his first marathon at Newport, R.I., in 1984. He ran Newport and Boston in '84 and '85, recording a personal-best time of 2 hours, 56 minutes.

"Originally, I ran to see if I could do it," said Swap. "Then I did it to see if I could run fast. I really wanted to break three hours, and I was able to do that."

Swap, who hopes to finish in about 3:20, said he won't run next year, but plans to run in 1996, the 100th anniversary of the race.

Winchester also has a husband-wife team among the Marathon entrants. Timothy and Laura Bryan, both in their 30s, have lived in Winchester for five years. Tim ran two years ago and finished in 3:45. This will be Laura's first marathon.

"We're not going for any world records or anything," said Laura, noting that the couple plans to run the entire distance together. "We'd like to finish in around 3½ hours, but the key is to finish."

With two young children at home, the Bryans have found it difficult to find time to train. Tim gets up at 5 in the morning to do his running, while Laura spends fewer miles on the road and more in the house cross-training. They generally try to complete a long run of 2½ hours every Saturday.

"It's a nice way to get some time together," said Laura. "It's also nice to have a goal to work towards."

While some consider running Boston the ultimate challenge, others take a much more casual approach to the race. Alain LaCouture, 41, is a maitre d' at a French restaurant in Boston. He began running marathons when he was 30, took a few years off, then started up again last year.

His busy schedule leaves little time to train for the event, so LaCouture's goal is simply to finish.

"I'm not really in training," he said. "I'll probably run the first seven miles, then speed-walk quite a ways, then run the last four or five."

Lorraine Tulk is a 29-year-old mother of three who kiddingly claims to get most of her exercise by "chasing the kids around the yard."

A runner for two years, Tulk began thinking about running a marathon 18 months ago. She finds running a great release from everyday life. Tulk and her husband Barry will be moving to San Francisco in a few months.

"It's sort of my farewell to Boston," said Tulk.

Tulk knows she'll finish her first marathon because of a youngster awaiting her in Kenmore Square. Tulk, Swap and the Bryans have all signed on with the Dana-Farber Cancer Institute which is trying to raise $300,000 to fight pediatric cancer.

Dana-Farber's Marathon Challenge has gathered 200 runners who have each pledged to raise at least $1,000 for the Institute. Each runner was matched with a pediatric cancer patient as a buddy. Tulk's young friend is an 8-year-old girl who has had leukemia since the age of 3.

"I will definitely finish," said Tulk, who has already raised over $1,500. "It's a real motivation for us. As much as I wanted to do this for me, I could easily jump out if I didn't know the kids would be waiting for us in Kenmore Square. When you think of what those kids are going through, it's a good feeling to know you're making a difference."

Hall opens doors for hockey legend

Cowles heads to WHS Hall of Fame for contributions to '55 skaters

By Jim McKenzie
SPORTS WRITER

It was the greatest single season in Winchester High hockey history, and it was spurred by a player generally considered the greatest single player in the school's history. The season was 1955, and the player was Wayne Cowles.

Cowles will be among eight former Winchester High greats inducted into the WHS Hall of Fame at the Winchester Sports Foundation's third annual induction ceremony at the Burlington Marriott on May 13.

In a storybook season, Cowles scored 46 goals and added 16 assists in 25 games as the unheralded Winchester Sachems shocked the state by winning the schoolboy hockey championship. It was the school's first and only state hockey championship.

Those who had the pleasure of watching Cowles play say he was by far the greatest individual player in the state at the time. According to former Winchester High coach Frank Finigan, who guided the hockey program at the school from club to varsity level in 1952-53, Cowles meant more to the program than any other player.

"He's the player who is responsible for the establishment, recognition and support of hockey as a varsity sport in Winchester," said Finigan. "I remember watching that first practice, and there was this sophomore who completely dominated the ice. As soon as practice ended I went immediately to Henry (Knowlton, Winchester's legendary football coach who was also the athletic director at the time) and I told him we could have a state champion team when Wayne was a senior."

At Finigan's urging, Knowlton helped appropriate funds for uniforms, new equipment and indoor ice rental. After just two years at the varsity level, the 1955 Sachem squad was ready to take on the best the state had to offer. Cowles, the Sachem captain, would lead the charge.

Winchester High's Wayne Cowles (18) was denied on this scoring bid in a 1955 New England schoolboy hockey tournament game against Hamden, Conn., but the Massachusetts State Tournament MVP still managed to compile 46 goals in just 25 games during the season.

"We were lucky because we got out of school early that year," said Cowles. "There were a bunch of college guys like Whip Saltmarsh and Wimpy Burtnett around, and we would play them all the time. It was such great competition."

At the time, Winchester was a team without a league. Playing an independent schedule, the Sachems compiled a lofty 14-2-1 mark. There was no provision for an independent team to be invited to the state tournament, but the Sachems were one of the 20 teams invited.

Tremendous underdogs in a tournament which featured such longtime powerhouses as Needham and Belmont, Winchester stunned observers by winning its first-round game, 4-2 over Waltham, and its second-round game, 3-1 over Melrose. Cowles, who had racked up 34 goals during the regular season, added three more in the two games, including both game-winners.

He was just warming up.

In one of the most famous games in the history of the Massachusetts schoolboy tourney, Winchester stunned Needham, 4-3, on a dramatic second-overtime goal by Cowles. Cowles' hat trick and assist in front of a sellout crowd at the old Boston Arena rocked the schoolboy hockey world.

"Wayne was phenomenal," said Leo Callahan, who was a sophomore winger on Cowles' line. "He was just loaded with natural ability. He could skate above and beyond everybody. He could shoot well, he could pass well. He was really head and shoulders above everybody else."

In that wild game, Winchester thought it had the game won in the second overtime when the puck

WHS drops opener to Weymouth

By Jim McKenzie
SPORTS WRITER

The Winchester High School lacrosse team knew coming into the season that its killer schedule would mean a few losses in games where the team played very well.

Last Saturday's season opener at Weymouth merely reinforced that theory. Despite playing extremely well, according to coach John Pirani, the Sachems dropped an 8-4 decision to the Wildcats.

"We played a strong game against one of the top three or four teams in the state," said Pirani. "We ran like demons and we outhit them. Unfortunately, the things we weren't able to work on in the preseason, specifically the transition game, hurt us."

Winchester fell behind 3-0 after one period, but came back to cut the lead to 3-1 at the half on a goal by junior Brendan McWilliams, who scored in his first varsity contest.

Winchester came out flat after the break, and Weymouth took advantage, scoring four times in the third period to open up a decisive 7-1 advantage. However, the Sachems responded with a very strong fourth quarter, getting three goals from senior tri-captain Brian Bernazzani to account for the final score.

"In the third period, we came out flat and Weymouth almost blew us away," said Pirani. "But the guys regrouped and refused to put their tails between their legs. They played an outstanding fourth period."

Pirani said the difference in the game was Winchester's inability to handle Weymouth's pressure. Three Wildcat goals came after unsuccessful Winchester clearing plays.

"We had a bunch of turnovers handling their pressure," said Pirani. "But we also put a lot of pressure on them at times."

Among the Winchester standouts were senior defensemen Mike Collins and Paul Albiani and juniors Brian Johnson, Brendan Reardon and Mark Andriesse.

Senior tri-captain Mike Szczepanski looked strong in his first varsity contest since suffering a knee injury during the football season. Junior goalie Andrew Brown had a terrific game, stopping 18 of the 26 Weymouth shots.

Tuesday's game against Wayland was postponed. The Sachems face off against Billerica on Friday at 4 p.m. at Skillings Field.

Ravaged by illness, state champs place fourth at nationals

And how was your last trip to Grand Forks, N.D.?

The members of the Winchester Bantam hockey team recently returned from the Tier II National Bantam Hockey Championships with a fourth-place trophy, beautiful silk jackets and a nasty virus still lurking along with them.

In an unfortunate twist to a great season, the Bantams, the four-time state champions who won the national title as PeeWees in two years ago, were attacked by an unknown intestinal virus that landed several key players in the hospital and drastically affected the play of the remainder of the team.

The team played its first game against Shaker Heights, Ohio, on April 1 and rolled to a 5-0 win. Although they hadn't played in 14 days — since capturing the state title on March 17 — the Winchester Bantams dominated their Ohio opponent.

Winchester's goals were scored by Steve Cucinatti and Billy Aufiero in the first period, Dan DiPietro and Matt Breuer in the second and Jon Duval in the third. Dan Notartomaso got the start in goal and stopped all nine shots he faced. Winchester, meanwhile, put 45 shots on Shaker Heights.

"It was like a continuation of the states," said Doug Dalton, who co-coaches the Bantams with Mike Murray. "The kids played like they hadn't skipped a beat. Until that point, things couldn't have been better. The kids were playing exceptionally well."

After a welcoming banquet on Thursday night, Winchester was scheduled to play at 9:30 a.m. Friday. When Dalton arrived in the lobby of the team's hotel, he saw a scene of utter chaos. Sometime overnight, four of Winchester's star players — Bobby Marrone, Aufiero, Sparky Brooks and James Duval — had become ill. All suffered stomach pains, nausea and dehydration, and were taken to the local hospital.

The morning game was pushed back to 2 p.m. and the team's 5 p.m. game was rescheduled for 7 p.m. Despite a severely undermanned team, Winchester actually held a 3-2 lead in the afternoon contest against Long Beach, N.Y. Cucinatti scored the first goal and DiPietro added a pair in the second period before the roof caved in on the Bantams.

First, starting goalie John McDonough began suffering the same ill

Three Winchester residents competed at the annual New England Silver Swimming Championships held at Dartmouth College in Hanover, N.H., March 19-21. Bryan Juwa, Ben Doob and Jamie Hurlbut, all Wildwood Street residents, smashed personal records during the weekend.

Juwa, who swims for the Mass Bay Marlins, captured the championship in the 200-yard breaststroke, slashing eight seconds off his previous-best time to beat his closest competitor by more than two seconds. Juwa set personal bests in seven events, placing sixth in the 100 breaststroke, 10th in the 200 individual medley, 11th in the 100 backstroke, 12th in the 200 freestyle and 13th in the 100 butterfly.

Doob, who also competes for the Marlins, also posted personal-bests in seven events. He placed sixth in the 200 freestyle and 200 individual medley, ninth in the 100 backstroke and 12th in the 50 butterfly.

Hurlbut, who swims for Belmont Aquatics, chopped 14 seconds off his personal-best time to take fifth place in the 400 individual medley. He also posted best times in the 200 freestyle, 200 individual medley, and 100 butterfly.

effects as his teammates. During the game, Winchester also lost Jon Duval and Alan Riley. Incredibly, with just one extra skater left on the bench, Winchester managed to stay in the contest, eventually falling 8-4.

In the evening game, Winchester got its players back from the hospital, but were far from 100 percent. McDonough, Riley and Jon Duval were still out, so Notartomaso got the start in net. The opponent was Highland Hills, Colo., and the locals rolled again, firing 45 shots on goal in a 5-2 Winchester victory.

Matt Breuer, who had an amazing tournament, played defense practically nonstop and notched a hat trick. James Duval and Cucinatti also lit the lamp for the Bantams, who had to borrow a Grand Forks youth to serve as backup goalie in case Notartomaso went down.

Having survived the toughest day, Winchester had a 2-1 record and was still in the running to advance to the medal round.

On Saturday, Winchester faced the Northwest Chargers from Arlington Heights, Ill. Behind two goals apiece from Cucinatti, DiPietro and James Duval, the Bantams cruised to an 8-2 win. Cucinatti scored the first two goals, DiPietro and Riley added second-period strikes, and Jon Duval and DiPietro sandwiched third-period markers around a pair from James Duval.

The win qualified Winchester to play host Grand Forks in the semifinals on Sunday. In front of a wild sell-out crowd of over 3,500 fans, Grand Forks put an end to Winchester's national title hopes with an 8-0 wipe-out of the Bantams. Although the host team proved to be a better squad, Dalton said it was a classic case of the final score not indicating how well Winchester had played.

"In the second period alone, we had 20 shots on their goalie," said Dalton. "That team hadn't given up 20 shots in an entire game, let alone one period. Their goalie was truly spectacular."

Physically and emotionally drained, Winchester lost in the consolation game, 10-4 to Long Beach. Cucinatti and DiPietro each had two goals to lead the Sachem offense, but New York had too much firepower for Winchester.

"We finally had everybody dressed," said Dalton, "but some of the kids who hadn't got sick were just way too tired from getting so much ice."

Winchester wound up with a fourth-place finish and some tough memories of their trip to the nationals.

"The kids were really disappointed," said Dalton. "They went out there with lofty expectations. Only two teams (Winchester and Seattle) from the PeeWee Nationals two years ago returned this year. We played a couple of great games, but the sickness really made it difficult on us."

But Dalton and his players refused to dwell on the negative aspect of their ill-fated trip. Said Dalton, "The kids all played great. They left it all out on the ice. It will be a long time before a group of kids from Winchester does what these kids have done."

Team members (with tournament statistics in parentheses): Steve Cucinatti (7 goals, 2 assists, 9 points), James Duval (3-7-10), Jon Duval (2-2-4), Matt Gillespie (0-2-2), Matt Breuer (4-4-8), Bobby Marrone (0-1-1), Alan Riley (1-2-3), Paul McGowan (0-3-3), Billy Auflero (1-1-2), Sparky Brooks (0-1-1), Dan DiPietro (8-2-10), T.J. O'Neil (0-3-3), Mark Smith (0-3-3), and goalies Dan Notartomaso (3 wins, 2 losses, 20 goals allowed) and John McDonough (0-1, 10 goals allowed).

appeared to trickle over the goal line. The referee, however, said no goal. At the next faceoff, according to Callahan, Cowles looked his linemates in the eye and said "OK, enough of this stuff. Let's get this thing done."

Moments later, at 1:32 of the second OT, Cowles took a pass from center Dick Johnson and ripped a 10-foot backhander past Needham goalie Don Williamson for the winning goal.

In the tournament semifinal, Winchester slipped past Hyde Park 3-2, setting up a final game with Belmont, an overwhelming favorite to win the state crown. The two met on March 12, 1955, at the Boston Arena. (Coincidentally, on that same night, Winchester's vaunted basketball team was winning the State Class B Eastern Mass. championship by defeating Matignon, 48-39, at the Boston Garden. Hundreds of Winchester faithful watched the hoop team win then boarded special MTA buses and trains for the ride across town to watch the hockey team go for the sweep.)

In that dramatic championship contest, played before over 5,000 fans, Winchester stunned the experts once more. Once again it was the magic of Cowles that led the way for the Sachems. With the score tied 2-2 early in the third period, Cowles wound up in his own end, roared past two Belmont defenders and broke in alone on Belmont goalie John Volpe, beating the stunned netminder with a left-corner shot.

Callahan, who scored a hat trick in the final game, added his final goal to seal the 4-2 win for the Sachems.

"Nobody ever thought we'd be able to do anything," said Cowles. "These teams were supposed to be so much better than us. I remember hoping we wouldn't get beat badly, and heck, we won the whole thing."

According to Finigan, nothing Cowles did in his high school career was surprising.

"The moment I saw Wayne play, I knew I was going to be a great coach because he played for me," said Finigan, who was elected into the Massachusetts State Coaches Association Hall of Fame in 1972.

Callahan, an avid hockey fan now working at the New Hampshire House of Representatives, has no hesitation when describing what it was like to play with Cowles.

"He was so blessed as a hockey player," said Callahan. "He was so great to play with on a line. He made everything simple. I personally feel that there's never been a hockey player out of Winchester who could hold his skates."

Eppig a Pirate swimmer

Winchester High School senior Kevin Eppig is a member of the Merrimack Valley Pirates swim team which competed at the New England Age Group Championships at Brown University recently and placed fourth overall out of 32 teams.

Eppig came in seventh in the 400 individual medley, ninth in the 500 freestyle, 14th in the 100 butterfly and 16th in the 200 backstroke.

Lucero helps Hobart

Steve Lucero, a co-captain of the 1992 Winchester High tennis team, is playing this spring for Hobart College in Geneva, N.Y. Lucero is playing the No. 5 singles position for the varsity squad. Through Monday, Lucero had compiled a record of 6-1 for the Statesmen.

COLLEGE NOTEBOOK

The team, which has won four straight league titles, had a record of 7-0 through April 12. In a spring training trip to Florida, Hobart went 4-1. The team's lone loss was a 5-4 exhibition loss to Division I Bucknell.

Lucero, who was the No. 2 singles player at WHS in 1992, was also the captain of Winchester's golf team and a member of the hockey team.

Sanford shines

Bernie Sanford of Winchester was an important part of the Norwich University hockey team's successful 1992-93 season. Norwich ended the season at 13-10 in the ECAC East, just missing a playoff berth.

A senior forward, Sanford finished the year with five goals and 10 assists and collected points in each of the team's last four games. The co-captain was also the team's leader in plus-minus rating, with a plus-4.

SPORTS BRIEFS

Sports Foundation golf tournament

The Winchester Sports Foundation hosts the fourth annual Sports Foundation Golf Tournament and Dinner to benefit Winchester High School athletics on May 17. The tournament and dinner will be held at the Winchester Country Club.

In 1989, a large group of Winchester citizens formed a non-profit organization called the Winchester Sports Foundation. Due to the fiscal problem the town of Winchester faces, additional funds are necessary to support the high school athletic program. Otherwise, freshman athletics will be eliminated.

Within the school year, 65 percent of the Winchester High School student body participates in a high school sport. The Winchester Sports Foundations goal is to raise funds to allow all students who want to play the opportunity to do so. A total of 128 golfers participate in the golf tournament. The format for the tournament is a best-ball net foursome. Players are encouraged to set up their own foursome.

The dinner following the tournament is open to the public as well as for the golf participants. Jenna DeSimone and Brian Keefe, two outstanding student athletes, will be guest speakers.

An individual tournament entry fee will be $155, which includes green fee, door prize, motor cart and dinner. The cost for the dinner alone will be $37. For further information or to secure a spot in the tournament, call Will Fuller at 729-9086.

The first-ever Newton/Johnny Kelley Heartbreak Hill International Youth Race, which includes a variety of races for runners ages 10-18, will be held Sunday, April 18, with start times from 1-4 p.m.

The mile-long race begins at the corner of Commonwealth and Lowell avenues, goes up and down Heartbreak Hill and finishes at Newton City Hall. The race is sanctioned by the New England Athletic Congress.

The registration fee is $8 and entry forms must be received by April 17. For more information, call 552-7130 or 527-8283.

Barracudas holding swimming skills camp

The New England Barracudas swim team be holding a Swimming Skills Camp at Regis College in Weston on April 19-23 from 5:15-7:15 p.m. each day. The camp is designed for children ages 6-14 interested in learning more about competitive swimming. The cost is $35, which includes camp T-shirt and swim cap. For more information, call coach Meg Carey Lelko at 617-628-4604 or 617-628-7308.

COMING EVENTS

WHAT'S GOING ON IN YOUR AREA IN THE COMING WEEKS

Host families needed for German students

Host families are needed for 35 German students who will be visiting Massachusetts, for the first time, in July 1993. The students are sponsored by International Education Forum, a nonprofit organization based in the United States. The students are between the ages of 14 and 18 and will take part in a homestay immersion program, staying with a host family for four to five weeks. The students are visiting Massachusetts in order to participate in American family life and to improve their English language skills.

If you are interested in hosting a German student, call Carol Henderson at 729-1971 as soon as possible.

Alzheimer's support group at church

An Alzheimer's peer support group will meet the second and fourth Tuesday of every month at St. Eulalia's Church beginning Feb. 9. The meeting provides peer support to families, friends, and caregivers. The April 13 meeting will be held in the church's conference room at 50 Ridge Street on "Caring for the Caregivers" with a discussion to follow. For further information call Roberta at 983-6844 or Valerie at (508) 897-7455.

Aids Action seeks volunteers for Buddy Program

The Buddy Program of the AIDS Action Committee is looking for volunteers to provide emotional and practical support to clients on a one-to-one basis. Interested persons older than 24 are invited to attend an orientation to learn about the Buddy Program and how to apply.

Orientations are held monthly at 7:30 p.m., on the fourth Tuesday of each month on the fourth floor of the AIDS Action offices at 131 Clarendon St. For more information call 437-6200, Ext. 450.

Career transition

A career transition networking and support group meets every Thursday, except the second of each month, at St. Eulalia's Church, 50 Ridge St. The meetings are held 7 to 9 p.m. in the church's conference room and are open and free. For more information call 729-8220.

WHS Class of 1944 to hold reunion

Winchester High School Class of 1944 has begun plans for a 50th anniversary reunion to be held in the fall of 1994. Any member of the class, graduate or otherwise, who would like to be notified of final details but who may have reason to believe his or her current address is not on file with reunion organizers, is asked to send address information at this time to Joan Hanson Blake, 45 Pine Ridge Road, Reading, 01867.

Fourth Annual All-Night Graduation celebration

Plans for the Fourth Annual All-Night Graduation Celebration are well underway. This event provides the 1993 graduates of Winchester High School with a safe and enjoyable last night together.

This event will be held on graduation night, Sunday, June 6, from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., in the McCall Middle School gym and recreation areas. Some guidelines will be in place to ensure an enjoyable time for all. No alcohol will be allowed. Entrance time will be between 9:30 and 11 p.m. No one will be admitted after this time unless special permission has been arranged in advance. Any graduate who leaves the party will not be allowed to return and their parents will be notified before they are dismissed, regardless of the hour.

The All-Night Graduation Celebration Committee, under the direction of chairwomen Donna Desmond and Cathy Gatto, is hard at work planning for this multifaceted event. The night's activities will include nonstop food and dancing, live entertainment, games, contests, raffles, palm readers, tattoo artists, caricaturists, videos, and movies. All of these activities are available to the seniors for the $15 cost of admission.

A T-shirt contest is presently under way at the high school. Students submit their original design to a vote of their classmates. The winning design will be emblazoned on a T-shirt and given to each graduate.

The Winchester community has been a ready supporter of this event in the past years. The committee hopes to count on their continued support in providing safe alcohol-free events for Winchester's youth.

Kidstock spring and summer classes

Kidstock Youth Theater, directed by Brian Milauskas, is now registering for spring and summer 1993. All Kidstock programs are non-audition based with a limited first come registration. Spring programs for grades kindergarten through 12 run from April 12 to June 18. There will be an April vacation week musical production workshop. It will run Monday through Friday, April 19 through 23 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Summer session registration for grades one and two and grades three through eight is also available for four performance workshops during July and August. Each workshop involves drama, dance, art and music exploration and is weeks long, Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. For information and a brochure, call Kidstock at 729-5KID.

Applications accepted in Early Childhood

The Winchester Public Schools Early Chilhood Programs is accepting applications for limited spaces in its Early Childhood programs for the 1993-94 school year. For more information or eligibility and/or an application please call Cynthia Papoulias at the Early Childhood office at 721-7015.

Coffee and conversation

Winchester residents are invited to an informal evening of coffee and conversation with international members of our community on Thursday, April 15 between 7 and 9 p.m., at the home of Helene Ryan, 8 Grove St.

The evening is sponsored by the Multicultural Network and is part of an effort to create a welcoming atmosphere for individuals and families who have moved here from other countries. Ryan, who has lived abroad herself over the years, initiated a series of coffee evenings to provide an opportunity for people to get to know each other. As an English-as-a- second-language teacher in the schools, she knows that many parents feel isolated when they first move here. "Even a simple thing such as seeing a friendly face in the supermarket can mean a lot," she says.

Anyone is welcome to stop by on the 15th.

Parenting elementary school children

As the parent of an elementary school child, you are not the only one who second guesses yourself about limit setting and discipline issues. You are not alone in your struggle to have your children share in household responsibilities and chores. Whether the issue is how to handle anger, what to do about teasing, sibling conflicts, self esteem, or our own expectations for our children, we all work hard to come up with strategies that can truly have a positive impact on our children and our family life.

In Parent to Parent discussion groups people share day to day concerns and find support and reassurance in discussing common issues and challenges. Group discussions range from light-hearted sharing to in-depth discussions of developmental issues and appropriate interventions parents can consider.

The group leader is Hillary Turkewitz, a psychologist with more than 15 years of experience with families, who has been working with Parent to Parent for four years.

The next group for parents of elementary school children will begin Tuesday, April 27, from 8 to 9:30 p.m. Meetings are held in the Community Room of the Public Safety Building. The groups meet for six weeks. The fee is $30 for the six week program.

To register or obtain more information call Hillary Turkewitz at 729-7945.

Funding has been provided by the En Ka Society and the Parents' Associations of all five elementary schools.

Winchester residents Samantha Ruminski and Bess Cort and Woburn resident Lindsey Palmer modeled their spring bonnets created at a crafts class held recently at Cinderella's Closet on Thompson Street.

Buying and selling real estate in 1993

An interactive question and answer real estate workshop will be held on Tuesday, April 20, at 7 p.m., in the Winchester Room at the Winchester Town Hall.

The workshop will feature:

Henry Curtis, esquire and Geoff Curtis, esquire, Curtis Law Offices.

James Smith, assistant treasurer, Winchester Savings Bank.

Ed Goodwin, president and Betty Kehoe, vice president, Winchester Cooperative Bank.

Ron Pazanesse, ASHI, American Building Consultants Inc. and,

Patrick Fortin, president, Realty World — Winchester Properties.

The workshop is for persons with questions regarding the process of buying or selling real estate. Real Estate transactions are now extremely complex. This educational program will cover all aspects, in a workshop with experts in different fields related to buying and selling. Do not miss this great opportunity.

Seating is limited and reservations are requested. Everyone is welcome.

Call Realty World-Winchester Properties at 721-2311.

Cooperative Theatre opens summer program registration in April

No Auditions! No experience needed! Do you like to act, dance and sing?? Are you entering grades three through eight? If you think you would like to try some aspect of theatre, then this is the perfect program for you. Catherine Alexander, director of the Cooperative Theatre, which just produced the Wizard of Oz is looking for children for summer drama camp. The camp will offer workshops that are designed to meet each student's ability. Every week, friends and families will be invited to Lincoln School auditorium to observe the various skits and monologues. In addition, the entire group will work on a musical production with Lori Lerman, which will be performed at the end of the session. The program will begin on June 28 and end on July 30. Hours have been extended for our program and children will attend from 8:30 to 12:30, Monday through Friday, with occasional special activities in the afternoon. Please call Cathy Alexander to register or for information at 729-0224.

COMING EVENTS

WHAT'S GOING ON IN YOUR AREA IN THE COMING WEEKS

'The Ageless Follies'

On May 1 the Winchester Town Hall will be the scene of the mingling together of talent from the intergenerational groups who are presenting their second annual vaudeville performance. The theme for this year's show is "Romance and Love" that will stir memories and nostalgia for the days of the past half century. The variety mix of drama, music and comedy offers something for everyone.

The Council on Aging and the Winchester Recreation Department share the sponsorship of this unique program. Tickets go on sale next week at the Jenks Center as well as at stores downtown, details on the posters.

The Winchester Youth Center will benefit from the proceeds, donations and contributions in any amount are tax-free and provide support for this worthy project targeted for the young people of Winchester.

Historical society hosts lecture on church

The design of Winchester's First Congregational Church and its architect will be the subject of a lecture, sponsored by the Winchester Historical Society, on Thursday, April 29, 7:30 p.m., at the church.

The lecture is entitled, "Neat, Convenient and Tastefully Designed: The First Congregational Church of Winchester and Its Architect, Alexander R. Esty."

The lecture will be given by Stephen Jerome, who recently identified Esty as the church's architect. Jerome is an architectural historian and curator of a historic house for the Brookline Historical Society.

In a slide presentation, Jerome will discuss the original church design. He also will relate the church to other buildings by Esty, who was a noted Boston architect in the 19th century.

The lecture is free and open to the public.

Shannon announces office hours

Senator Charles Shannon recently announced his district office hours for the town of Winchester. Sen. Shannon will be at the Winchester Town Hall from noon to 2 p.m. on Friday, April 30. Sen. Shannon extends an invitation to all his constituents to stop by and discuss any issue of concern.

ABC benefit concert to be held in May

Winchester's Committee for A Better Chance (ABC) will hold its annual Spring Benefit Concert on Saturday, May 8, at the Lincoln School Auditorium at 8:30 p.m. This year's program will feature Boston City Lights Street Dancers. Dessert at Rick's Cafe will conclude the event.

Boston City Lights is a nonprofit performing arts group consisting of Boston-born dance and theater professionals and children, ages 9 through 20, who they have taken off the streets. Their melting-pot production, ranging from hip-hop to rap to Broadway show style and a cappella gospel songs, has earned the group international acclaim.

The annual spring concert is a significant fund-raising event for the Winchester ABC program. All proceeds from the concert directly benefit the Winchester ABC house.

The Winchester A Better Chance program is part of a nationwide effort to provide a high school education to minority students and give them a better chance to realize their potential and achieve their goals. The 22-year-old program houses eight boys, the resident directors and a live-in cook and tutor.

There will be limited seating for the concert. Concert organizers recommend that tickets be purchased early. Tickets may be purchased by calling Barbara Hyde at 729-0513 or by mailing a check with a self-addressed envelope to 27 Canterbury Road, Winchester 01890. Tickets also may be purchased at one of the following shops: Book Ends, Cradock's, Henderson's or the News Shop.

Tickets for the performance are $20 per person ($10 for seniors and students). Dessert at Rick's Cafe is $5 per person. Interested people may instead choose to become a patron for $90; patrons of ABC are given two tickets to the performance, two tickets for dessert at Rick's Cafe and their name in the concert's program.

The Energy Connection offers Reebok 'Bodywalk' classes

The Energy Connection is adding a walking course to its schedule of health and fitness classes. Reebok's "Bodywalk" is a carefully designed, comprehensive walking program that can teach anyone — from the first time exerciser to the fitness enthusiast — to get the most from a walking workout. Walking is a wonderful, healthy way to enjoy the good weather, and The Energy Connection is very pleased to be able to offer this outdoor Reebok program to all adults in the community.

Each meeting will feature instruction in proper walking technique, warmup, cooled and strengthening segments. There will also be interesting, and individualized walking routes from Winchester center that are geared to specific fitness levels. The course also will provide tips and guidelines for walkers in Winchester hospital's upcoming "Big Steps for Little People" Walk-a-thon.

"Bodywalk" is a progressive four-week course that meets twice weekly. Session I will begin May 3; Session II starts May 31. Three class times are available: 6:30 a.m., 10 a.m., or 7 p.m. Cost is $32. Early registration is suggested as class size is limited. For more information and to register, call 729-3256 or 729-7268.

Lynch Flea Market and Craft Fair slated for May 1

The Annual Lynch Flea Market and Craft Fair, sponsored by the Lynch Parents' Association, arrives come rain or shine on Saturday, May 1, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Lynch Elementary School, 10 Brantwood Road.

This year's fete will feature reasonably priced handmade crafts (perfect for Mother's and Father's Day), as well as a wide variety of flea market items. Come enjoy grilled hot dogs and hamburgers, ice cream, and activities for children, including face painting.

Anyone interested in renting a table to sell their own crafts, collectibles, or flea market items should call Pat at 729-8907.

Rotary Club hosts golf tourney

The Winchester Rotary Club will host the fifth annual Winchester Rotary Charitable Golf Tournament at the Winchester Country Club on Monday, May 3, at 1 p.m.

The tournament is a fundraiser to support the Winchester Rotary Charitable Fund, which each year donates between $15,000 and $20,000 to local charities, school groups and community organizations. The charitable fund also supports Rotary International in its scholarship fund and world wide relief efforts.

Lou Gentile, chairman of the event, expects a full field of 128 golfers for the event. "We are very grateful to the Winchester Country Club for its support. They are always willing to give back to the community," said Gentile, referring to the fact that the Winchester Country Club donates the use of the facility and greens fees to the tournament each year.

The tournament will be followed by a dinner at the country club with several prizes awarded to golfers, including a hole-in-one automobile. If you are interested in participating please contact Lou Gentile at 387-5100 or John Finamore at 729-7857.

Co-housing seminar

A free seminar on co-housing will be offered by The Center For Collaborative Communities on Monday, April 19, 7 to 8:30 p.m. at the center's office, 103 Morse St. in Watertown. The seminar will discuss benefits, process, and costs. To register for the seminar call 923-1300.

Griffin Center for Photographic Art hosts exhibit

The Arthur Griffin Center for Photographic Art in Winchester is currently hosting the most comprehensive exhibition to date of the work of Karin Rosenthal. 'The Animate Landscape' exhibits 60 photographic resonances of the nude form and the natural landscape, in black and white and in color, through May 2.

Rosenthal will present a slide-talk on Sunday, April 18, from 4:15 to 5:30 p.m. about the evolution of her 'Nudes in Water' series, an extensive portfolio of black and white photographs combining human and landscape forms. The talk will follow her artistic process as she conceived and began the series in 1975 in New Hampshire lakes, continued it on a traveling fellowship to Greece, and resumed it a few years later on Cape Cod. Rosenthal will discuss the process of exploring the potential of each setting and confronting its challenges while developing and maintaining a unique visual vocabulary and vitality. Rosenthal will also describe her experiences as a photographer working in Greece among different cultural values and with significant technological shortcomings.

Fees for the slide-talk are $2 for members and $4 for nonmembers. Gallery hours for the Rosenthal exhibition are Thursday through Sunday, 1 to 4 p.m. Entry to the Center is free and available to wheelchairs.

Fireman's Relief host retirement party

The Winchester Fireman's Relief Association will be sponsoring a retirement party/banquet, at 6:30 p.m., on May 14, at the Winchester Sons of Italy Hall, 117 Swanton St., Winchester in honor of the following retirees:

Michael Beaton, fire fighter; Louis Cappello, fire fighter; David Dalton, fire captain; John MacIsaac, fire fighter; Robert McElhinney, fire chief; Robert J. Sullivan, fire fighter; Robert Fiore, call fire fighter; William Haggerty (posthumously), call fire fighter; and Joseph McGrath, call fire fighter.

Friends and relatives are invited. For ticket information call Winchester Fire Department Headquarters at 729-1801.

RECREATION NEWS

General news from the recreation department

Tennis passes are available now

Tennis passes are necessary for everyone using the Packer Courts on Palmer Street from May 1, (or opening day) through Nov. 1, (or closing day). They are available to Winchester residents in the recreation department at the Lynch School Administrative Center or at the courts evenings and weekend mornings after May 1. The courts are closed for watering from noon to 1 p.m. weekdays and from 1 to 2 p.m. on weekends. Proof of residency is required if an individual is not listed in the most recent census. Season pass fees are $50 for adults (18 and older), $40 for senior citizens (60 plus), and $10 for children (17 and younger) and $100 for a limited number of non-resident passes. People using MasterCard or VISA may register for the pass over the phone. The tennis pass will then be mailed to the passholder. Single-use and guest passes are $5 for adults and $1 for youths and are available at the courts. There will be a lost card replacement charge of $1 for youths and $5 for adults. Identification will be required.

Programs for adults

Microsoft word

Instructor: David Rosenthal. This course will explain the basic elements of word processing in a hands-on environment. We will use Microsoft Word 4.0, a word processing application, and Macintosh computers. Students will learn how to format documents, create and edit files, spell-check, and print documents. We will also apply more advanced techniques as time permits. Introduction to the Macintosh or equivalent experience is required. Four sessions. 932-C5-04A beginning Thursday, April 29, from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. in the Winchester High School English Computer Lab, $72 fee required.

House Flag

Instructor: Ruanne Warford. Wave your very own flag. Learn how to make a beautiful seasonal flag to hang outside your home. The first session will be a discussion on fabrics and patterns. The approximate cost of materials is $15 to $20. Three sessions. 932-CA-08A beginning Thursday, May 6, from 7 to 9:30 p.m. at the Winchester High School, $33 fee required.

Large oval wreath

This beautiful wreath will bring spring to your house. Using a bleached oval vine wreath as a base, you will cover the entire piece with moss, preserved baby's breath, wonderful pastel flowers, and deep rich greenery. The finished size is approximately 17 to 18 inches. Please bring a glue gun, scissors, and wire clippers. A materials fee of $38 is payable to the instructor. One session. 932-CA-03A, Wednesday, April 28, from 7 to 10 p.m. in the Winchester High School, $16 fee required.

Meals in minutes

Instructor: Mary Franklin. Nutritious alternative to "fast foods" is the basis for this course offered to people with difficult work and home schedules. This "hands on" cooking class concentrates on quickly prepared entrees, vegetables, and desserts. Participants only need a minimum amount of food preparation experience. Menus are planned, emphasizing texture, eye appeal, and nutrition. A $35 food fee is payable to the instructor at the first class. Four sessions. 932-HG-02A beginning Tuesday, April 27, from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. in the Winchester High School, $42 fee required.

On target: archery for adults

Instructor: National Archery Association certified instructor. Get on target and learn the great sport of archery. We supply all the equipment; you supply the accuracy and desire. This program is intended for the recreational archer who is interested in archery for the enjoyment of shooting the bow and arrow. Each program is staffed by a NAA or ASTA instructor or certified coach. Six sessions. 932-HF-10A beginning Monday, April 26, from 7 to 8:30 p.m. in the Lynch School Gym, $69 fee required.

Programs for children

New Kindergarten lunch club

Instructor, Annette Kennedy has your menu to excitement and adventure this spring. Ingredients: One group of energetic, fun-loving Kindergartners. Add 1 cup of adventure with crafts. Mix in 1 cup of drama and music. Sprinkle a pinch of science discoveries, and add 1 brown bag lunch (that's brought from home) Mix all ingredients together for a Wednesday afternoon of surprises and fun. One four week, Beginning May 12, classes will be held on Wednesdays from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. in the recreation preschool room in the Winchester High School. The course number for this program is 932-E5-02A.

Story and rhyme time

Instructor: Annette Kennedy. For mothers and toddlers, this class is sure to be a hit! Each session will begin with a 45 minute story with follow-up activities. A 30-minute parent discussion on toddler related issues will follow, making for a whole learning experience for both child and adult. Program is designed for age 6-months to 3-years old with adult. Students may sign up for one or both courses. Four sessions per course. 932-P5-03A, Friday, April 16, 9:30 to 11 a.m.; 932-P5-03B, Friday, May 21, 9:30 to 11 a.m. Each class takes place at the Winchester High School and has a $29 fee.

T-ball class for 4- and 5-year olds

Our Wednesday T-ball class filled up so quickly that we've added a new day for 4- and 5-year olds. Instructor Margie Paulson will help you learn the beginning skills of baseball. The class which is held on Mondays from 4 to 5 p.m. will include warm-ups, drills in batting, catching, throwing, and running bases. Games will be used to enhance skill development. Participants will receive a baseball shirt and hat but must supply their own glove. Six sessions. Course number: 932-P5-04C, Ages 4 and 5 beginning Monday, April 26, from 4 to 5 p.m. at Leonard Field, $34 fee required.

Children's soccer 'It's a kick'

Instructor: Lee Evans and staff. Spring soccer is a kick. This program is for the beginner or near beginner. Here is a chance to learn some basic soccer skills while playing soccer-related games. Participants must wear shin guards and bring a size 3 soccer ball to each session. Each player will receive a special shirt. Parents, with a knowledge of soccer, may volunteer to help with this program, and their child may attend at no cost. They must be able to help at all sessions. Contact the Recreation Department, 721-7125, if interested in helping. The class will be canceled in inclement weather. Six sessions.

932-E5-12A beginning Thursday, April 29, from 3:15 to 4:15 p.m. at Lynch Field for kindergarten age, $34 fee required.

On track

Instructors: Melanie Dorr and Ken Tully. Have a great time while running faster and throwing and jumping farther. The class will conclude with the Hershey's Track and Field Meet held in June. Running shoes are recommended (racing spikes are not allowed). A shirt is included in the price. Program is canceled during inclement weather. Classes scheduled for May 12 and 14, will take place at the Winchester High School Track. Participants meet behind McCall School unless notified otherwise. BUSINESS SPOTLIGHT

Natalie Delvaille, TLC Landscapes

Natalie Delvaille, owner of TLC Landscapes in Reading, offers many options for landscaping your home. In these tough economic times, you may want to do your own landscaping, but need a plan that can show you what plants to buy and where to put them. TLC landscapes will do just that—give you the design and the how-to information you need to do your own plantings.

TLC also offers three unique services: First, skilled gardening, where a professional gardener cares for your trees, shrubs, and flowers in a way no routine lawn and grounds maintenance company can. That includes planting, pruning, weeding, fertilizing, and staking. Second, there's our Shopper's Service. We'll buy plants for you, and deliver them to your home, saving you hours of hunting through nurseries. And third, if you just need information, we'll answer you gardening question in a consultation at your home.

Finally, if you're not inclined to do-it-yourself, we can do the plantings, too. So call Natalie Delvaille at:

Dealing with lactose intolerance

In the words of the well-known ad campaign slogan, "Milk does a body good." For thousands of Americans, however, a glass of milk is a source of physical discomfort. The reason is a condition known as lactose intolerance: the inability of the body to digest milk sugar, or lactose.

"The inability to digest milk and milk products occurs because of the lack of an enzyme called lactase," explains Daniel Friedlander, M.D., a Winchester Hospital gastroenterologist. "Lactase breaks down milk sugar in the small intestines."

While lactose intolerance is often seen in children, it also affects many adults because lactase is produced in increasingly smaller amounts as a person ages, Friedlander notes. It also is often seen among African-Americans, Jews and Mediterranean groups. Friedlander also points out that milk products are often found in cakes, spreads and even medicine capsules, so people with lactose intolerance must read ingredient labels closely.

Lactose intolerance causes physical discomfort in the form of abdominal distention (bloating), cramps, gas and diarrhea.

To control the problem, people who suffer from lactose intolerance can try consuming fermented milk products such as buttermilk or yogurt. Look for yogurt with active cultures, advises Friedlander, since the cultures break down some of the lactose. He also advises to try drinking milk products treated with the enzyme lactase; there is a milk product called "Lactaid" available in the supermarket dairy case. There also are lactaid tablets available 'over the counter' which can be taken about an hour prior to ingesting milk products, he notes.

To ensure that people who must limit their consumption of diary products get an adequate amount of calcium in their diets, Friedlander points out that there are effective alternative sources of calcium.

"Canned salmon and sardines, eaten with the bones, are good sources of calcium," he says. "So are green, leafy vegetables such as spinach and kale."

Yogurt, too is an excellent source of calcium. A cup of nonfat yogurt, in fact, has more calcium (452 mg.) than a cup of whole milk (291 mg.).

Individuals who suspect that they or a family member have lactose intolerance should consult a physician for a definitive diagnosis.

Body shop for youths

With the overabundance of high fat, high calorie foods in the American diet, today more than ever, young people must be taught how to control their weight to help them feel better about themselves. Winchester Hospital The Body Shop, offers a program for ages 8 to 18.

The Body Shop is a 10-week behavior program. Classes include developing individualized menus, nutrition exercises, aerobics, learning to increase physical activity levels, self-esteem building, workshops, personal grooming and parenting support groups.

The next session of the body shop will run on Mondays from 7 to 9 p.m., April 26 through June 28 at the New Horizons community room in Woburn.

For more information call Winchester Hospital's Education Department at 756-2220.

Losing weight safely

Winchester Hospital is offering a weight loss and nutritional education program for both men and women.

Participants in "Weight Away" will learn to lose weight steadily and safely and keep it off permanently. The program, which is run by a registered dietician, will include topics on low cholesterol eating, shopping and label reading, dining out, low calorie cooking and exercise.

Weight Away will be held from 7 to 8:30 p.m., April 26 through June 7, and from 9 to 10:30 a.m., April 27 through June 1 at the Winchester Hospital Health Promotion Center in Woburn.

For registration and price information, call 756-2220. Classes fill up quickly.

Free skin cancer screening at hospital

In conjunction with the American Cancer Society's SkinSavers '93 program, Winchester Hospital is offering free skin screenings on May 5 from 6 to 9 p.m. at the Winchester Hospital Health Promotion Center in Woburn.

Risk factors for skin cancer include skin sensitive to sun exposure, a mole that has grown or changed and family history of melanoma. Participants in the skin screening program will receive skin cancer information and instruction about self examination to keep track of new or changing moles.

To schedule an appointment call Winchester Hospital at 756-2111.

VBAC classes held at Winchester Hospital

For couples who are considering a vaginal birth after cesarean section (VBAC), Winchester Hospital now offers a program which deals specifically with this issue. The VBAC class provides helpful information and discusses concerns parents may have. Topics include expectations, techniques, and the pros and cons of VBAC.

VBAC is offered 7 to 9 p.m., April 14, at Winchester Hospital. For price and further information, call Winchester Hospital's Education Department at 756-2220.

New breast care center offers options

Winchester Hospital's new Breast Care Center, located at Baldwin Park II in Woburn, is a regional evaluation facility that offers comprehensive breast health resources in one convenient and close-to-home location.

The Breast Care Center is designed to coordinate a full range of diagnostic and therapeutic services. Services include a physician exam, mammography, instruction in breast self-examination, a reference library and an information hotline. There is streamlined access to medical and surgical specialists including surgeons, oncologists, radiotherapists and plastic surgeons.

Women may call the Center directly for an appointment; it is not necessary to be referred by a physician. For more information call 756-2308.

Prenatal/postpartum exercises at hospital

Winchester Hospital offers an exercise program to prepare women for the changes which occur before, during and after childbirth. The classes are designed to enhance a woman's pregnancy and recovery by teaching toning exercises and relaxation techniques.

Classes are held Mondays and Thursdays from 5:45 to 6:45 p.m. at Winchester Hospital. For dates and price information, call Winchester Hospital's Health Education Department at 756-2220.

Learn how to be a great baby-sitter

Baby-sitters, learn choking and rescue breathing, accident management, child development and the business of babysitting.

Attend Winchester Hospital's two-session babysitting course from 9 a.m. to noon, April 20 and 22, at the Winchester Hospital Health Promotion Center in Woburn; and from 9 a.m. to noon on April 21 and 23 at the Winchester Hospital Family Medical Center in Wilmington. The course will provide instruction about personal and home safety, toys and activities, child and infant care, fire and police safety, emergency procedures and beginning first aid.

Gift certificates are available. Preregistration is required. For price information call Winchester Hospital at 756-2220.

Bunny pays annual visit to town

While the gray skies and rain may have dampened some people's Easter Weekend, local children felt the warmth of spring as the Easter Bunny paid an annual visit to local businesses and Winchester Hospital.

Nicole Bennas of Simms II Jewelry donned long ears and cotton tail for the Winchester Chamber of Commerce's Annual Easter Egg Swap on Saturday, April 10th, hopping her way around downtown stores and stopping for pictures with dozens of local children at LaPatisserie.

And while a few children were a little scared at first of the giant bunny, many eagerly hopped up onto her lap for the Easter photos, and some had to be persuaded to leave their new-found friend.

On Easter Sunday, Chamber of Commerce President, Cathy Jackson, Chamber Vice President, Alan Eyden and Dean Jackson of Jackson Fuel Corp. accompanied the bunny to Winchester Hospital, distributing flowers and candy donated by Kean's florist and Winchester Drug to all the patients who could not be home for the Easter holiday.

This marks the fifth year that the Easter Bunny has helped local merchants to celebrate Easter with the community.

ARTS UMBRELLA

Kelly excels in music at early age

Born in Boston in 1965, Peter Kelly's talent and interest in music became evident when, at the age of four, he began playing a Chopin prelude after hearing his father play the piece on the piano. His own lessons on the instrument soon followed. In addition to the piano, Kelly also studied and attained a solid background in percussion while performing with classical ensembles and jazz groups. While still in his early teens, he began his studies in jazz composition with renowned composer and pianist William Thomas McKinley. While continuing his jazz studies, his focus began to shift towards classical composition.

In 1987 Kelly became one of the youngest composers ever to have an orchestral performance at Boston's Symphony Hall. His piece, "Alden's Retreat," was premiered during a benefit concert for the Boston Composers' Orchestra which included performances by Richard Stoltzman and Gary Burton on the evening. One year later, he returned to Symphony Hall for another orchestral premiere, performed by the Sinfonova Chamber Orchestra under conductor Aram Gharabekian. Critics compared the style of his early works to Delius, Vaughan Williams and Leonard Bernstein. He received his bachelor of music degree from the New England Conservatory in 1989. In March of 1991 under the direction of Robert Black, Kelly's "Symphony No. 1" was recorded by the Warsaw Philharmonic Orchestra and was released on the Vienna Modern Masters label (VMM 3005). In July 1992 Alden's Retreat was recorded, again by the Warsaw Philharmonic, and is scheduled for a summer 1993 release. Kelly is currently the director of marketing and post-production coordinator for the Master Music Collective (MMC) recording and production company.

Winchester artist wins top Lexington Award

Dorothea Jeffery, well-known Winchester portraitist has received the "Best of Show" award in the current exhibition by the Painters Guild of the Lexington Arts and Crafts Society Inc. Her painting, a striking pastel portrait of a long time friend, is titled "Capt. Robert Coller."

A graduate of the New England School of Art where she received classical training under the tutelage of Ernest L. Major, one of the last of the "Boston School" artists, Jeffery continued her studies with such top-rated instructors as Daniel E. Greene, George Augusta and Constance F. Pratt.

Proficient in a variety of media, Jeffery currently specializes in a technique requiring the build up of layered pastels of different densities. The result is a much more "painterly" effect. Jeffery is a long time member and past officer of the Winchester Art Association.

She has received many awards over the years including "Best of Show" in Lexington in 1986 and more recently first place in the prize show of the Winchester Art Association. Her commissioned works appear in many private homes in the area. Jeffery's prize-winning portrait may be seen as part of a very strong, mixed-media painting exhibition being shown through April 24, at the Lexington Arts and Crafts Gallery on Waltham Street in Lexington, Tuesday through Saturday, 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

DEPARTMENT OF THE TRIAL COURT
Case No. 191022

To Frank J. Tambone; Angela F. Tambone and to all persons entitled to the benefit of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act of 1940 as amended:
BayBank, a Massachusetts trust company formerly known as BayBank Middlesex, successor by merger with, among others, BayBank Winchester Trust Company claiming to be the holder of a mortgage covering real property in Winchester, at 51 Sargent Road given by Frank J. Tambone and Angela F. Tambone to BayBank Winchester Trust Company, dated April 24, 1978, registered with the Middlesex County (Southern District) Registry District of the Land Court as Document No. 569309 as noted on Certificate of Title No. 179664, has filed with said court a complaint for authority to foreclose said mortgage in the manner following: by entry and possession and exercise of power of sale.

If you are entitled to the benefits of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act of 1940 as amended and you object to such foreclosure you or your attorney should file a written appearance and answer in said court at Boston on or before the 17th day of May 1993, or you may be forever barred from claiming that such foreclosure is invalid under said act.
Witness, ROBERT V. CAUCHON, Chief Justice of said Court this 1st day of March 1993.

A MEMORIAM

John J. Doherty (J. J.)
April 12, 1983

You toiled so hard for those you loved, you said goodbye to none, your spirit flew before we knew, your work on earth was done.
We miss you now, our hearts are sore, as time goes on we miss you more.
Your loving smile, your gentle face, no one can fill your vacant place.
Your life was love and labor, your love for your family true, you did your best for all of us, we will always remember you.
A million times we've needed you, a million times we've cried, if love could only have saved you, you never would have died.

Your Loving Family

Are You Making The Largest Investment of Your Life Without Professional Representation?

If you are NOT working with a Buyer's Broker, YOU are NOT being represented!

A buyer's Broker is a real estate agent who is legally bound to represent the buyer. Our Buyer Brokers are REALTORS who offer Total Market Services, not just the Multiple Listing Service (MLS) properties. We'll advise you about For Sale By Owner, foreclosed & bank-owned properties from our private databases. Compare us with other real estate agencies who say they offer buyer representation and ask if they can do the same for you!! Our agents have had extensive training and have a long list of satisfied clients, We offer "Buying Right" Workshops and a free library at the Homebuyers Resource Center to help you become the best-educated consumer before you buy the largest investment of your life!!

Isn't it about time someone was on the Buyer's side?

Buyer, seller get one step closer with P&S agreement

By Mary Walsh
HARTE-HANKS CORRESPONDENT

Everyone who is buying a single family home must ha Purchase and Sale Agreement (P&S) according to local Realt unless it is a cash transaction. The P&S, a legal document, b the purchaser and seller.

"It's really a more defined form of the 'Offer to Purche according to Laureen Donovan of George Coleman Associates in Waltham. "It's a draft of all the information involves the sale."

According to Louise Condon, president of Condon Realt Needham, the P&S doesn't have to be drawn up by an attorne

"We use a standard form from the Greater Boston Real Es Board," she says. "But because it is a legal document, it sh be reviewed by an attorney."

Renate Millward, president of ACRES, Advanced Creative Estate Specialists in Wellesley, who represent the bu recommends that their clients be represented by an attor George Coleman and Associates gives its clients only one pie of advice: consult a lawyer.

The Purchase and Sale Agreement shows the names of parties involved, a description of the property, and the price addition, the amount of the down payment is stated, as well a

First-Time Home Buyers Pay No Points. No Closing Costs.

Introducing A First-Rate Mortgage For First-Time Home Buyers.

Our new low-rate, low-cost mortgage helps you in a variety of ways:

- NO POINTS OR CLOSING COSTS. On a mortgage of $100,000, you could save over $3,000. Even more on larger mortgages. You'll be able to put more money down and get more house for your money.
- GREAT RATE. The low interest rate is fixed for the first 5 years, which makes budgeting easier. After five years, the rate adjusts annually for the remainder of the mortgage.
- EXPERT SERVICE. From prequalification through closing, a BayBank Mortgage Specialist will help you every step of the way.
- ONE-DAY DECISIONS. Apply today, and get your answer the next business day.

Whether you're buying your first home, purchasing a new home, or refinancing your current mortgage, BayBank has a complete range of options. To find out more or to apply, stop by any BayBank office or call 1-800-BAY-FAST* and make an appointment with a BayBank Mortgage Specialist.

6.99% RATE

6.39% APR*

Call 1-800-BAY-FAST.®

BayBank®

* Rate as of 4/9/93, subject to change without notice. Rate is for loan amounts up to $203,150 with 20% down payment. Sixty monthly payments of $6.05 per $1000 borrowed followed by 300 payments of $6.06 per $1000 borrowed. Rate may adjust annually after the fifth year. Minimum down payment of 5% for owner-occupied homes and 10% for condominiums. Application fee is $250 for single family homes and $300 for condominiums. (Fee will be refunded at closing.) Making financial decisions

By E.H. Stockstill
HARTE-HANKS STAFF WRITER

So you think you'd like to own a house?

But how much money can you actually afford to spend? And how long do you want to be paying for your residence? What are current interest rates and how do they relate to personal real estate trends in a given region? And what about insurance costs?

Those are hard questions to answer, real estate professionals agree, but they are questions that must be answered before a person can know whether or not its time to dive head first into the market.

Buying a home, as the old adage goes, can be the single most important financial investment a person or a family will ever make.

So what's a buyer to do amid the current maelstrom of options and plethora of information? Become educated about the housing market, Realtors say, and ask the kind of long-term questions that will put things into perspective and help one turn a good, lasting deal on a house.

Today's home buyers, some Realtors say, are, in fact, very well-informed: much more so than their predecessors 20 to 30 years ago. And armed with an arsenal of facts and a basic understanding of long-term financing, the consumer should be able to fend for her/himself and make prudent decisions, they say.

"Most people are pretty sophisticated and have a pretty good

Avoid home building bedlam

Septic system or town water, carpet or linoleum, four windows or a huge bay. These are some of the wonderful, horrible decisions new home builders wring their hands over once the life-long dream of building a home finally turns into a reality.

To avoid problems to which new home builders can easily fall prey during construction, consider the advice of the experts ... the builders.

Eight-year veteran builder Richard Fidler, contractor/builder with Fidler Under the Roof in Stow, suggests the tips below for people to factor in before plunging into house-building bedlam.

1. Know what you want. "A lot of times, they don't know what they want, and they'll change things left and right. Extras cost a lot more than just building a house, like moving windows, or changing linoleum to wood floor."

2. Don't overbuild. "Don't build a huge house if you don't need it, unless you're planning to resell."

3. Have finances settled in advance. "Check interest rates, and know how you'll finance the building."

4. Find a good contractor to do the job for you, someone you are comfortable with. "When you contract yourself, you end up in a lot of trouble."

5. Make a list of what you want in your house. "If you don't know what you want, buy a house plan book. They have a lot of different plans to help you. Have the colors, carpet, flooring — let people know what you want. Be thorough."

6. Check the ground to determine whether you will use town water, or will need to build a septic system. "If you need to build a septic system, you have to put you're own well in, which can cost between $3,000-20,000," Fidler said.

Closing costs

By John Moroney
HARTE-HANKS STAFF WRITER

The cost of buying a new home can be a rude awakening, particularly when the costs of the transaction are assessed at closing. And although these expenses must be disclosed up front, home buyers still find the costs shocking.

"People shouldn't be surprised, but a lot of them are when they get to the closing and they have to write a check," said Ralph Zampitella of Waltham's Zampitella Real Estate.

Fortunately, the element of surprise is checked by lenders who must provide mortgagees with closing cost estimates at the time of application, according to Nelson Zide of ERA John Nelson Realty Inc. in Framingham.

Where Else Can You Borrow At A Rate That's Even Close To Ours?

FIRST YEAR

4.9% APR

NO CLOSING COSTS

The more you look around at interest rates, the more you realize one fundamental truth. There's virtually no way you can borrow money at a rate as low as a WCIS home equity credit line. It's a great way to consolidate debt from higher-rate sources. Finance educational expenses, home improvements, even a vacation. You don't even have to pay any closing costs. Come in to WCIS today. With 28 offices in Central Massachusetts, we're never far away. And with a home equity rate like ours, no other bank is even close.

The more you know, the better we look.

Annual Percentage Rate (APR) for first year is 4.9%. Note rate for subsequent years is 1.5% over the Wall Street Journal prime rate, adjusted monthly (e.g., on 3/7/93 prime was 6.0%). Maximum APR 18%. There are no fees except a home appraisal, required on all lines over $50,000 single family, $250; 2 - 4 family, $500. Credit line may be used for up to five years, and you have up to 10 years after that to complete repayment. Borrower agrees to maintain the credit account for a minimum of three years or pay a penalty of 1% of the line. Minimum monthly payment: the greater of $75 or 1/2% of the outstanding principal balance plus accrued interest. Credit line is based on a security interest in your home. For information about interest deductibility consult your tax advisor. Available to new accounts only. Offer may be terminated at any time.

Now's the time to buy a hom

By Joan B. Lyons
REALTOR

It's just that we don't realize it because of the weather. Bu putting the weather aside, real estate is moving right along.

Have you been wondering whether to take the plunge and bu that first home? With all the banks offering such a low rate most first-time home buyers are paying more for rent than the mortgage payment would be. Plus, you can deduct those interes payments on your taxes. Double savings. We, as brokers, ar watching those low-priced homes come on the market and se immediately. In fact, recently the market seems to have picke up in the $140,000 range. With 6 percent interest rates out there and believe it or not, recently a buyer got a 3.5 percent on a one year arm, it is senseless to not get out in the market place an have a look.

If you are still in your first home, it really is time to make th move to a larger home. Chances are you will be paying about th same mortgage payment, especially if you have an 8 to 1 percent rate and expand your present home. If you neighborhood won't support the extra costs, it is time to move.

I recently did an article about this subject. In the article, stressed the fact that as the family grows, the kitchen stays small, the bathroom is in constant use, the driveway isn't bi enough for the teenager's cars, and there is no where for mom and dad to have privacy.

Home Sellers' Checklist

Here are some grooming hints to help you prepare your home for prospective buyers.

Outside Your Home

☐ A New Coat of Paint...
can work wonders for a weather-worn facade. Also check and update where needed...shutters, gutters, wrought iron work, front stoop. Inspect roof and repair shingles if needed.

☐ The First Thing They See... is the front entry. Check woodwork and door for wear, peeling paint, blistering. See that doorbell is working. Polish brass and replace an unsightly mailbox. Check flooring and replace tiles or recarpet if necessary.

☐ The Lawn and Landscape... should be well groomed and healthy looking. Hire landscapers or spend time grooming the lawn, shrubbery, garden areas. Also inspect trees and remove any dead branches. Fencing should be in good shape. Replace missing slats and repaint if necessary.

☐ The Garage and Driveway... can look unsightly with grease spots and clutter. After tidying up where needed, see that garage doors open easily.

☐ Patios and Pools... increase the value of your home, but can detract from the beauty if not maintained well. Repair outdoor furniture if needed. Hose and clean pool. Store chemicals out of sight.

Inside Your Home

Check the following for wear and tear; replace, repair or repaint to restore:

☐ Windows and Screens
☐ Doors ☐ Walls
☐ Floors
☐ Carpets
☐ Light Fixtures
☐ Switchplates
☐ Plumbing
☐ Appliances (those that will be sold with the home)

Clutter alert - Give your home a more spacious look by cleaning out cluttered areas:

☐ Closets
☐ Kitchen Cabinets
☐ Bookcases and Shelves (built in)
☐ Attic ☐ Basement
☐ Garage

All areas of your home should have a 'just cleaned' look:

☐ Kitchen
☐ Bathrooms ☐ Bedrooms
☐ Den or Rec Room

Choosing an agent important

By Emily Doherty
HARTE-HANKS CORRESPONDENT

The most important factors in buying a home has always been location, according to area real estate agents.

The second most important factor? Location. The third? Again, location.

However, the slow economy in the past few years has changed this rule. A person's ability to buy a particular house supersedes the old cliche of "location, location and location." Now agents have the dual role of finding a house the buyer can afford in a choice location.

Fortunately, for many suburbs of Boston, buyers today are still picky about where they live and highly value the benefits of towns that are both close to Boston and offer the comforts of a suburban lifestyle.

The right agent, one who knows exactly what the buyer is looking for as well as the buyer's price range, is the key to finding the perfect house, say area Realtors.

So, what is the best way to pick a real estate agent? According to three agents in the Middlesex area, the best way is from a personal referral or recommendation. The reputation of the agency offers a snapshot of the way they do business and should guide the buyer when making a decision.

Joanne Libarles at Ivers and Stein Agency in Arlington adds, "A buyer should select an agency he or she has heard good things about. Then the buyer should narrow down the community they want to live in, decide how far a commute they can tolerate and what they can afford."

Helen Babcock, vice president of Carlson Real Estate in Winchester, agrees a "personal referral" is the best way to select an agent. However, she adds, "the buyer ought to check and see if the agency has a strong training program for (its) sales associates — if the brokers have designations, like their G.R.I., Graduate Realtor Institution, for example."

Ellen Gittelson at Dallamora Realtors in Framingham emphasized, "the buyer needs to trust his or her agent as someone who understands his or her needs. Purchasing a home is perhaps the largest purchase anyone makes, so it should be dealt with carefully."

All three Realtors said the agent represents the seller. They said agents should never get caught in the middle between the buyer and the seller. "We are professionals and we tell the buyer from the beginning that we represent the seller," said Gittleson of the agents at Dallamora.

At the Arlington agency, Libarles makes it clear the agents "work from the seller's perspective. We want to get the property sold for the highest price in the shortest time possible." Yet, agents from all three locations emphasize their ability to meet the needs of the buyer. Babcock sees a trend toward people picking one agent and trusting that agent to find them their home. Then it is the agent's job to "bring the buyer to the table with an offer.'

In the Middlesex area, real estate agents are finding a revived climate in the housing market with some positive signs for the future.

Homes should be inspected before making a purchase

By Beryl S. Jupiter
HARTE-HANKS CORRESPONDENT

An antique home was "sold" five times, but the deal fell through four times when each of the prospective buyers was informed by home inspectors of the house's serious structural problems.

Through the years the shingles in the antique home had come in contact with the ground, thereby rotting the sills. The only solution recommended by each inspector was to jack up the house, a problem big enough to scare away the first four buyers.

The fifth buyer, an architect, who was planning to put a lot of work into the house anyway, was not frightened by the diagnosis and reached an agreement with the seller.

"Every buyer should have an inspection. It's really helpful for educational purposes," advises Betsy Kaden, the listing Realtor of the antique house, who is associated with Hunneman & Co./Coldwell Banker Realtors of Weston.

Local Realtors agree that home inspection today is a standard contingency with the offer to purchase a house. Upon having the purchase offer accepted by the seller, the buyer typically has a

Although an inspection may cost in the $200 to $250 range for an average-size home, Realtor Dyanne Lynch, of Prudential Landmark Property Specialists of Wellesley, considers it well worth the investment, likening an inspection to preventive medicine.

According to Lynch, some home sellers even arrange an inspection prior to putting a house on the market. This way, they can inform themselves of potential concerns, such as high levels of radon gas or the presence of lead paint, and take corrective measures before selling.

Realtor Diana Bonner, of L. Davenport Boyd Realtors of Weston, emphasizes the importance of home inspection "to uncover any serious, non-obvious defects." Key areas of inspection include the roof; major systems, such as heating, plumbing, electrical, and septic; and determination of bug infestation.

Water supply, for example, is critical to home inspection in Dover because there is no public water, observes Bonner. Rather, all homes are attached to private wells which are dug by private water companies. If a new well must be dug, property owners to whom the water is supplied will be assessed.

The two primary functions of an inspection, according to building inspector Christopher Galeota of Area Home Inspection, based in the town of Harvard, are to determine whether a building is structurally and mechanically sound, and to familiarize potential purchasers with their investment.

Similarly, Ron Pazzanese, president of American Building Consultants Inc., considers home inspection "an educating experience." A buyer should have a house inspected, notes Pazzanese, to find out what the potential maintenance and upkeep will be. In inspecting a house, Pazzanese tries to gauge what to expect in the next three to five years.

"No house will be perfect — even a new one," asserts

Addressing legal issues

By David Gitelson
REAL ESTATE ATTORNEY

The process of finding and purchasing a property is complex. Buyers will benefit by being educated and using the advice and expertise of professionals.

Most consumers look to real estate professionals for help in locating a home. Effective Jan. 1, 1991, agents must disclose in writing to all prospective buyers that in Massachusetts all real estate agents work for the seller unless otherwise agreed. As a customer, you will be presented with and asked to sign a form that discloses that relationship. This means you acknowledge that the agent represents the best interests of the seller. Recently, buyers decided to contract with agents to represent their interests as a buyer's agent.

A buyer's agent may ask you to sign a contract for services and may request a retainer fee. Buyer's agents may also charge a fee whether you purchase or not. You should understand the agency relationship before you begin to actively search for a home.

When you are ready to make an offer, if you are working with an agent, a pre-printed form will probably be used. If no agents are involved, it will be your responsibility to prepare the offer. You should consider consulting a real estate attorney at this point.

The offer must be in writing and must contain all of the points that are important to you; in addition to the purchase price, it establishes the closing date, what is or is not to be included in the price, whether the transaction is contingent upon your obtaining mortgage financing, satisfactory home and pest inspections, and any other terms and conditions you consider important. An offer is accompanied by a good faith deposit, typically $500 or $1000.

Your offer may be accepted or rejected by the seller, or met with a counter offer. Hopefully, you and the seller will come to terms. Generally speaking, agreements concerning real estate must be in writing to be binding and verbal agreements are not enforceable.

Once an offer has been accepted, arrange for any inspections called for in the offer. The terms of the offer will be refined into a Purchase and Sale agreement. It is important to have your inspections completed as soon as possible. If such inspections reveal the presence of structural defects or the existence of other problems, such matters can be dealt with between you and the seller. Resolution once reached should be included in the Purchase and Sale agreement. If no satisfactory solution can be found, the agreement may be terminated and your deposit returned.

PEOPLE ARE TALKING...
...about Coleman & Sons Real Estate!!

Karen and Derek Nocera at their new Northgate home are quoted as saying;
"Coleman & Sons made buying a condominium easier than I thought it would be! We'll definitely go back to them!"

Melody Bans and Gilberto Diaz of 36 Barton St., are quoted as saying:
"Trying to find our dream home was surely a task, but Coleman & Sons put that home hunting in the past! We are very happy."

Ann Manes and Alfred Woo, new homeowners of 75 Trapelo Road are quoted as saying:
"Superlative service and attention from Jim Casey! We're completely happy with our first home-buying experience. can't wait to do it again!"

"Six years ago we contacted Debra DellaCamera and assigned her a Herculean task - find a 2 family home that satisfies the wish lists of 4 discriminating adults. Today, we happily own a wonderful home on a quiet, tree-lined street. Debra gave new meaning to the words diplomacy, tenacity, and ingenuity. We are currently discussing the possibility of selling our home and buying other property. We look forward to working with Debra again in both of these endeavors - she was a joy to do business with."
Sincerely,
Cathryn M., Joanne D., Adrienne & Evan R.

Karen J. De Mattia of Northgate Gardens is quoted as saying:
"I wanted to take a moment to let you know how pleased I was with the service Coleman & Sons provided me... The real estate professional I dealt with was Ernie Rogers. His patience, professionalism and attention to detail certainly made my life easier. I was really impressed with his follow-up and customer service... I do and will continue to recommend Ernie and Coleman & Sons to my family and friends."

Rogers, Susan Fielding Trask, James Casey, Debra DellaCamera, Martin J. Coleman,III, Frank Brissenden. Missing from photo: Leon Boole, Ed Stack, Bob Twomey and Erik Eriksen.

Maureen & John Kilderry of 5 Cleveland Rd. are quoted as saying:
"My husband and I would like to take this opportunity to say thank you to all involved in the sale of our home at 5 Cleveland Road, Waltham. We would like it known how pleased we were with all the efforts of our salesperson, Mr. Nick Sottile. His many years of experience certainly shine through. We were confident right from the start that we had made the right decision to list with Mr. Sottile and Coleman & Sons. You may be assured that we will enthusiastically recommend others to do business with Coleman & Sons.

Suzanne P. Johnson of 16 Flagg Cir. is quoted as saying:
"I was very fortunate to have Leon Boole for my realtor. Leon and Coleman & Sons were recommended to me by a friend who purchased a home in Waltham. A very good recommendation indeed. Lucky for me!
Now I am all moved in at 16 Flagg Circle and I'm extremely happy. I will, if the opportunity comes along, recommend Coleman & Sons and, of course, Leon."

Closing costs

"If there are surprises, which rarely happens, then something went wrong in the process," Zide said. "There should not be any surprises in terms of costs."

Debbie Lewandowski, vice president of the Lexington-based Hunneman & Co./Coldwell Banker, said, "the closing is the last step of a long process that begins with an offer to purchase."

The costs of processing the transaction and loan represent the closing costs. They include appraisal, tax service, legal, and underwriting fees as well as the expenses associated with title insurance, mailing and credit reports. These charges are usually the same whether the borrower is seeking a $50,000 or $500,000 loan, according to Loretta McAward, assistant vice president of the Bayfinch Mortgage Corp.

Borrowers are also assessed points at closing. One point equals one percent of the mortgage that lenders charge customers as a cost of doing business.

For example, the closing costs for a $100,000 loan could represent an added $3,500 in expenses, McAward said. The fees could represent between $1,500 and $1,600 of the entire costs with points making up the difference.

McAward said points "are always negotiable," but the marketplace requires about two points at closing. Lenders offer mortgages with zero fees and zero points, but interest rates on those loan are higher as a result.

You can find a house faster sitting in front of this, rather than this.

Driving around endlessly from one place to another is no way to find a house these days. Not when there's a revolutionary new way to househunt. HomeView.™ Just visit one of our convenient Realty Search Centers and describe the house you're looking for. In seconds, our computer searches through thousands of homes in over 250 towns and displays hundreds that meet your needs. Then it takes you on full-color photographic tours. You'll see interiors, exteriors, neighborhoods. In fact, you'll see more homes in an hour than you would in six months of househunting the old-fashioned way. And it's all free. To find out more, call our toll-free number. Steve Camiel of Independent Mortgage Consultants Inc. of Framingham said borrowers should be careful with promises to cut closing costs. "It's not as easy as everybody makes it out to be," he said. "Frankly, they are going to get what's available."

Borrowers can lower interest rates by paying more points at the closing, but experts say mortgagees should first consider their own cash flow and how long they intend to keep the loan.

Borrowers should also consider whether points are tax deductible. In general, points are not tax deductible in refinancing, but can often be written off on a new loan.

Borrowers should also consider whether points are tax deductible. In general, points are not tax deductible in refinancing, but can often be written off on a new loan.

Buyers should also beware of other closing costs that may be overlooked. They are often asked to have one year of prepaid insurance as well as several months of mortgage payments in the bank at closing. Other costs that could be missed are interim

WANTS YOU TO KNOW

Are you looking to sell or buy in Norwood? Doesn't it make sense to choose a real estate firm with the single best track record in town? Check the record - then decide!

The latest statistics have just been released by the Greater Boston Real Estate Board's Multiple Listing Division. Of the ten most active real estate firms who have sold homes in Norwood, Century 21 Armstrong-Sweeney far exceeds them all having sold over 41 percent of all residential properties, for the last three years - and this was during a period of recession!!

In addition, Century 21 Armstrong-Sweeney has obtained THREE times as many listings as their closest competitor. And, of these listings, they have sold 61 percent themselves.

This is a remarkable feat in this very competitive field!! Why go anywhere else when the numbers speak for themselves?

Pazzanese. "With an old house, people have lived in it and know the problems."

Buyers have different perspectives on what is perfect. A potential buyer for a house in Weston which Pazzanese considered "99 percent perfect" did not complete the purchase, remaining dissatisfied with its minor imperfections.

In contrast, Pazzanese told of a buyer of a dilapidated house in Belmont which needed "everything:" sanding and painting, and new roof, kitchen and bathrooms. Yet the buyer was thrilled to purchase a house for only $300,000, at a great location, in a $500,000 neighborhood, with the expectation of having to put in $75,000 worth of work to improve it.

Often an inspector can put the problems in perspective, explains Pazzanese. For example, even though today's home electrical standard is 100 amps, a house with only 60 amps is not automatically a problem. Electrical usage must be examined. If the boiler, stove and clothes dryer are all gas-operated, 60 amps may be sufficient. But if the buyer wants to install electrical appliances and air conditioning, the electrical system will need upgrading.

A worst case electrical scenario described by Galeota was a house in which a colleague from Area Home Inspection found the electrical panel built into the shower area and only covered by a curtain. Was this a deal-busting surprise?

Undoubtedly, a surprise. But a sale could still be realized with the fulfillment of the inspector's firm recommendation that the electrical panel be moved and rewired elsewhere, the cost of which to be negotiated between the buyer and seller.

Neither termites nor an old roof are reasons to panic, according to Pazzanese, who prices an average termite treatment at about $1,000 and a new roof on a typical Cape-style house for about $2,000.

Realistically, however, Pazzanese recommends that if a buyer is looking at houses for $200,000, but "can't afford to spend another nickel," he or she should be looking at homes in a lower price range.

Yet a buyer, according to Galeota, without extra funds for repairs, faced with a seller unwilling to make financial concessions with regard to the inspection, may choose to withdraw an offer when presented with major structural deficiencies or problems with the roof, moisture, insects, or the electrical or heating systems.

Even the expense of the building inspection is commonly a concern of buyers. But Galeota warns, "Don't get the cheapest inspector." Aware that consumers can get a $99 inspection with a two-page checklist report, Galeota emphasizes the importance of hiring a qualified inspector who will produce a report summarizing the structural components of the house and recommendations for improvement.

idea of what they want to buy," said Wilmot Whitney, a Weston-based Realtor. "We can't tell them what they can or cannot afford in a house. If we knew what all their expenses and income were, we could."

Instead, Whitney said, Realtors and mortgage specialists usually caution the first-time buyer not to become overextended financiall, and they provide enough guidelines to steer a customer in the right direction.

The chief factor to consider, Whitney said, is debt: or rather, how much debt is affordable for the buyer over the long haul.

Total indebtedness is a good yardstick, agreed Louise Condon, president of Condon Realty Inc. in Needham. The total indebtedness benchmark factors in payments of principal and interest, as well as real estate taxes and homeowners insurance.

According to Condon, between 28 and 33 percent of a person's annual gross — or pre-tax — income is a fairly safe level to finance a home at.

"That's pretty much the standard," Whitney agreed. But, "it's up to them (the individual buyers) as to what they can afford."

Condon said some buyers do figure in percentages as high as 40 percent.

First-time buyers these days, Condon said, also often come with pre-approved letters of qualification from mortgage companies or bank lenders and are ready to do business. She said her experiences have brought her into contact with intelligent consumers, for the most part.

"The consumer is very well-educated," Condon said. "I think people who are in the housing market have looked" around and discovered what is right for them.

"I'm surprised at how informed they are," she said.

While Realtors agree that individual housing markets — with different economic levels and social climates — introduce unique problems and solutions for the home buyer, Condon said what is true for the buyer in one market general holds true in another market.

Arlington Realtor Robert Bowes said lower interest rates — as low as 7.5 percent on a 30-year fixed mortgage — have encouraged more people to look into buying a house, and those prepared to make tough choices have made good investments.

interest on the mortgage and or tax escrows.

Ed Davis, president of Dallamora Realtors Inc. in Framingham, says finding a reputable real estate agent and mortgage broker are important.

"We deal on reputation," Davis said. "People should use the same care when they are going for a mortgage."

Attorneys can also play an important role at the closing. Lenders have lawyers so it only makes sense for borrowers to have their own too.

In most cases, the same attorney can represent both sides at the closing. But experts say a buyer's attorney can review the specifics of a purchase and sale agreement.

"It's just too big of a purchase to make without an attorney," Lewandowski said.

An deal to buy a home can be wrapped up in as little as one week, or can take as long as two months. Banks and home buyers try to "pass papers" within 60 days since mortgage rates often change after that period.

any contingencies.

Contingencies are things that need to be done before the sale is completed. These might include inspections for termites or lead paint, or for problems with even septic systems. "Especially in older towns such as Wayland," says Millward, "it's a good idea to have the buyer check out the septic system." Should any of these contingencies not be done according to the description in the Purchase and Sale Agreement, the sale can become null and void.

Louise Condon

The P&S also spells out any details like an exchange of properties. Although most clients are pre-qualified, the P&S document usually states that the consummation of the sale depends on a mortgage being obtained by the buyer.

The Purchase and Sale Agreement sometimes reflects the age and status of the property. For example, in a "build to suit"

Packing tips for a smooth move

By Brigid Strong
HARTE-HANKS STAFF WRITER

Moving to a new home involves more than just a weekend of packing boxes and watching the movers load the truck with furniture.

For the smoothest move, movers say homeowners should begin planning four to six weeks in advance of the moving date.

Phil Burke, of P.E. Burke Moving and Storage Company in Waltham, said he provides all his customers with the following information:

- When you are four-to six weeks away from the moving date, take a tour of your entire home, from attic to basement, and decide what will make the move and what should be tossed.
- When you are debating whether to get rid of the old patio furniture or some other item, keep in mind that the cost of replacing items may be greater than the cost of moving them.
- Also, decide how much packing you and your family can do yourself. Packing on your own will help keep moving costs to a minimum.

For the smoothest move, movers say homeowners should begin planning four to six weeks in advance of the moving date.

This is also the best time to start notifying people that you are moving.

- Notify your post office, and arrange for your mail to be forwarded. A change of address card will be necessary for each family member that receives mail at the address.
- Notify your gas, water, electric, telephone fuel, and trash companies that you are moving.
- Notify professional services, such as your doctor, dentist, CPA, lawyer, or broker.
- Notify your insurance agencies, including life, fire, auto, home, health, and accident.
- If you have any established business accounts at a drugstore, a dry cleaner, or a department store, notify them four to six weeks in advance of your move.
- Notify any government agencies, such as the Social Security office, the Registry, or the library.
- Inform any newspapers or magazines of your new address.

Finally, within four to six weeks of your move is a good time to establish credit in your new city.

When your move is two to three weeks away, start making your family's travel plans if your move is long-distance. Reserve hotel rooms if they will be needed and prepare your car for the trip.

This is the time to have any rugs cleaned and rolled. Leave them in the wrappers, and clean drapes.

Three days before your moving date, do any laundry and set aside enough clothes to last until all your boxes are delivered to your new address.

Pack one box of items that will be immediately needed when you arrive at your new home. Some items to include in this box are cleaning items, kitchen items like paper plates and paper towels, tissue, trash bags, and a flashlight.

Pack any valuables you intend to carry with you.

Finally, check contents of drawers and remove all spillable or breakable items.

situation, one of Millward's P&S Agreements described repairs that needed to be done before closing, and the dates that they needed to be done by. The P&S stated that the contractor had to pay the buyer $100 per day for the first week after the date had been missed, and $200 per day the second week.

"The more complex the transaction, the more detailed the document," Millward says. According to Donovan, "It's written to be changed, amended, or added to by the lawyer, the buyer, and the seller." Buyers usually make an "Offer to Purchase" to a seller, with a deposit of $500 to $1,000. Within two weeks the offer then goes into a "Purchase and Sale."

transaction in detail; the rights and liabilities of the parties are established. You should consider consulting with your attorney at every step of the way, but with the P&S, an attorney's advise and expertise is most valuable to you, because once signed, you are bound to the terms of the contract and its legal significance.

It is not unusual for additional deposits to be made (often to a total of 5 to 10 percent of the purchase price). This deposit will be at risk should you fail to fulfill your obligations.

If the P&S calls for you to obtain mortgage financing, you will make a loan application, and provide the documentation necessary to enable the lender to qualify you and the property, which will have to be appraised. Professionals may be of great service to you in helping you find the right lender and mortgage program.

When the loan has been approved, the lender will assign its legal representative to examine and certify the title to the property. Usually, this individual will also schedule and conduct the closing. You will be expected to bring any documents required by the lender, such as proof of insurance and paid premium, and sufficient funds to complete the transaction to the closing. Adjustments between you and the seller will be made. You will also sign the various loan documents, including the note (promise to pay) and the mortgage (giving the lender a secured interest in the property). The scope of the documents will depend on the lender and the nature of the loan.

Following the closing, the deed from the seller to you and the mortgage will be taken to the registry of deeds for recording, completing the transaction and giving notice to the public that you are now the owner of record.

The process is not a simple one, and can be overwhelming. The knowledgeable help of experienced professionals is vital and can make a significant difference.

Attorney David Gitelson is a principal with the firm of Gitelson & Alsen, with offices in Framingham. His practice concentrates in real estate law.

The new homes being built today are in tune with the problems of the growing family. The family rooms with skylights, the multi-baths, the extra room for the computer when dad needs to do his work at home and most important, the master bedroom suite with that relaxing jacuzzi.

We, as Realtors, are here to help you, the public. We have been trained to meet your every problem. A good Realtor will give you hours of attention in selling your home. We are constantly obligated to take courses to increase our knowledge to protect you, the public.

Herb Connolly Buick

Location: 500 Worcester Road, Framingham

History: In 1918, Herb Connolly established his automobile business as the first Chrysler dealer in Boston. He started a Buick franchise in 1936 and, in 1950, the company purchased Boston Buick Dealer from Noyes Buick.

Herb Connolly Jr. has been involved in the business for the past 52 years. Since moving the dealership in 1975 to 500 Worcester Road, Framingham, Connolly has focused on establishing one of the most outstanding General Motors Service and autobody paint and repair businesses in New England, and continues to be accessible to customers.

Types of Cars Sold: New and used Buicks, and a variety of other makes of used cars.

Hottest Sellers: "They've all been hot lately," says Business Manager Barry Glimcher. He describes models "all the way across the board" as being popular, with the LeSabre, Regal and Park Avenue taking top honors.

Specialties: This dealership offers a full rental department, an 18-bay service center, the latest computerized equipment to service all General Motors cars, and 10 service technicians trained by GM. In addition, Connolly's offers transportation to and from work and serves a continental breakfast to customers — coffee, juice, donuts, and toast — while they wait.

Service: Herb Connolly Buick's sales and service departments' volume has grown in the past few years and, because of this dealership's customer follow-up system, repeat business is tremendous.

Incentives: Customer rebates of up to $1,500 are now available, as is financing as low as 5.9 percent.

Philosophy: "At Connolly, we continually contact our sales and service customers to ensure satisfaction. When you buy from Herb Connolly Buick you are not just buying a premium American automobile, you are buying a premium American automobile dealer as well," said Connolly.

Buick Roadmaster

Technical enhancements grace 1993 model

Buick's Roadmaster sedans and Roadmaster Estate Wagon have a number of technical enhancements for the 1993 model year.

Roadmasters are designed for those who want a full-size, full-frame sedan or wagon with rear-wheel drive and V-8 power. They have the greatest towing capacity of any Buicks - 5,000 pounds with optional towing package.

All Roadmasters are again equipped with a 5.7-liter, V-8 engine with electronic fuel injection generating 180 horsepower at 4,000 rpm and 300-lb.-ft. of torque at 2,400 rpm. The engine is mated to a four-speed, automatic transmission with overdrive.

Both the sedans and Estate Wagon have estimated EPA fuel-economy ratings of 16 miles per gallon in the city and 25 mpg on the highway.

Both the sedans and Estate Wagon have estimated EPA fuel-economy ratings of 16 miles per gallon in the city and 25 mpg on the highway.

Roadmasters have standard anti-lock brakes, standard driver air bag and extensive rust protection. All exterior sheet metal panels, except the roof, are galvanized on both sides (the roof is galvanized on one side).

Buick Roadmaster

Technical enhancements grace 1993 model

Among new features for 1993:

- Solar-Ray windshield added on Estate Wagon for protection against harmful sun rays.
- A locking system for power windows so operation of the windows may be controlled by the driver.
- Improved acoustical package.

A variable-effort steering system, standard again on Roadmaster Limited, is designed to make steering easier in parking and other low-speed maneuvers while providing more "road feel" at highway speeds.

Among the standard features are analog gauges including tachometer, visor vanity mirrors for driver and front passenger, built-in front and rear-door storage, split bench front seat, convenience net (two for wagon), child security locks on rear doors, side front window defoggers, instrument panel pull-out tray, power windows with driver-side express-down feature, manual seat recliners, four assist handles and AM/FM stereo radio.

DynaRide, a suspension system tuned and equipped to enhance Buick's traditional ride without sacrificing handling, is standard. DynaRide combines advanced valving technology with careful selection of other suspension components to achieve a smoother ride over all types of roads.

Roadmaster Limited sedan has, in addition to variable effort steering, such features as remote keyless entry system, specific 55/45 seats trimmed in cloth or optional leather, six-way front headrests, rear seat armrests and headrests, power seatback recliner for driver and front passenger, automatic power antenna, automatic door locks, door courtesy and warning lights, inside automatic day/night rearview mirror with integrated front-seat reading lights and AM/FM stereo radio with cassette, seek, scan and digital clock, graphic equalizer and dual front standard-range and rear extended-range speakers.

Available features include leather seats, leather-wrapped steering wheel (standard on Limited), trailer towing package and a number of entertainment options including cassette, graphic equalizer and compact disc player.

Roadmaster Estate Wagon continues to have Vista Roof, a dark-tinted glass panel positioned midway in the roof to provide an open-air look. An option is a Vista Cover for the roof class. It consists of two shades manually operated from the inside to shield rear-seat passengers from sun glare.

DynaRide combines advanced valving technology with careful selection of other suspension components to achieve a smoother ride over all types of roads.

Low pressure, no haggling sales seize care industry

One of the newest wrinkles in buying a car is the one-price, no haggle deal.

Saturn Corp. is using that approach. So is Ford Motor Co. on certain models, Chrysler Corp. is training dealers in the new ways. Lexus and Infiniti thrive on low pressure sales tactics.

It's all old hat to folks in Hamilton, Mich. They can buy their plywood, take their eggs to market, pick up fertilizer, gas their vehicle — and buy a new car all at one stop.

All these services are available from the Hamilton Farm Bureau Co-Op Inc. Hamilton Chevrolet is the only dealership in the United States to be owned by a farm co-op.

Orvin Deters, manager of the dealership, says the dealership, was founded in 1929 by a group of farmers pooling their resources in a co-op. It sticks to the same basics today when it comes to selling cars.

"We don't advertise the prices on the windshield. People come in and we talk with them. We've always been on the kick of a fair price without haggling. We've been doing that since 1929 and some dealers are just now catching on to that. We've been doing it forever.

"We figure out what we have got to have to keep the doors open and its a fair price with the discount off the top," Deter observes.

If vehicle buyers are one of the 2,700 stockholders in the co-op, they'll get an additional rebate on the price of the new or used vehicle bought from Hamilton Chevrolet.

The result: "We have a repeat business which is fantastic — 90 percent." That means nine out of ten people who buy a vehicle at Hamilton come back and buy another one.

"We've been selling to generations. We pull customers from 50 miles away. Most aren't members of the co-op."

Deters isn't sold on the idea of no sales people. "This year we'll sell 525 new and used vehicles and we're doing it with three sales people. Shoppers don't know everything they need to know about the car or truck. Our community doesn't go for high pressure tactics and we take quite a few sales from big city boys because of that," Deters notes.

"We won't bother you on the phone after you've come in," he notes.

Salesmen are on salary. "We give our people a fair deal on pay. If they don't sell a car, they can still live. Our employees have been here from 15 to 35 years," says Deters, 57 who has been in the auto business since he was 16 at Hamilton 15 years.

Despite being in a rural setting (about 50 miles south of Grand Rapids), Hamilton Chevrolet's sales are evenly split between trucks and cars.

Last year, Hamilton Chevy sold 225 new vehicles and 300 used ones. But the trucks sold aren't the minivans and sports utility vehicles. They're the practical pickups.

On average, the dealership sells one Corvette a year. "Our mix of vehicles is more meat and potatoes," Deters says. The most popular truck is the four-wheel drive extended cab half ton pickup. "It's a work vehicle that can be used as a family car as well."

"We sell more Silverados (top of the pickup trim line) than basic trucks because of the personal use. If you have a good looking truck even if you're pulling a cattle trailer it impresses your neighbor. Farmers like to outdo each other with good-looking things," Deters says.

Residents of Hamilton, Mich., can buy their plywood, take their eggs to market, pick up fertilizer, gas their vehicles and buy a new car — all at one stop.

The most popular car is the intermediate-sized Lumina sedan. "The Caprice (a full size) was our best seller until they changed the design in 1991," Deters says. The Caprice went from boxy styling to a more controversial aerodynamic look which failed to impress the Hamilton farmers.

If buyers are members of the co-op they'll get back one to three percent of what they spent depending on the financial results of the entire co-op, not just the dealership.

Last year, Hamilton Farm Bureau did $53 million in sales. The dealership contributed $7 or $8 million to that, says Jeffrey Stroburg, president and chief executive officer of the bureau.

It's simple to become a member. "Just sign a form and you're a member. You don't have to be a farmer," says Stroburg. "There's no fee. We want to make it easy."

In addition to the dealership, the farm bureau consists of an egg processing plant, lumber division with two home centers, a petroleum division that handles fuel deliveries and a service station. There's a feed mill and an Agronomy Division that handles crop inputs, seeds and chemicals.

Stroburg would like to see the dealership expand. "We'd like another General Motors franchise. Buick would complement our Chevrolet division and enable us to go upscale. The Roadmaster (a traditional, rear drive big sedan) is a great car."

Thanks for your patience. Your Saturn is here.

Not long ago, as you may recall, we had so many customers we sometimes had to ask them to wait a few weeks while we built their cars. Well, the people in Spring Hill voted to put in a bit more overtime to help keep up with the demand, and we now have a pretty wide selection of models to show you. So the only thing that might try your patience from now on is hearing, over and over again, "Say, how do you like your new Saturn?"

A DIFFERENT KIND of COMPANY. A DIFFERENT KIND of CAR.
A DIFFERENT KIND of RETAILER.

This is the scariest thing we have ever done, but at these NO PRESSURE PRICES our Toyotas are going fast!

NO PRESSURE PRICE

Gerry Bloomfield, Product Specialists
Andre Nowakowsk, Product Specialists
Ed Henderson, Product Specialists

What Have We Done?

On January 18th we changed our way of doing business. Our research showed us people did not like to negotiate on the price of a new vehicle, and the last 90 days has certainly proved that. Our No Pressure Price has eliminated all the game playing, mystery and hassle. And we think that's a great way of doing business for all of us!

Forget the Agony of Wheeling and Dealing. The Lowest Price is Already Marked on Every Vehicle.

We knew you were smart enough to know what you wanted. And to ask questions when you didn't. So the solution was obvious. We set the prices of every vehicle at the lowest possible discount. No negotiating allowed. The right price, the only price, the No Pressure Price,is marked on each car, saving you hours of your time and thousands of dollars!

Buying A Car Was Always A Hassle. But Getting It Serviced Was Often Worse.

Since we've removed the hassles from car purchasing, we decided to make it easier for you to deal with our service department as well. – So we made big changes there too. When you buy a new car, we put you on a computerized program so that you will automatically be reminded when service is due. In addition, we allow you to schedule your service by appointment, so there's no waiting in line. In addition, we have provided a free shuttle service to and from your home, office or shopping center!

1993 Subaru Impreza

This new car is 'right on the mark'

Impreza is a perfect name for Subaru's newest car. The Italian word means "making your mark," and the mark the Impreza made on me was right on target.

KEANE ON WHEELS
By Tom Keane

Even the appearance is on the mark. Although the design isn't unique, there is something cute about the body style, especially the curvature of the rear end. Also, I like the size of the car because it looks very manageable.

As soon as I got in the car, I was impressed by the overall quality, and it only took a few miles to appreciate that it had a solid, rigid body with quality construction, inside and out. Because of its positive handling and steering, I felt at ease pushing it through tight turns.

The pre-production Impreza that I drove had all-wheel drive, and the extra traction helped considerably when pushing the car through turns. Yet this subcompact isn't intended to be driven like a sports car. If it were, Subaru would have used a stronger engine. However, the four-cylinder 1.8-liter engine in this car does a respectable job because the engine has low-end torque. I drove hard and fast, and this little sedan came close to satisfying all of my demands. If there is a fault, it is the whining sound coming from the transmission or drive train.

This is Subaru's first new subcompact in eight years. The other one is the Loyale. Because of Loyale's loyal following, Subaru will continue selling both models for at least another year. Incidentally, 1993 is the 25th anniversary of Subaru in America. How time flies!

The Impreza is just starting to get into production in Japan and will be available at Subaru dealers in March, with the first commercials being shown during the Super Bowl. Right now, the company is tallying costs and pricing it.

The base model will probably be just under $11,000 and the one with all the trimmings, about $15,000. The various

1994 Dodge Ram Wagons and Vans

Restyled but still powerful

Dodge gets an early jump on the 1994 model year with a mid-year restyling and refinement on Dodge Ram full-size vans and wagons.

Available beginning in Spring 1993, these full-size people movers offer a new aero design that ties to the new Dodge theme, a quieter environment, and better visibility.

Safety features have also been added, and ride and handling have been improved due to suspension and steering improvements.

The changes reflect the highly competitive nature of the full-size van and wagon market. Despite an outstanding year in sales volume — wagon sales climbed 14 percent and Dodge van sales jumped 40 percent in 1992 — Dodge opted to keep its best features while changing a host of others.

Dodge B150 Van

The new design features provide a contemporary appearance, starting at the front with a new grille, including aero headlamps and turn signals, and a sleeker bumper with optional step cap.

Dodge's powerful Magnum engines remain the powerplant of choice for the full-size vans and wagons, and they sit beneath a new hood and larger, urethane-bonded windshield. The Magnum 3.9-liter continues as the standard powerplant for the B150 and B250 short wheelbase models. It generates 180 horsepower at 4800 rpm and 225 foot pounds of torque at 3200 rpm.

Standard engine in the B250 long wheelbase and B350 models is the Magnum 5.2-liter V-8, which provides 235 horsepower and 285 foot pounds of torque. An optional 5.9-liter V-8 carries nearly the same horsepower but provides 325 foot pounds of torque for better towing power.

Inside, more car-like features like softer fabrics, a sportier steering wheel and revised instrument cluster make Dodge vans and wagons more livable.

Suspension and safety refinements round out the changes for 1994. Steering response is improved by variable-assist steering, standard gas-charged shocks are retuned, and the heavy-duty optional shocks upgraded.

On the safety front, four-wheel anti-lock brakes are added as an optional feature (rear-wheel ABS remains standard). Also, a new center high-mounted stoplight has been added, as has an optional keyless and illuminated entry system.

Ram vans at the retail level are targeted primarily at commercial users, small business owners and recreation-use buyers who need conversion units. These vans provide the most efficient ratio of interior space to overall size in the industry.

Ram wagons are aimed at families and service-oriented businesses, such as shuttle operations for hotels and airports, which require a well-built, well-equipped vehicle for carrying up to 15 passengers.

Ram vans and wagons are available in 109.6- and 1 27.6-inch wheelbases in B150, B250 and B350 series', including a stretched maxi B350 version. Overall lengths measure 187.2, 205.2 and 231.2 inches.

Oldsmobile Bravada

'The ultimate in good taste and versatility'

When Oldsmobile entered the sport-utility field in 1991, sights were set at a high standard. The Bravada introduced a level of refinement, sophistication, and value that had no precedent in this popular and growing vehicle class.

An aggressive improvement program has kept the Bravada at the leading edge of customer satisfaction and the changes slated for the 1993 model year are particularly noteworthy.

What the Bravada offers is a roomy, four-door package with luxurious interior accommodations, advanced V-6 power, a sophisticated automatic transmission, and SmartTrak (the combination of full-time all-wheel drive and four-wheel anti-lock brakes).

Well educated and affluent sport utility buyers recognize this product as the ultimate in good taste and versatility. Bravada comfortably blends pleasant daily transportation with the added ability to carry out tough weekend recreation assignments with poise. And neither rain nor snow can keep this Oldsmobile from its appointed rounds.

Many customers consider this machine to be the perfect blend of luxury car and rugged truck attributes. Like every car and truck from the rocket division, the Bravada is included in the exclusive Oldsmobile Edge Owner Satisfaction program.

Last year, Oldsmobile blessed the Bravada with a more potent version of its successful 4.3-liter V-6 engine. The L35 Central Port Injection (CPI) V-6 continues as standard equipment for 1993. Rated at 200 horsepower at 4500 rpm, this engine is the most powerful V-6 available in the sport utility class.

Advanced engineering features are: Vortec II cylinder heads, central-port electronic fuel injection, a dual-tuned aluminum intake manifold, a counter-rotating balance shaft, linear EGR control, roller-type hydraulic valve lifters, and single serpentine belt accessory drive.

The central-port injection — unique to GM — combines the performance and drivability advantages of port fuel delivery with the reliability and durability of a single-point injection system.

Backing up the L35 V-6 is a new 4L60-E Hydra-Matic transmission. This is the fifth electronically-controlled automatic engineered by GM's Powertrain division and the second for trucks. Four shift solenoids are governed by a sophisticated powertrain control module which assures that the engine and transmission work in total harmony.

Naturally, the 4L60-E also features four forward speeds and an electronically controlled lockup torque converter to optimize acceleration and highway fuel efficiency.

A number of lesser refinements help keep the Oldsmobile Bravada thriving at the head of the sport-utility pack. A package of powertrain brace rods reduce driveline vibration above 1700 rpms. An electronic fuel shut-off insures that vehicle speed will never exceed the tires' maximum velocity rating. New shock absorber calibrations deliver a noticeably improved ride. Dual-note horns give the Bravada a more authoritative voice.

Repair rear window defrosters to stay safe

It's far more than annoying to glance up in your rearview mirror while driving on a cold, wet and scary night and find that all you can see in that mirror is the haze of mist covering the inside of your car's back window. In fact, it can turn an already tense drive into a truly terrifying one.

OWNERS AUTO KNOW

By Don Chaiken

However, after you've gotten over the immediate danger and fright of having no rearward vision, the anger and annoyance begins to set in. You paid good money — lots of it — for that electric defroster grid on the car's rear window or hatch. It should work.

With a few simple tools, some patience and possibly an inexpensive repair kit, you can make it work again.

Electric grid defrosters operate by passing electricity through the wire grid that is glued to the inside surface of the glass. As the electricity passes through the thin wires, the wires heat up. The heat spreading out from all the wires in the grid serves to warm the glass and evaporate the moisture on the glass, clearing your view.

Therefore, before attempting to make repairs, you must determine if simply one (or a few) of the wires is not defrosting the area around it or if none of the wires are working at all. In other words, does most of the glass clear up, except for one or more clearly distinct bands, or does none of the glass clear?

If the problem is a total failure of the defroster, the first assumption you may make is that no electricity is getting to the defroster. Find the fuse in the fuse panel that protects the circuit for the defroster grid — this should be a fairly hefty fuse since the defroster grid requires a substantial amount of amperage to operate properly.

If the fuse is blown, replace it. If the fuse looks good, swap it with a known good fuse of equal amperage (borrow it from another, working circuit). If that cures the problem, replace the fuse.

If not, it is possible that either the switch for the defroster or the wiring between the fuse, switch and grid is defective. You can use either a voltmeter, if you have one, or an inexpensive 12-volt test light to make the check. Both are available at auto parts stores.

Follow the specific instructions of your voltmeter and connect its leads to the wiring connectors at the defroster grid on the rear window. Turn on the defroster. (The ignition has to be turned on as well.) Or connect the test light's ground clip to one of defroster's wiring connectors and touch its probe tip to the other connector.

Switch on the defroster. With the switch and power on, the voltmeter should register or the test light should brightly glow. If not, try replacing the switch — universal switches are available at auto parts stores, direct replacements are available at your dealership. Remove the fuse for the circuit or disconnect the battery's ground cable before replacing the switch.

If your car is a hatchback or a station wagon, be sure that the ground connection between the hatch and the rest of the body is intact. A weak or broken ground connection can prevent the completion of the electrical circuit as effectively as a defective switch can. Check the ground wire making sure it is securely attached and that there is no rust or corrosion at the connection. If there is, remove the ground wire, clean the rust and reattach the wire.

However, if power is getting to the defroster grid connectors, it may not be getting from them to the grid itself. Check the security of the wiring to the small tab on the grid. Also check the integrity of the tab's connection to the grid on the glass.

If your car is a hatchback or a station wagon, be sure that the ground connection between the hatch and the rest of the body is intact.

If the wiring connector is loose on the tab, use a crimping tool or pair of pliers to gently squeeze the connector onto the tab. If the tab or connector is corroded, clean the corrosion with a small wire brush or some emery or sand paper. Wipe away the grit and reattach the connector to the tab. If the connector is simply defective, replace it.

If the wiring tab itself is loose on the glass, reattach it using a special and inexpensive kit available at auto parts stores.

If most of the defroster works but there are bands of misty glass, there is probably a break in one or more of the individual wires in the grid. While you may have to trace a very fine break in the wire by moving the probes of a voltmeter along the wire, in most cases a keen eye is all that's needed to spot the damage.

An inexpensive repair kit sold at auto parts stores contains a special liquid and a paper template to repair cracks and tears in the grid wire. Simply use masking tape to hold the template over the damaged section of grid wire and judiciously apply the repair liquid to the break.

If the defroster works in most areas but leaves foggy blotches around the glass, a close inspection of the wire grid will reveal that the wire has come away from the glass in those untreated areas. The grid wire is not broken, but it is not in contact with the glass surface. In these cases, simply use the liquid from the repair kit to reattach the wire to the glass.

New battery helps electric vehicles become practical

Chevy and Norvik Technologies introduces 'Smart' system

Chrysler Corporation and Norvik Technologies Inc./Norvik Traction Inc. today announced a joint agreement for development of a fast, energy efficient and smart electric vehicle battery charging system they hope will give future electric vehicle customers the refueling speed, safety and convenience of today's gasoline-powered vehicles.

The Chrysler/Norvik Smart Charging System, a major electric vehicle technology breakthrough unveiled to media at the 1993 Greater Los Angeles Auto Show, allows quick charging of any battery, can be used every time a charge is needed, is simple to operate, and actually extends the life of the battery.

"This month, Chrysler took two critical steps in making electric vehicles a viable part of this country's transportation system," said Francois J. Castaing, Chrysler vice president — Vehicle Engineering. "We began production of the first of 50 Dodge Caravan Electric minivans, which are the first Federal safety-certified electric vehicles in this country, and today we are announcing a technological innovation vital to improving the electric vehicle infrastructure with the Chrysler/Norvik Smart Charging System."

Smart Charging System is being tested with the Dodge Caravan Electric minivans

The Chrysler/Norvik Smart Charging System is not the first battery quick-charging system to be introduced, but may be the smartest and most user-friendly for both the customer and the batteries. And, as part of their agreement, Chrysler and Norvik are working to make the system even easier to use and more widely available by moving the system's smarts into future electric vehicles through the proprictary Battery Energy Management System (BEMS).

What makes the Chrysler/Norvik Smart Charging System station smart is its ability to instantly determine the chemical or physical makeup of a battery and quickly and efficiently charge it without producing a state of battery-damaging overcharge.

Specific elements of the Chrysler/Norvik Smart Charging Station include:

-Fast, smart and simple to operate.

-Can be used with any battery. System already has been tested on lead-acid, nickel-iron, nickel-cadmium and nickel-metal hydride battery technologies.

-Can be used to quick charge every time. Other "brute force" charging systems are designed to be used only 5-10 percent of the time, with regular slow or overnight charging the majority of the time.

-No overcharging and thus no loss of energy through heat results in a very energy efficient system. The current Chrysler/Norvik Smart Charging Station operates at a 95 percent or greater charge efficiency rate.

-Extends the life of the battery. By not overcharging, as is done with other quick charging systems and in regular overnight charging, the expected life of the battery is actually extended. This also provides an opportunity to produce less expensive, less heavy-duty batteries as the threat of deterioration due to overcharging is eliminated.

-Can be used in all weather conditions.

"The trick of the Smart Charging System is that it takes the diagnostics — the pulse of the battery several times every second and then adjusts the charge current," said Jiri K. Nor, Norvik vice president of Research and inventor of the Norvik charging technology. "It gives the battery as much current as it can take, not more, not less.

models include a sports wagon.

The engineers tried to make a car with a rigid, lightweight body with minimum noise, vibration and harshness. They achieved those goals by using such things as grommets to seal off holes in the fire wall, and extra thick foam to shut out the road noise.

The seats are covered with an attractive fabric in numerous colors — with one of the colors matching the car's paint. There are many thoughtful features including a generous size glove box. It has a driver's side airbag; a passenger's side airbag will be on 1994 models.

The controls for the power window buttons display designer thoughtfulness. The buttons are on the door, where most are usually located. These buttons, however, are beveled outward making the controls more accessible.

This thoughtfulness is typical throughout the car. It has fold-down rear seat cushions to enable larger parcels to be carried. That's typical.

What's thoughtful is a switch that allows the seat back to be locked (as well as the trunk release lever) so that the trunk contents will be secure when valet parking.

> "As soon as I got in the car, I was impressed by the overall quality, and it only took a few miles to appreciate that it had a solid, rigid body with quality construction, inside and out."

Other features: adjustable safety belts, child-proof rear door locks, low lift-over trunk with a flat floor for storage, assist handles above each door, large, easy to operate knobs on the heater and air conditioner system, power mirrors and door locks, and a tilt steering wheel. The amenities go on. The only fault I found was the rug covering the storage trunk. My luggage squished it into a ball; it needs to be secured. The lights go off with the ignition, and it even has a turn signal light on the side of the car.

A lot of good thinking went into the Impreza, even to naming it. I'm sure it will make its mark on many.

SPARE PARTS

How time slips by: WD-40, which has numerous automotive uses, celebrates a milestone in 1993 — its 40th birthday. The original purpose of the lubricant was to protect the skin and electrical components of the Atlas missile. It has had many unusual uses, such as extracting a nude burglar from a café in Denver, and eliminating hooks and slices by spraying it on the face of a golf club.

Dress for the occasion: The makers of Saab say that it is important to wear warm clothing in winter, but heavy clothing can prevent freedom of movement when driving. After the car warms up, they advise, stop the car and remove some clothing for comfort. Struggling out of a coat while driving is a risky operation — and it requires unfastening the safety belt.

Exhaust system: Carbon monoxide is deadly. Inspect your exhaust system by placing the car on a lift and inspecting it for leaks. Also check the trunk and floor board for small holes that would allow the fumes to enter the interior of the car.

Fahrvergnuegen: The top selling auto manufacturer in Germany is Volkswagen, followed by Peugeot and General Motors. BMW ranks seventh and Benefits of downtown care, closer to home

SPECIAL TO THE STAR

"He said you have to deliver the babies. Of course I cried. My due date was May 10 and I knew that I was only 32 weeks along. I was very frightened for the babies. I never dreamed I'd deliver that day."

Like the thousands of women who deliver premature infants every year, Jody Tamburello was anxious when she was told she was going into early labor. "I had a perfect pregnancy, there were no problems," said Jody who says that going into early labor came as a total surprise. Jody gave birth to two beautiful twins, Lia Michelle and Lauren Marie who weighed about three pounds each at birth. Before gaining weight and going home, both were cared for at Winchester Hospital's Special Care Nursery.

In a similar experience, Carol Smith from Winchester talks about the birth of her fifth child, Susan, who was born at Brigham and Women's Hospital and then transferred to Winchester Hospital's Special Care Nursery. "Susan was born at 25 weeks and weighed one lb. and 14 oz." Her husband, Shawn, spoke at a rally held recently to kick off Winchester Hospital's "Big Steps for Little People" Walk-A-Thon to benefit the hospital's Childbirth Center and Special Care Nursery, where Susan was cared for one month of her new life. In an emotional speech, he described that when she was born, his daughter Susan was no bigger than the size of his hand.

Library renovations come in at $3.2 million

By Stephen Olivieri
ASSISTANT EDITOR

The Library Board of Trustees has brought forward its final estimate for the proposed renovation of the public library, a $1.45 million increase over the original estimate.

Despite the dramatic increase, the Board of Trustees still intends to go forward with the renovation and ask Spring Town Meeting members to borrow the money to pay for the renovation. The approval of borrowing money requires a two-thirds vote by Town Meeting.

The trustees had originally submitted a rough estimate of $1.8 million to the Capital Planning Committee last Fall for the renovation and had been using that number in discussions with the Board of Selectmen and Finance Committee. The cost estimate presented to the Board of Selectmen at its April 20 meeting was $3.25 million.

Among the expense not figured into the original plan were work on plumbing, four restrooms, and sprinklers. Also not included in the original estimate was asbestos removal and moving and rental costs while the renovation is underway.

The $3.25 million estimate was done by Thomson, French & Associates, an architectural firm paid for by

Hearing on warrant articles center stage

By Deborah Trask
EDITOR

Some of the town's hottest topics will be tackled at Spring Town Meeting this year.

Included in the Spring 1993 warrant articles are issues of water filtration, fields maintenance and library renovation, longterm projects with some hefty pricetags.

The articles, all 27 of them, come up for a final review at a public hearing slated for Thursday, April 22 and held by the Town Manager W. Chadwick Maurer.

At the Board of Selectmen on April 20, the budget items were postponed "two or three weeks," to allow the town boards time to get a better fix on the financial issues in light of pending legislation on education and other state cherry sheet figures.

A request will be forwarded by selectmen for a federally mandated water treatment plant, the largest ticket item on the warrant. Town Meeting will have to decide how to fund the plant and exactly how large a plant should be built. The plant is estimated to cost at least $6 million. The Water Study Committee, formed at Fall Town Meeting, will be presenting its findings and recommendations on the water plant. Projected cost per household is $60 per year if the cost of the plant is rolled over into the water rates, according to Maurer.

The Library Board of Trustees will ask the town to fund a major renovation of the library. Estimates for the renovation following a study came in at $3.2 million. Included in that renovation are plans to meet guidelines for Americans with Disabilities Act by 1995 and update both the heating and lighting system. See related story.

Sukhanya Lahiri and Alicia Franke work to widen their own circle by conducting workshops at the elementary schools.

Circle program targets prejudice

By Stephen Olivieri
ASSISTANT EDITOR

Two high school students are working to eradicate prejudice by teaching elementary students to widen the circle around them.

Winchester High School freshmen Sukanya Lahiri and Alicia Franke have taken their message of tolerance to the elementary students at Ambrose School. "Kids this age are especially vulnerable to believe what people tell them," said Franke. "So we thought we would instill something positive."

The high school students were trained on how to best present the issue to elementary students from a class they took in January, sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

The program is called "Green Circle". The basic theme of the program is for each child to decide who should be included in the green circle, which represents a child's life and all the people he chooses to include in his life.

The teachers put a green circle on a board and ask the students who they want in their circle. The students start off by including the obvious in their circle — family, teachers and friends. Figures representing these people are put in the circle.

Lahiri and Franke then enlarge the green circle and ask the children if they think people who are different — a new student, someone of a different religion, someone with a different skin color, or someone with a physical disability — can be included

Traffic violation becomes confrontation

By Stephen Olivieri
ASSISTANT EDITOR

A routine traffic violation evolved into a dangerous confrontation, as a man stopped for speeding was found to be carrying a loaded pistol.

Early on the morning of April 14, Police Officer Peter MacDonnell spotted a vehicle parked on Mt. Vernon by Winchester Place, which fit the description of a vehicle that had been observed speeding on Washington Street by another officer earlier that morning.

MacDonnell got out of his cruiser and approached the operator sitting in the vehicle. The operator of the vehicle, a 35-year-old New Hampshire man, got out of his vehicle and refused to return when ordered by MacDonnell.

According to police reports, the man was uncooperative with police; at one point, he made the officer apprehensive when he stuck his hand in his jacket pocket. Police also said the man was talking nonsensical, claiming that someone was robbing his mother's house, which is located in town.

Police searched the man and discovered he was wearing a holster and pistol around his waist. The .25 caliber pistol had eight rounds in the clip and one in the chamber. The man told police that he had a New Hampshire license to carry a gun, but had no license on his person.

"This type of thing can happen at any time. I've gone to funerals of police officers who have died as a result of a small traffic violation," said Lt. James Pierce. "The officers are trained to approach this type of situation very carefully."

The operator was taken to the Winchester Police Station and, according to police reports, became increasingly violent when he was being booked, taking five officers to subdue him.

The operator was cited for speeding and a complaint was issued against him for illegal possession of a firearm.

Lawson Road hit with thefts

By Stephen Olivieri
ASSISTANT EDITOR

Several Lawson Road residents had thousands of dollars worth of property stolen from their motor vehicles during a larceny spree that struck their street last weekend.

According to police, sometime early on the morning of Saturday, April 17, someone entered eight motor vehicles, belonging to four households, on Lawson Road and made away with thousands of dollars worth of property.

Some of the items taken from the eight vehicles include: emerald earrings, a sapphire earring, a 16-inch pearl necklace, a class ring, a leather jacket, a wallet containing credit cards, hand tools, a camera, a portable radio, a black suede jacket, three compact discs, and a hand bag containing credit cards and a checkbook.

Police do not yet have a value for all of the items stolen. Some of the credit cards stolen and the handbag were found discarded in the neighborhood.

According to police reports, at least six of the eight vehicles that were entered were unlocked. All but one of the vehicles were parked in the owners' driveways.

One owner of a vehicle that had been entered said his vehicle had not been entered as late as 2:30 a.m. that morning. The first case of a larceny on Lawson Road was reported to the police station at 6 a.m.

No arrests have been made.

POLICE LOG

Monday, April 19

11:43 p.m.

Officers Thomas Romeo and Carl Fuller dispersed a group of youths at MacDonald Field. Officer Fuller observed three full cans of beer under a blanket in the vehicle of one of the youths. Police arrested the operator of the vehicle, an 18-year-old Clark Street man, and a passenger, a Winchester youth, for minors in possession of alcohol. According to police, the three cans were the remainder of a case of beer, and the other 21 empty cans were on the street and field.

1:59 p.m.

Officer James Covino was dispatched to Main Street for a possibly rabid raccoon in a resident's yard. According to police, the raccoon appeared sick and hissed at the officer. Police shot the raccoon.

1:10 p.m.

Officer Steven Fields was dispatched to a Cambridge Street gas station for a report of larceny. An employee told police that someone pumped $13 in gas and drove off without paying. The employee said the operator of the vehicle had done the same thing several times before. Police traced the registration number of the vehicle and found it belonged to an Arlington youth. Police contacted the Arlington police to notify the youth that he is being sought.

Sunday, April 18

2:20 p.m.

Officer Arthur Houllahan was dispatched to Myrtle Street for a report of a possibly rabid raccoon. A resident said the raccoon was wandering around his home and appeared sick. According to police, the animal appeared semiconscious. The raccoon was shot.

10:30 a.m.

Officer William O'Neil was dispatched to Bonnell Ford on Cambridge Street for a report of a motor vehicle larceny. According to police, three vehicles were stolen from Bonnell Ford — two 1993 Mustang GT Convertibles, valued at $23,000 each, and one 1993 Mustang Hatchback, valued at $18,000. One of the GT Convertibles was recovered in Revere on April 19 and the Mustang Hatchback was recovered in East Boston this day. The thieves popped the locks on the vehicles and drove the vehicles over the lawn onto Cambridge Street.

Saturday, April 17

12:45 p.m.

A Madison Avenue woman told police that someone had stolen her motor vehicle from her driveway. The man discovered the vehicle was missing when he received a call from Somerville police reporting they had recovered the vehicle.

According to police, Somerville police observed the vehicle racing down the street. The operator of the stolen vehicle smashed the vehicle into a parked vehicle and several youths ran from the vehicle. No arrests were made. The passenger's door and the rear bumper had both fallen off. According to police, the thieves may have gained access to the vehicle when the owner lost her keys near the vehicle.

12:08 p.m.

Officer Douglas Wilkinson was dispatched to Chester Street for a report of a missing child. The parents of a 3-year-old girl said they had searched the house and the surrounding area for 20 minutes and could not find the child. After searching the house again, the child was found asleep behind a chair.

Thursday, April 15

2:31 p.m.

Officer Douglas Wilkinson was dispatched to a Highland Avenue residence for a report of an assault and battery. Police arrested the man, who was intoxicated, and charged him with two counts of assault and battery.

Wednesday, April 14

12:02 p.m.

Officer Steven Fields was dispatched to Richardson Street for a report of vandalism. Upon arrival, the resident told police that a neighbor had thrown dog feces all over the front of the house, including the door and stairway. The neighbor told police that he had thrown the feces all over the house because their dog had continuously defecated on his lawn. He said the owners of the dog had even lifted her dog over his stone wall around his lawn. The owner of the dog denied it. He also said he had asked the dog owner to correct the problem but they had not. Police advised the dog owners that they could seek a complaint for vandalism. Police noted that there was a large amount of dog feces in the yards of the neighbors.

Tuesday, April 13

12:45 p.m.

Officer Steven Fields was monitoring traffic at Main Street and Skillings Road when he observed a vehicle fail to obey a traffic sign requiring vehicles in the left lane to turn left. After being stopped by Fields, the operator of the vehicle, a 34-year-old Somerville man, could not produce a license. A check with dispatch showed that the operator's license had been revoked. The operator was placed under arrest and transported to the station. The operator was cited for failure to obey traffic signs and operating with a revoked license.

REAL ESTATE UPDATE
ANN BLACKHAM, CRB, CRS
THE SOLO ACT

QUESTION: My REALTOR suggested to me that he do a "solo act" when showing our house to prospective buyers. Wouldn't it be wiser for me to accompany them around?

ANSWER: One of the fastest ways to sell your house in a hurry is to keep out of it when it's being shown. First, tell the REALTOR everything that should be known about the house, then let the REALTOR do the selling. He or she is a skilled negotiator and knows how to close a sale without emotional envolvement. If you must be around when the house is being shown, greet the prospect graciously, take the children and pets and retire.

THE FASTEST WAY to sell your house is to let the Realtor show it alone.

Computer plan gets scuttled

By Stephen Olivieri
ASSISTANT EDITOR

The implementation of a school-wide computer system has suffered a setback, after costs ran almost double the anticipated amount.

The School Department had requested the Capital Planning Committee spend $350,000 over the next five years for the system. The Capital Planning Committee approved the request and placed the item as priority 12 on its list of 33 priorities for funding.

But now the School Department has withdrawn the request after discovering that the cost for the network would be $600,000. The extra cost was due to an unanticipated software expense, said acting Assistant Superintendent Thomas Budrewicz.

The Finance Committee was the first to question the $300,000 expenditure. The computer system was the only one of the Capital Planning Committee's 33 items that was not approved by the Finance Committee.

The computer network, called the integrated learning system, provides an interactive information and instructional system enabling students to access a wide range of information sources for the particular subject they are studying.

Although the system will not be implemented next year, the School Department will go ahead with a $9,900 for a computer pilot program to be implemented for the remainder of this year at Vinson Owen and Lynch Elementary Schools. Superintendent of Schools Robert Fitzgerald said the system would probably start on April 26 and run until the end of the year.

The committee decided to invest the $9,900 before it knew that the computer system would not be implemented. The committee did have the opportunity to withdraw the $9,900 but decided to go ahead with the pilot program.

School Committee member Constance Makhoul said that with the pilot program implemented town officials who decide the town's budget will see the merits of the program.

Makhoul noted that with a $600,000 price tag, some private donations may be necessary and having the pilot program may interest private donors.

"I think that this $10,000 investment has a lot of value in terms of gaining the support of the community," said Makhoul.

Committee member Eli Bortman disagreed, saying that without the major project next year, the $9,900 is not well-spent. He questioned how much attention would be paid to the computers, by the students and outside parties, in the two remaining months of the year.

"I don't see why we're spending $9,900 on what is essentially entertainment," said Bortman.

A proposal will be put forth at Spring Town Meeting to form a committee to study the uses and feasibility of a town-wide computer network for the school system.

School Department makes little progress in budget cuts

By Stephen Olivieri
ASSISTANT EDITOR

The Winchester School Committee has made its first cut to the proposed budget since it was unveiled in December, but committee members are still requesting more money than the Finance Committee is willing to endorse.

In a working session on April 19, School Committee members came to an agreement over $110,000 in acceptable cuts to the School Department's proposed $14.9 million Fiscal Year 1994 budget.

The School Committee decided to review its budget for possible reductions when Town Manager W. Chadwick Maurer and a Finance Committee subcommittee proposed school budgets of $500,000 and $700,000, respectively, lower than the School Committee's $14.9 million budget.

The School Committee was appropriated $13.5 million from 1992 Town Meeting and also received a $289,100 bonus from a state education bill in September.

The School Committee's proposed cuts equaling $110,000 are: $20,000 from transportation, $25,000 from retirement, $35,000 for a sabbatical, and $30,000 from athletics. School Committee Chairwoman Jerilyn Heinold called the cuts "relatively simple items."

The $20,000 taken from transportation would mean that parents would have to pay the same fee, $150 per student, they paid this year to have their children bussed to school.

The committee will decide at a later point what to cut from the athletic budget, but committee members noted that they may not have to cut anything because in past years they have received $30,000 for the athletic budget from the Sports Foundation in May.

Also still a factor in the budget process is a possible $434,000 bonus from the state to Winchester as part of the education reform bill. However, although both the Senate and House bills provide for that $150 per student, it is possible that a final bill, now being worked out by a six-person conference committee, may never be passed due to differences between legislative leaders on the issue of school choice.

The Finance Committee's Education Subcommittee has assumed that the School Committee will get that extra $434,000 this year. The Education Subcommittee said that if the state does not provide the money, the Finance Committee should file a warrant with Fall Town Meeting for that money to be taken from the town's free cash and given to the School Department.

However, School Committee members said they are reluctant to rely on the $434,000. The members noted that the money is not guaranteed from the state, and has not even been budgeted by Gov. Weld. "I question building a budget around the assumption that someone is going to send us money," said School Committee member James Evans.

The committee was also not satisfied with the alternative of getting that money from free cash at Fall Town Meeting, saying that Fall Town Meeting is too late and the motion is not guaranteed to be accepted by Town Meeting members.

At its April 20 meeting, the Finance Committee members voted 6-2 to accept the Education Subcommittee's $14.2 million budget. Before the approval, committee member Cynthia Krumme made a motion to go with the town manager's number of $14.4 million, but it was rejected by the committee.

FROM THE JENKS CENTER

by Mary Kelly
SPECIAL TO THE STAR

Show time coming The Ageless Follies at Town Hall

"The Ageless Follies," the second annual intergenerational effort to raise funds for the Winchester Youth Center, will be presented on Saturday, May 1, at 7:30 p.m., in the Town Hall Auditorium. This year's event, like last year's, will be a fun-filled, song-and-dance-filled presentation, again showcasing the talents and abilities of the different generations.

"The Ageless Follies" is designed as a vaudeville show of individual acts created by the performers and coordinated by the director, Brian Milauskas. The theme of this year's Follies is Romance and Love — love of life, love of friends and family, love of an activity or sport. A new addition to the Follies this year will be "live commercials" for local businesses who sponsor the event.

Tickets for seats at tables on the floor of the auditorium are $6 and in the balcony $4, and they are available at many locations, including Book Ends, Cradock Apothecary, Henderson Stationers, and the Jenks Senior Center. For information, call the Recreation Department, 721-7125, or the Youth Center, 721-0840. Checks should be made payable to "Town of Winchester."

Italian culture group meeting April 26

Winchester High School seniors, who recently returned from a trip to Italy, will give a presentation to the Italian Culture Group meeting on Monday, April 26, at 1:30 p.m., at the Jenks Senior Center. This meeting has been arranged by Roseanna Innes, foreign language teacher at the high school, who traveled with the students, and by Margie Labedz of the Italian Culture Group.

All are invited to come and share the students' experiences. Social hour will follow. No prior sign up is necessary and there is no charge for admission. For further information, call coordinator Fran Covino, 729-3606.

Shown at a recent meeting of the Planning Committee for "The Ageless Follies" are (from left) Betty Newell, co-chairperson of the Subcommittee on Commercial Sales, and Amy Hougland, of the Winchester Youth Center, co-chairperson of the Planning Committee. It is expected that The Follies will be a sell-out again this year. Tickets are available (floor, $6; balcony, $4) at Book Ends, Cradock Apothecary, Henderson Stationers, and the Jenks Senior Center.

Know your rights: protection for elder consumers

People can still sign up for the Consumer Protection Conference to be held on Friday, April 23, from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m., at Brandeis University, Levin Ballroom, Waltham, presented by Scott Harshbarger, attorney general of the Commonwealth, in cooperation with the Massachusetts Association of Older Americans. Admission to the Conference is free and includes written materials, coffee, pastry and luncheon buffet. For information and registration, call Sheila Martin at 727-2200.

This conference will help seniors: make more informed buying decisions; identify telemarketing and mail order scams; make consumer complaints with the Massachusetts Consumer Complaint Hotline; and, in addition, members of the attorney general's staff will provide information on health care issues and medical costs.

The attorney general has said that the most effective way for all of us to prevent consumer scams is to become knowledgeable about prevention techniques. This April 23 conference is an opportunity for the attorney general's department to work with you on preventing consumer victimization and ensuring prompt reporting when scams do occur.

Parkinson's Group meeting May 6

The Parkinson's Group will meet on Thursday, May 6, at 10 a.m., at the Jenks Senior Center. The speaker will be Peter Mosbach, clinical psychologist at the Boston University Medical Center, and he will discuss "Coping with Parkinson's Disease."

The Parkinson's Group is a self-help support group which is guided by COA geriatric social worker, Diane Saparoff, and meets the first Thursday of every month. Anyone interested in joining the discussion by Parkinsonians and their caregivers can call Saparoff at 721-7136 for more information.

UNICEF benefit Dixieland jazz concert

Larry Zuk, who is the conductor of the "Swinging Seniors" orchestra which visits the Jenks Senior Center once a month at Eating Together and entertains the seniors with music of the '30s and '40s, has announced that the New New Orleans Jazz Band will present a concert of Dixieland Jazz for the benefit of the United Nations Children's Fund.

The performance will take place on Saturday, May 8, at 8 p.m., at the Concord Academy Performing Arts Center, 120 Main St., Concord. The charge for seniors and students is $5, for others $10. Admission can be paid at the door.

Zuk invites all of the Winchester followers of the Swinging Seniors to join the Swinging Seniors at this benefit Dixieland jazz concert.

Kinton takes to the sky

By Stephen Olivieri
ASSISTANT EDITOR

Winchester resident Thomas Kinton Jr. is flying high in his new position as Aviation Director of Logan International Airport.

In his new position, Kinton, a 1974 Merrimack College graduate, will be in charge of the day-to-day functions of both Logan Airport, the twelfth busiest airport in the country, and Hanscom Field in Bedford.

The major issues that will be facing Logan Airport — the construction of the third Boston Harbor tunnel, nationwide concern about airport security, and the delicate relationship with neighbors — will keep Kinton busy for the next few years at the senior Massport post.

Kinton will oversee numerous Massport departments from his office on the 18th floor of the control tower: Operations, Airport Facilities and Maintenance, Terminal and Public Information Services, Public Safety and Ground Transportation Services, Aviation Marketing, and Noise Abatement. His new responsibilities will leave him in charge of 500 Massport employees.

The third harbor tunnel plan is under the jurisdiction of the Turnpike Authority, but as traffic difficulties increase during the project, Massport will have to promote alternate methods for people to get to the airport. Kinton said he will work to increase use of the Logan express vehicles, the MBTA, and the water shuttle.

Thomas Kinton

As the third harbor tunnel project progresses, Kinton will also have to deal with constant disruption to the airport — road detours, demolitions, and relocation of tenants.

Kinton said the airport is also undergoing a major, $1 billion reconstruction over the next 10 years to modernize the facilities. The reconstruction includes a complete renovation of Terminal A and parking revitalization with a new garage that will have 4,500 parking spots. The plan is now entering the design stage.

Kinton said airport security is always a priority, but he is confident of the ability of the State Police to handle any situations that may arise. Massport contracts out the State Police who undergo training in terrorist prevention. "It's always on our minds," said Kinton. "If and when it occurs, our well-trained task force will be ready to deal with that."

Kinton was named by executive director Alden S. Raine. Raine said that Kinton brings to the Aviation Director's position a "strong history of hands-on experience at Logan" and that Kinton's overall management and operation's experience at Logan "ensures that both airports will be run by one of the best professionals in the business."

Kinton, who lives on Emerson Road with his wife and two children, started in his new position on April 14. He had been Director of Aviation Operations. Kinton replaced Jane Garvey, who accepted a post as Deputy Administrator of the Federal Highway Administration.

CORRECTION

In an article on a the school budget in the April 15 Star, the cuts outlined for the Winchester School Department included a reduction of $25,000 for textbooks. School officials note that there is a reduction only from the School Department's original budget proposal. The budget for textbooks increased this fiscal year.

Migliacci retires as crossing guard for Lincoln

Lincoln Elementary School students living in the area of Highland Avenue and Chestnut Street, are still getting to school safely and on time, however, their favorite crossing guard is not overseeing their safe departure and return.

Dominica G. Migliacci has retired as a school crossing guard after 25 years of loyal and dedicated service to the Town of Winchester and its children. Chief Joseph Perritano announced Mrs. Migliacci's retirement recently. The Chief said that he "wished Migliacci well in her retirement," and further stated that "her dedication to the children of Winchester will be sorely missed."

Mrs. Migliacci was recommended for appointment as a school crossing guard by Chief Joseph J. Derro in March 1968, and served well under Chiefs Edward F. Bowler, John P. McHugh, and the present Chief, Joseph Perritano.

Crossing Guard Domenica M. Migliacci assists Amy Wild, Robin Harvey and Sarah French (l to r) in crossing the street.

Crossing guard Domenica M. Migliacci spends a few minutes with Lincoln children, Tim Brett, Larry Borges, Billy Wolfe, Joe Bussichella, Matt Spang, Kim Morse and Lindsay Harvey.

If you like gardening, you'll want to know what's happening
this week at Mahoney's.

Over 33 Years and Still Growing Strong

Over the years people have come to count on Mahoney's Garden Centers for the biggest selection and the best quality plants anywhere. But today quality and selection aren't enough. Today customers also demand value. That's why Mahoney's promises that you will not find lower prices on the same quality plants, anywhere.

And then, of course, there's the Garden, Floral and Landscaping experience you can only obtain after being in the business for as many years as we have. That's why Mahoney's has grown to become New England's largest Garden Centers. And why, after 33 years, we're still growing.

Visit our new location in Stoneham!

Why pay more on your home equity line of credit?

If you are thinking of establishing a new home equity line of credit, or if you have an equity line with a balance of $10,000 or more, you should take advantage of our very special home equity line of credit. We will set your rate at prime minus one percent during the first year of your loan. The prime rate at the end of March was 6.0%, which would have made your rate 5.0% during April.

Except for the discounted terms during the first year, this is a variable rate loan which fluctuates at 1.25% above the prime rate as quoted in the Wall Street Journal as of the last business day of the preceding month. This determines your rate for the following month.

This offer is available to residents in our lending area. Nominal closing costs and appraisal fees may apply. For details, please call Consumer Lending at (617) 729-2130.

All girls currently registered in Girl Scouting as well as those interested in joining, are encouraged to register on this day. A parent or legal guardian must personally attend since a signature is required.

For further information or any questions, call the following representatives at each school: Ambrose, Janie Martignetti, 721-2875; Lincoln, Robin Murphy, Patriots Trail Girl Scout Council, 893-6113; Lynch, Judi Nicholson, 721-2724; Muraco, Mary Ann Nurnberger, 729-4429; V-O, Nancy Nevola, 729-5757; St. Mary's, Arlene Houghton, 729-9322; and Cadettes (grades six through eight), Nancy Goodwin, 729-0347.

Play Ball! At a recent luncheon meeting EnKa Fair Chairman (l-r) Jane d'Entremont and Judy King reported on EnKa members with their own version of the famous Abbott and Costello skit, "Who's on First?" The theme of this year's fair is "Field of Dreams" which will be held May 14 and May 15.

LIBRARY LINES

Library display explains renovation plans

Library users and residents will be interested in the current display in the library's main lobby that illustrates the proposed plans for renovating the library building. The display is built around copies of the schematic drawings of the proposal which were paid for by the Friends of the Winchester Public Library. In addition to the drawings, the display includes an explanation of the proposed changes and their anticipated effects on service. The display will remain until the middle of June. For details of the proposal, ask for the architect's report at the reference desk.

B.Y.O.G. on Friday at Children's Room

On Friday, April 23, at 2 p.m., the Winchester Public Library Children's Department will offer a "B.Y.O.G." ("Bring Your Own Games") program. Playing cards and suggestions for various card games will be offered but children are encouraged to bring their own favorite indoor game to share.

Registration or tickets are not required. For information call 721-7140.

Storyteller Wangh coming to library

Master storyteller Jo-Ann Wangh will bring a collection of medieval tales to school-age children at the Winchester Public Library on Tuesday, April 27, at 3:30 p.m. It will be held in the Children's Department's newly refurbished story room.

Wangh was named "One Of The Most Exciting Names And Faces Of 1993" by Boston Magazine, and has performed extensively in New England, Israel, and Greece. She is a master storyteller for Young Audiences Of Massachusetts, was featured at the Three Apples Storytelling Festival in Harvard and will be featured at the New England Modern Storytelling Festival in Portland, Maine.

No registration or tickets are required. For information call 721-7140.

Hampstead Players to perform

On Saturday, May 8, at 2 p.m., the library will present the Hampstead Players in "The Legend Of King Arthur" to a school-age audience at Winchester Town Hall.

The Hampstead Players are a young English-based touring company devoted to children's theater. Their performances are presented in a lively style designed to kindle a love for the theater, with lots of audience participation. The performance will last about one hour.

Book discussion rescheduled

The discussion of "The Lyre Of Orpheus" by Robertson Davies that had been scheduled for Tuesday, April 20, has been postponed until Tuesday, April 27.

Do you know about the 'New Book Table'?

Keep up with the ever-changing book collection of the Winchester Public Library. Each Wednesday, the library's technical services department brings out a selection of new books and puts them on a display carrel in the Reference Room.

The books remain there for a week without circulating, so that our patrons can examine them. The New Book Table displays all of the additions to our collection, from the most popular best-sellers to little-known gems. If you check out the New Book Table, you can see all of our latest holdings.

A VIEW FROM NEW HAMPSHIRE'S WHITE MOUNTAINS

North of the Notches

By Dick Hamilton

SPECIAL ADVERTISEMENT TO THIS PAPER
NUMBER ONE IN A SERIES OF TEN

There are seven notches in New Hampshire's White Mountains—Crawford, Pinkham, Franconia, Jefferson, Dixville, Kinsman and Bear Notch. The first three are probably the best known. Through Franconia Notch runs the Franconia Notch Parkway, a magnificently scenic multi-lane highway, while Route 302 takes you through Crawford Notch, and Route 16 winds through Pinkham Notch.

North of these notches the landscape is quite different. Along Route 2 from Lancaster to Gorham, the area feels more open, and you're treated to a whole new view of the White Mountains. You see the Presidential Range and Mt. Washington from a northerly perspective, distinctly different from the more well known, southerly view.

One of my favorite tours of the White Mountains takes you north through Franconia Notch and up Route 3. You can either turn east on Route 302 to the Mt. Washington Cog Railway, or continue on until you turn east on Route 2. If you choose the Cog, allow at least 3 hours; that's how long the trip takes to the summit of Mt. Washington and back on this authentic coal-fired steam train. The ride is fascinating, and the views nothing short of spectacular.

On Route 2 in Jefferson, you'll find two of the region's most popular family attractions: Santa's Village and Six Gun City. It's always Christmas at Santa's Village with Santa and his elves, appropriately themed rides like the Yule Log Flume, live reindeer, the new monorail ride (the only one in New England), and a whole lot more ...so much you'll probably want to spend the entire day.

Practically next door is Six Gun City, the Old West in the White Mountains, complete with cowboy skits, over 100 horse-drawn vehicles, miniature horse rides, a waterslide and other rides.

Continue along Route 2 through Randolph, turning south on Route 16 in Gorham to Pinkham Notch and the Mt. Washington Auto Road. There you can take a guided van ride up the 8 mile toll road to the summit of the highest peak in the Northeast, or you can drive your own car; you'll receive a complimentary audio cassette describing points of interest along the way.

Nearby Wildcat Mountain offers its own unique perspective: take a ride on the gondola to the summit for an up-close view of Mt. Washington.

One last note: don't forget your camera; this is one of the most photogenic tours of the White Mountains.

CLUB NEWS

College Club meeting to be held in May

The Spring luncheon and annual meeting of the Winchester College Club will be held on Wednesday, May 12, at noon in Hadley Hall, Church of the Epiphany, Central and Church streets.

A short but important business meeting will include a revision of the bylaws and the election of officers for 1993-1994.

Robert Mac Kay, director of education for the Museum of Our National Heritage, Lexington, is to be the featured speaker. We look forward to viewing his slide presentation on "The Museum, Its Past, Present, and Future." This is an opportunity for members not familiar with the museum to learn of its many programs.

Luncheon will be served to members and their guests. Send reservations and checks to Lesley Ciano, 398 Highland Ave., Winchester, 01890 by May 5. Reservations are required. No tickets will be sold at the door.

For further information call Martha Ladd, president, at 729-4832.

The Creeping Recovery

Profits are up, productivity is up, inflation is down, interest rates are down, the recession is over, the sun is shining, so why are 8.9 million Americans out of work? It's a good question. The answer is more complicated than most of us would like to think.

It's true that national unemployment has declined from 7.7 percent last summer to 7 percent this spring, but it's also true that job creation has been slower than in past recoveries. Last month, for example, the number of payroll jobs fell slightly.

Still, the recovery is solid. It's based on several promising trends:

■ Productivity, or output per worker, improved 2.9 percent last year, the highest rate since 1976. That makes U.S. companies more competitive in the world market.

■ Retail sales, though hurt by the March blizzard on the East Coast, are running well ahead of a year ago. Car sales are up. Low mortgage rates are helping housing sales.

■ Declines in interest rates are encouraging business investment and enabling families to refinance and reduce their monthly mortgage payments, leaving more money for other expenditures.

It would be deceptive to paint too rosy a picture. Large companies continue to slim down operations by laying off workers.

But the foundation has been laid for a long-term recovery. The priority now is to make sure workers have the basic skills they need to meet the demands of advancing technology whennew jobs become available and the hiring begins.

The Library Question

By Dan Chane
SPECIAL TO THE STAR

Once again library needs come before the town and it is to be hoped that the means will be made available by Town Meeting to refurbish our once great community treasure.

Long before Winchester existed as a town, a group of public spirited citizens founded the South Woburn Library Association.

In May of 1848, the new private library went into operation in the back room of Youngman's Drug Store. It was an operation wherein one became a shareholder for $3 which provided for use of the reading room. For $1 more per year, these shareholders could then borrow books. Non members were allowed borrowing privileges for the princely sum of 6 cents per week!

Eleven years later the books of the association were presented to the town as a nucleus of a public library.

The library never really had a home of its own until Town Hall was built — and in July 1888 the collection was moved into the East Wing of that building in what is now known as the Winchester Room.

In 1888, the trustees were forced to contract out the finishing of the new quarters prior to the moving of the library as it was found that the Town Hall Committee had not completed the interior.

For 40 years at the Town Hall quarters, the library grew in community importance and by December of 1931, it had moved into its present building.

Winchester's Janet Dewar Manzie recalls the best of both periods for she went to work in the library when it was located in Town Hall — and continued on for twelve years in the new building under Librarians Cora Quimby and Corinne Mead.

Though the trustees and the library director have run the operation with the adeptness of circus jugglers to stay efficient the physical plant is tired and there is no more wiggling room.

The building fabric shows its age and was further imperilled four years ago during the capital projects freeze — and the strange public apathy which colors any proposal to repair and improve the building or its services.

When Town Meeting waffled on the improvement in the air conditioning system, the library was forced to close down for five days during the steamy summer of 1973.

Of late, we have managed our annual balancing act with the town budget using a system which defers maintenance of our capital plant — and allows the public real estate to deteriorate.

It would seem more prudent to fund the full library project now — not only to bring the institution back to the high standards it once maintained as a matter of course — but to avoid even more expense later on.

It's time once again to get positive about our Winchester Public Library and support those dedicated to its excellence!

Some jobs just more interesting

TERRY MAROTTA
COLUMNIST

There are so many special dates in the year — Boss's Day, Earth Day, Inner Ear Disease Awareness Day — that it's sometimes hard to keep them all straight. But Take Our Daughters To Work Day, sponsored by the Ms. Foundation and scheduled for the 28th of this month, could be among the most instructive.

We probably should bring our daughters to work to see what we do — and our sons too. On a whim, I polled a carful of third grade boys to see if they knew what their dads did. "Mine is a film editor," said one. "Mine makes Nerf balls." A third kept a meditative silence, then said, "My dad doesn't do anything. He just goes to his office and sits there." (the man is a stockbroker, as it turns out.)

The fact is, our kids don't know what many of us do at work. Men's movement guru Sam Keen points this out as he pines for pre-industrial days, when dads stayed home to urge the seed up out of the soil, and were as patient, and nurturing and philosophical as all farmers must be. Back then, kids could see firsthand what a father did. Now, as he puts it, all they see of his day is his mood at the end of it. With more than half the country's moms in the work force, the same could be said of them, too.

Which is why Take Our Daughter's To Work Day has such appeal.

Since I do much of my work at home, my kids are with me at work all the time. The one time I did take a daughter on a business trip to visit out-of-state papers, we waited and waited for a Living Editor, who swept briskly into the newsroom at last and said, "I've been meaning to write you ... " Had that lady just fired me? my little girl asked, back in the car five minutes later. She sure had.

Well if I were a kid and Take Our Daughters To Work Day approached, I think I'd want to belong to my sister Nan.

Nan works for a private investigator. When she lost her husband to an early death last year, one well--meaning mourner said, "Don't worry. You'll meet someone and marry again. What kind of people do you work with?" "Child molesters and convicted felons, mostly," Nan smiled, in spite of herself. "And they're on the payroll."

Her job is interesting, to say the least. At the moment, she and her co--workers are sifting through the contents of office dumpsters at 1 a.m, hired by one company that suspects another of pirating patents. "Amazing what people throw away," she writes. "I found not one, not two, but eight hypodermic needles (eeeyyyaaahhhh!)."

She tells of the lovely older woman who wanted help finding out who kept entering her home, nights, and taking in the seams on all her clothing, and at the same time also bit by bit shaving down the legs on various pieces of furniture, slowly making everything closer and closer to the ground.

And the poor confused and boozy client "Bob," who had a run-in with a passenger train he felt was in danger from alien forces. "Turns out the alien forces were offering no threat to the train," as Nan describes it. "The train however, was offering the Mother of All Threats to the man, and squashed him like a roach. They patched him back up as best they could but he still looked like a Picasso." By the time he came to Nan's office, he didn't need booze anymore "since he was on so many legal drugs ... he could live the rest of his life in total harmony with any universe that came his way." He just couldn't shake those aliens though, and wanted her firm to trace the beams that were bouncing off his Volkswagen, ("see, they weren't actually penetrating the car, because Bob had carefully covered the entire thing with aluminum foil, outside and in, except for the license plate and windshield.")

And she could go on, as she says: With the story about how for one case they had to acquire and then watch literally dozens of pornographic movies ("If I did that now, I'd spontaneously combust"). And the one about the man who tried to settle his bill by walking in the office with a .357 and leaving it as partial payment.

She has an interesting job, all right. Whether her actual daughter would enjoy watching her do it in a place reeking of garbage, with skin flicks and .357s cluttering the corners, is another question. If you asked her, she might say the job of that dad that just goes to his office and sits there all day sounds a whole lot better.

ON THE RECORD

The Board of Selectmen had an extra element of surprise at their meeting on April 20. As the meeting hour grew later, frayed nerves were startled by several sharp reports that echoed from an open window. Firecrackers were set off by some youths in the parking lot, but the noise reverberated like gun shots in the microphones set up by Continental. "You better duck," quipped Selectmen Chairman Peter VanAken as other members looked around to determine the source of the interruption.

The Winchester School Department has begun advertising for the position of assistant superintendent of curriculum and instruction with a spot in The Boston Globe. Committee members agreed they wanted to fill the position in Fiscal Year 1994 after it had been vacant for two years. However, School Committee member Constance Makhoul said the administration was presumptuous in advertising for a position for which funding had not yet been appropriated by Town Meeting. "We are going to look like a bunch of fools if we hire someone and say, 'Sorry, we can't hire you because we don't have the money,'" said Makhoul.

Winchester residents will have more places to eat than there are days in the week as the Board of Selectman moved to approve the granting of two more new food licenses, one for Coffee Connection, and another for Frannie's Restaurant and Catering. Coffee Connection will feature a cafe style restaurant to provide coffee, tea and pastries to downtown shoppers and is part of a chain of 12 such coffee shops statewide.

The store will take up residence in the old T. Michael's shop at the corner of Thompson Street at Main and will be run by Jessaca Jackson. Frannie's will serve both breakfast and lunch from 6 a.m. - 2 p.m. and will be located at 32 Swanton Street.

The Finance Committee approved the use of reserve funds in the amount of $65,000 for the School Department's shortfall following a settlement on a special education lawsuit. Finance Committee Chairman Matthew Stone reported the unanimous vote to the Board of Selectmen at the close of their April 20 meeting.

Johnson campaign manager responds

To the editor:

I don't know what angered me more in Judie Muggia's column — her self-righteousness or her blatant attempt to discredit and defame those candidates who simply do not share her political perspective. Furthermore, I question the wisdom of The Star in having Muggia as a "guest columnist" when she was an active and principal supporter of Carol Mullin.

I believe the record of any candidate for public office is not only important, it is absolutely essential. It is in this type of forum that the public gets a glimpse at what a candidate is really like.

I worked very hard to elect Ralph Johnson to the Board of Selectmen. He was and still is one of the most qualified candidates who has run for that office. He is a true gentleman who did not resort to "negative" campaigning, and I truly resent any implication that he would resort to that. Ralph Johnson had a record of unprecedented service and commitment to the town of Winchester. He missed ONE town meeting in 10 years while his opponent missed 53 meetings during her tenure as a town meeting member.

Ralph Johnson served as chairman of the Finance Committee, was vice-president of the Winchester Chamber of Commerce, was a member of the Capitol Planning Committee, served as co-chair of Town Day and the list goes on and on. Ralph Johnson does not have a college degree. His opponent has a college degree and a law degree. While his opponent was vacationing in Italy, Ralph was at the polls asking people for their vote. If one takes Muggia's column seriously (and I for one hope they do not), Harry Truman couldn't get elected to the Board of Selectmen because he did not have a college degree and he was a hardware store owner. I guess Franklin Roosevelt, a Harvard graduate, didn't mind having the little man from Missouri as his running mate. Some people think Harry Truman did a decent job as President. I agree.

In closing, I just want to say a word about "negative campaigns." It seems to me that some self-appointed political commentators talk (about negativity) while they subtly and so coyly engage in it. We hear a lot of preaching about this community needing to "heal" itself. I hope these "preachers" take a good long look at themselves in the mirror — they may see the reflection of the true source of negativity and snobbery that exists in this town.

the April 6 issue of the Daily Times Chronicle.

Another version of this letter but with fewer personal attacks on me was published in the Winchester star on April 8. The WFC alleges that I have in my letters to the editor used methods to "personally attack and discredit WFC members." Even more preposterous, the WFC implies that I have harassed and threatened its members when they state in their Daily Times letter that "he does not have the right to personally harass and threaten WFC members or their families ... nor does he have the right to misrepresent the facts to the public."

I find it unbelievable that such false statements could ever be published by a professional newspaper editor.

I also find the WFC comments concerning delivery of their public hearing announcement to the Lynch School neighborhood as grossly misleading to the reader. The facts are that 200 announcements for the Feb. 25 public hearing at Town Hall were delivered to my home between 11 p.m. Feb. 23 and 7 a.m. Feb. 24. Charging that I purposely delayed distributing the WFC public hearing notices in the neighborhood is totally untrue. Moreover, I made no changes as to what was written by the WFC. I did, however, add three small side messages. The major one was to encourage the neighbors to please attend the hearing on the 25th. My wife and I then distributed these recopied notices in the neighborhood after I came home from work on Feb. 24.

The public hearing was well attended. Many people expressed their sincere concerns and opposition despite a two-minute gag rule that was imposed by the chairman of the WFC. It certainly laid to rest the WFC-created myth (misinformation) that only one Lynch School neighbor, namely myself, is opposed to the proposed soccer complex at Lynch and that I, therefore, have been giving out false information to the Lynch neighborhood. The Lynch neighbors understand the planned intrusion into their neighborhood only too well.

My wife and I attended the April 14 meeting of the Winchester Fields committee. At that meeting, my wife asked each member of the fields committee who were present if I harassed or threatened any of them and if so, when. Of the four present, the first to be asked was the committee member who is also a selectman. He stated positively NO, he never was harassed by me. The lady protecting her Manchester Field neighborhood said I never phoned her and she confirmed also that she had not been harassed by me. The chairman of the fields committee, who is also the president of the soccer club, paused briefly and then stated, he had been irritated on occasion, but had not been harassed.

Admittedly, I did phone him a couple of times to confirm whether he was still president of the private Winchester Soccer Club. After all, I don't want to convey any misinformation.

Finally there is the town meeting member from precinct 8 who indicated she was harassed by me. She made reference to a phone call made by me to her in early September of last year. I did phone her around 8 o'clock that morning to express my disbelief and opposition to her proposal for additional parking and playfield expansion at Lynch, made by her the previous evening to the School Committee. I told her in no uncertain terms that the neighborhood was opposed to the Mason/Frey soccer complex plans and hung up. A few minutes later my phone rang. Guess whose loud voice was at the other end of the line? I was shouted at that I had no concern for the Lynch School or the school children ... , that she had lived in town longer than I did, implying she had greater rights, and more such nonsense ... I am sure that, judged by the noise level, my cat and dog must have felt that I was being harassed.

I am pleased that the WFC has finally agreed to have a public hearing at the Lynch School in the cafeteria at 7:30 p.m. on April 27. The "walk-about" at 6:30 p.m. is still planned (a great opportunity to view all the trees that will be cut down). I hope that interested selectmen and Town Meeting members will attend this meeting to observe firsthand the strong opposition by the neighborhood to the proposed playfield expansion at Lynch. This public hearing would probably never have happened if the citizens did not have the opportunity to write letters to the editor. I thank both newspapers.

Robert R. Dewald

Protect Lynch School neighborhood

To the editor:

I am speaking for myself (a Lynch School neighbor of 40 years) as well as other neighborhood residents concerning the proposed soccer complex at Lynch Elementary School.

We suspect that the current proposal is an incremental approach to achieve the same mega-plex goal that the private soccer club attempted to railroad into the neighborhood a few years ago. The neighborhood would receive no benefit for hosting a regional facility that would create nuisance conditions and constitute a danger to the environment and our children.

The intensive use of the Lynch School grounds by private clubs for out-of-town people on nights and weekends should not be permitted.

The proposed construction would have major adverse impacts on:

•The beautiful wooded area — a significant factor in the quality of life in the Lynch neighborhood.

•The Horn Pond Brook wetlands — a unique feature not normally found in such a heavily urbanized area, important as flood plain for Horn Pond Brook.

•Traffic — disruptions would occur primarily by intrusion of heavy traffic into the neighborhood of Lynch School. It is apparent that the existing roadway infrastructure could not safely accommodate the increased traffic. The traffic noise coupled with game crowd noise would subject the neighborhood to excessive noise pollution.

•Aesthetics — the neighborhood would have its beautiful wooded area replaced by unsightly parking lots. The environmental impact would be significant. We question whether the proponents have adequate data to guarantee no adverse impact to our residential area, or if any environmental impact study to protect our neighborhood was even considered.

•Loss of property value — if the complex was constructed, neighbors would suffer a significant loss in their property values. It is disconcerting to see the use of town resources on a private club project and to have allocated the time of town agencies to it.

We are convinced that Lynch School is not the appropriate location for this project and when all factors are taken into consideration, we are confident it will result in a no-build decision by Town Meeting.

March of Dimes thanks supporters

To the editor:

This year's Mother's March was a heartening example of how much local residents of Winchester care about the health and welfare of their children.

During the months of January and February, local residents appealed to their neighbors via a letter-writing campaign, all to raise funds for the March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation. These volunteers assisted in the collections, but more importantly, disseminated important health information to households across the commonwealth.

The information which was distributed stressed the importance of obtaining early and proper pre-natal health care. With health reform policies being in the forefront of the news today, it is hard to believe that about one million pregnant women do not get pre-natal care in the first trimester, thereby increasing the risk that they will have a low birthweight baby. Two hundred fifty thousand women get care only in the third trimester or not at all.

More than 400,000 households statewide gave to Mother's Marchers supporting the March of Dimes Campaign for Healthier Babies. In Winchester, a total of $4,053 was raised by local marchers. We would like to take this opportunity to thank those volunteers and contributors who supported our 1993 Mother's March Campaign.

Borggaard says letters on mark

To the editor:

Our esteemed town moderator, John Sullivan, once told the 50-odd members of the Winchester Rotary Club, where I had asked him to be the "after-dinner" speaker, that I was the "guy who writes stupid Letters to the Editor on subjects that nobody is interested in." Thank you, John. I like you, too.

However, it so happens that he is a relative newcomer to this spritely little town and, consequently, could hardly be expected to be interested in anything that took place many years before he was born.

Be that as it may, he might be surprised to learn just how many (there must have been at least two or three) people in town have scolded me for "not keeping those letters coming" the last couple of weeks.

For their information I have held off deliberately. I wanted to give

If You Have A Home Equity Loan or Need One, Why Pay More Than You Have To?
Prudential-Prime Saves You Money
Prudential-Prime (PruPrime) can save you thousands of dollars, because, unlike most conventional home equity lines of credit, you borrow money at the prime rate* – not 1¾% or more above prime. And PruPrime guarantees you the prime rate – which may vary monthly – for the full 30-year term of the loan.
The interest above prime that you pay with other home equity loans can cost you thousands of dollars more over the life of your loan. With PruPrime, you only pay a one-time 2-point origination fee, plus standard closing costs for your area which include required insurance on the property that secures the line of credit. (If you borrow $100,000, your closing costs can range from $750 to $1,300 [or to $2,100 in the State of New York], plus insurance.)
Prudential-Prime Reduces Your Monthly Payment
Let's say the prime rate remains at 6% over the life of your loan. If you borrow $100,000 at 1¾% above prime, you will pay $35,072.92 in extra interest versus a PruPrime loan. (Other loan amounts would mean comparable savings.)
$500.00 Monthly Interest Payment vs. $645.83 Monthly Interest Payment
PruPrime At Prime
Other Banks At Prime + 1¾%
With PruPrime, you can pay interest only for the first 10 years. That means that on the previous $100,000 loan example, your monthly interest payment for the first 10 years is $500.00 versus $645.83.
And, since after the first 10 years PruPrime automatically converts to principal and interest payments, there's no balloon payment. There's no prepayment penalty and no annual fee.
Borrow from $25,000 to $1,000,000. The money can be used for almost any purpose, and the interest on a loan up to $100,000 may be tax deductible. (Check with your accountant or tax advisor for specifics on tax deductibility.)
And what's more, with a PruPrime Home Equity Loan, you get fast preliminary credit approval and all the services and reliability you would expect from "The Rock"... with its tradition of excellence and integrity. After all, quality runs in the family.
PruPrime is the sensible, low cost way to borrow money and the perfect answer to all your financial needs.

those who oppose my findings plenty of time to pull their act together — if, that is, they do have an act to pull together.

In my last letter, I set forth two "facts" for them to dispute. To date I have heard nothing from them, so I must assume that they have found them too "stubborn" to dislodge.

In this letter, I shall quote a few more facts — I've got a dozen of them — until I have built up such a briar patch of facts that they will have to come to me to take them by the hand and lead them safely out of the morass of misinformation.

I am sure that some people regard me as a trouble maker. Well, so was old man Copernicus, or whatever his name was. But, before he got through, nobody taught that the sun went round the earth anymore. All I ask is a chance to prove that I am right, and, if so, that the records be changed to the fact as they are not as someone thinks they ought to be.

C.S. Borggaard

P.S. To keep the "stupid" letter from becoming too long I shall reserve the facts I promised for another letter.

Just a few thoughts

To the editor:

People are still grousing about the long winter. Funny, but it feels to me like no time ago at all that the Boston Gas man came by with suggestions for making the house warm and energy efficient in the season ahead. Insulating was a breeze; all it took was a few phone calls and lots of money, but the little jobs that any homeowner can do him/herself were something else — like caulking around the spaces where walls and windows join. We have our share of windows but I should definitely have that finished by 1995. And surely by next week, or sometime, I'll get around to covering over those basement windows with clear plastic to lessen the drafts. Unfortunately, he didn't have a program for making the householder efficient too.

For example, I stepped outside the other day and found the snow melted on the southwest side, and guess what was there, in clear view? Yep, tulip noses basking in the sun. Well, knowing it was still winter, I took time to shovel a couple of feet of snow (there was plenty to spare) the length of the garden to protect them from being blasted by the next blizzard.

Then I noticed that under the snow, and all over the dog, was a lot of mud. If the utility companies have a novel suggestion for how to keep dogs off couches, I'll get right at it.

Not only did it feel short, the winter felt like fun. When was the last time we could walk from kitchen to garage two feet above our lawns on a thick crust of snow? We also had several steps fewer to climb, since the snow reached practically to the doors. White snow looks a lot better on carpets than brown mud, too.

Next, I put some creative thinking into storage for all that snow until high summer when the yard is looking kind of dry. It seemed the only civic-minded thing to do, what with the Boston Harbor and our local water bills being so overstressed. (Too bad the resident raccoon has gnawed holes in the trash bins.) But that's a long way away; after all it's only — hey! it's April, and it's pretty warm out, and maybe I'll just put those basement windows on hold 'til next winter. Besides, I'm all out of energy.

Am. Cancer Society thanks supporters

To the editor:

Thank you for your recent support of the American Cancer Society's Daffodil Days campaign.

Through the efforts of our volunteers, businesses, churches, schools and hospitals, the Minuteman Unit raised more than $25,000 from daffodil sales. The Minuteman Unit encompasses Arlington, Belmont, Burlington, Lexington, Winchester and Woburn.

All monies raised from the daffodil campaign will support cancer research, the Society's public education programs and to provide financial assistance to cancer patients.

I would like to thank all of our volunteers that helped with deliveries, street sales and pre-sales. Your support and commitment to the American Cancer Society is greatly appreciated.

Addezio responds to criticism of policy

To the editor:

I'm writing in response to a recent letter you published regarding the parking problems that currently exist in the town and in particular at the property located at 741 to 743 Main Street. As a resident and business owner, I, too understand the frustration people deal with in regard to the accessibility of parking spaces convenient to the businesses they patronize. To that end, the parking lot for the White Hen Pantry, Domino's Pizza and Salvy's Bakery is designated for the sole use by those people patronizing these businesses. There are numerous signs posted on the property stating that anyone not patronizing these stores, but parking in the lot, will be towed at the owners expense. These signs have been erected on the property for more than two years and are highly visible.

Although the signs indicate vehicles will be towed from the lot, we try to be fair. On the day mentioned in Donna Braum's letter, her car was parked in front of Salvy's Bakery and directly in front of the car was a sign stating the policies for the parking lot. When a clerk from Salvy's noticed the driver of the car wasn't going into any of the stores in the lot she came out and told the driver that the car would be towed unless it was moved. In the window of the Chinese Restaurant is posted a notice stating the restrictions for the parking lot. Lastly, the amount of time the vehicle was parked in front of Salvy's Bakery was not 10 minutes, but much longer.

As I've said, the signs have been in place well over two years. Parking in the area has always been a problem but lately this problem has been exacerbated. In an effort to solve the dilemma we did call the Police Department and were told that if we were having a problem that we should follow through and have cars towed.

The influx of new businesses being established in the area which have inadequate parking facilities for the type of business they operate, have necessitated the enforcement of the parking restrictions in the lot. White Hen Pantry, Domino's Pizza and Salvy's Bakery value their customers and therefore, have provided adequate parking facilities in order to allow customers easy access to their stores. These businesses maintain, pay taxes on, and are liable for this parking lot and do not feel they should have to suffer inconvenience or give up parking spaces.

BEACON HILL ROLL CALL

Beacon Hill Roll Call
Volume 20 — Report No. 12
Massachusetts House and Senate
April 16

THE HOUSE AND SENATE — "Beacon Hill Roll Call" records local senators' votes on four roll calls from recent sessions on proposed changes to the rules under which the Senate operates and the joint rules under which both branches conduct their business. The House has not yet acted on the joint rules which need the approval of both branches in order to take effect. There were no roll calls in the House or Senate last week.

STEERING AND POLICY — Senate 21-6, rejected a GOP-sponsored Senate rules amendment abolishing the current leadership-dominated Steering and Policy (S&P) Committee. The amendment creates a new bipartisan Calendar Committee (CC) to take over the duties of scheduling legislative matters. The current S&P Committee consists of nine Democrats and two Republicans while the new committee would be made up of two Democrats and two Republicans. Amendment supporters said this new bipartisan committee would replace the S&P Committee which was established as a scheduling vehicle but has been used by the leadership to tie up and kill legislation. Opponents said the S&P Committee works well and was in fact established in response to Republicans who insisted on some order in scheduling matters. (A "Yes" vote is for abolishing the S&P Committee. A "No" vote is for retaining the S&P Committee).

Sen. Charles Shannon voted no and was present.

LOCAL BILLS — Senate 21-7, rejected a Senate rules change amendment providing that "local" bills go directly to the Senate floor and not be referred to the Steering and Policy Committee. Amendment supporters said these bills, approved by town meetings and city councils, are important to local communities, yet are often needlessly tied up in what is supposed to be a scheduling committee. Opponents said these bills are moved as quickly as possible and noted that some, like the bill providing for an appointed Boston School Committee, are not routine local bills. (A "Yes" vote is for the amendment moving local bills directly to the Senate floor. A "No" vote is against moving local bills directly to the Senate floor).

Shannon voted no and was present.

COMMITTEE HEARINGS — Senate 32-0, approved a joint House-Senate rules amendment providing that both branches designate one day a week during the first four months each year for formal meetings of the legislature. The amendment provides that no public hearings be held on those days. Amendment supporters said this schedule will create order and insure that when citizens testify at public hearings, legislators will not have to abruptly leave to go cast a roll call vote in the chamber. (A "Yes" vote is for the scheduling amendment).

Shannon voted yes.

END IN NOVEMBER — Senate 35-0, approved a joint House-Senate rules amendment requiring the legislature complete its business by the end of November in odd years and by the first of November in election years. Amendment supporters said this will end lame duck sessions and prevent the legislature from meeting during the holiday season when voters are not paying attention. While no senators voted against the bill, some argued the legislature could conclude its business in six months. (A "Yes" vote is for ending the sessions in November).

Shannon voted yes.

Coming Up on Beacon Hill

SUPPLEMENTAL BUDGET (H 4820) — The Senate will soon act on its own version of a House-approved supplemental budget adding $134 million in spending to this year's budget. The House okayed a scaled-back version of Governor Weld's request which included only $509,000 for the Department of Mental Health, far below the $11 million Weld says is necessary to run the department for the rest of the year. Weld says that unless the Senate approves the $11 million, he will have to lay off workers. House Ways and Means Chairman Tom Finneran (D-Boston) contends that Weld's inability to stay within budget guidelines is responsible for the shortfall.

Circle offers solution to prejudice in the circle. The children all answer yes.

When the children say that these people could be included in the circle, the teachers add symbols to represent them — a cross for Christians, a Star of David for Jews, and a wheelchair for the disabled.

The children discuss whether they have ever left anyone out of their circle and why. They then discussed the feelings that person might have had about being left out. The children also talk about times they had been left out of other people's circles and how they felt about it. They are asked ways they could invite new or different kids into their circle.

Ambrose Elementary School Principal Richard Rogers said the younger children are obviously influenced by the older students. "It does have an effect to see older students, no doubt about it," said Rogers, who said he would like to see the class implemented as a program.

The entire Green Circle program consists of three half-hour lessons. The high school students have so far presented their program to two Ambrose classes.

"They enjoyed it a lot," Lahiri said of the first class they taught. "They didn't want us to leave. They were 100 percent into the program," she said. The children's attention and behavior during the class bear her comments out. During the lesson, the 25 children sat around in a circle and listened attentively, eagerly volunteering answers to the teachers' questions.

After finishing the second class the high school students said they would now like to move on to some of the four other elementary schools in town. "We'd like to spread it around to as many elementary schools as possible," said Lahiri. She said if all elementary students could take the classes, they would have a similar background of training in diversity when they reached the McCall Middle School.

"This is the age to start. It's the most important time to instill things in them. We can stop some of the things that are haunting us today," said Lahiri.

Hearing on articles

formed at 1992 Spring Town Meeting, will give a report on the status of the town's fields, including recommendations for renovations, which will be funded in the capital line item. Field Committee members are asking within that report if Town Meeting will continue the committee so that it may finish its work.

The Board of Health asks for a revolving fund to conduct rabies clinics. The board also has requested a water fowl bylaw, will eliminate written warnings and will lower the fine to $5, which the board says will make it easier to levy fines.

The Capital Planning Committee will ask Town Meeting to invest in a tractor and dump truck for the DPW and either reconstruct or purchase a new fire engine. This request is separate from the capital line item because a two-thirds vote is needed to borrow the money necessary for the purchases.

Wedge Pond supporters will ask for money to reopen the beach. Last year the Wedge Pond Committee was given $13,000 but returned it before Town Meeting ended when a report done by MIT said there were mutations in the sand there.

Welcoming the China Wok

After working as a chef at the well-known Cambridge restaurant Chef Chow, Winchester resident James Lin realized his dream recently when he opened his own restaurant in Winchester.

Appropriately named Lin's Wok, the restaurant is located in its newly renovated home at 738 Main St., across from the White Hen Pantry.

Lin lives in Winchester with his wife, Julie, and their 4-year-old son, Daniel. "I like living in Winchester. And, with the long hours at the restaurant, I can be close to my family," said Lin. Lin praised the Winchester school system and said that he looks forward to Daniel attending school here.

Lin learned the art of cooking in his native Taiwan. And, after working in Cambridge, he was a partner for several years at Peking Chef in Southbridge.

Assisting Lin are his wife, Julie and Chef Wu of Chef Chow of Brookline. "We were surprised at how busy we have been since the moment we opened our doors two weeks ago," said Lin.

China Wok features more than 100 dishes that are primarily Szechuan, Mandarin and Cantonese. The menu also includes moo shi, Hunan, several vegetarian dishes and a number of Chef Lin's own taste-tempting special creations.

China wok uses no MSG and all food is cooked to order.

While the restaurant's specialty is take-out, it does have a small, comfortable dining room. We have been so busy in the kitchen, we are still completing the decorations for the dining room," said Lin. And, Lin is planning to add delivery service in the near future. But for Lin, the most important aspect of the restaurant is that the whole family can enjoy a wholesome meal at a reasonable price.

FREE "LIVING TRUST" SEMINAR

Find Out How To

Transfer Your Estate to Your Family Quickly - Without Probate Fees

ATTEND ONE OF THESE FREE SEMINARS

Needham Sheraton, Mon. April 26 - 10 a.m. or 7 p.m.
(Route 128, Exit 19A, Highland Avenue)

OR

Waltham Guest Quarters, Tue. April 27 - 10 a.m. or 7 p.m.
(Route 128, Exit 27B, Winter Street)

Attend one of these seminars and receive a FREE, one-hour, private consultation to answer any questions you have about setting up your personal Living Trust ($175 value) and FREE Health Care Proxy (Living Will) with any Estate Plan

Why You Should Have a Living Trust...

- Your estate will transfer quickly to your family upon your death.
- There will be no probate court fees and no probate attorney fees for your family to pay.
- If you're married and your estate is worth less than $1.2 million, there will be no federal estate taxes to pay.
- You'll avoid conservatorship if you become incapacitated.

Without a Living Trust, This Is What Will Happen... Even If You Have a Will...

- Your estate will go through probate to prove ownership and transfer title, which takes an average of 18 months, and probate fees could exceed $45,000.
- If your estate is worth more than $15,000, there will be court costs for your family to pay.
- If your estate is worth more than $600,000 net, your family may owe federal taxes of 37%-55%.
- Your family will have to pay attorney and executor fees, which each total 2-4% of the gross value of your estate before deducting debts and mortgages.

This Free Seminar is Sponsored By:

born prematurely (before the 37th week of pregnancy). Because these babies leave the womb before nature intended, they can potentially suffer from life-threatening conditions. Fortunately, medical technology has advanced significantly over the last two decades, so that today, even the tiny infants, like Susan Smith, have a good chance of survival.

What community members might find even more comforting is that sophisticated neonatology services are available close to home. Winchester Hospital's Special Care Nursery is equipped for infants who are premature, need more careful observation, or who require further intensive medical and nursing care. The hospital is affiliated with the Joint Program in Neonatology in Boston whose physicians cover Children's Hospital, Brigham and Women's and Beth Israel. This group also covers the Special Care Nursery at Winchester Hospital, a state designated Level II nursery where neonatologist Alan Fujii, M.D. is the director.

"It's certainly more convenient for parents to have this service in a community hospital setting," says Dr. Fujii. "We can do many of the same things at Winchester Hospital — and more of certain things like individualized and personal attention to each infant — than the downtown hospitals."

An important treatment in neonatal care is "Continuous Positive Airway Pressure" or CPAP which is provided in the Special Care Nursery. CPAP is used as part of the initial treatment of immature lung disease. Earlier this year, final approval was granted to Winchester Hospital's Special Care Nursery by the Department of Public Health for CPAP. This special waiver has been granted to only two level II nurseries in the Commonwealth — Winchester Hospital and Newton Wellesley Hospital and is only granted because of the extraordinarily high level of subspecialty pediatric coverage in both nurseries on a 24-hour basis.

Along with the high technology medical and specialized treatment for premature infants, community members speak about something equally meaningful — a caring environment.

Carol Smith notes, "without the medical expertise and moral support at Winchester Hospital, we couldn't have made it to even 25 weeks of pregnancy. The month we spent at the Special Care Nursery was a time for Susan to get stronger and for our family to become comfortable with such a small baby before bringing her home."

Carol's sentiments have persuaded her and her family to become involved in the "Big Steps for Little People" Walk-A-Thon to be held on May 23. The walk will benefit the services of Winchester Hospital's Childbirth Center and Special Care Nursery. Other community members and organizations have joined with the Smiths — to date, 82 teams have signed up to walk the 6.2 mile course. (There are at least 10 members in every team.) Major sponsorship for the event comes from the Winchester Rotary Club and the 99 Restaurant. For information on the "Big Steps for Little People" Walk-A-Thon, call Winchester Hospital at 756-2156.

Library estimate comes in

the Friends of the Public Library.

The trustees have proposed that the town borrow the money using short-term notes and then 10-year bonds, with payments due starting in Fiscal Year 1996.

The selectmen voiced sympathy to the trustees plan, but were unsure of where the funding would come from.

Selectman Willian O'Leary said he was concerned about borrowing money for the library renovation and also paying for the federally mandated water plant, which is estimated to cost $5 million. "I'm a little bit taken back by the final financial number," said O'Leary.

O'Leary had concerns that the project could overrun the $3.25 million estimate. He suggested the committee look into the option of building a new library.

The selectmen postponed their recommendation for the proposal for Town Meeting until May.

The library renovation will be a major restructuring and repair of the physical plant. The electrical system, heating system, and windows will be replaced; restrooms will be renovated or added; a new elevator will be implemented; a floor will be extended over the reference room; and a major redesign of the layout will be done to provide more space.

Another major cost is the relocation and potential rent for the library while it is under construction. The trustees have determined that it would be impossible to keep the library open during construction. The trustees hope to undergo the renovation between the early spring in 1994 through the summer of 1994.

The plan to update the library took on new urgency with the passage of the American's with Disabilities Act (ADA), which requires that the library be handicap accessible by 1995.

Trustee Lane McGovern told the selectmen that the town could be in legal trouble if it doesn't comply with the federal mandate.

"We have a deadline, and after that the town incurs whatever teeth the law has," said McGovern.

The trustees are opposed to suggestions that they only undertake the renovations required by the ADA. The trustees said the whole building needs necessary renovation and renovation should be done all at once and not in two phases.

For the best choice in Equity Creditline rates, stop here...
Everywhere you look, banks are touting low Home Equity Creditline rates. But unlike those ordinary banks, Andover Bank offers a choice of three low rate programs. And as far as we know, only Andover Bank offers you low rates, a choice of three programs, and charges no closing costs and no annoying annual fees!
Apply for an Andover Bank Equity Creditline by June 30, 1993, and you can choose a program that's exactly right for you.
Choice 1: Andover PrimeNow – If your needs are immediate, look to our PrimeNow Equity Creditline. Pay only the prime rate until 6/30/94. Then your rate becomes only 1 1/2% above the prime.
Andover PrimeNow
6.0% Rate 7.5% APR
7.0% Rate 7.0% APR
Andover Prime+One
Choice 2: Andover Prime+One – For long-term thinkers, our Prime+One Equity Creditline guarantees that rate for the life of your loan – a rate so low it could save you thousands in interest.
Choice 3: Andover PrimeLife – For homeowners who have no first mortgage or who are looking to pay off their first mortgage, our PrimeLife Equity Creditline guarantees the prime rate for the entire life of the loan.
To learn more about our Equity Creditline limited time offer, mail this coupon or call our Consumer Loan Department without delay. With your choice of three low rate programs and no fees, we're sure you'll agree that at Andover Bank, you're the most important customer we'll ever have.
Prime Rate (as published in the Wall Street Journal) adjusted monthly on the last business day of the month, with an 18% lifetime cap. Credit advances are available for ten years. Current Andover Bank customers must qualify for an additional $20,000 to existing Creditline to qualify for these rate programs.
Then send us this coupon.

Winchester High sophomore Jarrod Galante connects for a second-inning single in last Friday's loss to Stoneham at Manchester Field.

Rocky start for Sachems

Chase hopes Monday's win boosts confidence

By Jim McKenzie
SPORTS WRITER

A baseball team that loses six members of its starting lineup from the previous season is bound to experience some transitional problems. That's why the Winchester Sachems, the defending Middlesex League champions, have been beset by problems in their rocky 1-2 start.

Coach Bill Chase was prepared for trouble at some positions, but through the first three games, Chase had seen errors, miscues and inconsistent baseball at almost every spot in the lineup.

After dropping a 3-0 non-league game to Lowell and a 22-5 decision to ML favorite Stoneham last week, the Sachems got into the win column with an 8-4 victory at Lexington on Patriot's Day.

It was a much-needed win for a Sachem team which struggled in the first two games.

"In Lowell, we had good pitching and mediocre defense but no hitting," said Chase. "Against Stoneham, we hit a little but we were atrocious in the field. What I've seen is a lot of inconsistency every way."

Winchester showed signs of coming out of its early-season funk with a solid showing in Lexington. The Sachems scored three times in the top of the first, four more in the fifth, and got good pitching from Tim Callahan and Jamie Doto to earn their first win.

In the first, Andy Nolan walked, Ed Russo doubled, Scott Imperatore singled and Josh Carroll tripled to give Winchester a 3-0 lead. The Minutemen rallied for a pair of unearned runs in the bottom half of the inning, but Winchester added four more in the fifth to open up an 8-2 lead and put the game out of reach.

> "(Monday) was a much better effort. We needed to get those other games out of our system. Hopefully, we've done that."
> Bill Chase
> WHS baseball coach

Callahan pitched into the sixth inning to earn the win. Sophomore Doto put out a small fire in the sixth and pitched a 1-2-3 seventh to notch a save.

"(Monday) was a much better effort," said Chase. "We needed to get those other games out of our system. Hopefully, we've done that."

Sachem Notebook: The Sachems got off to a tough start when they lost 3-0 to a strong Lowell squad last Thursday at Lowell's Alumni Field. In his first game since developing pain in his throwing arm last summer, Russo went the distance for the Sachems, striking out nine and allowing just five hits.

As of Monday, Russo reported no ill effects of his complete-game effort.

Winchester was unable to solve Lowell pitcher Steve Cushing, who limited the Sachems to three hits and five baserunners in picking up the season-opening shutout.

On Friday at Manchester Field, the Sachems ran into the powerful Stoneham Spartans, who ripped apart four Winchester pitchers en route to a 22-5 blowout. After Winchester took a 1-0 lead in the bottom of the first, Stoneham erupted for five runs in the top of the second. The Spartans picked on Sachem starter Angelo Amico for nine runs on five hits and five walks in 3⅓ innings.

Callahan, Brian Mannett and Nolan fared no better as Stoneham scored in every inning but the first. Several errors by usually reliable Winchester seniors punctuated the loss.

"We made several physical and mental mistakes," said Chase after the loss. "They're an excellent hitting team, but we also helped."

Despite the rocky start, Chase has been impressed with the play of a few of the younger Sachems, particularly sophomore catcher Mike McGreenery. "Mike's done a nice job stepping in as a sophomore," said Chase. "He's hitting, framing the ball, etc. He's going to be a good one."

WHS softball searching for elusive win

By Jim McKenzie
SPORTS WRITER

After opening the season with back-to-back losses to two of the top teams in the state, the Winchester High lacrosse team needed a win in Monday's game at Peabody. Behind a two-goal, two-assist performance from senior midfielder Mike Szczepanski and an excellent defensive game, Winchester was able to notch its first win, 11-8.

Winchester High School
ROUNDUP

Playing without two of the Sachems' top defensive players — Paul Albiani (sprained ankle) and Brendon Reardon (family commitments out of state) — Winchester was forced to rely on four defensemen and goaltender Andrew Brown to control a potent Tanner squad. Brown responded with a tremendous effort, stopping 19 Peabody shots.

"Andrew was absolutely outstanding," said coach John Pirani of his junior netminder. "They put a lot of pressure on us, but he never lost his composure."

Pirani decided to make a couple of changes in the lineup prior to the contest. He moved senior Jon Arsenault to attack and dropped Szczepanski — who had been alternating between attack and midfield — to the midfield. The new lineup paid immediate dividends, as Arsenault scored twice and added an assist for a three-point afternoon.

Junior Phil Reuland and senior Rob Donlon also scored twice and added an assist each, while senior Brian Bernazzani had one goal and two assists. Junior Alex Lacroix netted a goal and an assist and junior Matt Desmond scored one goal.

MIKE SZCZEPANSKI
Back in top form

"I think this was a great comeback after Friday's game," said Pirani, referring to a 13-5 loss to powerful Billerica. "We were down two defensemen and had to basically go with four guys."

The foursome — senior Mike Collins and juniors Gary Pedulla, Brian Johnson and Mark Andriesse — endured a lot of pressure, but was successful in clearing the ball upfield. Winchester's attack players responded with the team's best offensive output of the young season.

Lax notes: Pirani thinks the terrible weather conditions of the early spring may have affected his team's chances against Weymouth and Billerica. The Sachems were expected to have at least two games and two scrimmages under their belts by the time they faced those teams, but instead had to open the season with the powerful double-whammy. "That's what made the win at Peabody so important," said Pirani. "It would have been tough to start the season 0-3." ... Bernazzani was the team's leading scorer through three games, with six goals and two assists for eight points. Szczepanski and Arsenault each had three goals and two assists. ... Bernazzani had two goals, while Desmond, Arsenault and Szczepanski notched one apiece against Billerica last Friday at Skillings Field. Winchester made a game of it for the better part of three quarters. The Sachems trailed 8-5 at one point before the visitors pulled away. ... Brown had 21 saves against the Big Green. ... Winchester traveled to Hingham on Wednesday, and was scheduled to face off against Beverly in a big game on Friday at 11 a.m. at Skillings.

Lexington rips WHS softball

Just three games into the season, the 1993 edition of the Winchester High softball team has already experienced a wide range of emotions. The Sachemettes were at their lowest point, however, after Tuesday's 17-1 loss to host Lexington.

Girls track ties Reading

Earn first point against Rockettes in over a decade

By Jim McKenzie
SPORTS WRITER

Although Winchester High girls track coach Joe Cantillon refuses to jump to conclusions, a season-opening tie with perennial Middlesex League power Reading appears to indicate that this spring's Sachemette track squad is a team to be reckoned with.

In what has to be considered an upset, Winchester and Reading tied 68-68 at Skillings Field Tuesday morning. It was the first time in over a decade that the Sachemettes walked away with anything other than a loss against the talented Rockettes.

"Winchester and Reading have had some great, great meets going back about 15 years," said Cantillon. "But even with as close as the meets have been, this is the first time in 12 or 13 years where we haven't lost the meet."

Winchester forced the tie thanks to nine first-place finishes in the 14 individual events. Reading's renowned depth, however, allowed it to pull out the draw when both Rockette relay teams captured first place, wiping out a 10-point Winchester advantage.

Winchester came out of the blocks at top speed, as junior Laura Aleo ripped off a time of 48.5 seconds to win the 300-meter hurdles. When Sara Bonnell followed with a win in the mile, cruising to the finish line in 5:48.5, the Sachemettes were rolling.

"I think Laura shocked them," said Cantillon, who was himself shocked at Aleo's speedy time. "I know they weren't prepared for that."

Elodie Kayulu continued Winchester's impressive showing with a personal-best throw of 27 feet, 6½ inches to take second in the shot put. Jenna DeSimone picked up second-place points with a third-attempt clear of 4-8 in the high jump, preventing a Rockette sweep. Melissa Lindmark earned third in the javelin.

Winchester poured on the points in the next three field events. In the long jump, Allyson Livada (13-11) and Diana Grande (13-3) took first and third, respectively. In the triple jump, Grande's leap of 33-10½ came within 2 inches of 1991 graduate Brittany Boulanger's school record. DeSimone (30-10½) and Callahan (29-4¾) completed the Sachemette sweep.

Lindmark's personal-best toss of 89-2½ led a sweep of the discus event. Megan Sevigny (77-2) and Sarah Stevens (74-5¼) took the remaining spots.

"I think our strength in first places throughout the meet, and the fact that we swept the discus and triple

Local residents take the heat

Several from town overcome weather, finish Boston Marathon

By Jim McKenzie
SPORTS WRITER

In the end, they all agreed on one thing: It was HOT!

Thirteen Winchester residents took part in Monday's 97th running of the Boston Marathon, and most finished the 26.2-mile jaunt despite the problematic weather conditions — although 75 degrees and sunny were much to the liking of the hundreds of thousands of observers.

Laura Bryan, who ran her first marathon along with her husband, Tim, ended up in the medical tent suffering from dehydration moments after crossing the finish line.

"The heat was just awful," said Bryan, who finished in just under 4 hours. "I got really excited by the crowd and picked up my pace quite a bit over the last 4 miles. But as I crossed the finish line, I was really spooked by all the people on stretchers."

Moments later, Bryan was lying on her back with an intravenous solution being pumped into her.

Tim Bryan paused around the 16-mile mark when his body briefly surrendered. He convinced his wife to continue on, and after a short break, he regained his stride and finished about 10 minutes behind her.

"At 16 miles we were right on pace, still running 8:30s," Tim said. "I just seized up and hung out for a while. She did everything to help me get going, but I wanted her to go on. It was the most punishment I've ever had. I'm happy it's over."

Jeffrey Gianelli, 30, said that although it was hot, it was a beautiful day. Like the Bryans, Gianelli was one of several Winchester residents who ran the race to benefit the Dana-Farber Cancer Institute.

"I've always wanted to run a marathon," said Gianelli, who finished in 4 hours, 15 minutes. "It was just a matter of getting out and doing the miles on the weekends. Now that it's over, I realize it was about one second of ecstasy followed by hours of sheer pain."

Deborah Grassi, 29, was scheduled to run, but suffered a knee injury about a month ago and was forced to watch from the sidelines. The Boston University graduate student vows to race next year.

Lorraine Tulk, a 29-year-old mother of three, finished her first marathon in just over 4½ hours. Tulk said the last mile of the race was the fastest as her 8-year-old "buddy," a young girl who has had leukemia since age 3, ran it with her.

"The little girl I ran for ran the last

Reading stuns WHS tennis

By Jim McKenzie
SPORTS WRITER

To borrow the expression of Winchester High junior Natalie Ciulla, this one was "mint."

The WHS girls tennis team suffered its first Middlesex League loss in nearly two years when the Reading Rockettes came to town and snuck away with a 3-2 victory in a match played Wednesday, April 14 at the Winchester Swim and Tennis Club. The outstanding competition gave credence to Ciulla's excitement.

The match came down to a dramatic three-set second doubles war between Winchester's Jessica Livada and Megan Hurley and Reading's Amy Natale and Erika Baumgartner. The senior-junior combination of Natale and Baumgartner got the better of the sophomore-freshman duo of Livada and Hurley, 6-4, 2-6, 6-3.

"It's been five years since Reading beat us," said Winchester coach Mary Whelan. "We'll see each other again in the playoffs. These are both very good teams."

Only four courts were available, so the three singles matches and the No. 1 doubles matches were all played before the No. 2 doubles started. At first singles, Reading sophomore sensation Chrissie Cerratani whipped Sachemette co-captain Catherine Doherty 6-0, 6-0. At No. 2, Winchester freshman Kim Bergin disposed of Reading senior Jen O'Neil 6-2, 6-2.

The third singles went to Reading, as Patti Osborne took out Katie Hood 6-2, 6-3, but Winchester knotted the match at first doubles, where Ciulla and Kelley Smith erased Jen McIsaac and Lauren Erelli 6-1, 6-4.

The second doubles match was a back-and-forth affair which featured dozens of deuce situations in a marathon match that lasted over two hours. In the end, however, Reading's Natale proved to be the difference, consistently making the big shots for the margin of victory.

Winchester evened its record at 1-1 with a 4-1 victory at Stoneham last Friday. The team has no matches during vacation week, but gets back in action Monday when it hosts a strong Lexington team. The match begins at 3:30 p.m. at the Packer Courts.

Boys win easily

With a pair of 5-0 whitewashes to open the season, the Winchester High boys tennis team has already shown the stuff that made it the preseason pick to win the Middlesex League.

The Sachems traveled to Reading on April 14 and pasted the Rockets, as Matt Fuller, Tony Cella and Cliff Swap picked up wins in singles, and the teams of Pete French and Matt Storeygard, and Tim Malcolm and Dave LaCasia rolled to straight-set wins at doubles.

On Friday, the Sachems hosted Stoneham at The Swim and Tennis Club and walked away with another shutout. Winchester coach Sean O'Loughlin sat out several of his top-line players in the rout. Cella, Swap and Malcolm took wins at singles, while Storeygard teamed up with Jeff Rotondi at first doubles and LaCasia paired with Jeff Lucero at second.

"We've started out by playing some really fine tennis," said O'Loughlin. "It's nice that we've been able to get a lot of guys into the mix."

Winchester will have its top guns — including junior Dave Fiorentino, who has been sick with mononucleosis — ready for action beginning Monday, as the team travels to Lexington to take on the always-tough Minutemen.

freshman pitcher Bonnie Benson on the hill due to a season-ending thumb injury to senior hurler Rose McCaul, Lexington pounded out 11 hits. Benson was around the plate all day, walking just two, but the 'Maids had too much firepower.

"She came out strong," said Winchester coach Linda Silvestri of her rookie pitcher. "She was putting everything over, but Lexington is just an excellent hitting team."

The slaughter-rule loss came just three days after Winchester nearly upset a strong Stoneham squad, falling 5-4 as the Lady Spartans rallied in the sixth inning for the win Friday at Ginn Field. Benson pitched in that one as well, allowing five hits and walking three.

Against Stoneham, Winchester moved ahead by scoring twice in the bottom of the fourth inning, only to see Stoneham rally to regain the lead in the top of the sixth. Winchester left the bases loaded in the bottom of the seventh.

"Bonnie was really on Friday, but she was off (Tuesday)," said Silvestri. "The key Friday was that we didn't allow the big first inning. If we can prevent that, we seem to get the momentum going."

jump and went 1-3 in the long jump were the keys," said Cantillon.

Grande completed a fine meet with her first-place time of 17.0 in the 100-meter hurdles. Livada (12.9) and Emily Davis (13.7) blazed their way to second and third, respectively, in the 100 dash. Livada's 26.4 in the 200 was four-tenths of a second off her school record.

Alco edged out another win in the 400, with a time of 1:02.6, before Kayulu took second in the 800 (2:40). Winchester needed a win in the 2-mile to secure a tie, and got it from senior all-star Deirdre Murdock, who ran a scorching 12:33.

The Sachemettes still had a chance to win the meet, but Reading's 4x100 relay team edged Winchester by just over a second. Regardless, Cantillon was thrilled with his team's season-opening performance.

"I'm extremely happy," Cantillon said. "It's been a long wait since the start of the season. Everything worked out as well as I'd hoped."

The team gets back on track Friday morning, with a 10 a.m. meet at Stoneham.

Boys fall to Rockets

The Winchester boys track squad had a tough time of it at Reading High Tuesday, falling to the 20-time Middlesex League champion Rockets 90-55.

The Sachems were missing several key athletes for this meet due to school vacation.

Several athletes turned in strong performances on the day, most notably Winchester senior Henry Kayulu. The versatile Kayulu sandwiched a pair of second places around a first-place finish in the 800-meter run, clocking an top-level time of 2 minutes, 2 seconds.

Winchester picked up first-place finishes from senior Ray Regan in the mile (4:44), senior Jeff Tahnk in the javelin (166 feet, 10 inches), senior Matt Tavares in the high jump (5-10), junior Ben Simeone in the pole vault (10-0) and senior Brian Lindmark in the 100 dash (11.4).

Although she is moving from Winchester to San Francisco with her family in a few months, Tulk appears to have caught the fever.

"I'm definitely doing it again next year," said Tulk, who raised nearly $2,000 in the Dana-Farber Marathon Challenge. "We'll be living in San Fran, but I'm coming back."

Other Winchester residents with official numbers were Donald Grande, Keith Koniares, Alain Lacoutare, Sanjay Manhandar, Timothy McCarthy, Thorkild Norregaard, Timothy Pynchon and Darryl Smith.

SPORTS BRIEFS

Bunny Hop road race at Bonnell Ford Sunday

The 10th annual Bunny Hop 5-mile Road Race will be held Sunday at 11 a.m., with the start and finish at Bonnell Ford on Cambridge St. Proceeds from the race will benefit the Easter Seals Society.

The entry fee is $10 if received before 5 p.m. on Saturday. Race-day registration is $12 and begins at 9 a.m. on Sunday.

Race categories include 18-and-under, 19-39, 40-49, 50-and-over, and Clydesdale (190 pounds and over). The race features cash prizes, T-shirts for the first 400 entrants, and refreshments. Awards will go to the first- and second-place finishers overall and the first-place male and female in each category.

Sachem youths begin baseball, softball

Baseball and softball games begin next week for the more than 800 boys and girls ages 7-15 who will be participating in the Winchester Sachem youth baseball/softball program. Younger children, primarily first graders, play Saturdays and Sundays, beginning May 1, usually at Westside Field and Ambrose (girls). Junior Minors (8-9) and Senior Minor boys and Bambino (10-12) have games scheduled during the week at Westside and Ginn Fields.

Teams are sponsored by local merchants and businesses, making it possible for the league to improve the fields and purchase new uniforms and equipment when needed. The sponsors' support and other fundraising efforts help defray costs for the summer league teams. Last year, the 16-18-year-old boys team was the Middlesex League champion and the 11-year-old All-Stars were Regional champions. Other age groups also enjoyed excellent records.

The boys and girls hope to raise additional funds throughout the season with a candy drive and the Great Rubber Ducky race on Town Day, along with other events.

For more information about the program, call Bob Sullivan at 729-3129.

Winchester Adult Soccer Night

The Winchester Adult Soccer Night will give parents of Winchester soccer players the chance to have some fun beginning Wednesday, April 28 at the Muraco School Field. Recreational, non-competitive games will be played every Wednesday at 6:30 p.m.

For more information, contact Scott Davis at 729-6519.

Sports Foundation golf tournament

The Winchester Sports Foundation hosts the fourth annual Sports Foundation Golf Tournament and Dinner to benefit Winchester High School athletics on May 17. The tournament and dinner will be held at the Winchester Country Club.

The dinner following the tournament is open to the public as well as for the golf participants. Jenna DeSimone and Brian Keefe, two outstanding student athletes, will be guest speakers.

An individual tournament entry fee will be $155, which includes green fee, door prize, motor cart and dinner. The cost for the dinner alone will be $37. For further information or to secure a spot in the tournament, call Will Fuller at 729-9086.

COMING EVENTS

WHAT'S GOING ON IN YOUR AREA IN THE COMING WEEKS

Host families needed for German students

Host families are needed for 35 German students who will be visiting Massachusetts, for the first time, in July 1993. The students are sponsored by International Education Forum, a nonprofit organization based in the United States. The students are between the ages of 14 and 18 and will take part in a homestay immersion program, staying with a host family for four to five weeks. The students are visiting Massachusetts in order to participate in American family life and to improve their English language skills.

If you are interested in hosting a German student, call Carol Henderson at 729-1971 as soon as possible.

Alzheimer's support group at church

An Alzheimer's peer support group will meet the second and fourth Tuesday of every month at St. Eulalia's Church beginning Feb. 9. The meeting provides peer support to families, friends, and caregivers. The April 13 meeting will be held in the church's conference room at 50 Ridge Street on "Caring for the Caregivers" with a discussion to follow. For further information call Roberta at 983-6844 or Valerie at (508) 897-7455.

Casey to hold office hours for constituents

Rep. Paul Casey (D-Winchester) will be holding office hours at Winchester Town Hall on the first and third Fridays of each month from 9 — 11 a.m.

Aids Action seeks volunteers for Buddy Program

The Buddy Program of the AIDS Action Committee is looking for volunteers to provide emotional and practical support to clients on a one-to-one basis. Interested persons older than 24 are invited to attend an orientation to learn about the Buddy Program and how to apply.

Orientations are held monthly at 7:30 p.m., on the fourth Tuesday of each month on the fourth floor of the AIDS Action offices at 131 Clarendon St. For more information call 437-6200, Ext. 450.

Career transition

A career transition networking and support group meets every Thursday, except the second of each month, at St. Eulalia's Church, 50 Ridge St. The meetings are held 7 to 9 p.m. in the church's conference room and are open and free. For more information call 729-8220.

WHS Class of 1944 to hold reunion

Winchester High School Class of 1944 has begun plans for a 50th anniversary reunion to be held in the fall of 1994. Any member of the class, graduate or otherwise, who would like to be notified of final details but who may have reason to believe his or her current address is not on file with reunion organizers, is asked to send address information at this time to Joan Hanson Blake, 45 Pine Ridge Road, Reading, 01867.

Fourth Annual All-Night Graduation celebration

Plans for the Fourth Annual All-Night Graduation Celebration are well underway. This event provides the 1993 graduates of Winchester High School with a safe and enjoyable last night together.

This event will be held on graduation night, Sunday, June 6, from 9:30 p.m. to 5 a.m., in the McCall Middle School gym and recreation areas. Some guidelines will be in place to ensure an enjoyable time for all. No alcohol will be allowed. Entrance time will be between 9:30 and 11 p.m. No one will be admitted after this time unless special permission has been arranged in advance. Any graduate who leaves the party will not be allowed to return and their parents will be notified before they are dismissed, regardless of the hour.

The All-Night Graduation Celebration Committee, under the direction of chairwomen Donna Desmond and Cathy Gatto, is hard at work planning for this multifaceted event. The night's activities will include nonstop food and dancing, live entertainment, games, contests, raffles, palm readers, tattoo artists, caricaturists, videos, and movies. All of these activities are available to the seniors for the $15 cost of admission.

A T-shirt contest is presently under way at the high school. Students submit their original design to a vote of their classmates. The winning design will be emblazoned on a T-shirt and given to each graduate.

The Winchester community has been a ready supporter of this event in the past years. The committee hopes to count on their continued support in providing safe alcohol-free events for Winchester's youth.

Kidstock spring and summer classes

Kidstock Youth Theater, directed by Brian Milauskas, is now registering for spring and summer 1993. All Kidstock programs are non-audition based with a limited first come registration. Spring programs for grades kindergarten through 12 run from April 12 to June 18. There will be an April vacation week musical production workshop. It will run Monday through Friday, April 19 through 23 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Summer session registration for grades one and two and grades three through eight is also available for four performance workshops during July and August. Each workshop involves drama, dance, art and music exploration and is weeks long, Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. For information and a brochure, call Kidstock at 729-5KID.

Parenting elementary school children

As the parent of an elementary school child, you are not the only one who second guesses yourself about limit setting and discipline issues. You are not alone in your struggle to have your children share in household responsibilities and chores. Whether the issue is how to handle anger, what to do about teasing, sibling conflicts, self esteem, or our own expectations for our children, we all work hard to come up with strategies that can truly have a positive impact on our children and our family life.

In Parent to Parent discussion groups people share day to day concerns and find support and reassurance in discussing common issues and challenges. Group discussions range from light-hearted sharing to in-depth discussions of developmental issues and appropriate interventions parents can consider.

The group leader is Hillary Turkewitz, a psychologist with more than 15 years of experience with families, who has been working with Parent to Parent for four years.

The next group for parents of elementary school children will begin Tuesday, April 27, from 8 to 9:30 p.m. Meetings are held in the Community Room of the Public Safety Building. The groups meet for six weeks. The fee is $30 for the six week program.

To register or obtain more information call Hillary Turkewitz at 729-7945.

Funding has been provided by the En Ka Society and the Parents' Associations of all five elementary schools.

Cooperative Theatre opens summer program registration in April

No Auditions! No experience needed! Do you like to act, dance and sing?? Are you entering grades three through eight? If you think you would like to try some aspect of theatre, then this is the perfect program for you. Catherine Alexander, director of the Cooperative Theatre, which just produced the Wizard of Oz is looking for children for summer drama camp. The camp will offer workshops that are designed to meet each student's ability. Every week, friends and families will be invited to Lincoln School auditorium to observe the various skits and monologues. In addition, the entire group will work on a musical production with Lori Lerman, which will be performed at the end of the session. The program will begin on June 28 and end on July 30. Hours have been extended for our program and children will attend from 8:30 to 12:30, Monday through Friday, with occasional special activities in the afternoon. Please call Cathy Alexander to register or for information at 729-0224.

Celebrate Arbor Day at Stone Zoo

The Massachusetts Arborists Association will hold an Arbor Day at Stone Zoo on Saturday, April 24, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

More than 600 members of MAA will be on site to donate their labor, equipment and plant material to give Stone Zoo a horticultural face-lift. Professional arborists will be available to answer questions and give homeowner tips. A tree pruning and planting demonstration with free seedling giveaways will be held. A tree climbing jamboree and competition will be featured in addition to a special screening of The Discovery Channel program "In Celebration of Trees."

The first 200 zoo visitors receive a free "Celebration of Trees" poster from The Discovery Channel. Additional activities include a special screening of The Learning Channel program "Gardening from the Ground Up" and face painting, story telling, the zoo-mobile, and picture with "costumed animals" and more geared to children.

All activities are free with regular zoo admission. For more information call Friends of Stone Zoo, 438-7459 or Mass. Arborists Assoc., 431-1625.

The Stone Zoo is located on 149 Pond St. in Stoneham, Exit 34 off Route 93 North, Exit 35 off Route 93 South. Severe weather date is Sunday, April 25.

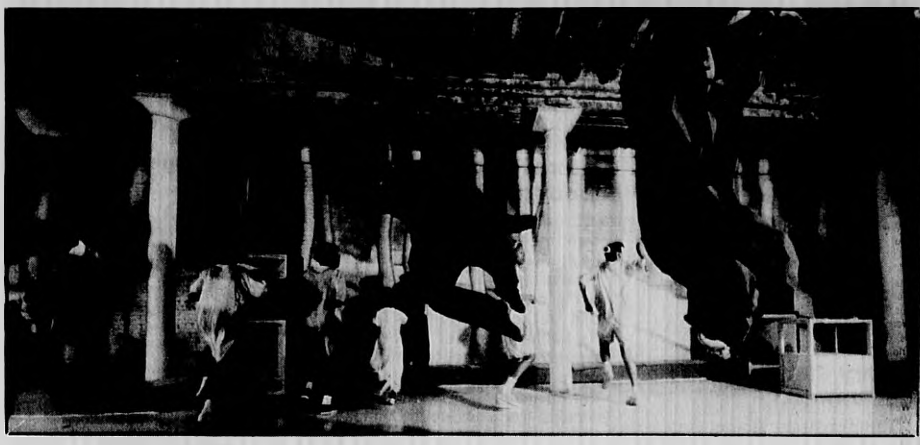
Shannon announces office hours

Senator Charles Shannon recently announced his district office hours for the town of Winchester. Sen. Shannon will be at the Winchester Town Hall from noon to 2 p.m. on Friday, April 30. Sen. Shannon extends an invitation to all his constituents to stop by and discuss any issue of concern.

P.F.A. talk rescheduled

The P.F.A. Board Meeting and talk by Principal John Richie originally scheduled for Tuesday, April 6, has been rescheduled. Richie will speak to all interested parents about "The State of Winchester High School 1993" on Tuesday, April 27 at 7:30 p.m. in the social studies open area. This will follow the P.F.A. Board Meeting at 7 p.m. in the same area.

As always the board invites all parents to attend the board meetings which are informal and informative.



Boston City Lights Dancers

City Lights to perform for ABC benefit dance in May

Winchester's Committee for "A Better Chance" (ABC) will hold its annual Spring Benefit Concert Saturday, May 8, at the Lincoln School Auditorium at 8:30 p.m.; and, for the first time, dessert at Rick's Cafe will cap off the evening. The annual ABC Spring Benefit Concert is a significant fund raising event for the Winchester A Better Chance program. All proceeds from the concert directly benefit the Winchester ABC house.

This year, the benefit committee, chaired by Jennifer Regentz and Debbie Johnston, is thrilled to present the Boston City Lights Street Dancers.

Boston City Lights is a nonprofit performing arts group, made up of five renowned Boston-born dance and theater professionals and the kids (age 9 through 20) they have taken off the streets. Begun in the late '70s by Duggan Hill, City Lights is a free performing arts school that has provided a forum for Boston street kids to discover, use and cultivate their talents.

Over the years, Hill and Boston City Lights have discovered and groomed hundreds of young dancers and singers. Their melting-pot production, ranging from hip-hop to rap to Broadway show style and a cappella gospel songs, has earned them international acclaim. The evening promises to memorable.

Seating is limited, so tickets should be purchased soon. Tickets may be purchased by calling Barbara Hyde at 729-0513 or by mailing a check with a self-addressed envelope to 27 Canterbury Road, Winchester 01890. Or stop in at one of these local shops to purchase tickets: Book Ends, Cradock's, Henderson's or the News Shop.

Tickets for the performance are $20 per person ($10 for seniors and students). Dessert at Rick's Cafe is $5 per person. Or you may choose to become a patron for $90; becoming a patron of ABC entitles you to two tickets to the performance, two tickets for dessert at Rick's Cafe and your name in the evening's program.

The Winchester Committee for A Better Chance looks forward to seeing you at this year's concert and greatly appreciates the public's continuing support for the ABC program.

Lynch Flea Market and Craft Fair in May

The Annual Lynch Flea Market and Craft Fair, sponsored by the Lynch Parents' Association, arrives come rain or shine on Saturday, May 1, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Lynch Elementary School, 10 Brantwood Road.

This year's fete will feature reasonably priced handmade crafts (perfect for Mother's and Father's Day), as well as a wide variety of flea market items. Come enjoy grilled hot dogs and hamburgers, ice cream, and activities for children, including face painting.

Anyone interested in renting a table to sell their own crafts, collectibles, or flea market items should call Pat at 729-8907.

Ageless Follies

There will be plenty of toe-tapping and humming in the Winchester Town Hall on the evening of May 1 at 7:30 p.m. The Ageless Follies program is brimming with tap dancing, comedy skits, ballads and show tunes. There will be memorable renditions by the Winchester High School Octet and the Senior Glee Club. Singing commercials will highlight many of Winchester's shops and businesses. A new feature of this annual endeavor will be opportunities for voluntary participation by the audience. Refreshments will be served during intermission.

Tickets are $6 for the cabaret floor and $4 for the balcony, and they are on sale at the Jenks Senior Center, Book Ends, Cradock's and Henderson's. Come and enjoy the many talents of Winchester residents all in the spirit of support for the Winchester Youth Center.

Historical Society hosts lecture on church architect

The design of Winchester's First Congregational Church and its architect will be the subject of a lecture, sponsored by the Winchester Historical Society, on Thursday, April 29, 7:30 p.m., at the church.

The lecture is entitled, "Neat, Convenient and Tastefully Designed: The First Congregational Church of Winchester and Its Architect, Alexander R. Esty."

The lecture will be given by Stephen Jerome, who recently identified Esty as the church's architect. Jerome is an architectural historian and curator of a historic house for the Brookline Historical Society.

In a slide presentation, Jerome will discuss the original church design. He also will relate the church to other buildings by Esty, who was a noted Boston architect in the 19th century.

The lecture is free and open to the public.

The Arthur Griffin Center for Photographic Art is hosting a photography walking tour on Saturday, May 8 (rain date, May 16), from 2 to 3:30 p.m. Griffin will point out some of his favorite photography spots in Winchester. Bring a camera and wear comfortable shoes as you try to keep up with your 89-year-old tour guide. Griffin will be assisted by a few friends on this fun, informal walk. Call the center for details and a reservation.

The Arthur Griffin Center for Photographic Art, on Shore Road, is open Thursday through Sunday, 1 to 4 p.m.

Rotary Club hosts golf tourney

The Winchester Rotary Club will host the fifth annual Winchester Rotary Charitable Golf Tournament at the Winchester Country Club on Monday, May 3, at 1 p.m.

The tournament is a fundraiser to support the Winchester Rotary Charitable Fund, which each year donates between $15,000 and $20,000 to local charities, school groups and community organizations. The charitable fund also supports Rotary International in its scholarship fund and world wide relief efforts.

Lou Gentile, chairman of the event, expects a full field of 128 golfers for the event. "We are very grateful to the Winchester Country Club for its support. They are always willing to give back to the community," said Gentile, referring to the fact that the Winchester Country Club donates the use of the facility and greens fees to the tournament each year.

The tournament will be followed by a dinner at the country club with several prizes awarded to golfers, including a hole-in-one automobile. If you are interested in participating please contact Lou Gentile at 387-5100 or John Finamore at 729-7857.

Griffin Center for Photographic Art hosts exhibit

The Arthur Griffin Center for Photographic Art in Winchester is currently hosting the most comprehensive exhibition to date of the work of Karin Rosenthal. 'The Animate Landscape' exhibits 60 photographic resonances of the nude form and the natural landscape, in black and white and in color, through May 2.

The Energy Connection offers Reebok 'Bodywalk' classes

The Energy Connection is adding a walking course to its schedule of health and fitness classes. Reebok's "Bodywalk" is a carefully designed, comprehensive walking program that can teach anyone — from the first time exerciser to the fitness enthusiast — to get the most from a walking workout. Walking is a wonderful, healthy way to enjoy the good weather, and The Energy Connection is very pleased to be able to offer this outdoor Reebok program to all adults in the community.

Each meeting will feature instruction in proper walking technique, warmup, cooled and strengthening segments. There will also be interesting, and individualized walking routes from Winchester center that are geared to specific fitness levels. The course also will provide tips and guidelines for walkers in Winchester Hospital's upcoming "Big Steps for Little People" Walk-a-thon.

"Bodywalk" is a progressive four-week course that meets twice weekly. Session I will begin May 3; Session II starts May 31. Three class times are available: 6:30 a.m., 10 a.m., or 7 p.m. Cost is $32. Early registration is suggested as class size is limited. For more information and to register, call 729-3256 or 729-7268.

Fireman's Relief host retirement party

The Winchester Fireman's Relief Association will be sponsoring a retirement party/banquet, at 6:30 p.m., on May 14, at the Winchester Sons of Italy Hall, 117 Swanton St., Winchester in honor of the following retirees:

Michael Beaton, fire fighter; Louis Cappello, fire fighter; David Dalton, fire captain; John MacIsaac, fire fighter; Robert McElhinney, fire chief; Robert J. Sullivan, fire fighter; Robert Fiore, call fire fighter; William Haggerty (posthumously), call fire fighter; and Joseph McGrath, call fire fighter.

Friends and relatives are invited. For ticket information call Winchester Fire Department Headquarters at 729-1801.

Art exhibit at Jumelage

Jumelage Winchester St. Germain-en-Laye presents a combined art exhibit featuring American and French artists. Through the support of Winchester Arts Lottery Council, Winchester and Cambridge Art Associations, and local townspeople, this joint exhibit is made possible. The exhibit on display at the Winchester Library May 1 to 28 features many local and French artists.

Players present "Three Sisters"

The Winchester Players present Anton Chekhov's Classic Family Drama "Three Sisters." This play is about a dysfunctional family, set against a backdrop of Russian soldiers and the burning city of Moscow. It is directed by Ken Harvey and produced by Carolynn Frueh and Ann Guilderson.

All performances are at the Metcalf Hall Theatre, Winchester Unitarian Church, 478 Main St. (the corner of Main Street and Mystic Valley Parkway) on April 30, May 1, 2, 7 and 8. Friday and Saturday shows at 8 p.m.; Sunday show at 7 p.m. Tickets are $9 for general admission, $7 for seniors and students and special rates available for groups of 30 or more. For reservations call 721-1814.

Africa Resource Institute does it again

This year, in February, Afrisource produced and staged the first Black History Month Celebration ever in Winchester.

The celebration was sponsored by the Africa Resource Institute in cooperation with the Multicultural Network.

Africa Resource Institute is a subsidiary of the FEED Foundation Inc., a nonprofit organization. FEED is the contracted form of the Uganda-American Association "For Education, Ethicks and Development." It stands for a resolute act of showing concern for fellow human beings.

Africa Resource Institute, whose acronym is Afrisource, puts in practice some stipulations of FEED. Afrisource is an agency whose aim is the promotion of international, intercultural, multicultural and community knowledge and understanding under the banner of "Unity in Diversity."

Afrisource is soon bringing the American premiere of the musical play on Africa, "Thirty Years of Bananas," by Alex Mukulu, a native of Uganda, and his troupe, Impact International, to Winchester High School Auditorium, 7:30 to 9 p.m. on May 11. The whole family is invited. For more information call Agnes K. Lugira at 721-5854 or 729-9245.

Time for a spring fling

Spring is finally here and the Music Department of the Winchester Public Schools and the Community School Association are pleased to announce the annual Spring for the Arts. The concert series will feature the Spring String Fling on May 4, the Spring Sing Fling on May 5 and the Spring Band Fling on May 6. All concerts will be at Winchester High School Auditorium at 7:30 p.m.

All members of the community are invited. Join us for a musical series geared for children, parents and people of all ages. A donation will be collected at the door to benefit the Music Department and the CSA Scholarship Fund.

Asthma and Allergy Foundation dinner

Asthma and Allergy Foundation of America/New England Chapter celebrates its annual "Breath of Spring" dinner/auction on Thursday, April 29, 6 p.m. at the Royal Sonesta Hotel in Cambridge.

Members of the honorary committee include Gov. and Mrs. William Weld, Rep. Patrick Kennedy of Rhode Island, Sen. John Kerry, Ed Pinckney and Red Auerbach of the Boston Celtics, and TV personalities Bruce Schwoegler and Natalie Jacobson.

According to Cynthia Daley of Winchester, auction chairman, AAFA is the only New England voluntary health organization solely dedicated to fighting asthma and allergic diseases — conditions that affect breathing in one of every six people.

Asthma and allergies are major public health problems that cause the loss of more than 10 million work days and 150 million school days annually. Proceeds from this fundraising event will benefit patient education, public awareness and research programs, as well as programs to assist high risk populations.

RECREATION NEWS

Programs for Adults

Understanding Mutual Funds

Instructor: Dorothy Bickling.

Does the financial vocabulary of the investment counselor confuse you? Learn the meaning of such mysterious terms as load and no-load funds, tax-free, double tax free, and taxable bonds, money market funds, stock funds, and growth and income stocks. We will also talk about investment opportunities, how funds are set up and regulated, and how to evaluate a fund's performance. You will learn how to read a prospectus so you can develop your own investment strategies. One session. 932-BF-03A, Wednesday, April 28, from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Winchester High School, $12.

Microsoft Word

Instructor: David Rosenthal.

This course will explain the basic elements of word processing in a hands-on environment. We will use Microsoft Word 4.0, a word processing application, and Macintosh computers. Students will learn how to format documents, create and edit files, spell-check, and print documents. We will also apply more advanced techniques as time permits. Introduction to the Macintosh or equivalent experience is required. Four sessions. 932-CS-04A beginning Thursday, April 29, from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. in the Winchester High School English Computer Lab, $72.

House Flag

Instructor: Ruanne Warford.

Wave your very own flag! Learn how to make a beautiful seasonal flag to hang outside your home. The first session will be a discussion on fabrics and patterns. The approximate cost of materials is $15 to $20. Three sessions. 932-CA-08A beginning Thursday, May 6, from 7 to 9:30 p.m. at the Winchester High School, $33.

Large Oval Wreath

Instructor: Madeleine DiCicco

This beautiful wreath will bring spring to your house. Using a bleached oval vine wreath as a base, you will cover the entire piece with moss, preserved baby's breath, wonderful pastel flowers, and deep rich greenery. The finished size is approximately 17-18 inches. Please bring a glue gun, scissors, and wire clippers. A materials fee of $38 is payable to the instructor. One session. 932-CA-03A, Wednesday, April 28, from 7 to 10 p.m. in the Winchester High School, $16.

Meals In Minutes

Instructor: Mary Franklin

Nutritious alternative to "fast foods" is the basis for this course offered to people with difficult work and home schedules. This "hands on" cooking class concentrates on quickly prepared entrees, vegetables, and desserts. Participants only need a minimum amount of food preparation experience. Menus are planned, emphasizing texture, eye appeal, and nutrition. A $35 food fee is payable to the instructor at the first class. Four sessions. 932-HG-02A beginning Tuesday, April 27, from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. in the Winchester High School, $42.

NEW On Target Archery For Adults

Instructor: National Archery Association certified instructor.

Get on target and learn the great sport of archery. We supply all the equipment; you supply the accuracy and desire. This program is intended for the recreational archer who is interested in archery for the enjoyment of shooting the bow and arrow. Each program is staffed by a NAA or ASTA instructor or certified coach. Six sessions. 932-HF-10A beginning Monday, April 26, from 7 to 8:30 p.m. in the Lynch School gym, $69.

Focus On Fitness at Muraco School

Instructors: Judy Whitney and Gail LaRocca

Drop in to one of our fabulous fitness classes offered by Judy Whitney and Gail LaRocca, certified fitness instructors. Classes include Aerobics (A), Step Reebok Conditioning (S) and Walking (W). Each class is $4.50. Morning classes are held at Ballet Arts Centre, 750 Main St., Tuesdays and Fridays from 9:15 to 10:15 a.m., an aerobics class and a step class on Thursdays at Muraco School on Bates Road, step classes are held on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at 5:30 p.m. For more information and a complete schedule, call the Recreation Department at 721-7125.

Winchester Rotary Club supports walk-a-thon

Winchester Rotary Club members voted to spearhead the Winchester Hospital "Big Steps for Little People" Walk-A-Thon, scheduled for Sunday, May 23, at noon, by offering a $10,000 donation to get the event off and running. Rotary President Rich Salter, Salter Health Care, explained the project to the club members and promoted the generally held view that "Winchester Hospital is a valuable community asset — one that we have always supported as our number one charitable cause. We have an opportunity to make a real difference in the success of their first Walk-A-Thon."

Rotary members plan to participate in the walk as "Team Rotary," by fielding a team comprising members and their families and friends. In addition, several Rotarians are volunteering as support staff for planning and implementing the Walk-A-Thon. Member Helen Babcock, Carlson Real Estate, reminded the club of the other benefits which are to be found in supporting such a project. "We have an opportunity here to live the rotary motto. We can serve our community and enjoy the fellowship of our greater Winchester community."

Mike Lynch, Channel 5 sportscaster and one of the honorary chairpersons of the Walk-A-Thon said, "The fund-raising goal for the Big Steps Walk-A-Thon is $100,000. Winchester Rotary got us underway with a generous gift and the Ninety-Nine Restaurant-Pubs followed with a $5,000 donation. We hope others will take up the challenge and walk in support of the Winchester Hospital Childbirth Center and Level II Special Care Nursery. "My three daughters were born at Winchester Hospital and I'm delighted to support this worthwhile project."

The Walk-A-Thon begins at Winchester High School looping Horn Pond in Woburn and circling through the neighborhoods before returning to the high school. Walk-A-Thon team packets posters and fact sheets are now available. Participation in the "Big Steps for Little People" Walk-A-Thon is open to everyone and may take many forms. Winchester Center stores will be open and walkers are encouraged to follow the balloons to the center for refreshments and shopping. If you have questions or want more information, call Winchester Hospital at 756-2156.

A healthy pregnancy starts before conception

When you ask Nabil Arian , M.D., a Winchester Hospital obstetrician/gynecologist, his advice for ensuring a healthy pregnancy, he'll tell you it all begins before conception.

"It's important for a woman to see her doctor before she gets pregnant," he explains. "She should have a comprehensive physical exam, including a pap smear and complete medical history, to make sure everything is in order.

"By taking a family history, we can identify if genetic counseling is needed," he explains. "If so, it can be done prior to pregnancy, so that informed decisions can be made before a baby is conceived."

Arian also recommends prenatal vitamins.

"Recent studies indicate that folic acid can diminish the incidence of certain birth defects such as spina bifida," he notes. "And all it takes is a vitamin a day."

Once a woman becomes pregnant, Arian believes that she should consider herself in a physiological condition, not a disease condition, and care for herself accordingly. To a great degree, that comes down to common sense.

Regarding diet: "Follow established guidelines for proper nutrition with a well-balanced diet," he advises. If a women has special dietary needs — if she is a vegetarian, for example — Arian often will refer her to a nutritionist to ensure that mother and child receive the appropriate nutrition during pregnancy.

"The ideal weight gain during pregnancy is 35 pounds," he adds. "But it can be more or less, depending on the circumstances.

"And no smoking, drinking or drug intake," he states, citing the risks that include miscarriage, premature birth, low birthweight, fetal alcohol syndrome and birth defects.

Regarding exercise: "Any activity that doesn't potentially result in physical harm is acceptable," he says. Downhill skiing and bicycle-riding are too high risk, he feels, but low-impact aerobics, walking and swimming are "ideal exercises for pregnant women."

On a woman's psychological well-being during pregnancy: "Sometimes women will experience sudden mood changes during pregnancy; for others, it's a time of concern and anxiety, wondering if their baby is all right," Arian says. "This is a normal process, and I encourage women to share their concerns with their doctor."

"Establish a relationship with a physician you trust," he advises. "That is a key element of a healthy pregnancy."

Care of the newborn

The first few days and weeks at home after the birth of a baby are exhilarating. But they may also raise many questions.

"Care of The Newborn," offered by Winchester Hospital, is a workshop which gives parents the latest information about the physical and psychological needs of the newborn. Topics for discussion include newborn appearance and reflexes, choosing a pediatrician, safety issues, feeding and more.

Care of the Newborn is held from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. for two consecutive Mondays every month. Call Winchester Hospital for more information at 756-2220.

Childbirth refresher course offered

For parents who are expecting their next child, Winchester Hospital offers a two-hour refresher class. The workshop includes a review of the birth process and current practices in maternity care. Time is allocated for discussion of sibling rivalry. Tension reducing techniques, and breathing exercises will also be discussed.

For dates and price information, Call Winchester Hospital's Education Department at 756-2220.

Hospital offers free screenings

Winchester Hospital will offer free screenings to the community at The Woburn Lion's annual Breakfast Club Health Fair from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday, April 24, at the North Suburban YMCA.

Free screenings during the day will include cancer skin screenings, cholesterol, blood sugar, dietary analysis, lung capacity, blood pressure and height and weight checks. The Lions Eye Mobile Van will also be on hand to assist in vision screenings.

In addition, dental and podiatry screenings will be conducted and Winchester Hospital physicians will perform free oral and hearing screenings.

Representatives from the Heart Association, the Lung Association Cancer Society, American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) and Woburn C.A.S.A. will be available to answer questions and hand out information. A registered dietitian will be present with information on the new food pyramid.

Face painting for kids and healthy kids fitness testing will also be available. For more information call Winchester Hospital's Education Department at 756-2220.

Free skin cancer screenings

Look forward to a healthy and fun Summer. In conjunction with The American Cancer Society's SkinSavers '93 program, Winchester Hospital is offering free skin screenings on May 5, from 6 to 9 p.m. at the Winchester Hospital Health Promotion Center in Woburn.

Risk factors for skin cancer include skin sensitive to sun exposure, a mole that has grown or changed, and family history of melanoma. Participants in the skin screening program will receive skin cancer information and instruction about self examination to keep track of new or changing moles.

To schedule an appointment, call Winchester Hospital at 756-2111.

New breast care center offers women options

Winchester Hospital's new Breast Care Center, located at Baldwin Park II in Woburn, is a regional evaluation facility that offers comprehensive breast health resources in one convenient and close-to-home location.

The Breast Care Center is designed to coordinate a full range of diagnostic and therapeutic services. Services include a physician exam, mammography, instruction in breast self examination, a reference library and an information hotline. There is streamlined access to medical and surgical specialists including surgeons, oncologists, radiotherapists and plastic surgeons.

Women may call the Center directly for an appointment; it is not necessary to be referred by a physician. For more information call 756-2308.

Winchester Hospital offers HOPE: helping other parents endure

Losing a child at any age is a traumatic and heart-wrenching experience. For those parents who have lost a child through miscarriage, still birth or within a few weeks of the birth, there is HOPE (Helping Other Parents Endure).

HOPE, offered to the community by Winchester Hospital, is a peer-support group to help parents recover from their loss. HOPE will meet Wednesday, May 12, at 7:30 p.m. at the Winchester Hospital Family Medical Center, 500 Salem St. in Wilmington, and continues to meet the second Wednesday of every month.

For information call Winchester Hospital's social service department at 756-2633.

Hospital's breast care center affiliated with NEMC

Winchester Hospital's new Breast Care Center is the area's newest resource for matters relating to breast health. Whether a woman is looking to get a baseline mammogram or just wants to talk to someone about breast self examination, the Breast Care Center is the community's most comprehensive and convenient resource.

"Our purpose is to coordinate and integrate all the available breast care resources in a single location so that a woman's experience is more user-friendly, and there is faster resolution of any health problem she may have," explains Richard Kingsbury, M.D., medical director of the Center.

An important feature of the Breast Care Center is its affiliation with New England Medical Center (NEMC). The intent is to give the Center a tertiary affiliation and to provide patient referrals to NEMC when needed. The other benefit of he affiliation is the multi-disciplinary approach to patient care, which involves NEMC and Winchester Hospital teaming up in case management conferences.

"We're here to let women know all of their options," says Denise Costello, RN, MS, Nurse Coordinator at the Breast Care Center. "That includes treatment alternatives at NEMC." Referring to the Winchester Hospital and NEMC affiliation, Denise notes, "Basically we're a team."

For women who are diagnosed with breast cancer, the center coordinates all necessary treatment services as well as related services such as home care, psychological counseling, nutrition services, rehabilitation, and clothing/prosthesis information.

The Center is founded on philosophies of empowering women through education and support. "Our emphasis is on breast health," says Kingsbury, "and women are encouraged to actively participate in their care, not simply receive it."

RELIGIOUS NEWS

Famed Catholic author Alfred McBride at St. Eulalia's

The Church of St. Eulalia in Winchester is proud to present noted Catholic author, lecturer and former university president Father Alfred McBride speaking on "How to Share Your Catholic Faith With Others." The talk will take place on Sunday, April 25, at 2 p.m. in Manion Hall at St. Eulalia's.

McBride, a frequent contributor to Catholic periodicals and Our Sunday Visitor, has just published a six-book series by McBride on meditations and commentaries on six New Testament books. In the next several years he will be writing three derivative catechisms on the Catholic Church.

McBride received his doctorate in religious education from the Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C. He was the founder and executive director of the department of religious education at the National Catholic Educational Association. He is also a former professor and former president of the University of Albuquerque.

The U.S. Catholic Bishops appointed him to write the catechesis in preparation for the second pastoral visit of Pope John Paul II to the United States and also to be their representative to the media during their visit.

McBride's talk will be on "How to Share Your Catholic Faith With Others." It will explore how Catholics can most effectively share their faith with other people, especially the 100 million Americans who belong to no church. Many Catholics find this type of speaking out about their faith to be very uncomfortable and awkward. McBride will talk about how to overcome that fear and how to wake up the sleeping giant which is the U.S. Catholicism.

All are welcome at this event and refreshments will be served. Call St. Eulalia's at 729-8220 for further information.

First Church spring rummage sale

A two-day rummage sale will be held Wednesday, April 28, from 6 to 9 p.m. and Thursday, April 29, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. in Chidley Hall, First Congregational Church (on The Common). It will include clothing, shoes, linens, small appliances, white elephants and more. All proceeds go to charity.

Admission is free. For more information call 729-9180.

The sale is sponsored by the Women's Association. Susan Drum is chairperson of the event.

Children's Own School Fair offers family fun

Children's Own School Annual Fair & Yard Sale arrives come rain or shine on Saturday, May 8, from 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. at the school, 86 Main Street, Winchester.

Festivities will include pony rides, a fire engine kids can explore, a bake sale, raffle, games, face painting, and a barbecue. The yard sale will offer children's toys and equipment, as well as books.

This year's fair caps the yearlong celebration of Children's Own School's 50th anniversary. The preschool is well-known for its excellent Montessori program for children ages 3-6.

Winchester residents Rahul Kakkar, Mark Gallagher and Andrew Fuller are members of Belmont Hill School's select vocal ensemble, The B Flats. This group took top honors and received the highest rating during their recent trip to Florida and their participation in the MusicFest Orlando. The rating of "superior" was awarded to them by each of the three presiding judges. They also received the first place trophy in the men's chorus division of the competition. They are pictured here with their trophy and conductor, Belmont Hill School Music Director Steven Karidoyanes.

Ambrose studies the arts of Africa

Ambrose School's students in grades 2 and 3 are studying the arts of Africa, a multi-cultural and historical study in the classrooms and in art class. Barbara Gagel, art teacher, and teachers Edna Accardo, Patricia Franke, Amy Buckley and Martha Sandberg from grades 2 and 3 received a Winchester Foundation mini-grant which was able to fund the needs of this innovative unit.

The children began the study with a field trip to the Museum of Fine Arts to view the exceptional Egyptian and Nubian collections. Inspired by the trip, slides and other visuals, the children are making clay pots inspired by Nubian designs and clay jewelry with Egyptian hieroglyphs and the colors of faience.

Other projects the children will be creating during the following weeks will be metal repousse, acknowledging the ancient kingdom of Benin (Nigeria), and the cloth surface designs of West Africa such as Adinkra (Ghana) and Adire Eleko (Nigeria).

All grade 2 and 3 teachers and the reading specialist will be involved at the same time with introducing the oral tradition of storytelling, reading folktales and learning about environment and endangered species.

ARTS UMBRELLA

Arts Lottery Council awards '93 funding

Nine arts programs in Winchester have been awarded a total of $3550 by the town's Arts Lottery Council. This sum reflects an increase in funding for Fiscal '93 of almost $1,000.

Susan Haskell, the Winchester Council Chairman, announced that the following applications have been approved by the Mass. Cultural Council:

To CSA Enrichment, for the Actors' Theatre of Maine Production, $1,000.

To McCall Middle School, for the Visiting Artists Series, $500.

To McCall, for the Primitive Clay Firing Workshop, $150.

To the Winchester Art Assoc. and Jumelage, for Art Alliance / Alliance d'Art Exhibition, $200.

To Winchester Arts Lottery Council, for Town Day Arts Umbrella Table, $50.

To Winchester Concert Series, for the New England Philharmonic Orchestra, $300.

To Winchester High School Art Dept., for the Lauver photographic presentation, $100.

To Winchester Special Needs PAC, for "Spokesong", a musical story, $450.

Spring for the arts

A sure sign that spring is finally here is the annual Spring for the Arts sponsored by the Community School Association and the Winchester Music Department which will take place on May 4, 5, and 6 at Winchester High School auditorium at 7:30 p.m..

The concerts are structured to demonstrate increasing levels of achievement as students progress through the music curriculum. The Spring String Fling on May 4 will feature the elementary orchestra, the sixth grade chamber group, the seventh and eighth grade orchestra and the high school orchestra. The Spring Sing Fling on May 5 likewise will showcase performers from all school age groups. The fifth grade choruses from all elementary schools will perform as will the eighth grade and high school choruses as well as the globe trotting Winchester High School Octets. The concert will end with all performers singing "Siyahamba," a South African freedom song. The Spring Band Fling on May 6 will highlight the fourth and fifth grade instrumentalists, the sixth grade band, the seventh and eighth grade band as well as the high school concert band.

Come and see the student performers at Winchester High School on May 4, 5, and 6 at 7:30 p.m. All members of the community are invited. A donation will be collected at the door to benefit the music department and the CSA Scholarship Fund.

CLUB NEWS

Guild to hold country store

The Winchester Chapter of the Guild of the Infant Saviour will hold its annual Country Store on Tuesday, April 27, at noon at the Crawford Memorial Hall on Dix Street, Winchester. Money raised at this event goes to support the guild's many charitable endeavors. Refreshments will be served. The public is invited to attend.

V.F.W. Auxiliary social

The Aberjona Ladies Auxiliary No. 3719 Veterans of Foreign Wars, will hold its monthly social at the post quarters on Rivers Street, Tuesday, April 27, at 7:30 p.m. to benefit its charitable endeavors. Chairperson Mary Titilah invites the public. Refreshments will be served.

Fortnightly Club to be represented at Women's Club

Close to five hundred members of the General Federation of Women's Clubs of Massachusetts are expected to attend the organization's annual convention at the Sea Crest Hotel and Convention Center in North Falmouth, from May 11-13. These members represent over two hundred local women's clubs from the Commonwealth, and this convention is the culmination of the year's events featuring speakers on many subjects as well as club awards, individual achievement awards and scholarship presentations. President Tina Macrina from Brockton will be presiding.

Over $25,000 in scholarships will be presented to undergraduate and graduate students at the convention. Ten $2,000 awards will be presented for graduate study in the fields of astronomy, journalism and medical research/cancer. Additional scholarships will be presented for study in music, art, education, and international study to Massachusetts students who have been endorsed by their local women's clubs.

Speakers at the convention will include Beverly Beckham, columnist for the "Boston Herald"; Dr. Leslie Lewis, from the National Forum; Marge Piercy, novelist/feminist; Ann Richardson from Reading is Fundamental (RIF); Jeanne Bakelar from Responsible Environmental Action Program (RAP) and George Newman, a Revolutionary War expert.

Some members will be representing the Winchester Fortnightly Club at the Convention.

Business Directory

Where do local people turn when they need to have their favorite painting professionally framed?...or their home painted?...or have their washing machine running like new again? If those people live in the suburban Boston area, chances are, they turn to Harte-Hanks Newspapers' Business Directory. It's one of the most effective, complete, reference tools in the area. And people use it. That's why advertisers use it week after week.

It's an opportunity for smaller companies to advertise on a consistent basis, at a cost that's very attractive. And we've found that, even when the small companies grow into larger companies, they stay on the page. Promoting their services. Building their business. Generating profits.

If you're a small businessman who needs advertising exposure at a cost that's easy to manage, contact our Display Classified Advertising department at (617) 487-7225 or (508) 820-7095 for more information. Small space. . . big results. . .

Belmont architect details work remodeling her own home

By Taina Rhodin
ASSOCIATED PRESS

This story began 11 years ago in March 1982 when my husband, Erik, and I bought our house.

We are both architects and were full of ideas and eager to start the renovation work immediately. It was easier then, when we were two. Today we have a four-year old son and he has slowed things down a lot.

The house is an old traditional New England saltbox from 1865 in Belmont. The house is small, only 1,500 square feet, but it sits on a large half-acre lot. The original house consisted of small, dark rooms around the central chimney.

When we moved in the house it was "raw space." The previous owner had demolished many interior walls and removed the ceilings. There was no kitchen, only a stove and a sink. They had not touched the upstairs at all.

We did not know the intentions of the previous owners, but we liked the openness of it and decided to leave the first floor all open instead of constructing new walls around each room.

The first floor is mainly one big, open room and there is only one freestanding pink wall at the new woodburning stove. The three rooms are arranged around it; a kitchen, a dining room and a living room. The idea of an open floor plan is part of modern design, but it has served us well in this small house.

There is lots of light due to the open plan used in remodeling the Rhodin home, this way the house appears bigger than it actually is. Pictured is a view of the living room from the sunroom, and the entryway beyond.

However we wanted to preserve the feeling of an old house and by doing so we created an interesting juxtaposition. It also serves as a wonderful contrast to our mostly modern furniture.

All the wall surfaces are light and all the trim work and floors are wood. All the windows were replaced and all the walls have new insulation. We left the joists exposed in the ceiling and painted them all white, except the new wood beam in the dining area.

There is lots of light due to the open plan and this way the house appears bigger than it actually is. The morning sun comes into the kitchen, where we installed new Ikea beech wood cabinets and Gaggenau appliances. There is an opening above the base cabinets and direct access, both physical and visual, to the dining area, which shares the same wood cabinets.

However we wanted to preserve the feeling of an old house and by doing so we created an interesting juxtaposition. It also serves as a wonderful contrast to our mostly modern furniture.

As the sun moves around the house, its light enters the living room and finally the sunroom. Our sunroom or library is an old exterior porch. It was once enclosed and had become an unheated summer room. Today it is part of the interior space. The existing windows were removed and were enlarged into two wide openings directly connecting the sun room with rest of the house.

With all that open space, the rooms are now defined by the furniture rather than the walls. There is a bathroom and a small study/guest room on the first floor, too, and these are their own private rooms. Only the "public areas" are in the open space.

We installed a new bathroom and a sauna off the master bedroom upstairs. There is also a new dormer in the bathroom, which is a direct replica of the two existing ones in the two bedrooms.

Both bedrooms got two new Velux

Pure and Simple

Natural look makes a comeback for home design in the '90s

By Judy Massey
HARTE-HANKS CORRESPONDENT

Pick up the puddled Victorian drapes, pull the heavy damask and lace off the tables, and, for heaven's sake, clear the country clutter from the shelves. The "in" look is simple and pure. More is out; less is better.

"There have been enormous shifts in our world," explains Gail Van Kleek, president of Dover Interiors in Westwood. "The Berlin Wall is down. Russia is different. In times like these, we start to go back to our roots, our ethnic heritage." She elaborates, "Early things were simple with cleaner lines. They celebrated wood in a natural way without need to augment it (with carvings and decorations)."

Besides featuring natural woods, 90s interiors will reflect richer, deeper colors. "Think of the purples from a berry or reds from a cherry," she continues. "We'll see a renaissance of golds, greens, rusts, magentas in nice, strong ways." Looking for simplicity, shoppers are choosing furniture in styles that show more craftsmanship than ornamentation: Scandinavian, mission, Arts & Crafts, lodge, prairie, and Shaker.

"There have been enormous shifts in our world. The Berlin Wall is down. Russia is different. In times like these, we start to go back to our roots, our ethnic heritage. Early things were simple with cleaner lines. They celebrated wood in a natural way without need to augment it (with carvings and decorations)."

GAIL VAN KLEEK
DOVER INTERIORS, WESTWOOD

Joe McMahon, sales manager for Form in Teak, with stores in Marlboro and Burlington, says that the lighter woods he carries — teak, oak and mahogany — are better for decorating. His sofas combine beautifully grained wood with natural fibers like wool and cotton.

"People are getting away from overstuffed sofas. A 90-inch overstuffed gives you only 60 or 65 inches of seating room. A more streamlined style gives you 80 inches," says McMahon.

Besides pieces for living rooms, dining rooms, and bedrooms, Form in Teak carries Scandinavian furniture for offices. "Smaller companies are willing to spend a little more for a warmer look in the office," adds McMahon. "Steel desks and cabinets can look so sterile."

The simpler look that celebrates natural things is called "lodge," "Southwestern," or "mission" at Jordan's Furniture in Waltham, Avon, and Nashua, N.H.

Looking for simplicity, shoppers are choosing furniture in styles that show more craftsmanship than ornamentation: Scandinavian, mission, Arts & Crafts, lodge, prairie, and Shaker.

"The pieces have very basic, contemporary frames," says Tony Moretti, general manager of merchandising. "The colors are vibrant, dark, warm-feeling, and the look can be changed by changing the accessories."

A Native American rug and baskets, for example, can create a Southwestern atmosphere. Moretti explains that the simpler look was popular 10 years ago in the southwestern United States. "The mission look has moved across the country, and it is a style that is not limited. I think it's here to stay," concludes Moretti.

Today's mission look, a revitalization of the mission style of the 1870s, emphasizes angles, sharp lines, and plain surfaces. It was part of a show by the Arts and Crafts Exhibition Society in Boston in 1897. In 1898, the Stickley family opened a company near Syracuse, N.Y. Their "mission" was to change earlier mistakes in decor by stressing honest furniture and craftsmanship. The look later influenced architect Frank Lloyd Wright who urged people to "strip the wood of varnish and let it alone, stain it."

The Stickley Mission Oak and Cherry Collection is available at Westwood Furniture in Westwood. The store's interior designer Kathie Gale points out a cherry table that has no trace of traditional cherry-red stain. "This is natural cherry," she explains. "The wood is lighter than you would expect."

Since the line is simple, you won't find carvings or curlicues on the nine-drawer cherry chest, for example, but you will want to touch details of curly maple and walnut with copper inlays around the drawer knobs. "The mission style combines beautifully with other natural materials like wicker and wrought iron," advises Kathie Gale.

Although the furniture is simple, "the Lodge Look" at Westwood Furniture can be fun. Picture a pine or stone wall with skis or snowshoes in the corner. Add a deep, soft sofa in earth colors — maroon, deep greens, sandy tan — around a fireplace. On the wall is a "kinder, gentler deer head," crafted of burlap with wooden antlers. On a table sit tiny twig chairs and a settee. The floor is warmed by throw rugs with geometric designs.

Today's mission look, a revitalization of the mission style of the 1870s, emphasizes angles, sharp lines, and plain surfaces, such as in this photograph taken at Westwood Furniture.

To ease a possible case of price tag shock for anyone who wants to purchase a piece of this beautifully crafted furniture, a quote by John Ruskin is displayed: "It's unwise to pay too much, but it's unwise to pay too little, too...."

What do you do if you spent the last five years perfecting a country look for your home? You would like a newer, simpler feel, but you're not ready to make a major investment. Gail Van Kleeck has a few suggestions:

■ Reduce the planned clutter of the country look. Simplify your groupings of little things.

■ Since texture adds a heavy feeling, reduce texture in heavy weaves. Use smoother fabrics. Add brass or a mirror for glitter. (Frank Lloyd Wright liked mirrors that look like windows.)

■ To lighten up the look of a room, add a glass-topped table and other light-reflective surfaces.

SIMPLE COMFORT

Trends show return to simplicity, classics

By Beryl Jupiter
HARTE-HANKS CORRESPONDENT

Simplicity, longevity and comfort are key ingredients in today's recipes for interior decorating.

Local decorators agree that the clutter and opulence of 1980s' design is being replaced with a return to simplicity and classics.

And for some people, the long snowy winter and rainy spring has provided an impetus to refurbish the indoor living space in which they have been closeted at length.

Whether due to climate, the economy or personal choice, people are spending more time in their living space. They want their homes to be comfortable for their use and to reflect their personalities, observes interior decorator Laura Heintz of Heintz Designs of Weston.

"Because the world is confusing, people are looking for a respite in their homes," notes Heintz, who acknowledges that "good design represents an investment." With decor being changed less often, people decorate spaces to last in classic styles.

Rather than jarring colors, busy patterns and lots of doo-dads, decorating trends are veering toward more neutrals, textures and tone on tone designs, says Heintz.

Whether due to climate, the economy or personal choice, people are spending more time in their living space. They want their homes to be comfortable for their use and to reflect their personalities, observes interior decorator Laura Heintz of Heintz Designs of Weston.

Heintz recently worked with a client to redecorate a living room for more regular family use and comfort, rather than to be used as a showpiece. A monochromatic look produced a "seasonless" effect, while a large tufted ottoman was introduced for use as either a footrest or coffee table substitute, as the need arises.

"A resurgence of clean, simple elegance with less color and fewer layers of fabric and print" is the direction interior decorator Cheryl Chernack of A Second Opinion of Natick has observed.

The move towards classics includes both furniture and fabric design, exemplified by columnar legs on a table or a Greek key pattern in fabric and wall covering designs, notes Chernack.

Rather than apply intricate layers of decor, clients are more likely to highlight a few interesting pieces of furniture or special accessories, she says. Distinctive furnishings can be found in a wide range of materials, such as metals, granite, marble or glass. Unique hand-painted items can be whimsical or reflect a color theme of the room, she added.

The use of American-made craft furniture and accessories, according to Chernack, is increasing. IN the Home Furnishing Store of Natick has been stocking log-style furniture items directly from manufacturers in Wyoming.

"One step from southwestern, the lodge look is a current decorating theme," observes Earl Greenwood, sales associate at IN the Home, which is also carrying the frontier-style pieces of established furniture manufacturing companies.

Marketing their line as "Big Sky Country," Lane Furniture offers a collection of western-inspired furniture of rugged and functional features. Furniture construction includes prairie pine solids and finishes, veneers with physical distressing and rod iron bases.

Windows bring new vision to remodeling

During the next five years, more than 42 million baby boomers plan to remodel their homes. This isn't surprising, considering the number of aging houses and increasing number of homeowners.

Anyone currently mulling the costs of remodeling or upgrading a home for future resale may wonder what amenities pay back the investment. Here are a few facts to consider.

According to "Builder" magazine, among the most desirable amenities in new homes will be bigger kitchens with extensive counter space, more cabinets, built-in microwaves, walk-in pantries, double sinks, central islands and large windows or skylights for natural lighting. In addition, more than 30 percent of the individuals who are in the home market searching for a domicile with more space, would be willing to pay extra for homes which include sunrooms.

Kristen Gillespie, sales/marketing assistant, Pella Window Store, says it's not surprising that sunrooms, large windows or skylights are adding value to aging homes.

Windows brighten a room and can be a fairly inexpensive way of remodeling, such as those above by The Pella Window Store.

Windows can also inexpensively enhance the beauty of other areas within a house. For example, if someone is searching for ways to increase the usable space in a house — windows can play a key role in converting an under-used room like a basement or attic into a space that is much more comfortable and pleasant.

Remodeling old houses without destroying their character

The Jackson Homestead, will offer a special lecture in celebration of Preservation Month on Thursday, May 13. George Stephen, noted architect and author, will speak on renovating older homes without destroying their integrity.

George Stephen, a Newton resident for the past 35 years, was born and educated in Scotland and has practiced architecture on both sides of the Atlantic. He is the recipient of several architectural awards. Now North Atlantic regional architect for the National Park Service, he served as director of rehabilitation design for the Boston Redevelopment Authority from 1963 until 1974.

Stephen is the author of many books and articles on architectural preservation including "New Life for Old Houses," published by the Preservation Press in 1989. He coauthored Bob Vila's "This Old House" for Public Television.

The Jackson Homestead, at 527 Washington St., is the Museum of the City of Newton. In the Children's Gallery, see an exhibition on Newton's past. Of special interest is the Abolition Room, once a stop on the Underground Railroad.

On exhibition through May is Twentieth-Century Newtonville, which contains some extraordinary photographs of Newtonville, including the construction of the Turnpike and of the Star Market over the Turnpike, an aerial view of the village from 1934 and a slide show of the demolition of Newton High School and the construction of Newton North High School. This exhibition is part of the Twentieth-Century Time Capsule Newtonville project which is funded in part by Bank of Boston; Bramson Associates; John T, Burns Insurance Company; Century 21 Garden City Homes; Continental Cablevision; Forman, Itzkowitz, Berenson & LaGreca, PC; Newton Arts Center; The Newton Graphic and The TAB Newspapers.

On Sundays, The Jackson Homestead is open 2 to 5 p.m. Tours are offered Monday through Thursday, 1 to 5 p.m., and at other times by appointment.

In honor of Museum Goers Month, this event is offered free of charge. The lecture will begin at 7:30 p.m., at The Jackson Homestead. Generally admission is $2 for adults, with a 50 percent discount for seniors, children and WGBH members, and no charge for members of the Newton Historical Society.

The 1990s mark a return to simple, classic designs. The use of American-made craft furniture and accessories is increasing. IN the Home Furnishing Store of Natick has been stocking log-style furniture items directly from manufacturers in Wyoming, pictured above.

SIMPLE CLASSICS

SIMPLE, FROM 4

Similarly, the Cabin Creek of the Hickory-Frye Company is a line of furniture influenced by a rustic atmosphere and the natural environment. Mellow woods and leathers create a relaxed style reminiscent of America's past.

Iron accessories are available to complement the lodge look, notes Greenwood. At IN the Home, you can find a lamp adorned with metal lizards or a metal-based cocktail table decorated with a perimeter ring of rod iron horses.

The move towards classics includes both furniture and fabric design, exemplified by columnar legs on a table or a Greek key pattern in fabric and wall covering designs.

The Antigua seating collection from Pier I Imports strikes a graceful balance between fluid lines and woven textures. Solid wrought iron frames are welded for strength and given a deep green finish Wicker surfaces are all handwoven, and leg bottoms are fitted with guides to protect floors. The set is shown with Meadowbrook pads, which are sold separately.

Wicker winds its way throughout the home

By Virginia Lucier
HARTE-HANKS STAFF WRITER

Pricey as well as inexpensive wicker has become very fashionable in the past 10 years, and even more so in the past five years.

One reason, according to Lee Taylor, manager of Pier I Imports in Framingham, is that there has been an increase of eclectic furniture styles.

"People are utilizing wicker in situations where they would never use it before. Rather than on the screened porch or in the recreation room, we are now seeing it in the solarium, hot tub room, and it is coming into the living room.

Wicker is a category of anything woven from a natural product, and rattan is a vine that grows wild in the Asian forest. Smaller vines are woven to what we think of as wicker and the base, which is thicker, is used to create the structure of any piece.

Although some is manufactured in the United States, Pier I carries wicker from China.

One of their hottest groupings is the combination of metal and wicker. Some pieces are mixed with rattan.

Taylor, who has been here since 1975, explained, "there has been a tremendous amount of change in the product line over the past five years. We are seeing it in high-ticket items, where the quality is much better."

Major difference is that less expensive pieces use a lower quality of rattan and that makes them rough. They are not finished like the others. In addition, they are small and don't allow you to lounge or lean back.

The degree of comfort is often based on price. More expensive pieces have a better feel. A full suspension system will add to the comfort compared to a hard seat. The better the cushion, the more comfort.

Wicker is a category of anything woven from a natural product, and rattan is a vine that grows wild in the Asian forest. Smaller vines are woven to what we think of as wicker and the base, which is thicker, is used to create the structure of any piece.

At one time about 10-20 percent of the wicker was used for accessorizing, unless you were a college student, but now, Pier I does about 70-80 percent of accessorizing. That includes picture frames, tables, setees, dining tables, chairs and mirrors.

Wicker is now moving to the living room and bedroom. Pier I Imports is showing several lines of bedroom furniture, including wicker headboards, bureaus and mirrors. They come in white, honey-stained and in pastels with floral additions.

"It's not just the natural or white," said Taylor. "Wicker comes in a whole myriad of colors and stains. We carry big pads in a variety of styles and patterns and they fit all chairs. The chairs range in price, from $79.99 up to $350 with cushions."

Although the shop still considers itself mass merchandisers, they now put the furniture together to show the many ways it can be used in the home.

The styles, according to Taylor, cut through to all sectors of the population. "It's not how much money you have, but the creative approach to the way you decorate your home."

Space Savers

Waging a battle against your over-stuffed closet

By James Harder
HARTE-HANKS STAFF WRITER

If your closet looks like a battlefield, you might want to consider some closet organizers that will help you use the space more efficiently.

According to home design specialists, there are a number of devices that can be used to organize a closet or storage space. It could be as simple as a shoe rack or something more involved, such as rebuilding the entire closet.

For the apartment dwellers or homeowners who are serious about organizing their closets, Closettec off Route 1 in Norwood offers a number of options.

David Rogers, owner of the store, says homeowners, and especially apartment dwellers, can maximize the use of their space by organizing their closet and storage areas.

To install a new closet system for an eight foot space, Rogers says the cost is between $400 to $500. This includes free consultation, design and installation of the system.

This kind of system is built into a closet or storage space and includes moveable rods and shelves, removable baskets mounted on drawer slides, fully lined drawers, tie and belt racks and velvet-lined jewelry drawers.

Some other options include sliding shelves, wall vaults, pullout ironing boards and mirrored doors.

If you don't want to redesign your entire closet, there are also a number of space-saving devices that you can install on your own.

At Crate and Barrel on Brattle Street in Cambridge, store manager Sue Churchill said the devices are inexpensive and will help organize closet and storage space.

For shoes, there are small hanging shelves or shoe bags that sell for about $16. You can put shoes or articles of clothing in these, Churchill said. The shelves are made of canvas and plastic.

There are also wider hanging shelves, which sell for about $24, that can fit larger clothing items.

Instead of hanging shelves, there are also rods that sell for about $10 that can be installed to give your closet more space, she said.

Churchill also said Crate and Barrel sells separate six-foot storage units that have about 10 different spaces.

If the space under your bed is as messy as your closet, you could also get a storage unit that fits under the bed. It's about six inches deep, two feet wide and four feet deep.

"If you keep things under the bed, this is a good way to keep them clean," she said.

A Star-Spangled Investment

For 50 years U.S. Savings Bonds have been a star-spangled investment, as traditional as the Fourth of July, and a sure way to build for financial independence. The Series EE U.S. Savings Bond now pays market-based interest rates and is guaranteed by the U.S. Government against loss, theft, and destruction. Bond interest earnings are exempt from state and local income taxes, and the federal income tax liability on earnings can be deferred. Since January 1990 Bonds purchased and redeemed to pay education expenses can be totally tax-exempt (income limitations and certain registration requirements apply to the Education Bond Program).

ELISA KRONISH PHOTO

Jonathan Migdol, co-owner of Bellini Baby and Teen Furniture in Newton, pictured above, says, "The philosophy behind our furniture is that the furniture stays in (a child's) room; rather than having to redo a room, the furniture can still be utilized."

GROWING UP

Baby furniture can grow with your child

By Elisa Kronish
HARTE-HANKS CORRESPONDENT

Entering a children's furniture store, one is struck by a carnival of colors from the stimulating hanging mobiles at eye level to the miniature rocking chairs.

Such a place evokes memories of a time when a baby's chair was just your size.

Times have changed slightly, though, and traditional baby furniture has been replaced by pieces that can change with the child.

Jonathan Migdol, co-owner of Bellini Baby and Teen Furniture in Newton, says, "The philosophy behind our furniture is that the furniture stays in their room; rather than having to redo a room, the furniture can still be utilized."

Susan Black owner of Periwinkles Inc. in Wellesley defends the popularity of an armoire over a dresser because of its versatility. "It evolves with your baby" as a storage compartment for diapers, toys, and then the common bulky clothes of a teenager which "kids can more easily put on shelves than trying to stuff into drawers."

Children's furniture experts agree that the bare essentials for making a bare room into a baby's room consist of a crib and a changing surface. "You spend a lot of time at the changing table," says Migdol.

Therefore, the type of changing surface you choose is important. Again, modern variations offer a way to convert them from strict diaper duty into something more mature. For example, at Baby Specialties in Natick, Lynn Glick sells a chest and table combination, "a kit that includes a changing surface that you put right on top of a dresser." Besides saving space, the dresser stands on its own merits

GROWING UP

Baby furniture can grow with your child

GROWING, FROM 12
after baby grows up.

Migdol extols the benefits of their popular changing surface because "down the road it converts into a bookcase" with no embarrassing evidence of its former purpose. Migdol prefers this particular changing table as it also "allows you to change your baby in the right direction."

Cribs can undergo a similarly welcome conversion. Once upon a time, a piece of furniture inevitably thrown or given away, Migdol explains that cribs also can "grow with your child." The converted crib fills the transition time between a crib and a big bed.

As Susan Black says, "When your child can crawl over the side of the crib, converting it to some variety of use-bed facilitates that without needing a big bed yet."

Beyond the crucial components, decorating your baby's room with personal style allows for flexibility. At Periwinkles, customers come for their hand-painted furniture. From florals to circus scenes, the artists create a world which "stimulates children and their imagination," says Black, who feels that "kids see much more of the detail than the adult."

Baby Specialties, a discount retailer, stocks a wide assortment of "everything from starting furniture to queen size beds."

The common theme among retailers and wholesalers is longevity, both in quality and use. Lynn Glick said it best, "We're not just selling disposable pieces."

Patio Pleasures

Homeowners going back to basics with outdoor furniture

By John Moroney
HARTE-HANKS STAFF WRITER

That's Irish and stays out all summer? Patio furniture.

You don't have to know the punch line to the best-known patio furniture joke to understand the hottest trends in outdoor furnishings are headed back to the future.

"We're seeing a trend back towards traditional styles and looks," said Joseph Kelliher, manager of Westwood Furniture in Dedham. "People are returning to the basics because it gives them a sense of safety and security. It reminds them of the furniture at their grandmother's house."

Wicker furnishings are making a particularly strong comeback, according to Kelliher, who says the modern age of wicker has resulted in stronger and more durable products.

"It costs a little extra, but you can put (updated wicker furnishing) on a screened-in porch where they can occasionally get wet," he said.

Craig Fulnoe of Recreation World in Natick said old-fashioned wrought-iron furniture is popular with his customers.

Teak furniture will last a lifetime. Look for teak that is plantation grown.

"It's a classic and enduring look that offers a lifetime of service," he said. "It's back to the whole trend of getting some substance for the dollar."

Other reliable standbys in outdoor furnishing include hardwoods, alu-

LUXURIOUS LAWNS

Make the grass greener on your side of the fence

By Amy Koulouris
HARTE-HANKS CORRESPONDENT

With the weather getting warmer and the last snow mounds melting away, it's time to think green again — the color of healthy lawns and trees.

But lush green lawns won't be found emerging from under sheets of snow. They must be fed, trimmed and pruned, and maintained.

"This winter, there was a lot of damage to the edges (of lawns) from snow plows," said Walter Mulcahy, manager of Ogilvie's, a hardware/home and garden store in Weston. "The snow was wetter and soggier. There was a lot of abuse and tree damage." Most of this damage was caused by the heavy snow which broke tree branches. Knocking snow from tree limbs after a storm can save branches, he said.

To remedy yellow patches on your lawn, rake the area thoroughly to clean it of debris. "This also helps fertilizer and anything else that is put down, be more readily absorbed by the roots," Mulcahy said.

After raking, overseed, lightly spreading seed over the entire lawn, then apply a starter fertilizer (regular fertilizer may burn the seed). The backs of seed packages may say the grass will begin growing seven days after it's put down, but it won't grow until about a week after the night temperature is at 50 degrees Fahrenheit or above.

The backs of seed packages may say the grass will begin growing seven days after it's put down, but it won't grow until about a week after the night temperature is at 50 degrees Fahrenheit or above, Mulcahy said.

Another lawn problem homeowners may encounter is fungus caused by snow mold, according to Fredrick Labanara, owner of Labanara Landscape and Construction Inc. of Belmont. "Use a broadcast spreader to distribute a fungicide," he advised. The fungus will appear as a gold patch, Labanara said. He suggests putting down the fungicide very soon and to continue applying it every 21 days until about mid-May.

For crab grass, a common landscaping pest, Labanara and Mulcahy both advised using a "pre-emergent" to prevent it from growing.

"You must treat the whole lawn. It's very difficult to get rid of once it's grown, so, before it does, put down a fertilizer and crab grass pre-emerminum and resin accessories that stand up to the often fickle New England weather. Less-expensive patio furniture is available at most department stores and can meet most summer needs.

But Kelliher and Fulnoe said bargain hunters should be carefully when shopping for patio furniture, suggesting that shoppers look for those products that offer warranties or guarantees.

Kelliher said Westwood Furniture offers four Telescope chairs and a table starting at $499 with a 15-year warranty. A customer could buy a similar table set for $299 at a discount shop, but Kelliher said the furniture would probably have to replaced.

Fulnoe agreed. "You get what you pay for. ... You can save a few bucks now, but you end up replacing it in three or four years," he said.

Recreation World has published "Casual Decor," a complete guide to creating your own outdoor patio and selecting the right furniture, Fulnoe said. Copies can be obtained by calling or stopping by Recreation World in Natick.

Walter Mulcahy, manager of Ogilvie & Sons in Weston, says outdoor patios and porches are becoming more popular, and can be constructed at a low cost and without much effort.

The sluggish economy has also spurned a number of do-it-yourselfers, who Mulcahy says are building porches and patios themselves and avoiding the costs of contractors.

"A lot of people are building or repairing their own decks," Mulcahy said. "A place like ours can help people plan putting decks together."

gent as soon as you can get out on the lawn without sinking in and damaging it," Mulcahy said.

Ridding a lawn of stubborn dandelions can be done in three ways, Mulcahy said. If there aren't too many, an organic approach may be effective — pulling each dandelion out individually — or treating each weed with a controller. If there is an abundance of them, a controller can be used over the whole yard.

When beautifying their yards, most people water and fertilize their lawns, but don't do the same for their trees and shrubs.

Paul Brackett, a Massachusetts-certified arborist and owner of Paul Brackett Associates, a landscape business in Framingham that specializes in trees and shrubs, compared plant life with human life.

"Plants are just like people — feeding can stave off disease," he said. By taking care of trees and shrubs, they develop a stronger immune system to battle diseases. Some preventative care techniques Brackett suggested include:

■ Mulching trees with wood chips at the base. When the cold weather returns, the mulch will serve as an insulator, helping keep the roots from freezing.

■ During hot spells, check leaves for curling, which indicates dehydration. When curled leaves are spotted, water the tree in the morning or evening (at midday the water will evaporate quickly).

Here, however, we had a lead paint problem on the floors. We decided to install new beechwood floors in the bedrooms, and the bathroom and sauna have ceramic floor tile.

All the wall surfaces are light and all the trim work and floors are wood. All the windows were replaced and all the walls have new insulation. We left the joists exposed in the ceiling and painted them all white, except the new wood beam in the dining area.

Our son's room is furnished along the same principle as the downstairs space. Activities are divided by the ■ Feed trees with a deep-root fertilizer. Landscapers feed deep roots by pumping fertilizer into the soil around the roots. Homeowners can deep feed trees themselves, using spikes around the base of the tree to allow the fertilizer to penetrate down to the roots.

Brackett says the spike method "is better than nothing, but it's not as good as the pumping technique" landscapers use. Also, Brackett said, this feeding "does not need to be done to every tree, just some 'key' trees or ones you're concerned about." He recommends feeding them every two years.

"This winter, the rhododendrons have really taken a beating," Brackett commented. Concerned gardeners have been asking him about the shrubs since they have been shedding a lot of foliage. "One of the worst things to do is to cut the branches. Wait. They'll defoliate ... They may not be as pretty blossoming this year, but they'll come back," Brackett assures.

Mulcahy, Labanara and Brackett all use pesticides to control lawn pests, and Mulcahy and Brackett offer safer organic controllers (although Mulcahy admitted they are more expensive, labor-intensive and not as effective). "Most people overuse and misuse (pesticides). Used conservatively, they can be safe and beneficial," Mulcahy said. Pesticides should never be used near a water supply, he emphasized. Brackett added that a state license is necessary to spray pesticides.

Spring fling

Now's the time to start spreading some seeds

By E.H. Stockstill
HARTE-HANKS STAFF WRITER

With spring now here and green thumbs and green horns alike beginning to plant ideas of warm-weather shrubs, flowers and other vegetation, experts say now is an ideal time to pick up a hoe and start spreading some seeds in the yard, either as a hobby or as an around-the-yard chore.

Starting any type of garden or flower bed is a project that requires a lot of careful organization and some common sense more than an advanced degree in horticulture.

With spring now here and green thumbs and green horns alike beginning to plant ideas of warm-weather shrubs, flowers and other vegetation, experts say now is an ideal time to pick up a hoe and start spreading some seeds in the yard, either as a hobby or as an around-the-yard chore.

"It's an excellent time" to start a garden, said Betsy Johnson, a retail manager at Russell Garden Centers in Wayland.

Here are several basic elements to be considered when "cultivating your garden" this spring:

■ Properly tilled soil. Soil should be tilled to about a 10-inch depth, said Robert Seltzer of Seltzer's Garden City in Newton. That allows sufficient room for plant growth and gives the gardener sufficient workable earth. Soil should also be "worked" right before planting begins, Johnson said. Otherwise, "if you work the soil to early, you can compact it and it can become difficult as cement to work," particularly during a rainy stretch of weather.

■ Soil enriching organics. Peat moss, leaf mold and cow manure all can be used to enrich soil for planting. "If you're going to plant a garden, you need to make sure your soil is good soil," said Johnson. Lime may also be used to lower the Ph level in highly acidic soils, while bonemeal often helps when working with blooming plants, Johnson said.

Bonemeal buyers beware, though: if there are dogs roaming around an area, chances are a curious canine will dig up a yard in search of a treat.

"They will, but the dog has got to be active," said Ernie Whitcomb, a supervisor at Mahoney's Garden Centers in Winchester. The scent of bonemeal — crushed bone — often attracts dogs if not buried deeply in the soil.

■ Proper spacing of plants. This is particularly important, Johnson said, so that individual plants have enough room to grow and flourish. "You've got to make sure you have enough space, because you don't want weed competition," Johnson said. There should be anywhere from 6 to 12 inches between plants, depending on the variety, she said.

■ Plant groupings. "You've never seen a picture of a beautiful garden without seeing masses of the same type of plant," said Seltzer. "For best results, group the same colors and the same varieties. It's always a much more effective site."

Johnson agreed and said plants may also be grouped according to their shading and watering needs. "It's nice to have a lot of different plants. But in a border, it's good to limit it and not have too much of a hodge podge."

■ Control of disease. According to Johnson, pesticides and fungicides are not being used as much as they once were, due to environmental safety concerns. As a result, she said, "disease resistant" plants have become more popular and represent an alternative for the budding gardener. But, said Seltzer, chemicals still can be used, especially during moist growing seasons, to combat disease.

Johnson also said its important for a new gardener to observe early successes, and learn from them.

"Take note of any plants that are doing well already. That's going to give you clue as to which plants are going to be successfully," she said.

Helpful hints to freshen up your fabrics

By Rosemary Sadez Friedmann
SCRIPPS HOWARD NEWS SERVICE

With spring upon us, some hearts turn to love. Others turn to spring cleaning.

Love, I'll leave up to you. This is about cleaning; fabric to be exact.

Delicate fabrics require special care in cleaning and should be attended to by a professional. Haitian cotton, brocade and chintz are in the delicate category, along with velvet, wool, silk and hand painted fabrics.

I hear you asking "How much will it cost for a professional to do it?" My answer is "Very little compared to replacing the furniture if you ruin it by doing it yourself."

The price will vary according to the amount of soil and time involved with the job, but the range is from about $80 to $125 for a standard-sized sofa.

If you really want to attempt it yourself, be gentle. Use a product that is recommended by the manufacturer and always test an inconspicuous area first.

In cleaning Haitian cotton, you must be careful not to turn the fabric brown. This happens easily: The fibers in these fabrics contain bits of colored cotton seeds and possibly some stems that will bleed or turn brown when exposed to an alkaline cleaner or too much moisture. Wool and silk contain particles in the fabric that have a tendency to turn brown under these same circumstances.

Brocades must be tested for colorfastness. The deep, bright colors will almost always bleed so be careful. A low-moisture or drycleaning agent should work best. If using moisture at all, quicken the drying time by using a fan or hair blow dryer.

Before attempting to clean velvet, check for any texture changes or matting in the fabric. A soft brush will often perk up the matted areas, though in some cases the velvet is permanently flat. Always avoid excessive abrasion: You can easily damage the pile of velvet.

After the pile is uniform, you can start cleaning. Here again, if you are using a cleaner that is not dry, use the quick-drying ideas described above.

Chintz is cotton that has been polished to give that glazed look. This glaze might wash off during cleaning and sometimes just from use. The manufacturer should be able to provide you with cleaning instructions. Once the glaze is off, there's nothing you can add to re-glaze.

I certainly wouldn't attempt to clean a hand painted fabric. Without knowing the painting methods the artist used, and with the delicacy of the product, there is no general rule for cleaning. You should consult the advice of the artist or, if he is not available, leave it to a professional.

Generally safe products for delicate fabrics include using detergents that are low in ph (between 5 to 8 pH) and low-moisture (maximum 10 percent moisture) cleaning products. And as usual, look for biodegradable and non-toxic cleaners and, above all, check with the manufacturer of the fabric before you do anything.

Determining the value of old grandfather clocks

By Rosemary Sadez Friedman
SCRIPPS HOWARD NEWS SERVICE

Here's a trivia question for you. What was the original name of the grandfather clock?

Give up? Back in the 17th century, it was called a case clock. Not until 1875, when a song titled "my grandfather clock" became popular, did the current name take over.

Here's another tricky question. What is different about the Roman numeral VI on all but the most recent grandfather clocks? Give up again? It is placed upside down. On all the Roman numerals, the bottom of the numeral always faces in toward the center – that is if its an authentic grandfather clock, or at least an authentic reproduction.

Okay, just one more question. How was the number '4' depicted on the face of the clock? Today we know it is the roman numeral IV, but back before 1850 it was printed as IIII.

All these answers can help you establish whether the grandfather you have is authentic.

Old clocks are becoming increasingly valuable. And that value has caused a whole new cottage industry – manufacturing fakes – to spring up. Here are some other tips that might help you in judging value:

In 1802 Simon Willard made a clock that resembled a banjo. Because if its shape, it has always been known as the banjo clock.

But not all banjo clocks with the name Simon Willard on it are the real McCoy because there have been many fakes made. If you have a signed Willard banjo clock, better have it checked by a professional to determine its authenticity.

Old clocks are becoming increasingly valuable. And that value has caused a whole new cottage industry – manufacturing fakes – to spring up.

The largest cuckoo clock in the world is in Amish country in Ohio, but the original cuckoo clocks were made in Switzerland and Bavaria in 1730. And there really is a 'hickory dickory dock' clock where a mouse indicates the time – it's not just a nursery rhyme.

Have you ever heard of a wag-on-the-wall clock? The weight and pendulum dangle and wag un-encased from the clock, hence they "wag-on-the-wall." There are many of these clocks made even today, though their original name is no longer popular.

Very old watches came with a paper found inside the back of the watch and it was an ad for the clockmaker or the repairman. Sometimes these papers are as valuable as the watch itself. The papers were engraved, printed, lithographed or hand written and furnished most of the history of the watch industry in America.

The name Elgin is still a popular one in watches today. If you happen to have an Elgin watch that is numbered, you might have one of value. If the number is below one thousand, you have a real treasure.

We've all heard of the sundial, but did you know that as early as the 13th century people carried pocket sundials? The pocket version was used primarily by travelers and was set with the aid of a compass.

Foolproof tips for painting your home

By Barbara Mayer
FOR AP SPECIAL EDITION

Because it's relatively foolproof, one of the more popular do-it-yourself home remodeling chores is painting the exterior of the house.

Robert J. Sheerin, chief chemist for Benjamin Moore & Co., offers these tips for a good paint job:

– Start by walking around the house and noting problem areas, such as peeling paint, mildew spores or dirt buildup.

– Clean and prepare the surfaces. Scrape peeling paint, remove and kill mildew with a solution of household bleach and soapy water, and hose down excess dirt. Spray the house under the eaves with a garden hose to wash away any accumulated salts. If the house is unusually grimy, consider having it professionally power-washed.

– Select the paint type. Ask a paint dealer familiar with local conditions to recommend whether it's best to use alkyd paint (oil-based, which cleans up with mineral spirits) or latex paint (the kind that cleans up with soap and water).

"Latex paint dries fast, so you can get done fast. It cleans up with water, and goes on easily," summarizes Sheerin. "It has good color retention and is blister resistant because it allows water to go through it. You can use it for brick and masonry foundations because it is resistant to alkalines."

The advantages of an oil-base house paint, he says, are that it penetrates surfaces and covers better than latex, is more water repellent, and comes in glossier finishes. You can apply it in both colder and hotter weather.

By using an alkyd primer and a latex top coat, so you get the advantages of alkyd's better coverage and of latex's better resistance to the sun's ultraviolet rays, he says.

– Follow the application directions found on the paint can about surface preparation. Don't paint if the temperature is above or below the limits indicated on the label. If the weather has been wet, allow enough time for shaded areas to dry sufficiently before applying the first coat. When using an alkyd primer, be sure it dries overnight before you proceed to the top coat.

A paint dealer familiar with local conditions can help you solve special application problems such as excessive peeling – which indicates moisture buildup on the inside – or severe cracking, called alligatoring. Additional expertise is also available through dealers who have access to technical assistance from paint companies.

Exterior latex paint, the breakthrough of the 1960s, was the result of a search for a do-it-yourself paint that would be easier to apply and clean up. Now paint laboratories are trying to come up with ways of eliminating the tackiness of latex surfaces in humidity – a condition that causes doors and windows to stick in damp weather. Also being developed is a latex paint that more closely approximates the depth and velvety coverage which alkyds impart.

The focus is on latex paints because the volatile organic compounds (VOC) emitted by alkyds are a danger to the environment, and government standards call for lowering them, says Sheerin.

One well-established method of getting latex to behave more like alkyd has been to mix a small amount of emulsified alkyd into a can of latex paint. Moore currently is test marketing in California a paint that combines a water-soluble alkyd and latex paint with a quantity of emulsified alkyd, which the company claims offers better resistance to tackiness on indoor surfaces and good adhesion to surfaces outdoors, especially on chalky surfaces.

However, a better solution in terms of chemistry would be to formulate a 100 percent latex paint to do the same job, according to the chemist.

A touch of art

Experts offer simple advice: buy what you like

By Stephen Olivieri
HARTE-HANKS STAFF WRITER

Art experts offer a simple piece of advice which may seem obvious, but they say is often ignored: when buying art, buy something you like.

"Buy something you want to look at for the rest of your life, not something that goes with the couch or the curtains," said Peter Mitchell, manager of Chesboro-Mitchell Fine Art in Newton.

Purchasing a painting or a sculpture that goes well with the decor is helpful, but if that is the only reason for buying a piece of art, people will eventually become bored with it, dealers say. They advise buyers to keep in mind a long-term commitment when buying art, especially when tempted to purchase trendy objects.

All the art dealers interviewed said that any good art store will be willing to give ample assistance to the first-time buyer. Susan Mccarthy, gallery director of Artique Gallery in Framingham, said her customers are encouraged to browse and talk to salespeople about their particular tastes.

Purchasing a painting or a sculpture that goes well with the decor is helpful, but if that is the only reason for buying a piece of art, people will eventually become bored with it, dealers say. They advise buyers to keep in mind a long-term commitment when buying art, especially when tempted to purchase trendy objects.

McCarthy said that art buyers can come into her store with a swatch from a couch or wallpaper to match up with a piece of art. However, she also states that there is more to selecting a piece of art for a house or apartment than matching it with the sofa.

Often people come to Artique Gallery with only a title or a description of a painting they have seen before and the staff will try to locate the work.

McCarthy said that first-time art buyers often become repeat customers. "There is an immediate gratification in a first piece of art," said McCarthy. "It changes the whole look of a room. It becomes an addiction. When you're successful with one piece you envision another piece."

McCarthy says there is no typical art buyer. She says the location of her shop, which has been in the Framingham Mall for 10 years, helps her sell art to a wide-spectrum of people.

"We sell art work to a wide diversity of people," said McCarthy. "It is an inviting place, it is not intimidating or pretentious. It's not like stepping into a shop on Newbury Street."

McCarthy says that contemporary art is popular with customers these days. She said native American sculptures and pottery are two of the favorites among art buyers.

"We really have an eclectic collection, but we lean more toward contemporary," said McCarthy.

McCarthy said that sculptures of children are always good sellers. Also sculptures with a husband and wife or with a theme of love are popular for wedding gifts.

McCarthy also confessed that, although Artique no longer carries it, she gets "requests almost weekly" for the painting of dogs playing poker.

Mitchell, whose Chesboro-Mitchell Fine Art sells wholesale to galleries and preferred customers, said his most popular item is traditional New England art, which he calls "boats and barns" art.

Winchester resident Carolyn DeMita, of Waterfield Studio sells art, but it is not sculptures or paintings, but rugs. Demita's homemade rugs, which she designs, might come decorated with a dog, a chess board, an angel or a swan.

The personal touch is important with DeMita, whose business is not quite a year old, She custom-make rugs personalized with names or dates. Although many of her rugs are pre-designed, she can brainstorm with customers for different designs, colors or patterns.

DeMita says that dogs are enormously popular rug designs. DeMita began producing rugs with a golden retriever on them, but now she is making rugs with several different breeds, some based on photos of dogs brought in by the owners.

Repotting may be the answer for the indoor plant 'blahs'

By Dale Langford
SCRIPPS HOWARD NEWS SERVICE

Care of your long-term houseplants centers around a realistic understanding of the factors of growth and light.

By the time spring rolls around a goodly number of houseplants can have had a bad case of the winter blahs. But that doesn't necessarily mean the plants are on their last legs.

Obviously, natural light is less intense and not available for nearly as many hours during the winter. Less light means a slowdown in growth.

Too many plant-owners try to force-feed the plants back to health.

More problems are caused by overfeeding than under feeding. Many plant-owners immediately decide a good shot of plant food will cure the problem. The truth is, any plant "off its feed" needs proper rest and recuperation, not a stimulus from foods that simply add to the stress level.

Instead, look for the real problem. It might be soil that has soured from lack of drainage or soil full of excess salts from overfeeding. Both these conditions can kill or damage roots.

Correct this problem by repotting. Don't use a pot more than 1/2 to 1 inch larger in diameter than the current one. Both foliage and flowering plants do best when slightly pot bound. If moved to a much larger pot, the plant tends to overgrow and you lose the symmetry and compactness desired in most houseplants.

Select your planting medium carefully. The soil should include materials that absorb and hold water, yet let any excess pass out of the pot. This entails a soil mix with some organic water such as sphagnum peat moss, vermiculite, perlite or some of each. Many of the commercial mixes sold by garden outlets fit this need, although I usually add a cup of sand to each gallon of prepared soil for weight and to help reduce packing.

While moving the plant from one pot to another, shake the root ball to remove some of the old soil. Let the plant dry out a little before repotting.

If the roots have grown in spirals, break them loose and do some pruning. If they're too tightly bound, make some vertical cuts a couple of inches apart and 1/4-inch deep into the ball. Such treatment will stimulate the start of new root growth.

One easy way to read water needs is to get, and stay, familiar with your individual plant's needs. Don't just dump water on all the plants on a set day. Needs vary – less in winter and more in summer – and one way to determine dryness is to lift the smaller pots. One soon gets the feel by weight as to how dry the plant is.

Pane-ful decisions

Selecting a window style to suit your needs

By Decorating
FOR THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

For consumers in the market for new windows, today's outlook is good. Homeowners are seeing a new perspective in window design – from prairie styles reminiscent of Frank Lloyd Wright to glass panes that bend around corners.

Classic double-hung windows are still widely available, however, as are French doors, casements, and a myriad of other styles, reports Better Homes and Gardens Decorating magazine.

Whatever the size and shape selected, the window will let in light and, in most cases, air. Beyond that, however, consumers will want to choose a window that is in keeping with the home's architectural style, be it colonial, contemporary, or something in between.

The amount of light any type of window will admit depends primarily on its size, though the shape and location of a window do make a difference, too.

Before buying a new window, the following factors should also be considered.

First, the amount of air a window brings in may be important. Casement windows, for example, swing out to catch breezes that might otherwise pass by.

The amount of light any type of window will admit depends primarily on its size, though the shape and location of a window do make a difference, too. For example, a horizontal window placed high on a wall will most likely provide more light than the same window turned vertically.

Ease of cleaning is also a consideration, especially for people who have a two-story house or windows that are hard to reach. Even if location isn't a factor, a multi-pane window is more difficult to clean than one large sheet of glass. Likewise, a reversible or removable sash that can be washed conveniently from the inside makes it easier to keep windows sparkling.

(Decorating is a Meredith Magazine.)

HOME help

Gardening books offer helpful hints

By Associated Press

"American Border Gardens" (Clarkson Potter) by Melanie Fleischmann, with photographs by Karen Halverson, tours some of the prettiest spots in the country, such as the Old Westbury and Blithewold public gardens and personal gardens created by individuals.

Reading about the garden is almost as rewarding as the garden itself. A selection of what's in the bookstores:

– "The brain is fully infused with some plant or other, and for several days – sometimes as long as six weeks – the mind goes in only one gardening channel. There is no point phoning some gardening friend to talk about daffodils if he happens to be in a dahlia mode. It will pass, and he'll phone to talk about daffodils, but by that time you will be in your peony period." Washingtonians have for years enjoyed the garden wit of Henry Mitchell of the Washington Post, here talking about garden obsessions. "One Man's Garden" (Houghton-Mifflin) is a collection of his best columns.

– George Ordish, and English entomologist, sets out the history of a garden at Bartons End in Kent that's over 400 years old in "The Living Garden" (Houghton-Mifflin). Plenty has been going on since its beginnings from 1556, when it was just a doorstep patch of medicinal herbs. Ordish tells about the people who lived at this farm and the evolution of its garden, enveloping the story with a naturalist's observations about plant and insect life. Remembering Wordsworth's lines, "Through primrose tufts in that green bower...The periwinkle trailed its wreathes," Ordish reminds the reader that the periwinkle was depriving the primrose of light, and that "the pretty trails winding through the leaves and flowers were trying to throttle them."

– A pair of softcover garden "recipe" books that also are handsome to look at are "Beautiful Bulbs" and "Little Herb Gardens" (Chronicle Books), both by Georgeanne Brennan and Mimi Luebbermann, with photography by Faith Echtermeyer. The herb book gives instructions on ways to grow the plants indoors and out and offers suggestions about their culinary use. In the book on bulbs, The authors outline plans to keep flowers blooming year round.

– Cassandra Danz is a comedian who also is a gardener, with a local call-in radio show in Hudson, N.Y., called Mrs. Greenthumbs. Now she's in print, with "Mrs. Greenthumbs: How I Turned a Boring Yard into a Glorious Garden and How You Can, Too" (Crown).

– What to do with the fruits of your harvest? Some ideas in "Gifts from Your Garden" (Prentice Hall) by Suzanne Frutig Bales. Arranged seasonally, Bales suggests gifts to make, including small posies and plants to take to friends, edible flowers in ice cubes, herb-flavored vinegars, bath sachets, holiday wreaths, and more.

– "A Roomful of Flowers" (Abrams) by floral designer Paul Bott suggests ways to integrate flowers, plants, and fruit into decorating schemes.

– How to nurture annuals through thick and thin and cold and heat is covered in "Annuals for Connoisseurs" (Prentice Hall) by Wayne Winterrowd. The author lists favorites and less obvious beauties like Iceland poppy, Nicotiana langsdorfii (a flower with green petals), bells of Ireland, and canary-bird flower. Despite their one-season stands, many can have long flowering if you know how to keep them going, the author says.

– The Burpee Expert Gardener series new from Prentice Hall opens with "Charles Cresson on the American Flower Garden," and "Alan Armitage on Perennials," with comprehensive advice from these specialists.

– New titles from Houghton-Mifflin's Taylor's Guide series include "Specialty Nurseries" by Barbara J. Barton, "Natural Gardening," and "Gardening in the South." All have source lists along with gardening advice.

– Indoor gardeners who covet one of the most popular exotics can learn how to grow from scratch with "Orchids Simplified" (Chapters Publishing, Shelburne, Vt.) by Henry Jaworski. Orchids are really easy to grow, he says, and since they have no particular season are excellent for indoors.

DEALER • PROFILE

Great Road Dodge

Location: Route 117, Maynard

Number of Employees: 22

History: John F. Coughlin Jr., owner of Great Road Dodge, is the second generation to run this family-owned business. Having established the dealership in 1924, Coughlin's father laid claim to founding New England's first Dodge dealership. Coughlin plays an active role in his dealership. "He's here every day," says Sales Manager Gregg Hall.

Within the last five years, Great Road Dodge has continued its legacy of impressive growth. Last year's car and truck sales doubled those in 1991, and projections for 1993 are even more promising. In addition, a new showroom was built in 1992 and the service department recently increased its personnel to accommodate customer demand.

Types of Cars Sold: New and used Dodge cars and trucks, and a large stock of quality used cars of a variety of makes and models.

Hottest Sellers: Dodge Intrepid and Caravan

Best Deal on the Lot: The popular new 1993 Dodge Colt starts at only $8313. This four-door car with automatic transmission is available with such popular features as rear window defroster, tinted windows, body-side molding, AM/FM stereo and power steering.

Specialties: Great Road Dodge's specialty is "customer satisfaction," explains Hall. "Our number one objective is to satisfy the customer in sales and in service. We are number one in total customer satisfaction in the whole Boston zone — that's because when our customers leave here after a purchase they know they've gotten the best possible deal and courtesy," he says. Hall adds that customers have also commented in surveys how pleased they are with the sales department, noting how quickly work was completed and how well they were treated.

Part of this dealership's claim to total customer satisfaction stems from its $49 over invoice program. Begun nearly two years ago, this GREAT ROAD, cont. on page 3

Dodge Colt

Trendy 1993 models defy upscale pricing

Dodge Colt offers a refreshing new design for the 1993 model year.

Both the two-door coupe and four-door sedan models of this popular imported subcompact are new inside and out with the emphasis on quality, reliability and operating economy.

The two-door coupe is positioned to provide Dodge with a high-quality, entry-level vehicle in two price classes — Base and GL.

Colt for 1993 provides improved fuel economy over previous models ad includes new independent suspension for improved ride and handling.

Both the two-door coupe and four-door sedan models emphasize quality, reliability and operating economy

Both models are built for Chrysler by Mitsubishi Motors Corporation. The Colt four-door sedan was developed expressly for the North American market and will not be sold elsewhere in the world.

The two-door Colt, which replaces an earlier hatchback model, has a sporty body style for buyers seeking driving fun and fuel economy with a more upscale look without the upscale price.

The four-door sedan is targeted at a slightly more affluent buyer group in the upper range of the subcompact market, particularly professionals, young couples, DODGE COLT, Cont. on page 3

1993 models mesh fun driving and affordability

families, and first-time new car buyers.

Both models are longer and wider, yet lighter than the vehicles they replace, and each features independent rear suspension for improved ride and handling.

An economical 1.5-liter, 12-valve engine, which produces 92 horsepower (significantly more than base-model competitors), will be standard in the two-door coupe model, as well as the base four-door sedans.

A 1.8-liter, 16-valve engine, capable of delivering 113 horsepower, will be optionally available on the base four-door and standard on the upper-range model. It is similar to the engine introduced in 1992 on the Eagle Summit Wagon.

Standard five-speed manual transmissions or optional three-speed automatic transaxles round out the powertrain combinations.

Featuring an all-new unibody structure, the Colt series has interior room superior to predecessor models. Rear hip and shoulder room have been noticeably expanded.

Wheelbase for the Colt is 2.2 inches longer on the coupe and 1.7 inches on the sedan compared to the vehicles they replace. Height is reduced by 1.4 inches on the sedan and .5 inches on the coupe. Vehicle weight has been reduced 76 pounds in the sedan and more than 120 pounds for the coupe.

The independent rear suspension for Colt consists of trailing arms and multiple lateral links with coil-over shock absorbers for excellent ride and handling. Front suspension is MacPherson strut-type with compression-type control arms for excellent directional stability.

Anti-lock brakes systems will be available for the first time on the Colt as an option on four-door models.

The aerodynamic exteriors are enhanced by color-keyed bumpers, door handles and moldings, as well as sporty full wheel covers. A Sport Appearance Package, with rear spoiler and aluminum wheels, is optional on sedan models.

Standard features on both Colt coupe and sedan models include power front disc brakes, carpeting, center console, stainless steel exhaust system, tamper resistant odometer, Halogen headlamps, manual rack and pinion steering and two-speed windshield wipers.

Options include air conditioning, power windows and door locks (GL sedan), tinted glass, rear window defroster, dual AM/FM ET stereo with four speakers, speed control and tilt wheel (GL sedan).

CAR OF THE WEEK

program enables customers to purchase a car for only $49 over the invoice price. Explains Hall, "Whatever rebates apply, the customer gets those as well. There's nothing hidden." He believes this no hassle approach to sales "makes the car-buying process a pleasure."

In addition, all sales personnel at this dealership are Chrysler-certified, enabling them to help customers chose the automobile that best suits their needs.

Service: Great Road Dodge offers a five star service department equipped with eight Chrysler-certified technicians. Regardless of where customers purchase their vehicles, this dealership is ready to handle all service needs on all makes of Chrysler, Plymouth and Dodge cars and trucks, and Jeep and Eagle products, explains Hall. This department employs eight Chrysler-certified technicians, a service manager and two service writers.

Incentives: Customers can now participate in the National Minivan Sale — a Dodge program giving all minivan customers a $500 rebate and package discounts and rebates. Also available is a $500 rebate on the Dakota pick-up, as well as various other incentives on numerous models

Philosophy: "It really all comes down to customer satisfaction," explains Hall. "That's what we work towards."

1993.5 Saab 9000 Aero

Combines powerful performance, safety and environmental virtues

NORCROSS, Ga. — Saab Cars USA Inc., importer and distributor of distinctive Saab 9000 and 900 automobiles, has added another entry to its automotive arsenal with the debut of the 1993 Saab 9000 Aero. A true "stealth" Saab, the dynamic — yet understated — 9000 Aero ups the ante in the luxury/performance sports sedan niche by exemplifying the automotive character that today's responsible performance enthusiast demands — exceptional acceleration, handling, roadholding, styling and state-of-the-art passive and active safety features, all in one spacious 5-door aerodynamic package.

Saab 9000 Aero

The 9000 Aero was created as a technological tour de force by Saab's innovative team of Swedish engineers, and is powered by the automaker's most powerful engine ever — a specially-tuned and upgraded 2.3-liter. A larger turbocharger with 10 percent greater capacity — first debuted in the Saab Ecosport prototype — boosts horsepower to 225 Hp, 25 Hp more than turbocharged 9000 CS or CD models.

Drivers will also enjoy segment-leading tractability and acceleration to cruising speed with a muscular maximum torque of 258 ft.-lbs. at a very advantageous 1950 rpm. Known for its impressive response at a very low rpm range, the Saab 9000 Turbo's broad, flat torque curve has actually been described as a torque "plateau."

Every 1993 Saab 9000 Aero benefits from a recalibrated Trionic engine management system, which automatically and instantly adjusts ignition, fuel injection and turbocharger boost pressure for optimal performance, fuel efficiency and fewer exhaust emissions. A 5-speed manual transaxle is standard equipment.

A full complement of body-color aerodynamic enhancements — including deep rocker sill extensions, integrated wheel lip moldings, special bumper treatments and spoilers — provide the Saab 9000 Aero with improved high-speed and side wind stability, along with exceptional roadholding characteristics. The 9000 Aero also features fully blacked-out body side moldings which contribute to the svelte Swede's aesthetic appeal.

The 9000 Aero's lift forces have been reduced ten percent and the chassis has been lowered 8 mm in the front and 5 mm in the rear, while front and rear stabilizer bar diameters have each been increased by 1 mm to 19 mm.

The diameter of the front strut piston rods has been increased from 22 to 25 mm to improve bending stiffness under load. Consequently, any possibility for strut "stiction" — the interference or "sticking" tendency of the strut's sliding action while absorbing road irregularities — has been eliminated even under the most demanding driving conditions.

As a complement to the 9000's extremely stiff body structure, this Saab innovation reduces ride harshness while adding to the 9000 Aero's agility and responsiveness. Anti-lock brakes and Traction Control are, of course, standard features on the turbocharged 9000 Aero.

Environment-friendly cars to appear next decade

It takes about five years from the time an automobile company starts developing a new model to its appearance in dealer showrooms. Some preliminary work begins a few years earlier. Thus, it should come as no surprise that car engineers and designers are at work right now on vehicles that you will be driving in the 21st century.

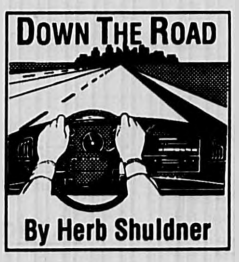
How different will these cars be from today's models? Car makers suspect that by the turn of the century, there will be increasing demand from government regulators and consumers for "green" cars. This has nothing to do with the vehicle's color, but refers to environmental compatibility. There will be increasing concern about how car manufacturing, emissions and disposal after a useful life impact the environment.

But customers will probably expect auto makers to offer vehicles with the same comfort, safety and performance found in today's models. Not too many years ago, car manufacturers said it couldn't be done. Now the same firms are displaying concept cars that are not only environmentally friendly, but still offer the same room and comfort of today's cars. And the concept cars will be ready by the end of '90s.

A good place to see these future models is the auto show circuit. That's where car companies roll out their new concepts first. And unlike years ago when futuristic prototypes had little relation to actual model planning, the ones you see in today's auto shows will generally become real cars some time down the road.

Based on the early shows in Los Angeles and Detroit this year, engineers envision cars that will use a variety of fuels — or even be propelled by electric motors. One example is Volvo's Environmental Concept Car, which was displayed in Los Angeles at the beginning of the year.

The Volvo ECC is billed as a 21st century family car. Engineers call it a hybrid because the vehicle has a gas turbine engine and an electric motor. Actual propulsion is always provided by the 70 kilowatt (maximum output) electric motor driving the ECC's front wheels. But outside of cities, the gas turbine powers a high-speed generator to provide electricity for the electric motor. In urban areas, you switch over to a battery-powered mode with no emissions. The nickel cadmium battery pack can also be charged from an outlet in your garage.



The ECC is an extremely low polluting car with far more range than pure electric vehicles. On the highway outside of cities, the ECC has conventional acceleration, top speed and driving range. Along city streets the ECC is driven at lower speeds and has a shorter range.

Using a gas turbine engine rather than a conventional gasoline-fueled piston engine gives Volvo engineers many opportunities to improve potential vehicle performance. The gas turbine can burn a wide range of liquid and gaseous fuels, including diesel. The gas turbine is a simple and reliable engine. It has only four major components. It is also light in weight, low polluting and offers high efficiency.

In pure battery-powered mode, the ECC has a range of a little more than 50 miles in city traffic. With the gas turbine alone at a constant 55 mph, the driving range is about 416 miles — about as much as possible with a conventional car. Top speed is about 108 mph. Zero to 60 mph acceleration is 13 seconds.

The ECC uses the floor of the Volvo 850. This provides enough space for a family car with ample seating for five passengers and a high degree of safety structure for protecting the vehicle's occupants. There's even a child safety seat built into the center armrest of the rear seat.

Besides making the ECC a low polluting vehicle, Volvo engineers have also built it with materials that have been carefully selected to minimize environmental impact. Manufacturing processes are also designed to reduce damage to the environment.

Part of this process is accomplished by holding down vehicle weight. Thus less material is consumed and less needs to be recycled or sent to landfills. It's even expected that the plastic, rubber and glass in the ECC will be recycled. The aluminum body is intended to be completely recycled.

Volvo engineers have developed a computer model to analyze the Environmental Load Units (ELUs) per kilogram (2.2 pounds) of material used in a car. A conventional car built today has an ELU index of around 33,000. The ECC has an ELU index ranging from 26,000 if always powered by the gas turbine to 15,000 ELUs if powered by the gas turbine 30 percent of the time and charged with hydroelectric power. That's less than half of what one of today's cars tallies.

Cars like the Volvo ECC will be the rule, rather than the exception in the next decade. It just makes sense to preserve our precious resources and keep the air over our cities breathable.

Harvey's Hardware buys 40th Ford from Muzi Ford City

NEEDHAM — Harvey's Hardware, a landmark in Needham Center for nearly 40 years, recently took delivery of its 40th new Ford vehicle. Harvey's bought this Ford, and the 39 before it, from another prominent family-run Needham business, Muzi Ford City.

Harvey's Hardware has been using Ford cars and trucks exclusively since it first opened in 1953, according to the store's founder, Harvey Katz. Since 1963, Harvey's Hardware has purchased all its vehicles from Muzi Ford City.

"Ford cars and trucks have been very reliable for us," said Katz. "When you find something that works, you stick with it."

Currently, Harvey's Hardware has a fleet of five Ford vehicles: three delivery vans, a Taurus wagon and the most recent purchase, the new 1992 F-150 pick-up truck.

Fred Muzi, president of Muzi Ford City, presented Katz with the keys to the pick-up at a special ceremony. "Customer satisfaction is something we strive for," noted Muzi, "When one customer comes back to you 40 times to buy, it's proof you must be doing something right."

When asked if he planned to make any additional purchases from Muzi in the coming year, Katz didn't hesitate to answer.

"Yes. We will trade in one of our delivery vans sometime in the spring. We may get a second van later in the fall.

"We've been very happy with Muzi Ford City. They're just nice people to do business with."

Free Bruins Playoff Tickets

The Make-A-Wish Foundation Of Greater Boston is proud to kick off its "Cars for Wishes" program. Anyone who wishes to donate an unwanted or junk car or truck to the Make-A-Wish Foundation is automatically entered into the Bruins raffle. Two tickets to every Bruins playoff game will be raffled and donators may deduct their vehicles fair market values from their income taxes.

The Make-A-Wish Foundation is dedicated to granting favorite wishes to children with life-threatening illnesses. The Foundation strives to provide a meaningful and carefree experience for a child, and long-lasting, positive memories for his or her entire family.

Anyone wishing to donate or learn more about the program may call 1-617-451-WISH.

The Make-A-Wish Foundation is a non profit organization.

NO PRESSURE PRICE

Chuck Pappas, Product Specialist

What Have We Done?

On January 18th we changed our way of doing business. Our research showed us people did not like to negotiate on the price of a new vehicle, and the last 90 days has certainly proved that. Our No Pressure Price has eliminated all the game playing, mystery and hassle. And we think that's a great way of doing business for all of us!

Forget the Agony of Wheeling and Dealing. The Lowest Price is Already Marked on Every Vehicle.

We knew you were smart enough to know what you wanted. And to ask questions when you didn't. So the solution was obvious. We set the prices of every vehicle at the lowest possible discount. No negotiating allowed. The right price, the only price, the No Pressure Price,is marked on each car, saving you hours of your time and thousands of dollars!

Unlike Some Dealers...

who use the one price philosophy for their short term sales programs, Automall's NO PRESSURE PRICE is a long term commitment on our part to simplify the car buying process. Now you can buy with confidence. You can rest assured that the price that you see is the same price you or anyone else would pay.

BULLETIN

■ Aberjona River Day

The Winchester Conservation Commission will be sponsoring its annual Aberjona River Day cleanup on Saturday, May 8. Trash bags will be available beginning at 9 a.m. in the parking lot behind the Town Hall.

If you, your friends or group would like to target a particular portion of the riverbank, please contact the Commission office to make advance arrangements.

Come and join us in helping the environment. For questions or information, call us at 721-7152.

EVENTS

■ ABC Benefit

Winchester's Committee for "A Better Chance" (ABC) will hold its annual Spring Benefit Concert Saturday, May 8, at the Lincoln School Auditorium at 8:30 p.m.; and, for the first time, dessert at Rick's Cafe will cap off the evening. The annual ABC Spring Benefit Concert is a significant fund raising event for the Winchester A Better Chance program. All proceeds from the concert directly benefit the Winchester ABC house.

This year, the benefit committee, chaired by Jennifer Regentz and Debbie Johnston, is thrilled to present the Boston City Lights Street Dancers.

Tickets for the performance are $20 per person ($10 for seniors and students). Dessert at Rick's Cafe is $5 per person. Or you may choose to become a patron for $90; becoming a patron of ABC entitles you to two tickets to the performance, two tickets for dessert at Rick's Cafe and your name in the evening's program.

■ Bowling banquet

The annual bowling banquet will be held this year on Friday, May 7, at noon in the Jenks Center Pond Room, according to Guy Santo, chairperson of the Bowling League. First, second and third prizes will be awarded in three categories: best single game, best triple and highest game average. Separate prizes will be awarded to men and women, for a total of 18 prizes.

Special Town Meeting authorizes funds transfer for Fiscal 1993

By Deborah Trask
EDITOR

Making short work of the town's unfinished financial business for Fiscal Year 1993, Town Meeting members authorized the transfer of money from accounts with overages to those falling short.

Following the opening of Spring Town Meeting members approved the transfer of $100,000 to the transfer station account for other expenses, $125,000 to the energy account and lastly, another $65,741 to the School Cafeteria account.

All other budget work was postponed until May 24 to allow time for local aid numbers to come in, and to await the resolution to the Education reform bill currently in committee.

According to Town Meeting Moderator John Sullivan, the town's charter prohibits the start of financial business until the first week in May. Sullivan said a consensus of the town boards was that reopening Spring Town Meeting on a later date in May would resolve some of unanswered questions on the budget.

However, since the Special Town Meeting article deals with FY'93, it was voted on with six other non-financial articles.

"The article for the Special Town Meeting is one which we wish we didn't have to come before Town Meeting to ask for. But, we had several problems which we encountered in this current fiscal year that in order for us to get through the fiscal year, we have to have a transfer of funds," said Maurer.

Maurer noted that some $110,000 reversion in the Health Insurance account resulted from lower rate increases than had been projected.

"The projected reversion in the Retirement Account ($209,000) is due to the Town Meeting action last spring followed by legislative approval which permitted the Town to reduce the amount that it had to pay for unfunded pension liability. At the time it was voted, it was not anticipated that these monies would be utilized to cover shortfalls in FY'93, rather it was hoped that these monies would be available for expenditures in subsequent years," said Maurer.

With regard to the shortfalls, Maurer said there wasn't much room for error in the last few years in many accounts. "I think the one that is particularly vulnerable to that is the Energy Account. Of all the accounts and planning that the Finance Committee, Town Manager and the DPW do, no one single account received more scrutiny than the Energy Account." Maurer said the estimates were wrong and pointed to the unusually cold winter that the town experienced as compared with three previous milder winters.

The amount the town pays for its trash also did not come in as projected. Maurer said the budget was based on information the town received from the North East Solid Waste Consortium. NESWC committed to allowing Winchester to lower its annual tonnage requirements, then reneged on it, said Maurer.

Field plans aired

SPECIAL TO THE STAR

Almost 100 concerned neighbors appeared before a public hearing on a proposed Lynch Field renovation, apprehensive over what the new field might entail.

The hearing on the proposed field began as Winchester residents joined the Fields Committee on April 27 for a "walkaround" of the proposed Lynch Field. Committee Chairman Jay Boylan, along with town engineer, Jake Ciarcia, led town members around the wooded area of land that would be made into a playing field.

One pine grove would be preserved while a second would be cleared and the ground would be leveled. The

Schools confront violence

By Stephen Olivieri
ASSISTANT EDITOR

In reaction to the presence of weapons at Winchester High School and incidents of violence in schools across the state, the Winchester school administration is formulating a policy to address these issues.

The request to draft a policy on weapons was first presented to the School Committee at its April 13 meeting by several parents. The formulation of a policy took on additional urgency when a third high school student this year was found to have brought a weapon to the high school.

According to School Committee member James Evans, during the week of April 12, a student was found to be in possession of brass knuckles. Evans said the student had not attempted to use the weapon.

In January a student sprayed another student with a Mace-like substance. In March a student brandished a knife after a fight in the cafeteria between two groups of students.

The Town's firefighters braved the elements to carry signs picketing the stalled budget process as Town Meeting members filed into the Winchester High School auditorium.

Firefighters work picket at TM despite downpour

Winchester firefighters marched in a picket line outside the opening session of Town Meeting to protest stalled contract negotiations with the town.

Twenty firefighters formed a picket line and passed out informational leaflets for an hour outside the high school, as Town Meeting members filtered in for their April 26 session.

Carrying signs reading "Negotiate!" and "Good Faith Now", firefighters said they were protesting negotiations that have left them without a contract for two years.

According to firefighter Kevin Yore, the leading point of contention between the town and the firefighters' union is benefits for the firefighters.

Firefighters claim they are not being offered the same deals that the teachers' and police officers' unions have recently worked out with the town. "We just want a little equity in the benefits," said Yore.

"We just want what they got next door (at the police station)," said firefighter John Hennelly.

Town Manager W. Chadwick Maurer declined to get into specific aspects of the negotiation, saying bargaining sessions are private, but he said the contract offered to the firefighters by the town was "absolutely within the same scope" of the police and teachers budgets.

Maurer said he has to look at the overall town budget, which is 75% personnel wages, when settling individual components. "There is only so much money to go around to these things," said Maurer.

Beside the financial issues, there is a strong feeling among the firefighters that they are not respected, many saying they are being treated as "second-class citizens." Firefighters say the equipment they use, which they say is in poor shape, is an example of a lack of appreciation from the town.

Yore said firefighters have been expected to assume additional duties without compensation. He pointed to the decreased manpower and hazardous waste duty as two things that have increased the workload of firefighters.

Many firefighters are viewing the difficulties in negotiations as a personal vendetta.

"They don't like somebody here ... Somebody has a grudge against somebody," said Henelly.

Maurer said personalities are not playing a part in the negotiations. "They are important to the overall operation of the town," said Maurer. "I wouldn't consider them second-class citizens at all."

One problem between the two parties is with the negotiating process itself. Maurer said the firefighters have requested to meet as individuals with Maurer, which is different than the usual process. Maurer has declined to meet without both bargaining teams present.

Maurer said as he is willing to schedule a meeting between the two

Zoning Board says no to SpeeDee Oil

By Stephen Olivieri
ASSISTANT EDITOR

In defiance of a state Land Court ruling, the Zoning Board of Appeals has rejected the site plan of an oil change shop on Main Street.

At its April 20 meeting, the board rejected SpeeDee Oil Change's request to put a shop on Main Street just south of the Woburn line, after one member, Ann Matarese, of the three-member board voted against it. In order for the site plan to be approved, it needed a unanimous vote from the board.

The SpeeDee Oil proposal first came before the Zoning Board of Appeals in 1987 and was rejected by a 3-0 vote. However, the Massachusetts Land Court overturned that ruling and ordered the board to approve a site plan.

At that point, the oil change business did fall within the guidelines of the town's zoning bylaws, which have since changed.

The April 20 vote by the zoning board was in defiance of the ruling by the Massachusetts Land Court, which stated that the board could make restrictions but must approve a site plan.

Despite the state mandate, Matarese said there were too many safety concerns for her to vote for the plan. Matarese said traffic congestion and parking in the area were already a problem, and the oil change shop would exacerbate the problem. "It's a disaster waiting to erupt," said Matarese.

"If (Judge Marilyn Sullivan) had actually viewed it, if she had come out to Winchester, I would be astonished if she would have approved it," said Matarese.

Board Chairman John Prokos and member Joshua Alper voted for the site plan.

Matarese said parking problems would increase because of the cars the business would attract and lost curb space that would be cut. In addition, the Woburn chief of police said he would implement residential permit parking on surrounding streets in Woburn if the shop were opened.

Lawrence Murray, the attorney for SpeeDee Oil, said the traffic concerns should not be a factor in issuing a decision. The town zoned that area for business and cannot reject a legitimate business, he said. "When they zoned it for business, they were aware of the other possibilities," said Murray.

Matarese said she did not know what the next step for the board would be. "Technically, I'm in contempt of the Land Court ... I don't take it lightly. I'm aware of the repercussions, and I'm willing to face them," said Matarese. "For me, it's a safety issue."

Murray said he expects the Land Court to issue the permit for the building. He said in past similar cases the court has issued the permit, fined board members, and made the town pay for attorney fees.

Murray said the zoning board missed an opportunity to put restrictions on the site plan and now must accept whatever the Land Court dictates.

"Unfortunately, one member of the board really did what was ultimately the worst thing for the neighborhood by allowing a permit without restrictions," said Murray. "The window of opportunity has been closed."

Rabies threat still looming

By Stephen Olivieri
ASSISTANT EDITOR

Health officials are warning residents to respond cautiously to their dogs or cats if they come in contact with raccoons, saying the pets could be carrying the rabies virus.

Because of the danger of rabies, health officials are warning residents not to come in contact with their pets if the pet had a fight with another animal or if it has an unexplained wound. Health officials are advising that the animal's cut be cleaned by the owner while wearing gloves and eye protection. After cleaning the wound, the pet should be taken to a veterinarian.

Animal control officer Jerry Smith told the Star that residents should not allow their dogs to roam around the town. In addition to violating town bylaws, having a pet outside without a leash is a health hazard with the presence of rabid raccoons in town.

The warning from health officials comes as a second Winchester resident is undergoing rabies treatment for coming in contact with an animal that was potentially rabid.

According to Smith, a Lockeland Road man called police to report that his two German shepherds had killed a raccoon. The raccoon was sent to the state for testing and returned positive for rabies. The two dogs, which had been vaccinated for rabies prior to the incident, are quarantined.

The man has told local health officials that he petted the dogs after discovering the dead raccoon, and now health officials are concerned over the possibility that the pet may have acted as bridge for rabies between the raccoon and the dog owner.

Smith said the dogs did not have visible cuts, but the resident was advised by Health Director Joseph Tabbi to get rabies treatment as a precaution.

According to Tom Decker, a wildlife biologist for the state, there are dozens of similar cases all over Massachusetts, including a case in Sheffield where 10 people had to undergo post-rabies treatment after coming in contact with a rabid cow.

"Seeking treatment for any potential exposure is the key," said Decker.

In Winchester, a third case of an encounter between a suspected rabid animal and a person is pending the outcome of a test from the state. In this case, a Canterbury Road man's two dogs killed a skunk. The skunk has been sent to the state for testing for rabies.

Rabies is a viral infection that attacks the nervous system and is fatal if not treated. It can be passed on through a bite or scratch from an infected animal.

Earlier this month, a 3-year-old girl had to undergo rabies treatment after she was bitten by a stray cat. The treatment was stopped when the test results showed the cat did not have rabies.

Although many towns have stopped testing for rabid animals, the state says there have been 159 raccoons who tested positive for the rabies virus in 54 towns since the first one last September. "It will continue to spread at a pretty good rate," said Decker.

JENKS CENTER

by Mary Kelly
SPECIAL TO THE STAR

The Follies are here! The Follies are here!

This weekend will see the return of "The Ageless Follies," the second annual intergenerational effort to raise funds for the Winchester Youth Center. The Follies, under the sponsorship of the Council on Aging and the Winchester Youth Center, will be presented at Town Hall Auditorium on Saturday, May 1, at 7:30 p.m. This intergenerational activity is designed to increase interaction between the senior community and the youth community while promoting and highlighting the many talents they share.

Tickets are available at Book Ends, Cradock Apothecary, Henderson Stationers and the Jenks Senior Center. Tickets for seats at tables on the floor of the auditorium are $6 each and in the balcony $4. Tickets will be available at the door. Checks should be made payable to "Town of Winchester."

The theme for this year's show is "Romance and Love." It will stir memories and nostalgia for the days of the past half century. The variety mix of drama, music and comedy offers something for everyone. A new addition to the Follies this year will be "live commercials" for local businesses who sponsor the event.

The Winchester Youth Center will benefit from the proceeds of this event. Donations and contributions in any amount are tax-free and provide support for this worthy project targeted for the young people of Winchester.

Diabetic and cholesterol screenings

Sue Powers, R.N., B.S., and Marty Wray, R.N., B.S., certified diabetic educator, from Winchester Hospital's Health Education Department, will provide diabetic and cholesterol screenings at the Jenks Senior Center on Thursday, May 6, from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Prior registration is required. Call Winchester Hospital at 756-2220. Registration will be booked every five minutes. Those to be tested should avoid a heavy-sugar breakfast. There is no charge for this screening.

On Friday, May 7, cholesterol screening only will be provided by the Winchester Hospital Health Department. Prior registration is required. Call 756-2220 to register. There is no charge for this testing.

For further information on either of these programs, call Sue Powers at 756-2220.

Sale for the blind

The annual Sale for the Blind will be held on Tuesday, May 4, from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at the Methodist Church. Seniors will sponsor the bake sale. Seniors are requested to donate pies, cakes, brownies, cookies and other goodies. Sylvia Saslow will be in charge, assisted by Mary Perlupo. Luncheon will be served at the church from noon to 1 p.m.

Let's go for a walk

"Bodywalk" is Reebok's carefully designed and researched walking program that teaches people how to maximize walking's benefits.

This is a progressive four-week course that meets twice weekly. It is a comprehensive program, one that can teach anyone, from the first-time exerciser to the fitness enthusiast, to get the most from a walking workout. This outdoor program is offered in two sessions: the first, May 3 to May 28, and the second, May 31 to June 15. Three classes will be available in each session, Class A, Tuesdays and Thursdays, 6:30 to 7:30 a.m., Class B, Wednesdays and Fridays, 10 to 11 a.m., and Class C, Mondays and Wednesdays, 7 to 8 p.m. Participants will meet at the Jenks Center parking lot. The cost will be $32 per session.

Class size is limited and preregistration is necessary. To register or for further information, call Linda Vacovec, 729-3256, or Marie Dacey, 729-7268.

Parkinson's group meeting, May 6

The Parkinson's Group, which meets at the Jenks Senior Center on the first Thursday of every month, will have as its speaker on Thursday, May 6, at 10 a.m., Peter Mosbach, clinical psychologist at Boston University Medical Center, who will discuss "Coping with Parkinson's Disease."

The Parkinson's Group is a self-help support group guided by Diane Saparoff, LICSW, COA geriatric social worker. Anyone interested in joining the discussions by Parkinsonians and their caretakers are asked to call Diane at 721-7136 for more information.

If you like gardening, you'll want to know what's happening
this week at Mahoney's.

Plan Before You Plant

If landscaping is on your spring list, now is the best time to formulate your plans. Here's just a few reasons why:

Spring is the perfect time to plant. The temperatures are warmer, but not too hot. There's plenty of water in the ground. And the sooner you plant the more time the roots have to strengthen and grow.

Another reason to plan now is that at this time of year Mahoney's selection is at it's biggest. You'll get the best selection to pick from; trees, shrubs, annuals, perennials, groundcover etc. It's all here, in stock.

And if you have questions about your plans, bring them in with you. We have experts in every area; from Azaleas to Zinnias, who are here to help.

So plan to make the most of this spring. Visit Mahoney's soon.

Reach out to others through The Cardinal's Appeal

Did you know that the Archdiocese of Boston is the largest provider of social services in the Commonwealth — outside the state itself? And this year, much of the good work being done is at risk, due to a serious financial shortfall. The annual Cardinal's Appeal is an opportunity for you to reach out with love to your neighbors in need. Your gift today will support over 80 vital programs and services that are in desperate need of your help.

When you give to the Appeal, you will help the poor, the elderly, the hungry and homeless, and also help educate our children, and assist families struggling through these difficult times.

Choices narrowed for principal

By Stephen Olivieri
ASSISTANT EDITOR

A search committee charged with finding candidates for the principalship of Lincoln Elementary School has forwarded four names to Superintendent Robert Fitzgerald, who will forward his choice to the School Committee at its next meeting.

Seventy applications were submitted to the nine-member search committee for the principalship. The committee interviewed 11 of the applicants and forwarded four to Fitzgerald.

Fitzgerald told the School Committee at its April 27 meeting that he would review the four finalists and conduct site visits of their schools over the next week.

Fitzgerald said he would submit one name to the School Committee at a May 4 meeting, at which the potential hiring will be the only agenda item. At that time, the candidate will be interviewed by the committee.

The School Committee has the authority to hire principals, but the committee members said they believed the superintendent should play a major in selecting principals and are willing to allow him to select the finalist. The School Committee must vote to accept the finalist and can reject Fitzgerald's selection.

In requesting a special School Committee meeting, Fitzgerald urged the committee to act quickly because several school communities in the state are in the process of hiring principals and the candidates may withdraw if they are offered positions elsewhere.

The new principal would fill the spot vacated by Bruce MacDonald, who left the school system in October for a position as principal at a Belmont elementary school. Since his departure, a Lincoln School teacher, Paula Tranchita, has been the acting principal.

The search committee, appointed in March, consists of four parents, Anne Hogeland, Bernadette Kearney, Bud Snyder, and Karen Tripoli; two teachers, Janine Freedmont and Tranchita; one principal, Charles McInnis; a K-12 director, David Ideda; and the acting assistant superintendent, Thomas Budrewicz.

School Committee Chairman Jerilyn Heinold asked Fitzgerald to have the finalist come to the May 4 meeting a half hour early to meet with parents.

Dave Boettcher

McCall student's poem inspiration for EnKa Fair theme

McCall Middle School seventh grader Dave Boettcher wrote a poem (reprinted below) for a creative writing assignment last spring that turned out to be the inspiration for this year's annual EnKa Fair. Last May, Boettcher and his classmates were given an assignment by their sixth grade teacher, Ms. Whitney, to write about the fair, which was being set up on Manchester Field just outside their classroom windows. The students' work, including Boettcher's poem, entitled "Field of Dreams," was sent by Whitney to 1993 EnKa Fair Chairmen Judy King and Jane d'Entremont, who decided to make "Field of Dreams" the theme for the 1993 Enka Fair, to be held on Friday, May 14, from 5 to 11 p.m., and Saturday, May 15, from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Field of Dreams

As the bright sun sinks below the horizon on a cool May night
I sway from side to side as the loud music blasts in my ear when the ride slows down I lift the safety bar and race to the arcade
I pull out a handful of shiny new quarters and slip two of them in to the pinball machine
CLINK!! POP!! BANG!! the leg of the machine fell off
I looked for a worker and when I finally found one he said, "What do you want!"
"Sir, the pinball machine has broken!"
He slowly walked over and took out a wrench to tighten the leg
After I played my lengthy game, I walked slowly over to the ZIPPER
After being in line for over one hour the man said
"Tickets" and I went on and had the ride of my life
Then I heard my dad calling for me and I went home but I Knew I would be back tomorrow.

Volunteers sought at Winchester Hospital

The volunteer office at Winchester Hospital is now interviewing for summer positions in the Junior Volunteer Program. Young people who are interested should be 14 years or older.

Junior volunteers serve in many areas of the hospital: as messengers running errands and transporting patients, in the coffee shop, on nursing units and in several departments as clerical aides. Juniors work one or two half days a week, and schedules can be arranged to meet summer vacations or other obligations. Training is provided for all assignments.

Volunteering in a large, complex hospital such as Winchester, affords young people the opportunity to be of service while learning. Interested teens should call the volunteer office at 756-2626 for information and an interview. The summer program begins on June 26.

Girl Scout registration

Girl Scout registration for the 1993-94 year will take place on Thursday, May 6, from 3 to 7 p.m., at the Knights of Columbus, 58 Mt. Vernon St., Winchester. All girls currently registered in Girl Scouting as well as those interested in joining, are encouraged to register on this day. A parent or legal guardian must personally attend since a signature is required.

For further information or any questions, call the following representatives at each school: Ambrose, Janie Martignetti, 721-2875; Lincoln, Robin Murphy, Patriots Trail Girl Scout Council, 893-6113; Lynch, Judi Nicholson, 721-2724; Muraco, Mary Ann Nurnberger, 729-4429; V-O, Nancy Nevola, 729-5757; St. Mary's, Arlene Houghton, 729-9322; and Cadettes (grades six through eight), Nancy Goodwin, 729-0347.

Center brings assistant director on board

Damon Reed, director of The Arthur Griffin Center for Photographic Art in Winchester, has announced the promotion of Bonnie Campbell, a Wakefield resident, to the position of assistant to the director at the Center. Campbell, a recent graduate of Montserrat College of Art in Beverly, holds a fine arts degree in painting and has experience in both private and academic galleries. She will work closely with the director and board of trustees on conserving The Arthur Griffin Collection, developing a strong volunteer program, and on developing The center's photographic exhibitions and programs.

The Griffin Center, founded in September, 1992, is located in downtown Winchester. The not-for-profit photography center houses and exhibits the photographic heritage of Griffin, Winchester's and New England's photographer laureate. The center also contains a 1,500 foot modern gallery for presenting exhibitions of fine art photography by regional, national and international artists. The center is open Thursday through Sunday, 1 to 4 p.m. For more information call 729-1158.

Financial aid available for After-School Program

The Winchester After-School Program is now accepting applications requesting financial aid for the 1993-1994 school year. The after-school program is a nonprofit organization that provides safe and enriching after-school care for kindergarten-to-sixth grade children whose parents work or are completing their educations. The program operates on weekdays during the school year from school release time to 6 p.m. and also offers full-day care during the February and April school vacation weeks. Transportation from the Winchester elementary schools to the program site at McCall Middle School is provided by the program.

The after-school programs's activities are funded entirely from tuition fees paid by the families of children enrolled. A scholarship fund has recently been developed to assist limited-income families, including single parents, with partial payments for their children's attendance in the program. This financial aid is awarded on the basis of need only, and has been made possible by the generous donations of local businesses and organizations.

Application forms to request financial aid for tuition to the After-School Program may be obtained from the program director, Betty Wolsky, at the McCall Middle School program site, or by writing to the Scholarship Committee, c/o Emily Bushnell, 65 Brookside Ave., Winchester, MA, 01890. Applications must be submitted by May 30. Decisions regarding applications for funds will be made in early June. All applications and deliberations will be treated in strict confidence.

Town Meeting agrees 'No feeding' of geese

By Deborah Trask
EDITOR

After some light moments at Town Meeting, members approved a change allowing the fine for feeding water fowl drop to $5 to ease enforcement.

Approved by a majority of Town Meeting, Article 12 allows the Board of Health to lower the penalty it can charge violators of the town's "No feeding the geese" policy. In addition, the amendment allows the Board of Health to issue citations without a waiting period. According to health officials, monitoring the prescribed waiting period made the bylaw difficult to enforce.

Although the article which tightens the bylaw against feeding the geese at Mill and Wedge Ponds was treated with some humor on the Town Meeting floor, town officials stressed that strict enforcement of the policy is only the first step in getting the problem under control.

Board of Health Director Joseph Tabbi explained, "the ultimate goal is to reduce the Canada geese flock." According to Tabbi, the Federal Department of Fish and Wildlife must see some enforcement of local regulations restricting feeding prior to allowing consideration of any more stringent measures to get rid of the geese. The geese come under an international treaty, which protects the species.

Selectmen Chairman Peter VanAken said the board unanimously supported the measure as a way to approach controlling the problems associated with a burgeoning population of geese, particularly the health-related issue of fields strewn with geese droppings. VanAken said the smaller amount for a fine would make it easier to impose.

"The larger concerns we have is that the growing flock of geese in town is estimated to be 225-250 and growing each year. ... We have some health concerns with human contact with feces and concerns to the water supply," said VanAken.

Board of Health Chairman Dorothea Sopper presented the article on the floor of Town Meeting as her first act as newly appointed chairman. She said changing the fine from $50 to $5 would greatly assist the board in enforcing the measure.

"I don't believe we got an answer earlier on who's going to be the enforcement officer," asked Town Meeting member Robert Deering. He also questioned what action would the town take to collect the $5 fines.

"Under the present bylaw, it's extremely difficult to enforce this regulation, that being the 10-day waiting period," said Board of Health Director Joseph Tabbi. Tabbi said the Board of Health would enforce it and would set a timeframe for payment of fines, then turn notice of any uncollected fines to the Registry of Motor Vehicles.

Although the article passed after a brief discussion, some confusion arose when members asked if the geese could still be fed cracked corn, which is currently allowed under town bylaws.

Members eventually passed the article as written but asked the board to vote on whether they will restrict any feeding whatsoever, a plan strongly supported by the selectmen.

Town Meeting member Ralph Johnson raised an issue on the minds of many residents. Johnson asked if the ducks would be returned. According to Town Manager W. Chadwick Maurer, the ducks, currently being housed at the Department of Public Works, will not be returned any time soon. Maurer said that was in keeping with the plan to eradicate the geese problem.

Town meeting honors citizens

It turned out to be a night for the residents of Winchester to look back and remember those who have served the town over the years.

At the opening night of Town Meeting on April 26 several articles were passed, one honoring the late Daniel and Vivienne Chane for their many contributions to the town by formally naming a square in their honor at the intersection of Valley Road, Orient Street and Maple Road; another honoring the late Henry F. Quill by renaming the rotary in Winchester center, the Henry F. Quill Circle.

In addition, Michael Connolly, a Town Meeting member for 27 years was recognized by Precinct 8 after he voluntarily retired. Connolly was recognized for his contribution to the town and received a citation signed by Gov. William Weld.

Chairman of the Committee on Names Thomas Schmitt outlined the contributions of both Daniel Chane Jr. and his wife, Vivienne, for the Town Meeting members and the articles passed handily. Chane served on the School Committee, Finance Committee and was an active Town Meeting member for many years.

"The place in question is at the intersection of Valley and Maple Roads near the Winchester Hospital. While small in size, I think it's entirely fitting we honor them here today. The Chane family for so many years provided leadership for the surrounding neighborhood," said Schmitt. Neighborhood group member Sally Kincaid spoke in support of the article and particularly noted the contribution of Vivienne Chane to the beautification of the neighborhood, and her caring attitude toward the people who lived there.

Quill's contributions were also highlighted by Schmitt. His extensive efforts in renovating the center, working on the Parent's Association at St. Mary's Parish, coaching Youth Baseball and Intramural Soccer, and as a past president Chamber of Commerce made him a beloved member of the community.

"When Henry was taken from us last summer at the early age of 54, Winchester felt a great sense of loss. While one seldom read about Henry's contributions to the town in the local media, nevertheless they were substantial and important. Perhaps Henry's greatest contributions, and the one about which people know the least, was his effort to beautify and restore the downtown area. He had a real sense of devotion to Winchester," said Schmitt.

A VIEW FROM NEW HAMPSHIRE'S WHITE MOUNTAINS

Go west in the Whites

By Dick Hamilton

SPECIAL ADVERTISEMENT TO THIS PAPER
NUMBER TWO IN A SERIES OF TEN

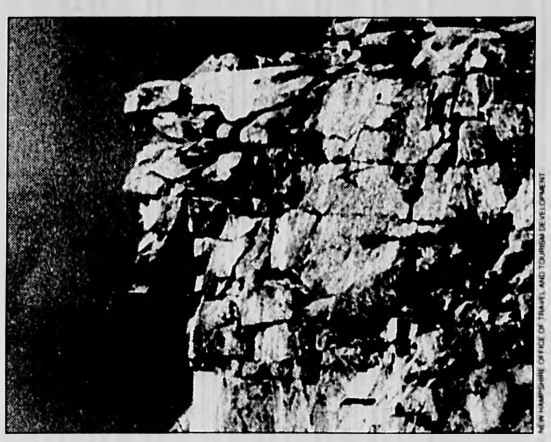
We used to call it "going 'round the mountains": the route that took us from Conway up Route 16 to Route 302 in Glen, then through Crawford Notch, down I-93 through Franconia Notch to Lincoln, and across the Kancamagus Highway back to Conway. It generally took us a whole day, piled into the station wagon, lunch packed for a picnic, swim suits under our shorts, ready for a dip in a river or lake along the way. Today, there's so much to see and do that you could spend an entire vacation on just one section of our route...around the "western" White Mountains, for example.

In Lincoln, Loon Mountain provides an entire day's worth—even a vacation's worth—of recreation with a scenic gondola ride, a nature trail, cave walk, rollerblading, mountain biking, horseback riding, hiking, restaurants, shops and special events. Nearby are Clark's Trading Post and Whale's Tale Waterpark, both perennial favorites with families. At Clark's, there are live bear shows, antique Americana and steam trains, as well as bumper boat rides and a whole lot more; while Whale's Tale provides a variety of waterslides, flume slides and pools for warm weather fun.

Lost River in North Woodstock, the Flume in Franconia Notch State Park and Polar Caves Park in Plymouth are all natural wonders created during the Ice Age. You tour Lost River on boardwalks, following the river as it appears and disappears among glacially scattered boulders, and even—if you like—into caves. Guided tours through glacial caves are also the highlight of a visit to Polar Caves, while the Flume offers a spectacular walk through a natural chasm, over covered bridges and past waterfalls, a scenic pool and mountain views. A free 15-minute video at the Visitor Center provides a fine introduction to Franconia Notch State Park, the Flume and Cannon Mountain.

Just up the Franconia Notch State Parkway from the Flume at Cannon Mountain, you can ride the 80-passenger aerial tramway to the 4200 foot summit where there are walking trails and an observation deck. At the base, view the Old Man of the Mountain (above), see Echo Lake and visit the New England Ski Museum.

CLARK'S TRADING POST, Rt. 3, Lincoln. Adults $6, age 6-11 $4, age 3-5 $1, under 3 free. CANNON MOUNTAIN, Rt. 3, Franconia Notch. Adults $8, age 6-12 $4, under 6 free. LOON MOUNTAIN, Rt. 112, Lincoln. Adults $8, age 6-16 $3, Srs $6, under 6 free. THE FLUME is on Rt. 3, Franconia. Adults $6, children $3. LOST RIVER is on Rt. 112, N. Woodstock. Adults $6, ages 6-12 $4. POLAR CAVES PARK is on Rt. 25 (exit 26 off I-93), Plymouth. Adults $7.75, ages 6-12 $4. WHALE'S TALE WATERPARK is on Rt. 3, Lincoln. Adults & children $14



There are so many attractions just off I-93 that you can spend an entire vacation and still not see them all.

Volunteers honored at luncheon

On Thursday, April 22, the Winchester Public Library hosted a luncheon in the Trustees' Meeting Room in honor of the Library's volunteers. Ten volunteers attended. In addition to the volunteers, the luncheon was attended by Ellen Browning and Anne Nevins of the Library's board of trustees, Constance Cohen, volunteer coordinator for the Friends of the Library, assistant director and volunteer coordinator Barbara Yuan, and Library Director Lynda Wills. The volunteers each received a pin honoring their distinguished service throughout the year.

Home delivery service for elderly or disabled available from library

The Winchester Public Library offers a free delivery service for our elderly or disabled patrons who are unable to come to the library. Library materials can be delivered to the home by library volunteers at your convenience. You may request specific titles, or have them selected by a member of the library staff.

For more information call Richard Welton at 721-7171.

Hampstead Players to perform "Legend of King Arthur"

On Saturday, May 8, at 2 p.m., the library will present the Hampstead Players in "The Legend Of King Arthur" to a school-age audience at Winchester Town Hall. The Hampstead Players are a young English-based touring company devoted to children's theater. Their performances are presented in a lively style designed to kindle a love for the theater, with lots of audience participation. The performance will last about one hour. No registration or tickets are required.

Closed-captioned videos available at the library

Many of the videocassettes at the Winchester Public Library are closed-captioned for the hearing impaired. These videos, when played on a VCR with a caption decoder, display captions on the bottom of the screen. These captions summarize the movie's dialogue and indicate other essential sounds, such as alarms and animal noises. The library's closed-captioned videos include popular feature films like "Hoosiers," "Parenthood," and "Close Encounters Of The Third Kind," classics like "Fantasia," children's stories like "The Emperor's New Clothes," and instructional videos like Jane Fonda's "Step Aerobic and Abdominal Workout." These videos are intermingled with the other videos on the library's shelves; look for "CC" on the spine.

National library week contest till in progress

There's still time to enter the American Library Association's "Write For America's Libraries" contest. As part of a national promotion, ALA is looking for examples of ways that "Libraries Change Lives." The three people who submit the most inspiring stories nationwide will be honored on June 26, at the opening session of ALA's annual conference in New Orleans, with travel expenses paid by Microsoft Corporation. The first prize winner will receive a Microsoft Encarta Multimedia Encyclopedia and a personal computer with CD-ROM hardware. The two runners-up will receive the Encarta.

If you have a story to submit, pick up an entry form at the reference desk, or from the pamphlet rack near the circulation desk. Drop off your entry at the reference desk before May 1.

The library will select some of the submissions it collects to display in the library during the month of April.

Library display explains renovation plans

Library users and residents will be interested in the current display in the library's main lobby that illustrates the proposed plans for renovating the library building. The display is built around copies of the schematic drawings of the proposal which were paid for by the Friends of the Winchester Public Library. In addition to the drawings, the display includes an explanation of the proposed changes and their anticipated effects on service. The display will remain until the middle of June. For details of the proposal ask for the architect's report at the reference desk.

AROUND TOWN

In search of Robert Coit

By Susan Keats
SPECIAL TO THE STAR

Some of you may have wondered about the colorful tiles that encase the entrance of the Winchester Public Library. What is the significance of the bright blue and yellow patterns with what may be an Eastern Oriental influence? How did they come to adorn a library in a sleepy town in New England? The architect was Robert Coit, a Winchester resident. The story is simple. It has only taken us 60 years to look into it.

The Coits moved to Winchester in the 1880s from Lawrence, settling into a house on Hillside Avenue. The house has been modified since, but was once a rambling Queen Anne shingle style with a wraparound porch and a breathtaking view down the hill toward the center of Winchester. The Coit family included parents, Joshua and Mary Lyman (Chandler) Coit, and their three children, Robert, Helen and George. Joshua Coit was a Congregational minister who came to Winchester to accept a Boston position as secretary of the Massachusetts Board of Foreign Missions. He probably commuted to Boston on the Boston and Lowell railroad. Coit had been pastor of a church in Lawrence and before that a church in Brookfield, where his children were born.

When the Coits moved to Winchester, the three children were fairly well grown. Robert, the oldest child, born in 1861, had graduated from Lawrence High School. He went on to Harvard where he studied for three years. In the spring of his senior year, in 1883, Robert Coit was offered an invitation he could not reject, that was to become personal secretary to S.G.W. (Samuel Green Wheeler) Benjamin, the first United States minister to Persia.

Probably the Coit and the Benjamin families knew each other in Brookfield. The Benjamins moved to Brookfield in 1856, shortly after returning from many years of missionary work in Greece and Turkey. Benjamin's father died in Greece in 1855, and his mother packed up her three children and returned to America and settled in Brookfield. Most likely the Benjamins and the Coits became friends because of their common bond with the ministry and mission work. Joshua Coit was the pastor of the Brookfield Congregational Church when the Benjamins arrived. In fact, he married Benjamin and Clara Stowell, of Brookfield, in 1867. The friendships and professional relationships of the Benjamins and Coits would weave in and out over the next several years. But the most significant one was the decision of Benjamin to ask Robert Coit to join him in Persia for a year.

Although Robert Coit's architectural career would span six decades, one of his last accomplishments was the Winchester Public Library. With a year to observe the architecture of Persia, it seems likely his library design was influenced by that trip of so many years before.

Next time: Robert Coit and his architectural career.

Safety first

A gang of teens walks into a Dartmouth high school and stabs a student to death. A teen convicted of manslaughter walks the hallways of a technical school in Billerica — the law says there is no way to keep him out. The insanity of inner-city violence has trickled into suburban schools, and the unease, rightly or wrongly, is palpable.

State education and law enforcement officials have put the school safety issue on the fast track, and want new laws and policies in place quickly.

The main target is an old state law that allows schools to expel students only for offenses that happen on-campus. In Billerica, that means allowing a student who has killed to walk the halls, common sense being tossed out the window.

On Thursday Gov. Weld filed a bill that will give schools the muscle to keep out felons. "There is an extraordinarily troubled group of individuals with a very complex set of problems," Middlesex County District Attorney Thomas Reilly said Tuesday. "They are identifiable. Get them out of there."

The bill is a good first step, but no anti-violence campaign can succeed with simply a law. Many anti-violence programs already exist. Projects which combats drug and alcohol abuse in the Waltham schools stress to students that for every action, there is a consequence.

Conflicts rooted in teen romance, athletic challenge or questions of "turf" are nothing new. All the policies, laws and increased security in the world won't stop them. What they will hopefully stop are meaningless showdowns that escalate to deadly violence.

Spring was Rotary auction

By Dan Chane
SPECIAL TO THE STAR

Of all the events which use to mark our passage from the cold months into spring, the one which is deeply missed by longtime Winchester residents is the annual Rotary Auction.

For months, in anticipation of the event, energetic Rotarians squirrelled away all manner of things in the old Rotary Barn on Elmwood Avenue and by auction time in late April the place was filled to bursting.

On a Saturday in late April, Winchester was regenerated as the country town it once was as the auctioneer's flag went up on Mount Vernon Street, the ducks paddled with delight in the Mill Pond, and scores of dealers and residents arrived at Town Hall Auditorium for a day at the auction.

The stage — and a good deal of the floor in front of it — was crammed with brass beds, Empire buffets, books, windup Victrolas and just about anything that Al Elliott and his crew could dig up around town and beyond.

It was a full day for many who chose to sit from morning until late evening. Some brought their lunches with them — but the majority of the auction-goers were well aware of the culinary skills of the "Rotary-Anns," and the meals these wives of Rotary members put together in the rear of the auditorium stand out even today, 40 years later, for their excellence.

Rotary usually hired a professional auctioneer for the occasion and one lasting memory is the staccato chatter of the auctioneer echoing off the bare walls of the auditorium, and the sharp bang of his gavel as another lot passed to its eager owner.

Members of the Rotary helped assemble lots near the auctioneer and delivered newly won purchases to their fond owners seated in the hall.

The observer particularly remembers the dedication and energy of Charlie Koch, Henry Clark and Harry Chefalo — and that no auction would have been complete without the down-home humor of Al Elliott.

As the day wound down, all sorts of objects were gathered into lots just to clear the hall. Ultimately all that was left was given away.

In a week or so — when the trees about Mill Pond had leafed out and Winchester was left to anticipate the Enka Street Fair, the auction was so much history as Rotarians began collecting all sorts of things for next year.

Perhaps the fast pace of modern living has consumed time that earlier Rotarians were able to give to assure a successful auction each year.

Unfortunately, that same fast pace has robbed Winchester of one of its great pleasures — its true harbinger of spring.

Striving to make it to the top

TERRY MAROTTA
COLUMNIST

What a piece of work is a man, as Bill Shakespeare said. How infinite in faculty!

You think this especially, when you sit down with the Guinness Book of Records, or THE WORLD'S MOST COMPLETE COLLECTION OF ASTONISHING AUTHENTICATED FACTS AND FIGURES FROM AROUND THE GLOBE, as its subtitle loudly exclaims. I know I'm astonished every time I pick it up. It's a treasure trove of information.

Want to know the commonest noncontagious disease? Periodontal trouble. The commonest contagious one? Acute nasopharyngitis, or the common cold. The most infectious? The pneumonic form of the Plague, as in the Black Death of 1347-51.

You can't put this book down, is the thing. And it has a style all its own that's frank, slightly grand (things happen 3 June, for example instead of June 3rd), and often humorous.

In it we learn that the Most Variable Stature distinction goes to a man who measured less than 3 ft. 11 in. at 21, then grew so fast that by the time he was 32, he'd reached a height of over 7 ft., thus becoming the only person in medical history to have been both a dwarf and a giant.

We learn that fingernails grow to a prodigious length, the longest ones on record belonging to a man from India, each of whose nails is roughly a yard long. The photo shows them curling down from the ends of his fingers like party streamers.

The Longest Recorded Attack of Hiccuping began when a man was slaughtering a hog, lasted for 69 years, and caused him to hiccup between 25 and 40 times a minute. The Longest Sneezing Fit, meanwhile, afflicted one Donna Griffith, who sneezed for 978 days straight, an estimated million times in the first 365 alone.

We learn that one poor soul has gone for whole years in a state of chronic colestites (total insomnia), and another has snored so loud (producing sounds of 90 decibels), that he was in violation of the local street-noise level ordinances.

Under Human Salamander, we see that naked men in U.S. Air Force experiments have been known to endure temperatures of 400 degrees (so that's what's wrong with the military!).

AND, that The Worst Reported Case of Compulsive Swallowing of Objects involved "an insane female," Mrs. H., who at the age of 42 complained of slight abdominal pain and was found to have 2,533 objects in her stomach, including 947 bent pins. In a more recent case, 212 objects were removed from the stomach of another individual, including 53 toothbrushes, two telescopic aerials, and 150 disposable razor handles. (Talk about recycling!) He's got nothing on one Michel Lotito of France, however, whose ability to consume two lbs. of metal per day "gastroenterologists have described as unique." "His diet," the text coyly reads, has included "10 bicycles, a supermarket cart, seven TV sets, six chandeliers, and a low-calorie Cessna aircraft. He is said to have provided the only example in history of a coffin (handles and all) ending up inside a man."

There's more too: about the Fastest Amputation in the PreAnesthetic Era (13-15 seconds by Napoleon's chief surgeon.) "There would have been no ligation of blood vessels," the text primly states, (or WH-U-U-U-M-P!, in other words); about the record for Kissing the most people (8001 women in 8 hours — quick! Someone tell Wilt Chamberlain!)); and the one for the highest recorded number of people demonstrating "the physical paradox of all being seated without a chair in an Unsupported Circle," by over 10,000 Nissan employees at Komozawa Stadium, Tokyo, Japan" (No wonder Detroit is in trouble.)

Hey, I even identify with some of these records: the one for Bed Pushing (a wheeled hospital bed — 3,233 miles) which reminds me of my three hair-raising gurney rides to the Delivery Room; and the one for Typewriting, (9,316 words in an hour, with only 40 errors.)

I tried typing "Guinness Book Of Records" at a tenth this speed just now. It says "Fyubbexx Nooj Og Exotfs."

Which, poor showing that it is, leaves me something to strive for.

Which, I guess, is what records books are all about.

ON THE RECORD

The School Committee has decided to have two assistant superintendents for the 1993-94 school year. The committee decided to hire an assistant superintendent of personnel and management at its April 27 meeting, and the committee already decided to implement an assistant superintendent of curriculum and instruction at its previous meeting. Although the committee advertised for the curriculum position in the Boston Globe, it will search for the personnel position within the school system. One parent complained to the School Committee that the committee may be violating state and federal equal opportunity laws by not advertising outside the Winchester school system. Parent Chris MacAdoo said minorities are given little chance of being hired if the committee only advertises within the system. The committee voted to hire an assistant superintendent to be posted in-house by a 3-2 vote.

While waiting for two proponents of Article 12, the change to the current regulations governing the feeding of water fowl, Town Moderator John Sullivan couldn't resist the temptation to make a bad joke. "It seems sort of appropriate we should have this discussion in such foul weather."

The School Committee had decided to allow Superintendent of Schools Robert Fitzgerald to select the final candidate for the principalship of the Lincoln School. However, the School Committee members will interview the finalist before he is hired. School Committee member Edward O'Connell said the committee trusts Fitzgerald's judgement, but should be allowed to interview the candidate as a "courtesy". Fitzgerald agreed, saying, "It may be a courtesy to him or to her to bring the candidate before you to make sure they want to still come."

Scholarship Foundation thanks supporters

To the editor:

I would like to thank all the members of the Winchester Community who responded so generously to the Winchester Scholarship Foundation Seventh Annual Telethon on April 13. The success of the event is attributable to the cooperation among the teachers and school groups who provided the entertainment, the anchor people who kept the program moving, the telecommunicators, and Cable 19. Most importantly, however, the financial support offered by those who responded to the telephone appeal will make a very significant difference in the amount of assistance which the Scholarship Committee can offer to deserving graduates of Winchester High School.

It is not too late to make your pledge if you were not contacted by telephone, or if you find that you can increase your pledge. Tax-free contributions may be mailed to the Winchester Scholarship Foundation, P.O. Box 174, Winchester, Ma. 01890. This is the best investment which can be made to demonstrate Winchester's dedication to education and faith in the futures of our youth.

Center is town asset

To the editor:

The "Happy Anniversary to the Jenks Center" event on Sunday, April 18, was a pleasurable family affair. The Council on Aging presented its remarks on that occasion. We take this opportunity to share those remarks with the entire Winchester community:

Happy Anniversary to the Jenks Senior Center!

The Winchester Council on Aging is grateful for this opportunity to welcome the many friends of Clarence Borggaard and the friends of the Jenks Senior Center to this celebration of Clarence's years of dedicated service to the town of Winchester and his fellow seniors in this community.

We in Winchester are celebrating the 15th anniversary of the opening of the Jenks Senior Center. On this very day the National Council on the Aging is conducting its National Conference in Anaheim, California. This is the kick-off event for a 50th year celebration of the first Senior Center in the United States, the William Hodson Center in Bronx, New York.

Fifty years ago, in 1943, Clarence was in his early 40's pursuing career and family goals. In his next fifty years he made significant contributions in town government and to the organization and building of this senior center.

In the same period senior centers have multiplied nationally to more than 15,000. This growth has been achieved because thousands of people, like Clarence, have shared his commitment to the principle that the nation's older people are entitled to lives of dignity and security; to physical, mental, and social well-being; and to full participation in society.

We are fortunate in this town that our elected leaders, selectmen and town meeting members have responded to the private sector efforts that built and currently fund the operating costs of this center, by funding the senior service activities of the Council on Aging in the municipal budget. This supportive response continues even in the face of financial stringency.

To sum it all up, Winchester is indeed fortunate to have a Clarence Borggaard and the best senior center in the Commonwealth.

Reader questions letter from Addezio

To the editor:

I'm writing to correct a couple of inaccurate statements made in a recent letter from Salvatore Addezio to the Star in response to my letter about having my car towed from the Salvy's Bakery parking lot on April 1. Mr. Addezio stated that "in the window of the Chinese restaurant is posted a notice stating the restrictions for the parking lot."

On the day that my car was towed, the Chinese restaurant had only been open for a few days, and no sign was posted in the window, nor anywhere in the restaurant. To the credit of the CHINA WOK a sign was posted in the window a few days after my car was towed, most likely in order to protect patrons from being victimized by Mr. Addezio's aggressive towing policy. That there was no sign in the window of the Chinese restaurant on the day of my towing can be verified by the restaurant's management; as well as the Winchester police officer who assisted me, and who went back to the Chinese Restaurant to try and warn another woman whose car he feared might be towed.

In his letter, Mr. Addezio also stated that a clerk from Salvy's told me that my car would be towed unless it was moved. This is absolutely not true. When I parked my car in front of Salvy's, my daughter and I got out of the car, and quickly ran across the street to the Chinese restaurant because it was raining very hard. It is incredible to assert that any clerk came out in the pouring rain to talk to me or anyone else. When I looked out of the window of the Chinese restaurant and saw that my car was gone, I went over to Salvy's Bakery.

I asked the clerk if she knew what had happened to my car, and she informed me that it had been towed. That was our only conversation.

I can understand Mr. Addezio's desire to justify his aggressive towing practice to the residents of Winchester. However, it is very disappointing to have untruthful statements made, by one not even present at the time, published in the newspaper giving readers a false and misleading version of the events.

BEACON HILL ROLL CALL

BEACON HILL ROLL CALL
Volume 20-Report No. 13
Massachusetts House and Senate
April 23, 1993

THE HOUSE AND SENATE — "Beacon Hill Roll Call" records local senators' votes on four roll calls from recent sessions on proposed changes to the Senate rules and joint House-Senate rules. There were no roll calls in the House or Senate last week. The legislature continued its long tradition of meeting in brief, informal sessions without roll calls during the April school vacation week.

CARRYOVER — Senate 35-0, approved a joint House-Senate rules change allowing some bills which are pending before the legislature at the end of the first year of a session to be "carried over" in the same state of approval into the second year. The amendment applies to bills which have received near-final approval in both branches, local bills approved by cities or towns, and bills which are pending before a conference committee. Supporters said this will prevent action on these bills from having to start from scratch each year. While there were no votes against the change, some senators noted it does not take effect unless also approved by the House. They said the idea has been proposed for years but never receives the approval of both branches. (A "Yes" vote is for allowing bills to be carried over to the next year).

Shannon voted yes.

TV COVERAGE — Senate 24-6, rejected a motion to bring to the Senate floor an order ordering TV and radio coverage of the Senate on proposed rules changes as long as the coverage does not disrupt the Senate. The Senate has spent some $1.5 million on broadcast equipment but has yet to find a station to broadcast the sessions. Supporters said this order will allow stations to bring their equipment in and will open up sessions to public scrutiny. They said it currently takes up to four days for anyone to receive a copy of a tape of any session. Some opponents said stations can currently take a direct feed of the sessions or receive a tape of a particular session. Others said coverage will disrupt the decorum of the Senate. (A "Yes" vote is for bringing the proposal to the floor for debate and a vote. A "No" vote is against bringing it to the floor).

Shannon voted yes.

Rep. Casey says federal money will help MWRA rate payers

The Boston Harbor cleanup will receive $100 million worth of funding from the Clinton administration. The new administration has promised to include the Harbor cleanup funding in the next budget. Rep. Paul Casey feels that this action would give much needed rate relief to MWRA ratepayers.

"Angry rate payers have definitely had a profound impact on the decision made by the administration. I am very happy, as is Congressman Markey and the other members of our state's congressional delegation, that we were able to convince the President that our area was in need of the rate relief this money will provide," remarked Casey. "We were under the impression for a long time that the President would provide the clean up with no money. This money is a windfall for those dealing with the sky rocketing water and sewer rates, but it still doesn't fully alleviate the problem. We will continue to fight for more rate relief," Casey added.

College Club meeting to be held

The Spring luncheon and annual meeting of the Winchester College Club will be held on Wednesday, May 12, at noon in Hadley Hall, Church of the Epiphany, Central and Church streets.

A short but important business meeting will include a revision of the bylaws and the election of officers for 1993-1994.

Robert Mac Kay, director of education for the Museum of Our National Heritage, Lexington, is to be the featured speaker. We look forward to viewing his slide presentation on "The Museum, Its Past, Present, and Future." This is an opportunity for members not familiar with the museum to learn of its many programs.

Luncheon will be served to members and their guests. Send reservations and checks to Lesley Ciano, 398 Highland Ave., Winchester, 01890 by May 5. Reservations are required. No tickets will be sold at the door.

For further information call Martha Ladd, president, at 729-4832.

Intervenors' changes accepted by Smith Pond developer

By Stephen Olivieri
ASSISTANT EDITOR

Several parties involved in a dispute for several years over a parcel of land bordering Smith Pond may soon reach a compromise.

The owner of a five-subdivision lot has agreed to make some changes to his land in order to reach a compromise with the Conservation Commission and intervenors.

Intervenors are abutters who are given legal status by the Department of Environmental Protection to be notified of any change in the land that has to come before the Conservation Commission. Intervenor status was granted to abutters two months ago.

The area near Ridge Street was first purchased by the current owner in 1987. At that time, the Conservation Commission rejected an order of intent to build on the land. However, the owner appealed the ruling to the DEP, who granted a permit. Since then, one house has been built on the lot.

After the ruling by the DEP, the Conservation Commission appealed the case to an adjudicator, where it has been since.

In an agreement with the Conservation Commission and the adjudicator, the land owner has agreed to change the distance of the house to the vegetative wetland. Vreeland said the distance now stands at two or three feet. The house cannot be moved, but Smith Pond will be shifted back 20 feet. The landowner will add 20 feet to the other side of the pond, which he also owns, by digging out.

There will also be a compromise on a 30-foot wall, which stands near the wetlands. It will instead be changed into a slope.

"There will be significantly less long-term impact on Smith Pond," said Vreeland.

WINCHESTER PEOPLE

Resident honored for service at McLean

Winchester resident Cyrus R. Akbarian was honored at a reception for volunteers at McLean Hospital, Belmont, on Monday, April 12. He was presented with an American Hospital Association pin in recognition of 500 hours of volunteer service in clinical research.

Akbarian was among 292 people from nearby communities who contributed more than 41,000 hours of service to McLean during 1992. These volunteers worked in inpatient units, community residences, patient education programs, the greenhouse, music therapy, art therapy, admissions, the gift shop, the thrift shop, research programs and many other hospital areas.

Inquiries about volunteering are welcome. For more information, call Anne Fallon at 855-2118.

De named to honor society at UMass

Arup De, son of Maya and Alok De of Cross Street, Winchester, was named to Alpha Lambda Delta this spring at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst.

Alpha Lambda Delta honor society encourages superior scholastic achievement in institutions of higher education, promotes intelligent living and continued high standards of learning and assists men and women in recognizing and developing meaningful goals for their roles in society. To be eligible, students must attain a 3.7 or higher cumulative average on a four-point scale during their first year of study.

De is a member of the class of 1995, majoring in biology with a concentration in neurobiology. He has been on the dean's list in each of his three semesters at the university. De graduated from Winchester High School in 1991.

Attorneys named fellows of Massachusetts Bar Foundation

Robert E. Keane and Dennis J. Kearney, two Winchester attorneys have been named fellows of the Massachusetts Bar Foundation.

The Bar Foundation is a charitable organization that finances legal research, makes loans and grants to law students, and helps support legal services for the poor. Fellows are members of the Massachusetts Bar Association who have demonstrated outstanding dedication to the welfare of the community and supported the mission of the association in promoting the reform of law and facilitating the administration of justice.

Keane owns his own law firm in Cambridge and Kearney practices law with the Boston law firm Kearney & Gleason.

Porter accepted to Berklee

Berklee College of Music has accepted drummer Charles Porter, son of Kent Porter-Haman of Winchester, for admission to the college. Porter will study under a faculty of innovative educators and professional musicians fluent in contemporary music styles. He will undertake a program of music study in common with some of the most respected performing and recording artists in today's professional music industry: multi Grammy-award-winning record producer Quincy Jones, recording artist and saxophonist Branford Marsalis, world-renowned vibist Gary Burton, pop songwriter/pianist Bruce Hornsby. All are alumni of the Berklee program.

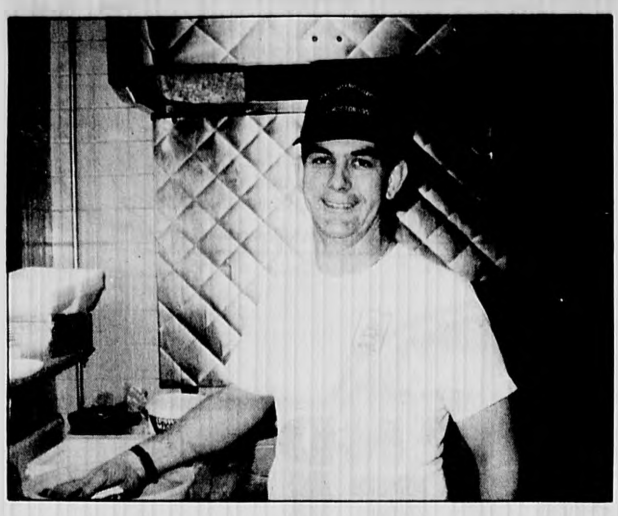
BUSINESS NEWS



Dennis Giacalone

Vito Giacalone

Father and son team make restaurant an overnight success

Last month Dennis Giacalone and his father, Vito, purchased Coquille's on Swanton Street in Winchester and named it Pappa's Pantry. They hoped to see the business grow gradually. However their formula of low prices for large quantities of family-style cooking attracted many new customers almost immediately.

"It's a real family restaurant," says Dennis Giacalone. He is "the boss," and his father is both the major stockholder and pastry cook. Dennis says, "I just enjoy seeing people eat and have a good time. I'd rather see someone leave a little on a plate than leave wanting a bit more. I like to give a lot of good food at a fair price." That philosophy shows, especially in the roast turkey dinner served on Thursdays. It includes real roast turkey, stuffing, potato, vegetable, fresh salad, and bread for $4.75.

Vito backs Dennis's words with his large muffins, six to seven and a half ounces each. Guests who sit at tables rather than at the breakfast bar have a coffee urn where they can refill their "bottomless" cups of coffee. Vito also plans to add more baked goods to his list of apple, blueberry, corn, lemon poppy seed, carrot and cinnamon raisin muffins. One dessert he loves to bake is his own banana sour cream cake creation, but he laments, "We do not sell all that many desserts here." Vito plans to market his desserts to caterers and fellow restaurateurs.

Pappa's Pantry is located at 72 Swanton Street. It serves breakfast from 5 a.m., lunches and dinners from mid-morning to 2 p.m., Monday through Friday, and is open until noon Saturday and Sunday. Take-out dinners are available. For more information or to place an order, call 729-7066.

Brennen named to head Continental

Continental Cablevision's Gregory T. Brennen, general manager of the Lawrence-area cable system since 1987, has also assumed responsibility for the communities of Billerica, Burlington, Reading, Stoneham, Wilmington, Winchester and Woburn.

He replaces William Richmond, who has been promoted. Richmond will serve as director of business development for New England, evaluating and coordinating Continental's entry into new communications services markets including residential, business, health care and education.

"Greg Brennen's experience in managing our Lawrence-area system, particularly his role in overseeing a $7 million project introducing fiber optic technology, will help Continental meet the future needs of our customers in all our communities," said Edward T. Holleran, Continental vice president and eastern Massachusetts district manager.

REAL ESTATE UPDATE
ANN BLACKHAM, CRB, CRS
ON INCLUDING EXTRAS

QUESTION: When selling a home, is it a good idea to leave a lot of personal items for the new buyer as frosting on the cake or do you advise selling personal items that you really don't need?

ANSWER: Frost the cake! It's a good idea to include as many extras as possible. Draperies that you won't need, shelving, porch furniture that you won't have use for, or maybe that extra lawn mower are some examples. Make sure the agreement spells out what goes and what does not. Whatever you do–do not try to sell such items to the buyer. The sale of a home is a big enough negotiation without muddying the water.

INCLUDING "EXTRAS" will make a buyer happy—but do it right!

FREE "LIVING TRUST" SEMINAR
Find Out How To
Transfer Your Estate to Your Family Quickly - Without Probate Fees

ATTEND ONE OF THESE FREE SEMINARS
Waltham Guest Quarters, Mon. May 10 - 10 a.m. or 7 p.m.
(Route 128, Exit 27B, Winter Street)
OR
Needham Sheraton, Thursday May 13 - 10 a.m. or 7 p.m.
(Route 128, Exit 19A, Highland Avenue)

Attend one of these seminars and receive a FREE, one-hour, private consultation to answer any questions you have about setting up your personal Living Trust ($175 value) and FREE Health Care Proxy (Living Will) with any Estate Plan

Why You Should Have a Living Trust...
- Your estate will transfer quickly to your family upon your death.
- There will be no probate court fees and no probate attorney fees for your family to pay.
- If you're married and your estate is worth less than $1.2 million, there will be no federal estate taxes to pay.
- You'll avoid conservatorship if you become incapacitated.

Without a Living Trust, This is What Will Happen... Even If You Have a Will...
- Your estate will go through probate to prove ownership and transfer title, which takes an average of 18 months, and probate fees could exceed $45,000.
- If your estate is worth more than $15,000, there will be court costs for your family to pay.
- If your estate is worth more than $600,000 net, your family may owe federal taxes of 37%-55%.
- Your family will have to pay attorney and executor fees, which each total 2-4% of the gross value of your estate before deducting debts and mortgages.

This Free Seminar is Sponsored By:
Wyner and Bernstein, Attorneys at Law
Joel Bernstein and Everett Wyner bring together over 20 years experience in estate planning, business and real estate matters. "We are also very pleased to announce Will Richmond's new role in helping to shape Continental's business future," Holleran said. "His management and academic background will serve him well in ensuring that we meet our corporate goals of providing our customers with the latest in telecommunications technology and services."

Brennen, a graduate of Ithaca College with a bachelor of science degree in accounting, brings experience both as a general manager and financial manager to his expanded role as area general manager.

Blackham Co. celebrates 25th

Ann Blackham & Company was feted at a 25th anniversary party recently at the Marriott Courtyard. The affair hosted by the hotel and West Associates of Cambridge included accolades by dozens of representatives of Business and Professional groups celebrating the anniversary.

Former State Representative Sherman "Whip" Saltmarsh led the remarks with humor, praise and reminiscences of Ann Blackham through the years from the time she started working in the real estate business in 1961 to the present day.

The "Company," the Blackham sales force, and guests present to celebrate the 25th anniversary of this home town company, were served brunch in the hotel dining room. The meal was arranged by a former "Winchester boy" — manager David Scott.

If You Have A Home Equity Balance Of $25,000 Or More, Why Pay More Than The Prime Rate?

Prudential-Prime Saves You Money
Prudential-Prime (PruPrime) can save you thousands of dollars, because, unlike most conventional home equity lines of credit, you borrow money at the prime rate* – not 1¾% or more above prime. And PruPrime guarantees you the prime rate – which may vary monthly – for the full 30-year term of the loan.
The interest above prime that you pay with other home equity loans can cost you thousands of dollars more over the life of your loan. With PruPrime, you only pay a one-time 2-point origination fee, plus standard closing costs for your area which include required insurance on the property that secures the line of credit. (If you borrow $100,000, your closing costs can range from $750 to $1,300 [or to $2,100 in the State of New York], plus insurance.)

Prudential-Prime Reduces Your Monthly Payment
Let's say the prime rate remains at 6% over the life of your loan. If you borrow $100,000 at 1¾% above prime, you will pay $35,072.92 in extra interest versus a PruPrime loan. (Other loan amounts would mean comparable savings.)

$500.00 Monthly Interest Payment vs. $645.83 Monthly Interest Payment
PruPrime At Prime
Other Banks At Prime + 1¾%

With PruPrime, you can pay interest only for the first 10 years. That means that on the previous $100,000 loan example, your monthly interest payment for the first 10 years is $500.00 versus $645.83.
And, since after the first 10 years PruPrime automatically converts to principal and interest payments, there's no balloon payment. There's no prepayment penalty and no annual fee.
Borrow from $25,000 to $1,000,000. The money can be used for almost any purpose, and the interest on a loan up to $100,000 may be tax deductible. (Check with your accountant or tax advisor for specifics on tax deductibility.)
And what's more, with a PruPrime Home Equity Loan, you get fast preliminary credit approval and all the services and reliability you would expect from "The Rock"... with its tradition of excellence and integrity. After all, quality runs in the family.
PruPrime is the sensible, low cost way to borrow money and the perfect answer to all your financial needs.

Field plans aired

field would be closer to the Lynch School but would not alter the existing parking lot.

After outlining 200 X 300 feet of land that would be used for a new playing field, Fields Committee members invited the group inside Lynch School for a public hearing.

Member of the Fields Committee Peggy Schleicher made it clear that the committee, "needs to respond to those who are physically challenged. This will be our first project in making all of our fields in Winchester truly accessible." Plans for a ramp for the handicapped as well as ambulance accessibility would be included in the field plan.

Although this was agreeable to all if the plans do go into effect, many of the people in attendance were concerned with the projects affect on the surrounding neighborhood.

Al Leach of Pond Street questioned the ability to make the project work. "It just doesn't ring true to me that the D.P.W. can do what the committee projects for $26,000," said Leach.

D.P.W. Director Tony Celli explained that the cost would cover equipment, materials and workers and would not take away from other work that needs to be done around town.

It is estimated that the project would begin if approved before the end of the fall season, 1993 and be completed by July or August 1994.

One concern of several residents of the Lynch School district was the conservation of the land and the size of the project. Some neighbors said the water in the wells could be used for drinking and, in fact, is the same water being used by some Woburn residents.

While the field would be built over an existing well area, the committee reported that the water is not fit for human consumption.

Jim Johnson, Fields Committee member, told the group, "The water was recently tested and contaminants were found." He also explained that the committee does not "plan on any further development. We do not plan any parking lot or any lights."

Another concern of the neighboring residents in attendance was an increase in traffic. Selectman and Fields Committee member Jerry Policari said that, "There will be a study done and a formal traffic report available at the next Town Meeting in two weeks."

Schleicher added, "It is the recommendation of this committee to the Board of Selectman that there be some limitations to the usage of the field. We propose that no more than two fields be in use at one time." The committee will continue working on the scheduling of field use in order to deter any traffic or parking problems.

In support of the new field, one resident, Fred DeSimone, said he felt, "very pleased that our town has recognized that fields are capital assets. They are being overused. Recreation is something good and healthy but we need some more green space esepially with more kids in the school system." DeSimone argued that the traffic and parking can be dealt with and solved.

Robert Dewald of Horn Pond Brook Road said he opposes the plan if it is part of a bigger plan for a "soccer complex".

Dewald brought forth the question of who will use the field, "The school or the soccer club? Why do we need another field?" Johnson stated that, "Both the kids in the school and the community at large will be able to use the field." Schleicher added, "The field will belong to all of us."

As to whether or not the field is needed, a teacher at the Lynch school, Donna Gildersleeve, emphasized the value of green space closer to the school.

"The kids only have 30 minutes for recess so the existing field is too far to take them to play. They get hurt on the blacktop everyday. We would be with them on the new field, watching them," said Gildersleeve.

Schools confront violence

student had not attempted to use the weapon.

In January a student sprayed another student with a Mace-like substance. In March a student brandished a knife after a fight in the cafeteria between two groups of students.

"This idea of kids coming into our schools with weapons and threatening other kids in our schools is horrifying," said committee member Eli Bortman.

Superintendent of Schools Robert Fitzgerald said he would present a draft policy on violence and weapons in the schools to the School Committee's Policy Subcommittee at its May 15 meeting.

"This is not meant to be an alarmist alert but rather to accept the realization that it can happen here," said Fitzgerald.

In addition, Fitzgerald said organizations specializing in violence would be coming to the school to talk to the students. Also teachers will be attending workshops on preventing violence.

Fitzgerald said high school Principal John Ritchie will be holding a forum with the student union to discuss the issues and consequences of weapons in the schools.

Ritchie is also meeting with teachers to caution them to be more aware of building security, Fitzgerald said.

To deter any future incidents, School Committee members advised Fitzgerald that the policy he will submit May 15 includes a strong punishment for those carrying weapons to school.

Evans suggested Fitzgerald look into a severe penalty for weapon violations, even as long as a one-semester suspension for first-time offenders. Evans also added that this punishment should extend to alcohol and drug abuse, which he says is a major problem in the school system.

We should "send them away for a semester to get our students to understand that we do mean business on this. We don't want weapons in our schools. We don't want them drinking. We don't want kids going out at lunch time and smoking marijuana and coming back to school stoned," said Evans.

Evans said that at a recent dance four students were suspended for being under the influence of alcohol, and he added that many more students were probably in a similar state.

"We have seen for multiple years that we have 50, 60, 70 percent of our students walking into these school social functions under the influence of alcohol," said Evans.

School Committee member Constance Makhoul said that parents also share the blame for not communicating the dangers of alcohol to their children.

"It's not cute, and it's not sophisticated, and its not desirable for kids to go to cocktail parties or have a drink before a prom," said Makhoul. "You put your own child and other children in danger of losing their lives. It's happened enough, so we know its true."

Town passes articles

cafeteria, that's been an ongoing problem for several years," said Maurer. Maurer said steps are being taken by the School Department to address the shortfall.

Town Meeting member Ralph Johnson asked what changes the School Department proposed.

In responding Superintendent Robert Fitzgerald said one thing currently being reviewed is the Food Service Group. According to Fitzgerald, the deficit in the School Cafeteria account in the last five years is directly related to the costs of paying for cafeteria help for 204 days, when lunches are only being served for 160 days. Fitzgerald noted the School Department is paying close attention to the issue.

Matthew Stone of the Finance Committee said his committee unanimously supported the transfers.

bargaining units at any time. He said he talked several times with members of the firefighters bargaining unit to set up a meeting over the weekend before the picket line was formed.

"For whatever reason, they chose not to meet with us," said Maurer. "It's difficult to work out an agreement with someone who won't meet."

According to Yore, Maurer offered to sit at the table for further negotiations on April 27 — if the picket line was not held. The firefighters refused.

Yore said Maurer's request to cancel the informational picket line was unfair. "I don't see anything out of order here," said Yore.

Maurer said the firefighters have a right to voice their opinion, but he said the picket line didn't bring the situation any closer to a resolution. "It probably wasn't, in my opinion, appropriate," said Maurer.

Yore also criticized about the lack of continuity at the negotiating table, saying he had dealt with three different selectmen since the negotiations began in December of '90. "There's no consistency at the table," said Yore.

According to Yore, both sides have used extensive legal assistance. "The town is more than happy to pay attorney fees, than give the blue collar workers a shot," said Yore.

Maurer said the bargaining process is a "unique type of process ... and very time consuming" and said the negotiations "always work themselves out."

Hall spotlights WHS grid star

Lentine joins Plains residents

By Jim McKenzie
SPORTS WRITER

Just what exactly was in the water in the Plains section of Winchester in the first half of this century?

When the Third Annual Winchester Sports Foundation Hall of Fame Dinner is held on May 13 at the Burlington Marriott, Andrew Lentine will become the fourth former Plains resident to be inducted into the Hall since its inception in 1991.

According to Lentine, a 1934 WHS graduate, there was nothing in the water. It just happened that a bunch of kids who loved to play sports lived in the same vicinity. Hall of Fame members Joe Bellino, Peter Provinzano and Anthony DeTeso were all raised in the Plains, the area of town loosely bound by Washington, Swanton, Cross and Main Streets.

"There were a bundle of athletes in (the Plains)," says Lentine. "If we had a tin can or a stocking or whatever, we'd play. Life was a lot simpler back then."

When the subject turns to great football players at Winchester High School, Andrew Lentine's name isn't always at the top of the list. But it's not for a lack of talent. It's because of the position he played.

Lentine played center. That meant playing offensive center and doing the majority of the blocking, and throwing an occasional pass when the Red and Black had the ball. And that meant playing roving center when the defense was on the field. Until after World War II, two-way, play-till-you-drop football was the name of the game.

Although Lentine was a three-sport star, who played guard in basketball and catcher in baseball, friends and teammates will never forget the impact the 5-foot-8-inch, 160-pounder had on the gridiron.

"Andy was a great, great player," recalls Frank Rallo, who was in his freshman year at WHS when Lentine was a senior. "He was such a competitive fellow. When he hit someone, he hit someone. And they stayed hit."

According to Ralph DeMambro, a 1933 Winchester graduate, Len-

Sachems bowl over Minutemen

Boys and girls track, tennis squads sweep past Lexington

By Jim McKenzie
SPORTS WRITER

It isn't often that the residents of Winchester get the chance to talk about a four-game sweep of neighboring Lexington, but that's exactly what happened Tuesday afternoon.

Winchester's boys and girls tennis teams joined the boys and girls track teams in defeating their rivals in all four matches. In track, Winchester's boys romped 90-54 while the girls eased past the Minutemaids 70-66. In tennis, the boys knocked off the Minutemen 4-1 in Lexington, while the girls routed Lexington's women, 5-0.

At Lexington High, the boys track team cruised past an outmanned Minuteman squad. The key to the meet was Winchester's dominance in the field events, where the team captured five firsts, including three sweeps.

Andy Perenick led the way for the Sachems, gaining the top spot in both the shot put and discus. Jeff Tahnk led a 1-2-3 Sachem sweep of the javelin. A pair of sophomores, Mike Wallwork and Jeff Sullivan, finished second and third, respectively.

Jamarl Johnson, Matt Tavares and Tahnk swept the high jump, while Ben Simeone, Rolando Oyola and Brian Lindmark did likewise in the long jump. Henry Kayulu took second and Frank Frisoli third in the triple jump while Simeone was runner-up in the pole vault.

"The field events are really coming along for us," said Winchester coach Tom Kline. "The distances weren't all that great, but they were very good in the conditions.

In the running events, Kayulu had another fine day, placing first in both the 300 hurdles and 800. Ray Regan won the mile, Tavares the high hurdles and Oyola the 400. Winchester captured nine firsts on the day.

Other Sachem placers included Simeone (second in the high hurdles), Lindmark (second in both the 100 and 200), Steve McCrae (second in the 400), Andy Ratner (second in the 2-mile) and Chris McAdoo (third in the shot put).

"It was a really good meet because we had a lot of sophomores placing," said Kline. "Even the kids that didn't place are getting better and better."

According to Kline, the entire team has been adapting to changes on a daily basis.

"I've got some kids trying a lot of different things every day," said Kline. "Anything I ask, they'll do. It's making this season really nice."

While the boys were trashing the Minutemen, the girls were slipping past the Minutemaids at Skillings Field. The key to the win was the performance of senior Diana Grande and junior Allyson Livada.

In order to keep Lexington's top athletes in check, coach Joe Cantillon matched the strength of Grande and Livada against that of Lexington.

"Our biggest strategy was to run Allyson wherever the top Lexington sprinter was running," said Cantillon. "Allyson and Diana really came through for us."

Grande responded with a three win afternoon, taking the top spot in the triple jump, 200, and 100 hurdles, while Livada was first in the long jump and 100 and anchored Winchester's winning 4x100 relay

Lax-ing consistency

Lacrosse team searching for steady play

By Jacqueline Carr
SPORTS CORRESPONDENT

The Winchester High boys lacrosse team had a roller-coaster week, notching a big 11-3 win over Beverly High, but dropping a 13-12 decision to Ipswich High and a 17-8 game to Hingham High.

Despite holding an apparently solid 9-2 halftime lead, Winchester was edged 13-12 by an aggressive Ipswich team on a rain-soaked field Tuesday in Ipswich.

After a solid first half by the Sachems, the prospects of handing the Tigers their first loss looked good. Senior Jon Arsenault and senior tri-captain Brian Bernazzani both turned in excellent first-half performances with four goals each, and senior midfielder Mike Szczepanski added an unassisted first-half goal.

The tide started to turn in favor of Ipswich when Winchester senior midfielder Bob Donlon exited the game with a broken collarbone. The Tigers outscored the Sachems 11-3 in the second half and hung on for the 13-12 comeback victory.

Aided by Ipswich's physical play, which led to the Tigers playing most of the second half a man down, junior Phil Reuland, Greg Carroll and Arsenault all notched second-half goals, but it wasn't enough to overcome the relentless Ipswich comeback.

"Coach (John Pirani) said as well as we'd played in the first half was as poorly as we'd played in the second half," said tri-captain Szczepanski. "Everything just fell apart. Nothing was clicking."

In damp and overcast weather last Friday, Winchester trounced the Beverly High Panthers 11-3 at Skillings Field.

Both Lacroix and Arsenault led the Sachems offensive assault with hat tricks. Senior midfielder John Rauseo also enjoyed a multiple-goal

Seniors pitch in

Russo, Amico toss back-to-back gems

By Jim McKenzie
SPORTS WRITER

In a preseason interview, Winchester High baseball coach Bill Chase said his team's strength appeared to be pitching. But with senior tri-captain Ed Russo coming off an arm injury and first-year varsity hurler Angelo Amico getting roughed up by Stoneham in his first start, it seemed the Sachems might be in for a long season.

But after the pair tossed consecutive shutouts last week — a 7-0 win over Belmont and 4-0 victory over Wakefield — it appears Winchester's staff may be coming together as Chase expected.

"The back-to-back shutouts certainly gave us a lift," said Chase. "We had talked about how we really had to beat each of those teams if we wanted to stay in the race, and the guys went out and did it."

The two wins were part of a 2-1 week in which Winchester lost 8-2 to non-league foe Lowell last Saturday at Manchester Field.

Against Belmont on April 21, Russo showed the form that stymied the Marauders on two separate occasions last season, when Russo pitched the Sachems to a regular-season sweep of the Marauders. Russo gave up one hit in each of the first four innings, but Belmont never threatened to score.

Winchester took advantage of a key error in the bottom of the fourth to score three times, despite picking up just one hit off Belmont starter Mike Salmon in the inning. Another Marauder error opened the floodgates in the fifth, as Winchester scored four times to take a 7-0 lead.

Russo allowed just one hit the rest of the way, improving his record to 1-1 and lowering his ERA to a scant .50. The crafty senior accumulated 19 strikeouts in his first two starts, both complete-game efforts.

With a young Wakefield team in town Friday, Winchester was hoping for an easy win. After Josh Carroll provided the big blow with a two-run triple in the first, Amico shut down the Warriors on just four hits. He finished with 11 strikeouts and four tine was a terror on the offensive line.

"He took out two guys at a time, that fella," DeMambro remembers. "I'll never forget how mad he was when we played Lexington. He opened one hole he said was 'big enough to drive a Mack truck through,' but we didn't score. Boy, was he mad."

Tony Ciruso, who graduated in 1932, was a guard and halfback for Winchester during the 1931 season, Lentine's sophomore year.

"He was a great center, but I most remember his defense," says Ciruso. "He made 90 percent of the tackles. He was a wizard on the field."

Lentine gained recognition throughout Greater Boston when he was named captain of the prestigious Boston Globe All-Scholastic football team at the conclusion of the 1933 campaign. In a Globe story announcing the team, Lentine was referred to as "a smart, hard-tackling rover and a power on offense."

To Lentine, defense was where all the action happened.

"I loved center on defense," he recalls. "I loved having the responsiblity of diagnosing plays and making the tackles."

In a game against Belmont late in the '33 season, Lentine's fine defense helped solidify a 12-6 Winchester win, which clinched the Middlesex League championship for the Red and Black and coach Wendell Mansfield.

According to Rallo, it was an emotional moment when the great Winchester coach called his team together upon learning of Lentine's All-Scholastic selection.

"I vividly recall the day," says Rallo. "We had an assembly at the school and coach Mansfield was so proud when he told the school that Andy was the first player ever from Winchester to be named captain of the All-Scholastic team."

After high school, Lentine attended New Hampton Prep, where he played basketball and baseball under Henry Knowlton, who went on to become a WHS coach and Hall of Fame member. His high school excellence and prep experience helped earn a scholarship to Boston College. As one of eight children, Lentine's only way to college during those Depression years was on scholarship.

At BC, Lentine played under the Eagles' great coach, Gil Dobie, whose first comment to his new recruit was, "You're too small to play the line." Determined to find a spot on the roster, Lentine set out to learn all of the line positions. His dedication paid off, as Dobie named him the team's utility lineman, an integral position in those days.

ANDREW LENTINE
All-Scholastic in 1933

Lentine was never a star at BC, which was playing a big-time schedule that included such perennial powers as Florida, North Carolina, Michigan State, Detroit and Holy Cross. He did, however, earn letters in 1937 and '38, and was a pivitol cog in the BC line when he was called upon to replace an injured Eagle lineman in BC's 9-6 defeat of Detroit in 1938.

Lentine was so skilled as a lineman that he was hired as line coach (the only position besides head coach) at Winchester High in 1939, and at Bates and Springfield colleges under coach Mansfield in 1940 and '41.

After joining the Navy in 1942, he served as a drill and physical education Chief Petty Officer for three years. Lentine gained his master's degree in Education at Tufts University in 1948, and began a 31-year teaching and coaching career the following fall.

His first head coaching experience came at Westerly, R.I., where he guided his team to the Rhode Island Class B basketball championship in 1949. In 1954, he was assistant coach when Malden Catholic won the state Class B football championship.

Lentine coached until 1957, and was a math teacher in the Medford school system for over 20 years. He retired 14 years ago and lives in Medford with his wife Lillian.

Lentine realizes sports played an important part of his life, and thinks sports play an important part in forming young men and women.

"I think that sports keeps 90 percent of kids out of trouble and teaches people how to get along together," says Lentine. "It teaches you that there will be ups and downs and that you should never quit."

TARA JUWA
Partial scholarship to Marist

Locals picking schools

Juwa tabs Marist; Oliver to Brandeis

Winchester High School senior Tara M. Juwa has accepted a partial swimming scholarship to Marist College in Poughkeepsie, N.Y. Marist, a 3,000-student liberal arts college, has a Division I swim program.

COLLEGE NOTEBOOK

Juwa, a quad-captain for the 1992 Sachemettes, also received an academic scholarship. She will major in communications at the newly-opened Lowell Thomas Center, which displays some of the newest communications equipment on the East Coast.

Oliver commits to Brandeis

The Brandeis University men's soccer team will have a distinctly Winchester flavor next fall. WHS senior Shaun Oliver has decided to join his brother, Kris, and Vandy French as a member of the Judges.

Oliver, the Middlesex League MVP and state and New England All-Star, scored 25 goals and added 16 assists to lead Winchester to the ML championship this fall. Oliver chose Brandeis over the University of Vermont.

O'Connell plays for Crusaders

Alison O'Connell is currently a freshman outfielder for the varsity softball team at Holy Cross College in Worcester. Through Monday, O'Connell had played in 13 of the Crusaders' 24 contests.

The 1992 Buckingham, Browne and Nichols graduate was a co-captain and starting shortstop in high school. She received the Independent School League All-League Award and the Association of Independent Schools Girls Athletics All-League Award in her sophomore, junior and senior years.

O'Connell participated in Winchester summer softball for many years and was named a Middlesex League All-Star in the summer of 1991.

Girls soccer team wins tournament

The Winchester Under-17 Girls Soccer Team recently won the Franklin Indoor Soccer Tournament. The team was comprised of varsity and junior varsity players from the fall. Winchester advanced to the championship game by defeating Newton North's U-19 team 1-0 in sudden-death overtime in the semifinals.

The Newton North team was comprised primarily of seniors who were members of the school's Division 1 State Championship squad. Winchester High sophomore Julie Russo scored the only goal in the game, netting a shot from three-quarter field.

In the championship game, Winchester beat the U-17 Newton North team 2-1, with Denise Lindmark and Jenna DeSimone scoring the goals. DeSimone was named the tournament MVP. Winchester's Allyson Livada also turned in an outstanding performance.

Team members included Katie Nowell, Chrissy Nowell, Cara Bonasera, Stephanie Powers, Kelly Smith, Amy Hougland, Leslie Parks and Katie Umscheid. The Winchester team was coached by Dennis Lukens and Paula Russo with Anne Lindmark serving as administrator.

team.

Other Winchester wins came from Laura Aleo (300), Melissa Lindmark (discus) and Sara Bonnell (2-mile).

Back in Lexington, the Sachem tennis players defeated a strong Minuteman squad, 4-1. Matt Fuller and Dave LaCasia won singles matches, while junior Dave Fiorentino, in his first match after battling mononucleosis, dropped a marathon three-setter to Lexington's Carlos Reyes.

In doubles, Winchester's No. 1 team of Pete French and Tony Cella staved off an upset bid from Palker Cauffman and Steve Cole. The Sachem duo survived 6-3, 6-7 (3-7), 7-6 (7-4). Cliff Swap and Matt Storeygard rolled at second dubs.

At the Winchester Swim and Tennis Club, the Sachemettes smoked the Minutemaids 5-0 to complete the Winchester sweep.

afternoon, with two goals and an assist in first-half action.

Desmond also submitted a strong performance for Winchester, leading the team in ground balls and pick-ups, and scoring a goal that was assisted by Lacroix. The Sachems led 7-3 at the half.

Junior Brian Johnson ignited Winchester's defense in the second half, with senior Mike Collins, senior tri-captain Paul Albiani, and junior goalie Andrew Brown all lending defensive support.

Reuland netted an unassisted third-period goal.

On an assist from senior Brian Bernazzani, Lacroix fired a third-quarter goal, and later assisted on a fourth-quarter score by Szczepanski. Junior Eric Clemente also tallied a fourth-period goal, from junior defenseman Gary Pedulla.

Junior Neil Dixon played a solid fourth quarter in net for Winchester, and helped preserve the 11-3 win over the Panthers.

The Sachems bowed 17-8 to Hingham last Wednesday (April 21). Thanks to early goals from junior midfielder Matt Desmond and Bernazzani, Winchester jumped out to a 2-0 lead.

Sachem junior Alex Lacroix notched the first of his two goals in the second quarter, assisted by Arsenault. Greg Carroll and Reuland added second-quarter tallies, but Winchester still trailed 8-6 at the half.

Hingham took over in the third quarter, opening up a commanding lead and holding the Sachems scoreless.

Szczepanski, assisted by Carroll, netted a fourth-quarter goal, and Lacroix added his second goal, but it was too little, too late.

Winchester tries to get back on the winning track in contests against Needham (Friday) and Lexington (Sunday). Both games are scheduled to be played at Skillings Field.

walks, bouncing back strong from the Stoneham disaster of one week earlier.

"Angelo really looked sharp," said Chase. "He wasn't as bad as the score (22-5) indicated against Stoneham; it was his first time on a real mound and his pitches were up a bit in the strike zone. He's settled down nicely."

Sachem Notebook: Although Winchester stumbled on Saturday, falling 8-2 to a strong Lowell squad, Chase thinks he may have found a couple possible starters. Brian Mannett tossed 3⅓ innings of two-hit, four-strikeout ball, and Sean Furey, the Sachems' 6-foot-3-inch junior, was on the hill for two innings and notched four K's. "Sean did especially well," said Chase. "He's pretty imposing coming off that mound at 6-3. When he's around the plate, he's very good. Now we're looking for those third and fourth guys to really solidify this team." ...

Amico and Russo are proving to be a 1-2 punch in more ways than one. After tinkering with the starting lineup over the first couple weeks of the season, Chase has decided to give Amico the leadoff chores, with Russo hitting second. Through Saturday's game, both were batting at a .333 clip, trailing only Furey (.375). ...

Winchester was tied for second place in the Middlesex League after Monday's games were all rained out. At 3-3 overall and 3-1 in the ML, Chase said the team was winning the games it had to. "We need to keep beating the teams in the lower half of the league if we want to have a shot," Chase said. "We could be 5-1 if we had scheduled some patsy instead of Lowell, but we'll benefit from the experience in the long run." ...

Chase reported that sophomore Bobby Marrone has been tearing the cover off the ball at the junior varsity level. The last cut off the varsity squad, Marrone may be with the big club soon.

SPORTS BRIEFS

Adult basketball skills workshop

Another series of adult basketball skills workshops will be offered at the North Suburban Family YMCA on 137 Lexington St. in Woburn. This five-week program is open to men and women of all skill levels and will run Wednesdays, May 5, 12, 26, and June 2, 16, from 8:30-10 p.m.

The program will again be conducted by Winchester native and former NBA player Bob Bigelow, who is currently a New England-based NBA scout and director of the only skill development camp for college basketball players in North America. He has more than 20 years experience teaching players of all ages.

The fee for this program is $69 for YMCA members and $79 for nonmembers. Enrollment is limited. For more information, call Bigelow at 729-6134.

Host families needed for German students

Host families are needed for 35 German students who will be visiting Massachusetts, for the first time, in July 1993. The students are sponsored by International Education Forum, a nonprofit organization based in the United States. The students are between the ages of 14 and 18 and will take part in a homestay immersion program, staying with a host family for four to five weeks. The students are visiting Massachusetts in order to participate in American family life and to improve their English language skills.

If you are interested in hosting a German student, call Carol Henderson at 729-1971 as soon as possible.

Alzheimer's support group at church

An Alzheimer's peer support group will meet the second and fourth Tuesday of every month at St. Eulalia's Church beginning Feb. 9. The meeting provides peer support to families, friends, and caregivers. The April 13 meeting will be held in the church's conference room at 50 Ridge Street on "Caring for the Caregivers" with a discussion to follow. For further information call Roberta at 983-6844 or Valerie at (508) 897-7455.

Casey to hold office hours for constituents

Rep. Paul Casey (D-Winchester) will be holding office hours at Winchester Town Hall on the first and third Fridays of each month from 9 — 11 a.m.

Aids Action seeks volunteers for Buddy Program

The Buddy Program of the AIDS Action Committee is looking for volunteers to provide emotional and practical support to clients on a one-to-one basis. Interested persons older than 24 are invited to attend an orientation to learn about the Buddy Program and how to apply.

Orientations are held monthly at 7:30 p.m., on the fourth Tuesday of each month on the fourth floor of the AIDS Action offices at 131 Clarendon St. For more information call 437-6200, Ext. 450.

Career transition

A career transition networking and support group meets every Thursday, except the second of each month, at St. Eulalia's Church, 50 Ridge St. The meetings are held 7 to 9 p.m. in the church's conference room and are open and free. For more information call 729-8220.

WHS Class of 1944 to hold reunion

Winchester High School Class of 1944 has begun plans for a 50th anniversary reunion to be held in the fall of 1994. Any member of the class, graduate or otherwise, who would like to be notified of final details but who may have reason to believe his or her current address is not on file with reunion organizers, is asked to send address information at this time to Joan Hanson Blake, 45 Pine Ridge Road, Reading, 01867.

Fourth Annual All-Night Graduation celebration

Plans for the Fourth Annual All-Night Graduation Celebration are well underway. This event provides the 1993 graduates of Winchester High School with a safe and enjoyable last night together.

This event will be held on graduation night, Sunday, June 6, from 9:30 p.m. to 5 a.m., in the McCall Middle School gym and recreation areas. Some guidelines will be in place to ensure an enjoyable time for all. No alcohol will be allowed. Entrance time will be between 9:30 and 11 p.m. No one will be admitted after this time unless special permission has been arranged in advance. Any graduate who leaves the party will not be allowed to return and their parents will be notified before they are dismissed, regardless of the hour.

The All-Night Graduation Celebration Committee, under the direction of chairwomen Donna Desmond and Cathy Gatto, is hard at work planning for this multifaceted event. The night's activities will include nonstop food and dancing, live entertainment, games, contests, raffles, palm readers, tattoo artists, caricaturists, videos, and movies. All of these activities are available to the seniors for the $15 cost of admission.

A T-shirt contest is presently under way at the high school. Students submit their original design to a vote of their classmates. The winning design will be emblazoned on a T-shirt and given to each graduate.

The Winchester community has been a ready supporter of this event in the past years. The committee hopes to count on their continued support in providing safe alcohol-free events for Winchester's youth.

Kidstock spring and summer classes

Kidstock Youth Theater, directed by Brian Milauskas, is now registering for spring and summer 1993. All Kidstock programs are non-audition based with a limited first come registration. Summer session registration for grades one and two and grades three through eight is also available for four performance workshops during July and August. Each workshop involves drama, dance, art and music exploration and is weeks long, Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. For information and a brochure, call Kidstock at 729-5KID.

Cooperative Theatre opens summer program registration in April

No Auditions! No experience needed! Do you like to act, dance and sing?? Are you entering grades three through eight? If you think you would like to try some aspect of theatre, then this is the perfect program for you. Catherine Alexander, director of the Cooperative Theatre, which just produced the Wizard of Oz is looking for children for summer drama camp. The camp will offer workshops that are designed to meet each student's ability. Every week, friends and families will be invited to Lincoln School auditorium to observe the various skits and monologues. In addition, the entire group will work on a musical production with Lori Lerman, which will be performed at the end of the session. The program will begin on June 28 and end on July 30. Hours have been extended for our program and children will attend from 8:30 to 12:30, Monday through Friday, with occasional special activities in the afternoon. Please call Cathy Alexander to register or for information at 729-0224.

Ageless Follies

There will be plenty of toe-tapping and humming in the Winchester Town Hall on the evening of May 1 at 7:30 p.m. The Ageless Follies program is brimming with tap dancing, comedy skits, ballads and show tunes. There will be memorable renditions by the Winchester High School Octet and the Senior Glee Club. Singing commercials will highlight many of Winchester's shops and businesses. A new feature of this annual endeavor will be opportunities for voluntary participation by the audience. Refreshments will be served during intermission.

Tickets are $6 for the cabaret floor and $4 for the balcony, and they are on sale at the Jenks Senior Center, Book Ends, Cradock's and Henderson's. Come and enjoy the many talents of Winchester residents all in the spirit of support for the Winchester Youth Center.

Griffin Center for Photographic Art hosts exhibit

The Arthur Griffin Center for Photographic Art in Winchester is currently hosting the most comprehensive exhibition to date of the work of Karin Rosenthal. 'The Animate Landscape' exhibits 60 photographic resonances of the nude form and the natural landscape, in black and white and in color, through May 2.

Thumbs up for the St. Jude Benefit

TomorrowNite honorary co-chairs Margie Reedy of WHDH-TV and Governor William Weld join Matthew Massery at a gala benefit for St. Jude Children's Research Hospital on May 7, at Avalon in Boston featuring The Fabulous Thunderbirds and Heavy Metal Horns.

Massery has close ties with St. Jude's. In 1987, at age 2, Matthew was diagnosed with leukemia. Thanks to research done at St. Jude's in Memphis, Matthew was treated in Boston at Massachusetts General Hospital with chemotherapy protocols established at St. Jude's.

Today Matthew is a happy and healthy 9-year-old who lives with his parents Anita and Louis Massery and 5-year-old sister Deena in Winchester.

Players present "Three Sisters"

The Winchester Players present Anton Chekhov's Classic Family Drama "Three Sisters." This play is about a dysfunctional family, set against a backdrop of Russian soldiers and the burning city of Moscow. It is directed by Ken Harvey and produced by Carolynn Frueh and Ann Guilderson.

All performances are at the Metcalf Hall Theatre, Winchester Unitarian Church, 478 Main St. (the corner of Main Street and Mystic Valley Parkway) on April 30, May 1, 2, 7 and 8. Friday and Saturday shows at 8 p.m.; Sunday show at 7 p.m. Tickets are $9 for general admission, $7 for seniors and students and special rates available for groups of 30 or more. For reservations call 721-1814.

The Energy Connection offers Reebok 'Bodywalk' classes

The Energy Connection is adding a walking course to its schedule of health and fitness classes. Reebok's "Bodywalk" is a carefully designed, comprehensive walking program that can teach anyone — from the first time exerciser to the fitness enthusiast — to get the most from a walking workout. Walking is a wonderful, healthy way to enjoy the good weather, and The Energy Connection is very pleased to be able to offer this outdoor Reebok program to all adults in the community.

Each meeting will feature instruction in proper walking technique, warmup, cooled and strengthening segments. There will also be interesting, and individualized walking routes from Winchester center that are geared to specific fitness levels. The course also will provide tips and guidelines for walkers in Winchester Hospital's upcoming "Big Steps for Little People" Walk-a-thon.

"Bodywalk" is a progressive four-week course that meets twice weekly. Session I will begin May 3; Session II starts May 31. Three class times are available: 6:30 a.m., 10 a.m., or 7 p.m. Cost is $32. Early registration is suggested as class size is limited. For more information and to register, call 729-3256 or 729-7268.

Lynch Flea Market and Craft Fair in May

The Annual Lynch Flea Market and Craft Fair, sponsored by the Lynch Parents' Association, arrives come rain or shine on Saturday, May 1, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Lynch Elementary School, 10 Brantwood Road.

This year's fete will feature reasonably priced handmade crafts (perfect for Mother's and Father's Day), as well as a wide variety of flea market items. Come enjoy grilled hot dogs and hamburgers, ice cream, and activities for children, including face painting.

Anyone interested in renting a table to sell their own crafts, collectibles, or flea market items should call Pat at 729-8907.

Historical Society hosts lecture on church architect

The design of Winchester's First Congregational Church and its architect will be the subject of a lecture, sponsored by the Winchester Historical Society, on Thursday, April 29, 7:30 p.m., at the church.

The lecture is entitled, "Neat, Convenient and Tastefully Designed: The First Congregational Church of Winchester and Its Architect, Alexander R. Esty."

The lecture will be given by Stephen Jerome, who recently identified Esty as the church's architect. Jerome is an architectural historian and curator of a historic house for the Brookline Historical Society.

In a slide presentation, Jerome will discuss the original church design. He also will relate the church to other buildings by Esty, who was a noted Boston architect in the 19th century.

The lecture is free and open to the public.

The Arthur Griffin Center for Photographic Art is hosting a photography walking tour on Saturday, May 8 (rain date, May 16), from 2 to 3:30 p.m. Griffin will point out some of his favorite photography spots in Winchester. Bring a camera and wear comfortable shoes as you try to keep up with your 89-year-old tour guide. Griffin will be assisted by a few friends on this fun, informal walk. Call the center for details and a reservation.

The Arthur Griffin Center for Photographic Art, on Shore Road, is open Thursday through Sunday, 1 to 4 p.m.

Asthma and Allergy Foundation dinner

Asthma and Allergy Foundation of America/New England Chapter celebrates its annual "Breath of Spring" dinner/auction on Thursday, April 29, 6 p.m. at the Royal Sonesta Hotel in Cambridge.

Members of the honorary committee include Gov. and Mrs. William Weld, Rep. Patrick Kennedy of Rhode Island, Sen. John Kerry, Ed Pinckney and Red Auerbach of the Boston Celtics, and TV personalities Bruce Schwoegler and Natalie Jacobson.

Asthma and allergies are major public health problems that cause the loss of more than 10 million work days and 150 million school days annually. Proceeds from this fundraising event will benefit patient education, public awareness and research programs, as well as programs to assist high risk populations.

Shannon announces office hours

Senator Charles Shannon recently announced his district office hours for the town of Winchester. Sen. Shannon will be at the Winchester Town Hall from noon to 2 p.m. on Friday, April 30. Sen. Shannon extends an invitation to all his constituents to stop by and discuss any issue of concern.

City Lights to perform for ABC benefit dance in May

Winchester's Committee for "A Better Chance" (ABC) will hold its annual Spring Benefit Concert Saturday, May 8, at the Lincoln School Auditorium at 8:30 p.m.; and, for the first time, dessert at Rick's Cafe will cap off the evening. The annual ABC Spring Benefit Concert is a significant fund raising event for the Winchester A Better Chance program. All proceeds from the concert directly benefit the Winchester ABC house.

This year, the benefit committee, chaired by Jennifer Regentz and Debbie Johnston, is thrilled to present the Boston City Lights Street Dancers.

Boston City Lights is a nonprofit performing arts group, made up of five renowned Boston-born dance and theater professionals and the kids (age 9 through 20) they have taken off the streets. Begun in the late '70s by Duggan Hill, City Lights is a free performing arts school that has provided a forum for Boston street kids to discover, use and cultivate their talents.

Over the years, Hill and Boston City Lights have discovered and groomed hundreds of young dancers and singers. Their melting-pot production, ranging from hip-hop to rap to Broadway show style and a cappella gospel songs, has earned them international acclaim. The evening promises to memorable.

Seating is limited, so tickets should be purchased soon. Tickets may be purchased by calling Barbara Hyde at 729-0513 or by mailing a check with a self-addressed envelope to 27 Canterbury Road, Winchester 01890. Or stop in at one of these local shops to purchase tickets: Book Ends, Cradock's, Henderson's or the News Shop.

Tickets for the performance are $20 per person ($10 for seniors and students). Dessert at Rick's Cafe is $5 per person. Or you may choose to become a patron for $90; becoming a patron of ABC entitles you to two tickets to the performance, two tickets for dessert at Rick's Cafe and your name in the evening's program.

The Winchester Committee for A Better Chance looks forward to seeing you at this year's concert and greatly appreciates the public's continuing support for the ABC program.

Fireman's Relief host retirement party

The Winchester Fireman's Relief Association will be sponsoring a retirement party/banquet, at 6:30 p.m., on May 14, at the Winchester Sons of Italy Hall, 117 Swanton St., Winchester in honor of the following retirees:

Michael Beaton, fire fighter; Louis Cappello, fire fighter; David Dalton, fire captain; John MacIsaac, fire fighter; Robert McElhinney, fire chief; Robert J. Sullivan, fire fighter; Robert Fiore, call fire fighter; William Haggerty (posthumously), call fire fighter; and Joseph McGrath, call fire fighter.

Cocktails run from 6:30 - 7:30 p.m. After the turkey dinner, there will be music and dancing until 12:30 p.m.

Friends, families, and Winchester residents are invited. Tickets can be obtained at the Fire Deparment headquarters on Mt. Vernon. Tickets are $12.50 per person.

Grayson shows in Cambridge exhibit

Beatriz Grayson of Winchester is one of 30 area artists selected to exhibit in the first annual juried art exhibit to be sponsored by the Stebbins Art Gallery, located at Zero Church St., Cambridge.

An opening reception will be held from 6 to 8 p.m. April 30 at the gallery. The exhibit and reception are free and open to the public.

Gallery hours are 4 to 8 p.m. Thursday and Friday, and 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday. Hours will be extended until 9 p.m. May 6. To schedule viewing at additional hours, call for an appointment, 527-3930.

Rotary Club hosts golf tourney

The Winchester Rotary Club will host the fifth annual Winchester Rotary Charitable Golf Tournament at the Winchester Country Club on Monday, May 3, at 1 p.m.

The tournament is a fundraiser to support the Winchester Rotary Charitable Fund, which each year donates between $15,000 and $20,000 to local charities, school groups and community organizations. The charitable fund also supports Rotary International in its scholarship fund and world wide relief efforts.

Lou Gentile, chairman of the event, expects a full field of 128 golfers for the event. "We are very grateful to the Winchester Country Club for its support. They are always willing to give back to the community," said Gentile, referring to the fact that the Winchester Country Club donates the use of the facility and greens fees to the tournament each year.

The tournament will be followed by a dinner at the country club with several prizes awarded to golfers, including a hole-in-one automobile. If you are interested in participating please contact Lou Gentile at 387-5100 or John Finamore at 729-7857.

Africa Resource Institute does it again

This year, in February, Afrisource produced and staged the first Black History Month Celebration ever in Winchester.

The celebration was sponsored by the Africa Resource Institute in cooperation with the Multicultural Network.

Africa Resource Institute is a subsidiary of the FEED Foundation Inc., a nonprofit organization. FEED is the contracted form of the Uganda-American Association "For Education, Ethicks and Development." It stands for a resolute act of showing concern for fellow human beings.

Africa Resource Institute, whose acronym is Afrisource, puts in practice some stipulations of FEED. Afrisource is an agency whose aim is the promotion of international, intercultural, multicultural and community knowledge and understanding under the banner of "Unity in Diversity."

Afrisource is soon bringing the American premiere of the musical play on Africa, "Thirty Years of Bananas," by Alex Mukulu, a native of Uganda, and his troupe, Impact International, to Winchester High School Auditorium, 7:30 to 9 p.m. on May 11. The whole family is invited. For more information call Agnes K. Lugira at 721-5854 or 729-9245.

Time for a spring fling

Spring is finally here and the Music Department of the Winchester Public Schools and the Community School Association are pleased to announce the annual Spring for the Arts. The concert series will feature the Spring String Fling on May 4, the Spring Sing Fling on May 5 and the Spring Band Fling on May 6. All concerts will be at Winchester High School Auditorium at 7:30 p.m.

All members of the community are invited. Join us for a musical series

Art exhibit at Jumelage

Jumelage Winchester St. Germain-en-Laye presents a combined art exhibit featuring American and French artists. Through the support of Winchester Arts Lottery Council, Winchester and Cambridge Art Associations, and local townspeople, this joint exhibit is made possible. The exhibit on display at the Winchester Library May 1 to 28 features many local and French artists.

The family and the 1990's: Will it survive?

An open round-table discussion on the issues of the 1990's and how they impact the family will feature guest lecturer, Dr. Hardy Tillman, Ph.D. Topics will include: "Overcoming the cycle of guild and abuse," "Building self-esteem in our children," "The discipline dilemma," "Resolving conflict," "Independence and interdependence," and seven others.

St. Germain-en-Laye, the Winchester Arts Council, and Winchester Cambridge Art Association presents: Art Allience/ D'Art featuring the artwork of talented French and local artists. (L to R) Artists Karen Malloy, Elizabeth Lindsay, and Carla Maria Casagrande of Winchester display one of the many statutes on exhibit at the Winchester Public Library, May 1-28.

Each 30 to 40 minute discussion is separate and self-contained. Babysitting may be available. This nondenominational series is free and open to the public, and is sponsored by the Winchester Community Bible Group. For further information call Jayson and Laura Colby, 729-1977.

Meetings will take place on Thursdays at 7:30 p.m., starting April 29, and will be held at 61 Harvard St.

Let's talk about alcohol and other drugs

Parent to Parent is offering a program on Tuesday, May 11, 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., in the High School Social Studies Open Area. There will be a panel that will include High School Principal John Ritchie and community members working with the Mt. Auburn Drug and Alcohol Prevention Center.

Panelists will provide information about alcohol and other drug use among Winchester's youth. There will also be an opportunity for small group discussions addressing parents' questions and concerns.

Rec. Department walking class

Focus on Fitness instructor Gail LaRocca will lead a group of walkers at Muraco School Gym through a series of warm-up exercises and a walk on Leonard Field and the surrounding wooded paths on Mondays at 7:15 p.m. After the 30-minute walk, participants will return to the gym for upper torso strengthening exercises, abdominal work and legwork.

As LaRocca explains, "Our group goal is improved fitness in a motivating and congenial atmosphere. Participants are encouraged to set realistic individual goals and pat themselves on the back as they make fitness strides."

Judy Whitney adds, "As instructors, Gail and I, give the students 'a pat on the back' every time we gather. We're offering a refreshing walking component and a workout back in the gym where we can firm up specific muscles. We supply fitness tips and handouts and offer modified programs to meet individual needs. We never worry about rainy weather; we have a whole program of low-impact aerobics and STEP combined with musical walking tapes.

"Repeatedly people eagerly share with us the number of pounds they have shed, the inches they have shaved and the renewed energy they have gained. We are just as thrilled as they are about their progress."

All classes are offered at a drop-in rate of $4.50. Morning classes of aerobics and STEP are offered, with babysitting, at the Ballet Arts Centre, 750 Main St., on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays, 9:15 a.m. All evening classes in aerobics, STEP and walking are now at Muraco School, Bates Road. For a complete schedule call the Recreation Department, 721-7126, Whitney, 729-1599, or LaRocca, 729-1537.

Mother's Day annual plant sale

The annual Mother's Day Plant Sale sponsored by the Muraco Parents' Association, will be held on Saturday, May 8, at the Muraco School from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. Potted plants and flats will be available.

Friends of Hospital meeting in May

Dr. Bernard S. Yudowitz will be the featured speaker at the 43rd Annual Meeting of The Friends of the Winchester Hospital on May 13, 1993, to be held at the Winchester Unitarian Church.

Dr. Yudowitz, who is director at the Pain Management Unit at New England Rehabilitation Hospital in Woburn, will speak on the subject of dealing with longterm pain. Dr. Yudowitz also is director of psychiatry at New England and a clinical instructor in psychiatry at Harvard Medical School.

The Friends welcome any nonmembers who wish to hear Dr. Yudowitz. Call 756-2628 for more details.

The primary mission of The Friends of Winchester Hospital is to recruit and direct the many volunteers who provide invaluable assistance to both the medical and the administrative staff of the hospital. An election of officers for the forthcoming year will conclude the annual meeting.

For the best choice in Equity Creditline rates, stop here...

Everywhere you look, banks are touting low Home Equity Creditline rates. But unlike those ordinary banks, Andover Bank offers a choice of three low rate programs. And as far as we know, only Andover Bank offers you low rates, a choice of three programs, and charges no closing costs and no annoying annual fees!

Apply for an Andover Bank Equity Creditline by June 30, 1993, and you can choose a program that's exactly right for you.

Choice 1: Andover PrimeNow – If your needs are immediate, look to our PrimeNow Equity Creditline. Pay only the prime rate until 6/30/94. Then your rate becomes only 1 1/2% above the prime.

Andover PrimeNow

6.0% Rate — 7.5% APR

7.0% Rate — 7.0% APR

Andover Prime+One

Choice 2: Andover Prime+One – For long-term thinkers, our Prime+One Equity Creditline guarantees that rate for the life of your loan – a rate so low it could save you thousands in interest.

Choice 3: Andover PrimeLife – For homeowners who have no first mortgage or who are looking to pay off their first mortgage, our PrimeLife Equity Creditline guarantees the prime rate for the entire life of the loan.

To learn more about our Equity Creditline limited time offer, mail this coupon or call our Consumer Loan Department without delay. With your choice of three low rate programs and no fees, we're sure you'll agree that at Andover Bank, you're the most important customer we'll ever have.

Prime Rate (as published in the Wall Street Journal) adjusted monthly on the last business day of the month, with an 18% lifetime cap. Credit advances are available for ten years. Current Andover Bank customers must qualify for an additional $20,000 to existing Creditline to qualify for these rate programs.

Then send us this coupon.

Please send me an application for an Andover Bank Home Equity Creditline.

RECREATION NEWS

Programs for adults

Drop into Focus On Fitness

Fitness classes are being offered by Judy Whitney and Gail LaRocca, certified fitness instructors. Classes include aerobics (A), step Reebok conditioning (S) and walking (W). Each class is $4.50. Morning classes are held at Ballet Arts Centre, 750 Main St., Tuesdays and Fridays from 9:15 to 10:15 a.m., and an aerobics class and a step class on Thursdays. At Muraco School on Bates Road, step classes are held on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at 5:30 p.m. For information and a complete schedule, call the Recreation Department at 721-7125.

Montreal spectacular trip

The Recreation Department is sponsoring a trip to Montreal, Canada, for three days and two nights of luxury accommodations at the Queen Elizabeth Hotel in downtown Montreal. The trip includes a dinner in Montreal, a city tour, round-trip motorcoach transportation and a trip escort. The tour will visit Montreal's attractions including Mont Royal and Old Montreal. Participants will depart Winchester at 7 a.m. on Friday, May 21, and return Sunday, May 23, around 7 p.m. Fee is $164 per person double occupancy.

Making the most of your money: strategies for the '90s

This course will explain in simple terms when, how and why to invest in money markets, CDs, U.S. government treasuries, municipal bonds, stocks, or mutual funds. As a result, students can structure a portfolio that will protect against future market fluctuations. The instructor is Ross Miller. This one-session class will be held on Tuesday, May 4, from 7 to 9 p.m., in the High School. Fee is $14.

Secret pillow quilt

Students will construct a 45-by-60 inch tied quilt which, when folded into itself, will become a quilted pillow. Instructor Jane Norberg will send a materials list upon registration. This two-session class will be held from 7 to 9:30 p.m., beginning Wednesday, May 5, at the High School. Fee is $21.

Decorative house flag

Instructor Ruanne Warford will teach students how to make a seasonal flag to hang outside their home. The first session will be a discussion on fabrics and patterns. The approximate cost of materials is $15 to $20, and is payable to the instructor at the first meeting. This three-session class will be held starting Thursday, May 6, from 7 to 9:30 p.m., at the High School. Fee is $33.

Basket centerpiece

This course will instruct students to create a centerpiece basket with sphagnum moss, roses, flowers and greenery. Twigs, birds and bows are optional features. Participants are asked to bring a glue gun, scissors and wire clipper to class. A materials fee of $32 is payable to the instructor. This one-session class will be held on Wednesday, May 5, from 7 to 10 p.m., at the High School. Fee is $16.

Discover scuba

In this class, students will learn how to use scuba equipment. This is an introduction-level course in which students can find out more about scuba diving and decide whether they wish to pursue their interest. A $10 equipment rental fee is payable to instructor. Evening pool time will be determined when class minimum is met. This one three-hour session will be held at the Arlington Boys & Girls Club on Thursday, May 6. Time will be arranged with the group. Fee is $16.

Co-ed volleyball

Participants in this group will form teams and have the opportunity to meet new people. Groups will meet at Lynch School Gym when school is in session and through June 2, from 7 to 9 p.m. Fee is $2.

New: Traveling on a budget American youth hostels

Instructor Arnold Clickstein will teach students how to travel inexpensively and safely, with a spirit of independence and freedom. Topics covered include planning trips, shopping for bargain air fares, traveling inexpensively within Europe, staying safe and healthy while traveling, selecting what to bring, packing and using hostels and other budget accommodations.

A materials fee of $26 per individual or $36 per family or $16 per senior citizen is payable to the instructor. It includes cost of printed materials, a copy of "Hostelling North America," a membership card and related materials and six issues of a travel and activity-filled newsletter. This one-session class will be held on Wednesday, May 5, from 7:30 to 9 p.m., in the High School. Fee is $14.

Stop dieting

After one session of hypnosis, participants will begin to see a change in their eating habits. It will become easier to abstain from food that students no longer want to eat. This one-session program will be held on Tuesday, May 4, at the High School. Session one is from 6:30 to 8 p.m., session two is held from 8 to 9:30 p.m. The instructor is Susan Worthen McCombs. Fee is $14.

New: Stop smoking

Through hypnosis, students will be nicotine-free safely with a minimum of withdrawal symptoms. This one-session program will be held on Thursday, May 6, from 6:30 to 8 p.m., at the High School. The instructor is Susan Worthen McCombs. Fee is $14.

New: Stress reduction

Instructor Susan Worthen McCombs will teach participants techniques of meditation and self-hypnosis among other strategies to help them cope with all types of stress. This one-session program will be held on Thursday, May 6, from 8 to 9:30 p.m., at the High School. Fee is $14.

Programs for children

On track

Children will have a great time while running faster and throwing and jumping farther. The class will conclude with the Hershey's Track and Field Meet on June 18, in Winchester. Running shoes are recommended. Racing spikes are not allowed. A shirt is included in the price. Program is canceled during inclement weather. Classes scheduled for May 12 and 14 will take place at the Winchester High School track.

Participants will meet behind McCall School unless notified otherwise. Participants in this program must be ages 9 to 14 (by Dec. 31). 12 sessions.

Class number 932-ES-16A: Wednesday, May 5, and Friday, May 7. Middle school students will meet from 2:45 to 3:45 p.m. Fee, $44.

Class number 932-ES-16B: Wednesday, May 5, and Friday, May 7. Elementary students will meet from 3:15 to 4:15 p.m. Fee, $44.

BIG STEPS for LITTLE people
Take BIG STEPS FOR LITTLE PEOPLE by participating in Winchester Hospital's WALK-A-THON to benefit The Childbirth Center and Special Care Nursery.
DATE: Sunday May 23, 1993
TIME: 12 noon
PLACE: Winchester High School
Winchester Hospital, the leading obstetrics hospital north of Boston, delivers more than 2,000 babies each year and offers a Special Care Nursery for the medical care of premature infants and/or infants who need more careful observation. These services provide mothers and their newborns with high quality, family-centered care close to home.
This event will attract an estimated 1,000 participants walking a 6.2 mile route from Winchester High School to Horn Pond in Woburn. All proceeds from the WALK-A-THON will be used for The Childbirth Center and Special Care Nursery. Your participation in the WALK-A-THON will help to ensure a bright beginning for the children of tomorrow.
You may choose to walk in honor of a very special family member or friend who was born at Winchester Hospital. You can also play an important role by volunteering that day. Simply return this card today and tell us how you would like to participate.
❑ Yes, I want to take part in BIG STEPS FOR LITTLE PEOPLE! Please send me a sponsor sheet.
❑ I'm interested in forming a walking team of 10. Please send me additional information.
❑ I'd like to volunteer on May 23, 1993. Please contact me.

McCall to participate in Young Audiences

Students at the McCall Junior High School will participate in a unique educational performing arts program, featuring David Zucker, presented by Young Audiences of Massachusetts on Friday, May 7. Young Audiences is a nonprofit organization which brings live professional dance, theater and music education programs to schools.

The McCall Junior High School program is entitled "Poetry in Motion." In "Poetry in Motion," Zucker brings to vivid life the best of poetic literature. This participatory program recreates the fine tradition of spoken verse with the poems of such authors as A. A. Milne, Lewis Carroll, Shel Silverstein, Langston Hughes, James Whitcomb Riley, and many more. Zucker is known throughout Massachusetts as the creator of "Mime Magic." His own rare talents of acting and mime, aided by various props, costume pieces, masks and puppets, is a special attraction in this popular and effective program.

Programs are funded in part by the Massachusetts Cultural Council, a state agency. Interested parents, educators and arts program sponsors are invited to call Young Audiences at 577-0570 for information about this and other programs.

Children at Bartlett put on bunny ears

Youngsters from Bartlett School in Winchester hopped to help people with disabilities on March 25, raising $808 in an Easter Seal Hop-n-ing.

The children spent the previous week learning about disabilities — what causes them, how disabilities effect people's everyday lives, the equipment used to cope. After that, they were ready to help.

Each child secured pledges from family and friends for every hop performed during a three-minute Hop-n-ing. The funds raised help provide Easter Seal services for men, women and children with disabilities.

Connor McNamara feeds carrots to Sugar, the resident rabbit at Neighborhood Cooperative Nursery School.

Easter Seal services include summer camp, therapeutic swim programs, home health care, physical and occupational therapy, speech therapy, equipment loan, technology for independence, support groups for people recovering from strokes and information and referral services.

Last year more than 17,000 children across Massachusetts learned about disabilities and hopped for Easter Seals, raising nearly $250,000. The Hop-n-ing is sponsored by T J Maxx.

SOUTHWESTERLY by Lot 7, 168.07 feet.

Containing 25,392 square feet of land according to said plan.

Together with the right to use the streets and ways in common with others entitled thereto, shown on said plan for all purposes for which streets are commonly used in the Town of Winchester.

Also the right and easement to use Vinson Circle, as shown on a subdivision plan as approved by the Court, filed in the Land Registration Office, a copy of which is filed in the Registry of Deeds for the Southern District Middlesex County Registry in Registration Book 754, Page 184, with Certificate No. 124934, for all purposes for which streets and ways are now used, or may hereafter be used, in the Town of Winchester in common with all others legally entitled thereto.

PARCEL II

That certain parcel of land situate in Winchester in the County of Middlesex and said Commonwealth, described as follows:

Northwesterly by Thornberry Road, one hundred feet;
Northerly by Lot 41 as shown on plan hereinafter mentioned, two hundred twenty-two and 56/100 feet;
Northeasterly by lot 221 on said plan, one hundred twenty and 08/100 feet;
Southeasterly by land now or formerly of George E. Locke, one hundred forty-nine and 14/100 feet; and Southwesterly by lot 44 on said plan, two hundred fifteen and 94/100 feet.

Said parcel is shown as lot 220 on said plan, (plan No. 207562).

All of said boundaries are determined by the Court to be located as shown on a subdivision plan, as approved by the Court, filed in the Land Registration Office, a copy of which is filed in the Registry District of Middlesex County in Registration Book 850, Page 158, with Certificate 144108.

The above described land has the benefit of the terms of four stipulations with Charles H. Coulter et ux, one by George R. Menchin et al, Document 222952, one by Frank Lyman Jr. Document 222953, one by Lillian M. Grace, Document 222954, and one by Amelia G. Wheeler et al., Document 222955.

Together with the perpetual rights and easements more particularly set forth in Document 306042.

The above described land is subject to and has the benefit of a sewer easement fifteen feet wide running along the southeasterly boundary as shown on said plan, set forth in said Document 306042.

The above described land is subject to an assessment by the Town of Winchester under Order that common sewer be constructed in Ridge Street, Document 245904.

There is appurtenant to the described land the right to use the streets as shown on said plan in common with others entitled thereto, set forth in Document 321436.

The above described land is subject to the reservations as to right of way and easements more particularly set in said Document 321436.

The above described land is subject to a Taking by the Town of Winchester for easement of way and slope in Thornberry Road, Document No. 365552.

TERMS OF SALE: Said premises will be sold and conveyed subject to all outstanding municipal or other public taxes, tax titles, assessments, liens or claims in the nature of liens, rights of tenants and parties in possession, and existing encumbrances of record, if any, which take precedence over the said mortgage above described.

FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS and NO/100 ($5,000.00) must be paid by certified, bank, treasurer's or cashier's check at the time and place of the sale by the purchaser as a deposit. The balance of the purchase price is to be paid in cash, or by certified check, bank cashier's check or bank treasurer's check within 30 days thereafter at the Law Offices of Shapiro & Kreisman, 492 Old Connecticut Path, Framingham, MA 01701 (508) 872-0221.

RELIGIOUS NEWS

Patricia Collins and the Dance Choir create a concluding Maypole Dance for the "Rites of Spring" service at the Winchester Unitarian Church on Sunday, May 2, at 10:30 a.m.

Dance choir in 'Rites of Spring'

Winchester Unitarian Church is creating a Fire Dance and a concluding Maypole celebration for the morning worship service on May 2. They are led by Patricia Collins, who teaches dance in Boston and Concord, and who launched the local group at the March 21, service when she danced with "Skyloom," an adult interfaith group led by Sybille Volz and including Ruth Lieberherr, a Winchester artist. They performed the solemn "Grant us Peace" wearing prayer shawls, and the lively "12 Gates to the City" holding brightly colored streamers to form the gates for the children to go in and out.

The Winchester group will repeat their Fire Dance at the Boston Liturgical Dance Festival on May 8, at Boston University's Marsh Chapel, where the Reverend Robert Storer led ongoing dance groups in the '40s and '50s when he was minister of the Winchester Unitarian Church.

The "Rites of Spring" service to be presented on May 2, by the Worship Committee of the Winchester Unitarian Church harks back to ancient times before the predominance of scripture, of prophets and of patriarchy, when Mother Earth and her bounty were sacred to humans as their source of life and of survival. In the Fire Dance, symbolic of contact with the life-giving sun, all may experience the awakening of Earth from her winter's sleep, as celebrated in the early Celtic May Day Festival of Beltane, meaning "goodly fire."

The dance choir includes Joseph and Michaele Bouvette, Timothy Brett, Caroline Draine, Morgan Ebeling, Marielle Hayden, Benedict and Esther Holland, Rebecca and Sara Howard, Ryan Merkler, Ryan Sheridan and Benjamin Thomas.

Members of the worship committee are: Karen Barton; Liesien Benet, chair; Henry Holland; Barbara Magnuson; Cathy and David Munsey-Kano; Dirck Stryker; Stephen Thomases and Paulett Taggart.

Second Cong. Church holds rummage sale

The annual rummage sale of the Second Congregational Church of Winchester, at the corner of Washington Street and Kenwin Road, will be held Saturday, May 1, from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Come see the wide selection of clothing, household goods and dishes as well as all the other great bargains. Stop by the snack bar for morning coffee, doughnuts and muffins or for a light lunch.

Sale for the blind

The Annual Winchester Sale for the Blind sponsored by Church Women United will take place on Tuesday, May 4, from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m., at Crawford Memorial Church on the corner of Dix and Church streets.

Members of Immaculate Conception Parish will again provide a snack bar of coffee and doughnuts throughout the day. Also, there will be a luncheon served featuring choice of soup, seafood roll and condiments starting at 11 a.m.

Volunteers from the Jenks Senior Center will staff a bake table of delicious cakes, cookies and pies that may be bought to take home for desserts.

The useful and attractive handcrafted articles for sale are made by the blind of Massachusetts. Handmade brooms are the most popular sale pieces. This is an art form that is declining and will become collector's items before too long.

Each person receives the money for the sold item he or she made. All proceeds from Sale for the Blind go to benefit the blind.

About Children and Asthma

There are more than nine million Americans who suffer from asthma — one-third of them are under the age of eighteen. "Allergies are brought about by a particular allergen that causes sneezing, watery and itchy eyes and possibly even a rash," says Sarah Andrew, M.D., a pediatrician at the Winchester Hospital Family Medical Center. Dr. Andrew explains that parents can easily mistake asthma for an allergy or even a chest cold.

But unlike a cold or allergies, asthma is a lung disease. It's characterized by a constriction of the bronchial passages and a swelling of the mucous lining. This makes it difficult to expel gases from the lungs, which get filled up with dead air. Dr. Andrew says, "The symptoms include difficulty in breathing accompanied by a dry cough and wheezing. Certain allergens, such as smoke, dust, mold, pet fur, pollen and even certain foods, can bring on an asthma attack in susceptible children."

Dr. Andrew goes further to say that asthma attacks can even be spurred by exercising. She has seen many case of EIA (exercise induced asthma). "A large percentage of people who have asthma have this particular type," she says. EIA usually occurs within 5 to 10 minutes after the start of exercise."

Children may experience attacks during gym class or recess, or when playing in the back yard. After being diagnosed, attacks of EIA can be avoided by using medication such as a bronchodilator before exercise. Asthma varies in severity. A child with mild asthma can lead a normal life without experiencing many attacks and doesn't require continuous medication.

A child with moderate asthma may not be able to participate in vigorous activities and requires more medication. Children with very severe asthma require continuous monitoring, since an attack can be triggered easily or suddenly.

Though there is no cure, asthma can be treated. According to Dr. Andrew, many children who have asthma grow out of it by the time they reach their teens. Keeping in shape, avoiding smoke and any other asthma-inducing allergens, and taking the right medications when necessary can control occurrences of attacks.

"The best thing to do if your child has asthma is to make sure that he or she avoids the specific allergens that trigger attacks," says Dr. Andrew. "This means that your child should stay in an air-conditioned area if there is a high pollen count, avoid dust, mold, and particular foods that can trigger an attack. Avoidance is the most effective cure." She notes, "Many children with asthma can enjoy a happy and active life simply by following doctors instructions and taking a little extra care."

Dr. Andrew and her colleagues are a part of a successful team at Wilmington Pediatrics, Inc., that provide primary care services to infants, children, and teenagers up to 18 years of age at the Winchester Hospital Family Medical Center in Wilmington.

Sarah Andrew, M.D., a pediatrician at the Winchester Hospital Family Medical Center checks Matthew Smith of Derry, N.H.

Help available for those who suffer from alopecia

By Gail Carson
SPECIAL TO THE STAR

Hugh Downs has it. U.S. Olympic volleyball player Bob Samuelson has it. Larry Singmaster of Wellesley has it.

It's called alopecia (al-oh-pea-shee-a). Though it means hair loss, it is not male-pattern baldness. It happens to children and to women, as well as to men.

Singmaster, an investment broker for David L. Babson & Company of Cambridge, tells his history.

"I had long curly black hair during the '60s (in college) and through the late '70s. Then my hair started thinning. In the early '80s, I noticed too that my leg hair was thinning. After that there were random quarter-sized bald patches on my head. Hair was coming out in clumps in my comb.

"When I saw that, I went immediately to a dermatologist," Singmaster recalls. "The doctor took a biopsy. When I went back he told me the good news and the bad news. The bad news, of course, was that I had alopecia. The good news was that it was not life-threatening."

Indeed, Singmaster feels he is one of the lucky ones — readily acknowledging that he will never face the problems a woman, a teenager or a child with the same condition will face. As Singmaster puts it, "Yul Brynner and Telly Savalas have made a career of this." (As far a Singmaster knows, neither actor actually had the disease, but both chose to shave their heads for effect after losing considerable hair.)

No doubt it's easier for men. Nonetheless, says Singmaster, who was 40 when he got the diagnosis, "I was in total shock the first time my doctor told me."

But Singmaster says he feels fortunate to have become involved in a support group so soon after being diagnosed with the disease. And the best part was that he didn't even have to leave town to find it.

"I went right away and took my wife, Barbara," he says of the support group meetings, which are held at the Wellesley Community Center. It was last winter in 1983. At that first meeting, it was seeing the women and kids with alopecia that really hit me."

"I am happily married and didn't have to go through the dating process or attend school, with no hair. I have a wonderful family." He and his wife have a son Ross, 12, and two daughters Dara, 22, and Carlin, 14. The two younger children, still at home, shave the "peach fuzz" at the back of his neck once a month, says Singmaster.

Initially, after Singmaster's patchiness (alopecia areata) had given way to total hair loss (alopecia universalis), a friend advised Singmaster, "Get on with life; you have a good-shaped head."

He did just that. "I realized I had to start telling people, when friends walked right by and didn't recognize me. Others thought I was having chemotherapy."

Ten years later, Singmaster, who is grateful that his body hair did grow back, maintains, "at this point, having alopecia is a non-event in my life. I hardly ever think about it."

Most people with the disease are not so lucky. It can often control the life of someone who has it, especially if that person is young.

Parents benefit

Nancy Clark is the Alopecia Areata Boston Support Group leader for meetings. They are held in the Community Center, 219 Washington St. at 7:30 p.m. on the first Thursday of each month. Clark started the group over 10 years ago, with five women and one man. Clark's son, now 27, lost all his hair when he was 8 years old. The group, she says, is as much for parents as it is for people with the disease.

"The early meetings were for people desperately looking for somebody else to talk to," says Clark. "No one knows exactly what causes the disease."

The Wellesley support group, the only one of its kind in New England, draws people not only from the Bay State, but also from New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Connecticut and Maine, according to Clark. They are all looking for solace in their common plight. "On some nights there are people from all those states here at the same time," says Clark.

Mentioning both the minor and major impact alopecia has, Clark says, "You may not realize it, but if you lost your eyelashes, the protection which used to keep dust and dirt out is gone. Some people with alopecia, who don't need glasses, wear them just to protect their eyes."

Alopecia has a 20 percent chance of being hereditary. "There isn't a cure for alopecia," says Clark, who points out that the disease can ruin a social life, especially for young people. "The support group helps people to function and gives them the possibility of communicating with other people. We help the little children. We have pizza parties and bowling."

But those suffering from the disease aren't the only ones being helped. "It helps parents too, who often feel helpless and also guilty," says Clark. "They see that other children are often cruel to their children. Many times children with it try to hide the disease.

"The children feel that they're a freak or that they're repulsive. We have children aged 5 to 12 in the children's support group. The teens won't come," sighs Clark, adding that most teenagers don't like to admit having alopecia and see skin heads, for instance, as a drug-crazed stereotype that is not acceptable to them. "They see them as unsavory."

If you're a teen or an adult women and you have alopecia, you are more likely to wear a wig than to go bald, according to Clark. Sinead O'Connor excepted, there are few bald role models for women and kids.

Many alopecia patients are currently lobbying the state to require health insurers to cover the costs of their wigs, or as they call them, "hair prosthesis."

No patterns

The disease hits randomly, says Clark. "There can be identical twins and only one gets it — or both do." And, according to Clark, it can strike — initially — any time between infancy and old age.

"We know it happens to people in their 80s," says Clark, adding, though, that it hit her in her teens. "I had it at age 16 and a year later it grew back in. (She still has all her hair.) In my son's case, his hair grew back in at age 21 and fell out again the next year.

"The hair follicles don't die; in male-pattern baldness the follicles are dead, but not with alopecia," she says. "Whatever turned it (hair growth) off, can turn it back on."

Singmaster admits he's happy with his baldness, which he finds uncomplicated. "I wouldn't want it in and out, in and out," he says.

The support group's medical advisor, Dr. Jeffrey S. Stoff of Wellesley, does not recommend radical treatments or trips to European spas simply to try the latest 'magic' potion. There is no known cure. Talking to the group, he says, "We all know alopecia affects life; but it is not life-threatening. Would you take a chance with your kidney or liver, just for an experiment?"

He adds that since drug companies have been alerted to the 250,000 reported cases in the United States, "they are more interested" in spending money on research.

Stoff, who specializes in kidney transplants at the University of Massachusetts Medical Center in Worcester, does not give direct medical advice to support group members. "My role is to review medical literature and read journals and acquire a knowledge base about the latest research which might be useful to members. I let them know I am not a dermatologist."

Stoff sees the value of the support group, not in what a speaker may be lecturing about on a given evening, but rather in the exchanges between members after the meeting, during refreshments. Looking around the room at members munching on cookies and talking in small groups, Stoff notes, "This is the most important thing, talking to someone who has it. What's happening here is what is important."

How to join

The Alopecia Areata Boston Support Group, which draws people from all over New England, meets on the first Thursday of every month at the Wellesley Community Center, 219 Washington St., at 7:30 p.m. Anyone interested in joining the group should call Nancy Clark at 843-5583. The support group's monthly newsletter and bulletin is available for $15 annually.

Framingham Chrysler Plymouth and MetroWest Oldsmobile

Location: 1199 Worcester Road, Framingham

History: Owner John Fashjian got his start in the automobile business in the early '70s as a Datsun salesperson in Worcester. Fashjian wanted to get out on his own, and soon opened a used car business in Worcester. In 1978, he purchased Framingham Chrysler Plymouth. In April of 1992, he expanded to include Oldsmobile products, and, to further improve, will open a new Chrysler Plymouth showroom this May.

Framingham Chrysler Plymouth has "adapted to the changes in the market" over the past 15 years, says General Manager Jim Horgas. "We're now very much concerned with treating the customer right." In alignment with this goal, the dealership works hard to change the public's perception of car dealerships, says Horgas. "We're very dedicated to raising the level of integrity in the automobile business."

Types of Cars Sold: Chrysler, Plymouth and Oldsmobile cars are sold, as well as "a little bit of everything" in the way of used cars, Horgas says. This dealership also leases all makes and models of cars.

Best Deal on the Lot: The hot new Oldsmobile Achieva is available this week at a sale price of $100 over factory invoice for in-stock cars. The price can't be beat for a car with such a high level of standard features, including anti-lock brakes, power door locks, and such great details as rear-seat heating outlets, Horgas says.

Specialties: What sets this dealership apart from its competitors, says Horgas, is that "we have a management team here. These are professional people who love their job and are dedicated to raising the integrity of this business to a higher level."

In recent years, he explains, competition in this business has become much fiercer and car dealerships have to work much harder for every deal. Because of this, "We try to sell a customer value," says Horgas. "That's not just taking their money for a car. Anyone can sell a car. (Customers) are buying a dealership as much as a car, and a dealership is its people.

Oldsmobile Achieva

Sub-compact balances performance, value and prestige

The Achieva, Oldsmobile's well-rounded and impressively -equipped compact car line, enters its first full model year with few changes.

To compete against some of the toughest makers in the world in this difficult segment, the Achieva was born with a lengthy list of strengths: two bodystyles with leading-edge design, an advanced chassis, outstanding powertrains, and ABS as standard equipment. The reception has been enthusiastic as the new Achieva hits 1993 in full stride.

To compete against some of the toughest makers in the world in this difficult segment, the Achieva was born with a lengthy list of strengths.

No mere entry-level offering, the Achieva was conceived as an Oldsmobile through and through which meant that it exceeds customer expectations in a host of categories. Like all Oldsmobiles, it has refined design and polished function down to the most trivial detail. It's loaded with meaningful technology to enhance customer satisfaction throughout the full ownership experience.

Achieva is enjoyable to drive with precise responses to every command. It adroitly balances three critical virtues:

Oldsmobile Achieva

Sub-compact balances performance, value, and prestige

OLDSMOBILE ACHIEVA, From page 1 performance, value, and prestige. Like every Oldsmobile, Achieva's enjoyment is assured in writing by the Oldsmobile Edge Owner Satisfaction program.

What makes a compact offering special? To answer that question, Oldsmobile literally went back to the drawing board to harness the power of intelligent engineering. A one-piece body side frame was selected to insure excellent structural rigidity and perfect fits for all exterior sheet metal. The decklid opening was cut low for lift-over convenience. Two-side galvanized sheet metal was extensively used for corrosion protection. Five-mph bumpers were made standard.

To round out the Achieva lineup — two body styles, two trim levels, four engines, two transmission types and one special Sport Coupe option package — the SCX was introduced during the 1992 model year. This enhanced performance package includes an impressive list of hardware:

- a 185-horsepower version of the Quad 4 coded W41
- a reduced back pressure exhaust system
- a high performance five-speed close-ratio transaxle with concentric shave clutch
- a suspension tuned for optimum handling with 215/60VR-14 tires, 14 x 6.5-inch aluminum wheels, a large front anti-roll bar and dual rear bars and a specially calibrated Computer Command Ride (driver-adjustable front struts and rear shock absorbers) system

The SCX exterior identification includes full body-color front and rear fascia panels, a silver accent stripe, and appropriate W41 and SCX decals over and above Achieva Sport Coupe equipment.

Battery Run Down Protection is included as standard equipment to automatically guard against inadvertent power drainage. If any interior lamp is accidentally left on after the ignition switch is turned off, it will automatically be extinguished after 20 minutes. Various gearing alterations help improve either acceleration or fuel economy, depending on the powertrain.

The Achieva is available in four models — the S version, the Sport Coupe, the SCX and the SL. With four Achieva's to choose from, every car buyer is bound to be satisfied.

What makes a compact offering special? To answer that question, Oldsmobile literally went back to the drawing board to harness the power of intelligent engineering.

NO PRESSURE PRICE

Bob Cole, Product Specialist
Anthony Merullo, Product Specialist

This is the scariest thing we have ever done, but at these NO PRESSURE PRICES our HYUNDAIS are going fast!

What Have We Done?
On January 18th we changed our way of doing business. Our research showed us people did not like to negotiate on the price of a new vehicle, and the last 90 days has certainly proved that. Our No Pressure Price has eliminated all the game playing, mystery and hassle. And we think that's a great way of doing business for all of us!

Forget the Agony of Wheeling and Dealing. The Lowest Price is Already Marked on Every Vehicle.
We knew you were smart enough to know what you wanted. And to ask questions when you didn't. So the solution was obvious. We set the prices of every vehicle at the lowest possible discount. No negotiating allowed. The right price, the only price, the No Pressure Price,is marked on each car, saving you hours of your time and thousands of dollars!

Unlike Some Dealers...
Who use the one price philosophy for their short term sales programs, Automall's NO PRESSURE PRICE is a long term commitment on our part to simplify the car buying process. Now you can buy with confidence. You can rest assured that the price that you see is the same price you or anyone else would pay.

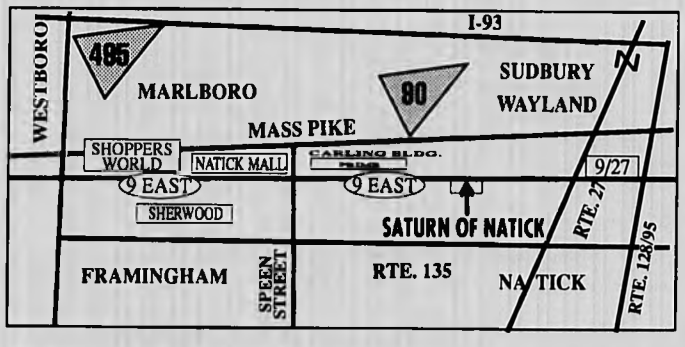
This is the only direction... we'll give you on buying a Saturn:



We'd be dropping the ball if we didn't at least tell you where to go to buy a new Saturn. But after that, we're not about to push you in any particular direction. We figure if you're going to buy a Saturn, you'll appreciate it much more if you sell yourself on the idea.
